Fourth volume in the family saga of Angelet and Bevelin Lambe – identical twins but very different in character. They become victims of a rising tension throughout the country because of their friendship with General Richard Talworthy, a royalist ready to die for his king, and the Puritan Luke Longridge who is determined to destroy him.

Says Assessed Value Best Taxation Basis

Following is Mr. Smith's reply:

"In keeping with our past policy to reassessing the province on a three year cyclical basis, this year, the third year of the cycle will see approximately 130,000 reassessments implemented on the 1977 assessment roll.

"Six cities, 22 towns, 27 villages and several local service districts have been entirely reassessed. Reassessment of the balance of the province was implemented in the years 1975 and 1976.

"The assessment base provides a basis for taxation in addition to providing one of the major elements for calculating distribution of unconditional equalization grants to the municipalities. Assessment valuation at "real and true value" or marketable value provides a yardstick for equitable distribution of both the provincial and municipal tax levies.

"In a year of constraint and limited municipal budget growth a reassessment which reflects the increase that has taken place in property values over the past three years should see the municipal rate decrease in most instances. However, it should be noted that overall the municipal warrants have increased and thus the total municipal tax levies will also have increased.

"The fixed provincial rate will affect taxes proportionately to the assessed valuation.

"It is difficult to utilize averages because they do not tell the entire story. Some values will decrease, some will remain relatively the same while others will increase in varying amounts. Changes will be of greater proportion in some areas of the province than in others. The vast majority of assessed values will fluctuate either above or below the average.

"Statistics that have become available to me with production of the municipal tax bases and which have been made public in part indicate -

"1. The assessed value of all property in the province has increased from $5.1 billion to $6.7 billion - an overall increase of 30.1 per cent.

"2. Residential owner-occupied property has increased from $1.2 billion to $1.7 billion - an overall increase of 40.8 per cent.

"3. The combined municipal tax bases have increased from $4.8 billion to $5.4 billion - an overall increase of 31.3 per cent.

"4. The provincial tax base has increased from $4.2 billion to $5.6 billion - an overall increase of 30.0 per cent.

"5. Within this frame work business assessment has increased from $685 million to $840 million or an overall increase of 22.6 per cent.

"All of these figures include new construction which was not included in the previous year's tax bases and which will not be exactly available until the individual assessment notices are printed.

"Thus, I point out that including new construction business assessments have increased, on the average, 7½ per cent a year for each of the past 3 years. If new construction is eliminated that figure will probably be closer to 6 per cent increase per year.

"To illustrate the ramifications of a reassessment more precisely we have taken a random sample of 100 business properties in Saint John and calculated the tax effect presuming the provincial rate of $1.30 and a municipal rate of $1.15.

"Out of the sample, 16 would have taxes reduced for 1977; 33 would have increases of less than $100; 25 would have increases of from $100 to $500; 7 would have increased from $500 to $1000 and 17 would have increases in excess of $1000. All taxes are of necessity relative to the change in valuation brought about by reassessment.

"It is difficult at this stage to pinpoint the amount, if any, of the business tax that can be shifted forward in price increases. It is also difficult to say what alleviation in prices, if any, a reduction in business taxes would benefit the consumer.

"It is my contention that the 'assessed value' of property at full market value is best measure for the distribution of the provincial and minicipal real and business tax levies. My Cabinet colleagues and I are currently carrying out an extensive study of the actual incidence and effect of the business tax levy and in doing so we are evaluating the side effects, as itemized in your letter, over both the short and long term.

Legion Auxiliary Reviews Past Year

The Ladies Auxiliary of Royal Canadian Legion, Herman J. Good V.C. Branch No. 18, gathered in the Legion Hall for the regular monthly meeting Jan. 5 with the president, Mrs. Mildred Taylor in the chair.

Mrs. Bernard Doucet, sergeant-at-arms marched on, with the colors carried by Mrs. John Wood and Mrs. Ellen Hachey. O Canada was sung and silence was observed.

Routine business followed, with committee chairmen presenting their annual reports, all of which indicated the auxiliary had experienced a successful year indeed.

It was noted that membership stands at 177. The auxiliary expressed sympathy and regret at the loss by death of four members in the past year: Mrs. Gilchrist MacDonald, Mrs. Eva Malley, Mrs. Raymond Doucet and Mrs. Waldo Bosca.

The end-of-year statement showed a substantial bank balance, with all obligations having been met. The sum of $1,000 was presented to the Legion at the annual dinner and dance given the auxiliary by the branch in November.

WORK REVIEWED

All hospitalized members were visited and presented with a basket of fruit. All inactive members over 70 were remembered on their birthday with a rose bowl.

The auxiliary's adopted veteran, Fred Weldon, now at the Ridgewood Rehabilitation Centre in Saint John, had been remembered each month and, on special occasions, extras were sent to him.

A successful poppy campaign was carried out during the year. Three well-attended blood doner clinics were held, with auxiliary members donating supper to the nurses as well as auxiliary ladies who work throughout the clinic days.

In the annual reports, it was noted the auxiliary also carry on an active sports program of bowling, darts and curling.

At an honors and awards night held in November, the Legion branch presented the past presidents with anniversary service medals in appreciation of past services rendered.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Taylor thanked members for their cooperation and support throughout her term of office and expressed appreciation for the honor of serving the auxiliary.

The meeting closed with the retiring of the colors, the Lord's Prayer and The Queen.

Immediately following, the branch joined the auxiliary in the auditorium for a joint installation in an impressive ceremony, presided over by Gilchrist MacDonald as installing officer, assisted by the acting sergeant-at-arms, Patrick McLaughlin.

INSTALLATIONS

Officers of the Legion Auxiliary for 1977 who were installed include: Mrs. Walter MacKay, president; Mrs Mildred Taylor, immediate past president; Mrs Earl Ross, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Lauder Joudry, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. John Hinton, honorary president; Mrs. Bernard Doucet, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Robert Knowles, treasurer; and Mrs. Wayne Miller, secretary.

Installed in the joint ceremonies also were the following auxiliary executive members: Mrs. Arlice Ronalds, Mrs. Blanche Scott, Mrs. Carl Hacquard, Mrs. Charles Ellis, Mrs. Ida O'Toole and Mrs. Fenton Daley.

Acceptance speeches then were heard from the New presidents, Nathan Higgins of the Legion Branch, and Mrs. MacKay, who congratulated the newly installed officers of both organizations. She added wishes for continued co-operation between the auxiliary and branch, and expressed appreciation to the out-going officers. Mrs. MacKay said both Mildred Taylor and Wilbur Elhatton had been excellent presidents, that much could be learned from them, and that they had made worthwhile contributions to the success of the Legion and auxiliary.

FIRST SO HONORED

Mrs. John Hinton was welcomed by Mrs. MacKay as the auxiliary's first honorary president.

President of the group in 1951-1952, Mrs. Hinton has served as a "very loyal and dedicated auxiliary member, the kind of member every organization values", said Mrs. MacKay. She added she was honored to have Mrs. Hinton as honorary president during her term of office.

The new president then addressed the auxiliary in a challenging acceptance speech. She asked for members' co-operation and support during the forthcoming busy year, and is "firmly convinced, with every-member participation, we can make this a successful and rewarding year for our auxiliary."

Mrs. MacKay added, "The more we get involved, the stronger is the organization. We are a strong organization and a very successful auxiliary (branch), well known throughout the province, and you have every right to be proud of being a member of No. 18."

The Legion's new president Mr. Higgins addressed the gathering in his usual, efficient manner, in spite of the fact that he was standing with one foot in a cast.

Mr. Higgins had only praise for the Ladies Auxiliary, and promised them the continued support of the branch. He also said the auditorium would be newly panelled and in readiness for the provincial convention in June.

The Legion president extended congratulations to Mr. Elhatton on his dedicated term of office and all past branch officers. He welcomed Bert Wallace as honorary president of the branch.

As the meeting drew to conclusion, Mr. Higgins invited everyone to remain for the dance and luncheon which followed. The meal was provided by the Legion branch and served by members of the auxiliary.

ANN LANDERS

Medical Decision Upsets Parents

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I applaud your courage in backing both the American Psychiatric Association and the American Psychological Association by defining homosexuality as a severe personality disorder. You have spoken for me, and many others who seek a mature, informed and sympathetic way to cope with the homosexuality of a loved one.

Our son was hospitalized for 18 months under psychiatric care. We were conditioned to accept all decisions of the hospital and confessed not to breach confidentiality by asking too many questions because it might "jeopardize his treatment."

After leaving the hospital, but while still in treatment, our son told us he was "gay." You can imagine our shock. At no time during his hospitalization was homosexuality mentioned.

Our greatest disillusion stems from loss of faith in the integrity of the professionals you have so courageously challenged (for us and so often recommended in the past). If not from the group, from whence then cometh our help? It has been a long, bleak trek, and we are – Still Seeking, M. and D. In Pa.

DEAR M. AND D.: Many therapists believe the homosexual patient should decide whether or not to reveal his homosexuality to his parents – and if he (or she) can tell them face-to-face, it is better.

Apparently, your son's doctor was of such a mind – and although it was harder on you, it was better for the boy. I gather from your letter that you have not rejected him and I applaud you. All children need parental acceptance – no matter what their sexual preference may be.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I say a word to those women who complain about a husband's snoring?

Thank God he is beside you, snoring.

To those women who complain because a retired husband is "underfoot": Thank God he is still there – "getting in the way."

To those women who "hate to cook": The fanciest gourmet dishes have no taste when eaten alone.

To those women who want to keep a spotless house: Your husband's muddy feet are more important than a clean floor.

Until you become one you will never know what it's like to be – A Bereaved Widow, Owensville

DEAR FRIEND: I can almost hear the widows out there saying "Amen." Thank you for a letter that puts things in the proper perspective.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for people who own guns.

Last week, my sister-in-law – she was only 14 – was killed when the boy in the next apartment was playing with a gun. The bullet pierced four walls and a closet before it hit her. No one else was at home and she bled to death.

The boy next door thought the bullet had lodged in the wall. He never bothered to check. Only when he learned of the girl's death did he realize he had killed her.

I want to ask every man who owns a gun to please make sure there are no bullets in the chamber before you fool around with it. If the gun does go off, check and find out where the bullet ended up. If this had been done, a lovely 14-year-old girl might be alive today. – E.G. in Buffalo.

DEAR E.G.: Better yet, let's get some sensible gun laws passed. The U.S. doesn't need 45 million handguns in the possession of (you know who).

AWARDED CWL SCHOLARSHIPS

Holy Family Council Catholic Women's League recently announced the names of winners of the group's two annual scholarships who are Denise Arseneau and Anne Louise White.

Miss Arseneau, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arseneau, 935 Murray Avenue, is studing towards a bachelor of commerce degree at St. Mary's University, Halifax. She is a 1976 graduate of Nepisiguit High School.

Secretarial Group Active

The National Secretaries Association (International), Bathurst Chapter installed 16 members on April 10.

The executive for Bathurst Chapter comprises: M. Mallais, president; L. Chick, vice-president; T. Hachey, corresponding secretary; E. Rioux, recording secretary and T. Gionet, treasurer.

The main objective of the association is to elevate the standards of the secretarial profession by uniting for their mutual benefit persons who are or have been engaged in secretarial work.

The association is a non-profit, nonunion, nonpartisan, nonsectarian organization whose members have the sole right to govern and control their own officers elected at annual meeting which is in May.

The program for the year consists mainly in having special guests attend the meetings to speak on different subjects: Metric System, Telephone Communications, Office Equipment and Supplies and many other topics interesting to all secretaries.

At the last meeting held on January 5, A. Hackel as guest speaker, gave a most explicit lecture on the Metric System. His topic was most informative and valuable.

The next regular meeting will be held on February 2, at Nepisiguit High School at 7:30 p.m. when Miss Joan Heckbert of the New Brunswick Telephone Company Limited will speak on Telephone Communciations.

Miss Linda Furlought, Eastern Representative, Chapter Formation of Canadian Division, has announced a National Secretaries Association (International) Chapter being formed in Campbellton. The installation ceremony is to be held in March.

The Bathurst Chapter is now organizing a program for "Secretaries Week". The last week of April each year is set aside for this purpose.

All Secretaries are invited to attend the meetings. More information is available from M. Mallais at 783-2820 to T. Hachey at 546-6886.

Local Chapter Lady Honored

Mrs. Walter MacKay, past matron of Bathurst Chapter No. 22, Order of the Eastern Star, was honored at a recent chapter meeting, in being commissioned by Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. Sally Woodward of Cambridge City, Indiana, as a Grand Representative of the State of Indiana. Named by Mrs. Woodward as the former's counterpart is Mrs. Berniece Anderson of Scottsburg, Ind.

Mrs. MacKay holds this commission for two years and during that time, she hopes to be able to attend one of their Grand Chapter sessions held each year on fourth Tuesday of April.

EGGS

According to a report published on December 8, 1976 by Agriculture Canada, Eggs producers were in a mess just four years ago - overproduction, low returns and yo-yo prices. Today, C.E.M.A. is one of the most efficient supply management systems in existence. There is a steady supply of eggs throughout the country and there is less likelihood of needless over production and waste. Eggs prices have remained steady for the past few months and now they are cheaper than in the U.S.A. where production costs are much, lower than in Canada. Think of that!

NUTRITIONAL VALUE OF EGGS

Eggs make a valuable nutritional contribution to the human diet. Nutritionists have stated that eggs are one of nature's most nearly perfect protein foods for mankind.

Eggs provide:

HIGH QUALITY PROTEIN - Egg protein is known as a balanced protein and contains all of the amino acids considered essential for growth and for maintenance of body tissues. Two eggs may furnish from 35 to 121 percent of man's daily requirements of essential amino acids.

FATS - Egg fat is readily digested and helps to provide energy for body needs. Eggs are rich in essential fatty acids. Often overlooked is the important fact that the fat content of eggs contains a high proportion of unsaturated fatty acids.

MINERALS - Eggs are an excellent source of iron and phosphorus. Most of the iron is found in the yolk. Other important minerals supplied by eggs are sodium, potassium, sulfur, chlorine, magnesium, calcium, copper, zinc, iodine and manganese.

FEW CALORIES - An egg is comparatively low in calories, approximately 80 calories for a Grade A Large egg. For this reason, eggs are suitable in a low calorie diet.

EGGS IN THE DIET: - Few foods known to man provide a higher ratio of nutrient value to calories than eggs. Eggs can be served in many ways as a main dish or blended with ingredients in other prepared foods.

Since egg yolks contain cholesterol they, along with other animal products, have been involved in the controversial relationship of cholesterol and dietary fats to heart disease. However, several reports indicate that the role of cholesterol and dietary fats in heart disease has not been clarified. It is also of interest that the human body can manufacture cholesterol from carbohydrates.

It has been established that cholesterol is vital to many facets of body metabolism. The concensus among nutrition research workers at this time is that until the role of cholesterol and dietary fats in heart disease is clarified, it would seem sensible for healthy individuals to consume a well-balanced diet of meat, milk, eggs, vegetables, fruits and sufficient cereals and bread to provide for an adequate protein, vitamin and calorie intake.

MISS MURPHY

Missionary Work In Brazil

(Ed's Note: Miss Isabel Murphy, a missionary with Wycliffe Bible Translators in Brazil, receives donations from different local groups and individuals. A graduate of Bathurst High School, she's the niece of Archdeacon R. H. Murphy and Mrs. Murphy, Bathurst. In a letter dated Dec. 1, 1976, Miss Murphy outlines the following details of her work, noting that monies, etc., received are appreciated.

Thanks for your gifts. Here's what you are helping me do (at the moment!).

At the last two writers' workshops for native authors, one at Porto Velho, the other in the Munduruku tribe, the Munduruku men and women wrote stories for their people in their own language.

There were a variety of stories, made into a total of 49 booklets. Some were first person experiences, hunting and fishing stories, etc., where nearly all the details are familiar to everyone (therefore making them good, easy reading material), to some "school-type" books teaching about the human body, TB (prevalent here), the story of transport, stories about other tribes, etc.

There was even a phrase book made up of Munduruku-Portuguese because the people have a great desire to learn Portuguese, Brazil's national language.

The next step, naturally, is to teach people to read. There are already primers, plus several readers of easy reading material, done by our linguistic team, but now there is even more incentive to learn, with these 49 books written by their OWN people.

But, how to we promote literacy amongst a widely scattered tribe of approximately 1,250 people in at least 25 different villages?

NEXT STEP

We began at the last writers' workshop by shifting the responsibility onto them. "You must teach your own people."

Reading and writing were conceived to be the first steps towards accepting and being accepted into the national culture - and 50 years or more of teaching Indian children in Portuguese first, was obviously not the answer. It was explained to the native people at the workshop too, that:

The quickest route to literacy is through your own language. From there it is an easy step to learning another language since only small adjustments have to be made with the alphabet, and you have already learned that reading makes sense, i.e.: you can read for comprehension. How can you possibly do that if you are first learning to read in a language you do not understand.

We told the writers – several of them who were interested in teaching in their own villages - that they had to solve the many problems involved, with their village chiefs and their own people. They were the ones who obviously know best that is workable amongst their own people.

Questions such as pay for the teacher; getting supplies, books, etc.; selling books: these were things they needed to work out.

We said we would be back in a few months to see how they were getting on, and to help in any way possible, with advice, etc.

So, here we are!

ARE ENCOURAGED

We found the beginnings in several villages very encouraging, and the people are truly very interested in the new books, and seem to have a new urge to learn, in order to read them.

We also have in mind the fact that the New Testament is about to be published next year, 1977, and we, of course, want good, fluent readers ready to handle that.

The books written by the Indians are a nice bridge to something like the New Testament which has many foreign concepts.

The miracle is, that in any language God's word is living, and the Holy Spirit teaches any receptive heart through the inspired words.

Who better to explain the meaning of a book, than the author himself? So we have confidence that, in the near future, God will call out a people for Himself among the Munduruku.

Not all will respond to Him; not all do in our culture, do they? But the truth remains that "anyone who calls on the name of the Lord (Jesus Christ) shall be saved" (Romans 10:13) and that includes Munduruku.

Missionary

Mainly, we extol the virtues of the new books, and see how the teachers are doing. We invite community support by talking to the chief(s) and pointing out how it will help the people to learn to read in Munduruku.

GLEANS IDEAS

I have gleaned some ideas which should help me in the next writers' workshop.

The main work, personally, seems to be packing and unpacking, our food, our kitchen gear, our sleeping gear, sleeping bags, hammocks, mosquito net, etc. for such short stays, two days to a week in most places.

Moving days are really a chore. First, packing everything up, then travelling, after our shift is loaded on two canoes — then arrival, usually a little wait as they decide where in the village to put us, then unpacking and setting up under the watchful gaze of as many as the house will hold.

Usually, by this time, our need is to get a meal, and the first one or two are the hardest as some things are inevitably re-arranged.

We might get a welcome rest in our hammocks, or we might just continue on until night — visiting, showing the books, talking, doing up dishes, and so forth.

When we've just gotten settled, and finally know where everything is, it is time to move again.

Margie (Miss Murphy's co-worker at present time) is also finishing up translation of the Gospel of Matthew, and I'm doing some studying.

We'll finish up at the end of this month, and on Jan. 3, I begin the 10 days staff preparation before our SIL (Summer Institute of Linguistics) course for Brazilians, from Jan. 10 to March 28. I'm heading up the phonetics department.

Thank you again for your continuing support and regards to everyone.

Duplicate Bridge Results

In regular Monday sessions Jan. 10 of the Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club, Robert Baker and Mrs. Douglas Shirley placed first; Mrs. Kathleen Duke and Edgar Hachey were second and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Chiasson were third.

Playoffs in the Grand National Morehead Trophy team-of-four annual competitions begun in this area with the first round for the North Shore being held Jan. 9 at Newcastle, a two-session event, afternoon and evening. All team-of-four club events must be played before Feb. 7.

Bathurst entries in the Newcastle sessions were the Lauretta Wedge team of Ray Poirier, Joan McKeigan and Carol Seager; the Mrs. Kay Dube team of Edgar Hachey, Mrs. Bert Shirley and Mrs. Helen Ferguson.

All points won in playoffs are at the "red" level, the only time red points can be won at the club level.

The regional finals are scheduled for April 23 at Moncton and the Zone finals will be held in Ontario April 30, either at Toronto or Ottawa.

Tomato Soup And Noodles

Prepare a quick lunch of noodles with tomato sauce for your family. This recipe serves four, but served with any type of cold, sliced meat along with a tossed green salad, can serve five or six persons.

Ingredients: 28 oz. tin tomatoes, drained and coarsely chopped; 2 tablespoons peanut oil; one small onion, finely chopped; ¼ teaspoon oregano; ½ teaspoon chervil; 1 garlic clove, peeled and finely chopped (optional); 1 bay leaf and salt and pepper to taste; 1 cup. hot brown sauce; 1 pound uncooked noodles; ¼ cup grated parmesan cheese.

Method: Place 1 tbsp. peanut oil in a large, deep saute pan, over a high heat. Add the onion, reduce heat to medium and cook until transparent.

Add tomatoes, oregano, chervil, garlic and bay leaf, and cook over a high heat until the liquid has evaporated, stirring frequently.

Stir in the brown sauce and season to taste; let simmer for 15 minutes, then discard the bay leaf. Strain the sauce through the fine disc of a food mill, or blend it until smooth, and keep hot.

Bring plenty of water to a boil. Pour in the remaining tablespoon of peanut oil. Add noodles and cook them until done to your taste.

Drain noodles and place them in a warmed serving dish. Pour sauce over the noodles and sprinkle on Parmesan cheese. Serve while hot.

EARLY MOTTO

The pioneer women of Canada were the first people to practice conservation in this country. Writings of that era tell us that nothing was wasted and there was no garbage disposal problem. The most used maxim was: "Eat it up, wear it out, make it do, or go without."

MONTHLY DRAW AWARD PRESENTED

Mrs. B. Vortmann, secretary, representing the Personnel Department, is congratulated by R. M.Curry, Personnel Superintendent. Mrs. Vortmann received a fire detector in the draw, which is held in conjunction with the Accident Incentive Program at Brunswick Smelting Division, Belledune.

Marine Museum Seen As Added Tourist Lure

If there happened to be a marine museum nearby, offering a chance to examine artifacts or visit with many speciedfish in aquariums or watch playful dolphins and seals in enclosed pools, all with one central structure, would you visit there?

Chances are that you would make it a point to stop and look around, and maybe learn something new about marine life and about the fishing industry in New Brunswick.

If all goes as planned, you may just have such an opportunity, and as early as June of 1979.

Architectural plans for just such a multi-million dollar venture were made public recently, along with a scale model of the proposed 26,000 square foot marine centre and museum, during the annual meeting of Shippegan Town Council.

The announcement of the go-ahead for the first phase of the $4 million project in effect marked the end of years of hard work, of top level meetings and extensive negotiations with Fredericton and Ottawa to have the project and its financing approved by those concerned.

Shippegan Mayor Jean C. Chiasson, involved in the scheme since first presented council in 1971, explained the centre will mean enormous potential for the area in the field of tourism drawing thousands of visitors annually and a terrific shot in the arm economically for the entire Gloucester region.

A marine centre for Shippegan, the most important fishing community in New Brunswick, should in fact complement the nearby Caraquet Acadian Village or the village complementing the marine centre rather than rivalling each other for the favors of New Brunswick's tourists.

In fact, the centre will have the distinction of being one in four across Canada and, adds Raymond Hache of Shippegan, the unique distinction of being the only such centre fully integrated within the community since its location will offer easy access to Shippegan's seven main fish processing plants situated within the municipality's industrial park.

Mr Hache is credited with having first developed the idea of a marine museum for Shippegan and after instial study presented a detailed brief to council late in 1971. His efforts, however, didn't end there. He has, along with Mayor Chiasson, sat on at least three special committees over the many years in an effort to see the project through.

Today, Mr. Hache echoes the feeling of the mayor and town fathers when he says he is extremely happy and elated that the venture is all but a reality.

Late last November, the long-awaited agreement between Fredericton and Ottawa covering financing of the project was finally announced, and just recently, town fathers announced that the $700,000 contract for phase one which includes preparing the land has been awarded. The local firm of Baie Chaleur Construction won the tender. Mayor Chiasson explained that planners hope to have all in readiness for construction of the centre itself by April of next year.

Part of the centre as outlined in the plans is a 243-foot jetty where craft of all types and excursion boats will be moored.

There may even by a static display of fishing boats and equipment offering visitors yet another insight into the fishing industry on the Gloucester coast.

The centre will feature an audio-visual theatre, a restaurant overlooking Shippegan harbor, almost at the tip of what is commonly known as the Acadian Peninsula, and exhibition hall where cultural exhibitions and displays will be scheduled. There may even be a phase three, said Mr. Hache, calling for the construction of large outdoor pools for the larger species of marine mammals, such as whales.

A joint committee formed by local residents and members of council worked on the project preparing a detailed brief for provincial government for two years. The result was the creation of a steering committee made up of provincial and federal representatives to study the project's feasibility.

Like King's Landing and Caraquet's Acadian Village, the Shippegan Marine Centre will be administered by the Historical Research Branch of New Brunswick, with funding provided by the Community Improvement Corporation, who owns the land for the proposed site, and DREE. In the meantime, a management committee on which sit both Mayor Chiasson and Mr. Hache has been formed to see to the project's development.

Travel Agents Are Good People To Know

His services are not only free, they can save you money, time and possible disappointment.

The travel agent knows the good vacation spots; he has direct contact with transportation companies and he has a stock of hundreds of package vacations to suit anyone, from the novice traveller to the experienced globe-trotter.

Since he collects a commission from carriers, car rental agencies and hotels, his services to his clients are absolutely free.

"People in general know our services are free," says Andy Zabchuk, manager of the World Wide Travel Agency in Ottawa, "but, in the back of their minds, they feel there must be some hidden costs somewhere.

It may appear too good to be true but there are no hidden costs. In preparing your trip, the travel agent acts as your secretary and your counsellor. Someone else pays him for this service.

If you are planning a vacation in Canada, for example, just visit your travel agent and tell him what you have in mind. He can help you find a package to suit your budget and interests.

Mr. Zabchuk finds it strange people don't hesitate to spend money on a doctor, a lawyer or an income tax consultant but when it comes to preparing for a trip they do hesitate to contact a specialist because of suspected "hidden" costs.

The travel agent has information about travel opportunities in Canada, the beauty of the Rockies, charm of the Maritimes, French Quebec, industrial Ontario and western hospitality, as well as about accommodation and transportation.

Whether a client wants a golf holiday on Vancouver Island, a ski or tennis weekend in the Laurentians, a shopping spree in Toronto, a trophy-rum fishing trip to Prince Edward Island or cultural immersion in Winnipeg, the agent is ready to help.

In many cases he can even tailor a trip to his client's needs at no charge. That's his business.

He has the interest of his client at heart and he can't afford to make mistakes because he wants repeat customers.

It's his job to find the itinerary his client wants or the package that will give him the most satisfaction.

The agent then makes all reservations and all the client has to do is pack up the family at the agent's office and take off.

In large cities, there are travel agents in all areas so nobody need travel far to see one.

"People don't always realize this free service is available close to home," Mr. Zabchuk says. "Nobody has to go downtown to make a hotel reservation or to the airport for a ticket when we can do it for them."

He feels people leave from spending more money on travel lately; more fly and then rent a car at their destination.

It's the travel agent who can best plan these trips in all details.

It's his business to avoid you

Post Office Contract Is Awarded City Firm

A city firm, Connolly Construction Ltd., has been awarded a $½ million contract for renovations and minor construction at the Bathurst federal building. The Northern Light has learned from an unofficial but reliable source.

The work will get underway as soon as the present occupants move, temporarily or otherwise, to other premises, presumably by April 1. Completion is programmed for this fall.

A former tenant, the Department of Fisheries, is already installed at the K mart, St. Peter Ave., where Customs will also be located on a pro tem basis.

Canada Manpower, Immigration, Canada Pension and Veterans' Affairs will move to the Continental Store building, Main St., and reportedly, afterwards to the new Unemployment Insurance Commission headquarters, construction of which is pending.

Completion of the program will find Canada Post utilizing the entire front floor of the present building, principally for customer services, as well as three-quarters of the second storey for mail-sorting purposes.

The collector of customs and his staff will be re-established on the remainder of the second floor, in the front part of the building facing King Ave.

Alterations and additions to the structure provided for include installation of a freight elevator to carry mail from ground to second level, and a central air-conditioning system.

The loading platform will be extended northwards absorbing 10 feet of the present parking lot.

For some weeks now, postal processing has been carried out in rented quarters on the Friendly Line Motel Ltd. property, St. Anne St. All regular wicket and mailbox services, etc. will be transferred across the street to the Wye Electric premises, 454 King Ave. in the near future.

UNDERTAKE STUDY OF GRADING REGULATIONS AND REPORTING

School District No. 4 has appointed a committee charged with the responsability of studying Grading Regulations and the Reporting System to Parents.

The terms of reference of the committee are:

a) to make a careful study of the grading regulations and the reporting system presently in effect throughout the district.

b) to inquire from schools as to the modifications and-or revisions that should be introduced.

c) to inquire from teachers, supervisors and parents as to whether the existing system of reporting pupils' progress is adequate or not.

d) to invite teachers, supervisors and parents to suggest the type of reporting system that should be adopted, keeping in mind that we should strive at maintaining a certain degree of uniformity throughout the district.

e) to make such recommendations as the committees may see fit on the matters of grading regulations and-or method of reporting pupils' progress for levels 7 to 9.

To carry out the assignment the committee will call meetings, send out questionaires to parents, teachers or groups of teachers from levels seven, eight and nine. Also the committee will receive briefs from parents, teachers or groups of teachers.

All schools concerned are represented on the committee.

CST. WILSON FLIEGER

New Policeman Learning French

Cst. Wilson Ernest Flieger, 24, joined the Bathurst Police Force on January 5 of this year following a year of police training at the Atlantic Police Academy in Charlottetown, P.E.I.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Flieger of Millerton, N.B., Cst. Flieger attended Miramichi Valley High School, graduating in 1973. Although not bilingual, Cst. Flieger is currently enrolled in a French course in the city.

The new policeman, who is unmarried, received on-the-job training with the Fredericton police force last summer.

He is interested in hockey, volleyball and baseball.

Mental Health Care Is Urged

The integration of mental health service into the regular program at Chaleur General Hospital is a project undertaken by Mental Health-Bathurst.

In keeping with this policy, the following statement has been prepared and issued by that local group which is affiliated with the Canadian Mental Association.

"The problem of mental health in Bathurst and surrounding regions is not being properly served due to facilities which are not integrated into our community hospital. At the present time there still are no in-patient services at Chaleur General Hospital and this situation creates unnecessary additional stress on persons requiring assistance from the staff located at a separate mental health clinic.

"The time surely has arrived when persons seeking help can enter our hospital through the front door in the same way people are now doing with all other illnesses. To separate mental illness from all other illnesses is discriminatory and is an unnecessary burden upon persons who should be doubly helped in seeking psychiatric care.

"An in-patient service would also eliminate to a large degree the number of our citizens who must now be transported to Campbellton or Saint John at considerable cost.

"It is generally agreed that mental health care in New Brunswick has been badly neglected. A study has been launched by the Mental Health Advisory Committee to the Health Services Advisory Council for just that reason.

"When Chaleur General Hospital was planned it was designed to accommodate a twenty-bed in-patient psychiatric unit. This original plan was never developed but public support now stands behind the need for such a unit."

Bathurst PCs Hold Annual

In an election of officers for the coming year, Bathurst lawyer Robert MacPherson was named to a second term as association president. Other executive members include Alfred Chamberlain, first vice-president; Mrs. Percy Wedge, second vice-president; and Howard Ross, secretary. A treasurer is to be named by the president as the constitution states.

Named as directors were Hilaire Brideau, who is also first vice-president on the provincial level; Lt.-Col. C.C.L. Gammon, Sterling Anderson, Daryl Stothart, John Duffy, Wilfred McKay, Bev Groves, Mrs. Anita Lavigne, Percy Wedge and Tom Riordon.

In his address to the annual session, Mr. Dube asked the association's support in pressing for federal assistance in the development of Mount Carleton Park.

ROBERT MACPHERSON

Mr. Dube said the park could become instrumental in attracting and maintaining the interest of tourists in the province. However, he pointed out, the facilities planned for the area will cost 30 - 40 million dollars, and would take at least ten years to develop through provincial monies alone.

Also addressing the meeting was Aubrey Browne of Dalhousie, president of the N.B. Progressive Conservative Association. He said national party leader Joe Clark is in "a strong position" to win the next federal election. He pointed out Mr. Clark had visited the Atlantic region four times last summer.

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau was also present at the meeting.

Union Files Grievance Against Mining Company

Local 1963, United Steelworkers of America, and employees of Nigadoo River Mines Ltd., have filed a grievance with the provincial Labor Relations Board in connection with the layoff last week of 13 union members.

"We want to know this company's intentions", said Ed Levert, International representative for the USWA. "If this company is planning to close its doors again, we want them to inform the public, the union and the provincial government in the normal fashion."

Explaining the situation at the mine to a press conference in the city on Wednesday, January 26, Mr. Levert noted that on Jan. 20, the company started to phase out some underground operations. "They laid off 13 workers at random, without any regard for seniority or for the collective agreement. These men were laid off without any notice whatsoever, and the union was not advised of the cutbacks."

"Some of those who lost their jobs had been employed at the mine since 1974, while workers who remain have, in some cases, begun work as late as November 1976. The workers who were laid off could easily have done other types of work underground, as most have worked their way up from other jobs, but management gave this no consideration.

Out of the 13 who were let go, all but one were married. According to Mr. Levert, the grievance procedure may take months, and the men can little afford to wait. "In the meantime", he said, "these families will likely be forced to accept unemployment insurance or welfare benefits."

The union representative said the remaining union members, about 112, were angry enough to stage a wildcat strike when they first heard of the layoffs, but "that would be playing into the company's hands.

"Anytime the union has mentioned an increase in wages to bring rates in line with other mines in the province, the company has threatened to close the mine as it did in 1972. In the face of this threat, workers were forced to accept sub-standard wages during negotiations last year. The fear of a closure is built right into these workers."

Mr. Levert explained that mine employees are paid between $1 and $3 less per hour than workers doing similar jobs at Brunswick Mines.

"This is the worst example of a corporate citizen that has ever come to New Brunswick", Mr. Levert stated. "It is the union's opinion that government should step in and take over the mine from this multinational, anti-worker company that has brought nothing but insecurity, sub-standard wages and unhealthy working conditions. Mine inspectors have also had their hands tied under the threat that the company would close its doors if it had to spend the necessary money to bring the operation up to par with other mines in this province."

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Credit Union president, Adolphe Durepos, in his address, told the members the success of the organization was dependent on themselves. "The Credit Union is you" he said.

Mr. Durepos expressed his appreciation to everyone for their co-operation with him and the officers throughout the past year as well as praised the members for their contributions towards the success of the credit union.

The president noted the local society is in excellent condition and that business is first rate, but, that even considering the difficulties created by inflation, the Credit Union had continued to progress.

"The progress of the Society is due to you, the members." Mr. Durepos said, and "It is due to your faith in those whom you have chosen to administer and carry out your business." The president, in these words, referred to the committee members of the society who devote much time and energy to the society.

Mr. Durepos praised the work of the manager and his assistant for their devotion, initiative spirit, their enthusiasm and continued interest in the society and service to its membership.

In closing, the president expressed thanks to each and every member of the society, as well as the officers and committee members.

TREMENDOUS LOSS

One of the Upshore's most impressive buildings, a combined convent and school at Pointe Verte, was completely destroyed by fire of as yet unknown origin, which erupted during Tuesday night.

The brick and wood structure was occupied as living quarters by eight nuns belonging to the Salesian order of teachers, and also contained two grade six classrooms as well as a kindergarten.

The loss, which is estimated at $250,000 plus, occurred despite the noble efforts of five fire brigades from Green Point and adjoining communities.

SHUTTERING UP

Weldon Gray, who has operated the Texaco service station at the corner of Murray Ave. and St. Andrew St. for the past 10 years, is closing up shop at the end of February. Discouraging merchandising trends is given as the reason.

Gray's has been one of the most popular outlets of its type in the city.

Mr. Gray has no immediate plans, except for a couple of months of leisure. He intends to remain in the Bathurst area, however.

5TH BIRTHDAY

Today, Feb. 2, Chaleur General Hospital quietly observes its 5th birthday with only a special cafeteria menu to mark the occasion.

VISITORS IMPRESSED WITH RELIGIOUS COMMUNITY

Two administrative members of the Congregation of the Servants of the Blessed Sacrament, one from abroad and the other from the United States, have been visiting the House of Prayer Community in Bathurst this week.

Sr. Sister Mary Catherine, bursar general of the Mother House of the congregation in Rome, Italy, and Sister Patricia-Ann, vice-provincial superior of the American vice-principal province from Waterville, Maine, where she also serves as superior of the provincial house in that city, the trip to Bathurst by motor marked a first visit to New Brunswick for both.

Becoming acquainted with the various life-styles in the communities of the congregation is the general purpose of the visit for the religious members who leave this morning for Matane, Que.

The Sisters will travel on to Quebec City Thursday before continuing on to Corning, N.Y. and thence to New York City.

Arriving Sunday in Bathurst where they have been guests at the House of Prayer, the visitors are in accord in stating they have attained "a very good impression of the House of Prayer Community in Bathurst.

"We attended prayer meetings on Sunday and Monday, enjoyed them very much and found these both moving, spiritual experiences.

"We both think the House in Bathurst satisfies the need in this area by providing a place of meditation for those who wish to deepen their spiritual life."

One particular thing the sisters were impressed by at the Monday meeting was the "simplicity of Msgr. Edgar Godin, Bishop of Bathurst, and his interest in the group, also his fatherliness and his pastoral concern for his people."

Sister Mary Catherine will be returning in a week's time to Rome where she has been serving the congregation for the past ten years. A native of Cleveland, Ohio, her initial reason for coming to North America was to join her parents who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary at Cleveland, Nov. 25 which, coincidentally, fell on national Thanksgiving Day in the United States last year.

In the House of Prayer Community here are Sister Lorraine and Sister Madelaine Savoie, and Sister Maria Cormier who has been with the congregation less than a year.

The new program will come into effect in September.

In other business, the transportation committee will study a request from the Petit Rocher Home and School Association that students living within a mile from school be transported by bus. The association foresaw a dangerous situation

The annual meeting of the Bathurst Chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada, Atlantic Division, was held recently at the Medical Clinic on Sunset Drive.

The local chapter, which meets the needs of multiple sclerosis patients from Chatham to Campbellton, discussed plans for a variety of fund-raising projects, and named a committee to study those suggested. Dr. W. H. Greer will chair the committee.

The meeting discussed plans for the upcoming MS Carnation Days, set for May 5—7. During this period, in conjunction with Multiple Sclerosis Month in Canada, members will sell carnations in the city and provide information booklets on the disease to all interested. All profits will go toward research and development by the national society.

The Bathurst delegate to the annual meeting of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada, Atlantic Division, set for Moncton, Feb. 5, will be Gene LeBlanc.

MS patients in the area were reminded that the Atlantic Conference will the held in Saint John this year. All were encouraged to prepare projects for display at the conference, and to attend the sessions if possible.

Among donations received by the society was $300 from the Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Multiple sclerosis is a disease of the central nervous system, often progressive, which may produce paralysis and loss of sensation, affecting bodily functions including vision, speech, balance and movement. There is no known cure, no effective treatment and no preventative measures as yet. For the Multiple Sclerosis patient and his family, there is little today, only tomorrow. The hope is for medical science to find a cause and cure.

The Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada is primarily concerned with sponsoring research as to the causes of Multiple Sclerosis and public awareness campaigns to enlighten the public as to the special needs of the multiple sclerosis patient.

The Bathurst Branch of the MS Society invites all interested citizens to attend the next meeting set for Feb. 16 at 8 p.m. in the medical clinic.

Interest Shown In Cirtex Plant

New Brunswick's Minister of Commerce and Development, J. P. Blanchard, said this week that potential buyers from both Canada and abroad are beginning to show interest in the Cirtex knitting mill.

Mr. Blanchard said that advertisements in the Financial Post and Toronto Globe and Mail have drawn a few inquiries. The option of advertising in New York and London newspapers remains, but no definite plans have been formulated.

"We don't think there is any question of the mill's value and production capacity", said Mr. Blanchard, "but we don't know if a prospective buyer will want to take our word for it. We want an independent consultant's report that they will accept."

An independent study was commissioned two weeks ago and is expected to be completed within a month and a half.

It is still a little early in the game to be overly optimistic, the minister said, but the potential of the mill is beyond question.

Time To Consider

Municipal governments throughout the province will go to the polls in early May to choose local legislators for the next three years.

And, although the provincial municipal elections are still a little over three months away, several incumbents have indicated their intentions.

Some of them will seek re-election; others will retire from the scene.

To those who will be newly elected will fall the responsibility of piloting their respective city, town or village out of the 1970's into the decade of Orwell's 1984. For them the task will not be easy.

Increasing social problems, labor difficulties and inflation will continue to plague the efforts of all forms of government, especially those at the local level.

Municipal government needs the best people of the community to give leadership, provide encouragement and promote goodwill. Further, they must be hard-working, dedicated and enthusiastic.

There are several municipalities in The Northern Light's readership. It is in these quiet months of winter that the community-minded should look toward those who will best serve their interests and the community during the next three years.

It is not too soon to start the wheels rolling for solid municipal representation next term.

Still Attuned

At last week's annual meeting of the Canadian Forestry Association, held in Fredericton, a newspaper friend of ours welcomed the opportunity of renewing acquaintances with Senator Louis J. Robichaud. He found the volatile Liberal and former New Brunswick premier just as colorful and fiery as ever.

Senator Robichaud is a member of the CFA and a strong supporter because he knows better than most how important the forests are to New Brunswick.

Acknowledging past differences with K.C. Irving, Senator Robichaud praised the industrialist as the man who has done more for forest regeneration in this province than any other individual.

In doing so, he echoed the compliments paid Mr. Irving by the guest speaker, G.H.U. Bayly, chairman of the CFA regeneration workshop scheduled for Quebec City later this year.

Mr. Bayly cited the Irving reforestation program as an outstanding example of good work being done, but noted it is one of a small number of exceptions.

Senator Robichaud told the audience of professional foresters, natural resources officials, industry people and forest oriented men and women in attendance, that every tree cut down in the province should be replaced by another tree. He emphasized that we must press for regeneration of our forests that it "is vital to all of Canada, including Quebec."

In a private conversation during the evening, the Senator and our friend discussed briefly the Parti Quebecois situation and Rene Levesque's recent speech to prominent financial people in New York City.

The Senator had not seen the telecast but had read news reports and the text of the speech, and had talked to many persons about it.

"The reaction has been all negative", Senator Robichaud emphasized.

Senator Robichaud can be a very independent person indeed, but he is a federalist and is no supporter of any independence for Canada movement, in Quebec or elsewhere.

Scary Movies Said To Cause Illness

Dorchester, N.B.
January 31, 1977

I would like to know how many parents are as absolutely disgusted with movies shown at local theatres! Are people not the least bit concerned for the welfare of their children?

To allow youngsters a steady diet of this type of garbage and poison - they might as well be feeding them a daily dose of strychnine. It is just as lethal in the end.

We are living in a sick generation as it is. Let's not add to it by not protesting against such outrageously nauseating films. This newspaper clipping and others agree that scary films such as The Exorcist and Jaws can cause serious illnesses and psychiatric problems. Won't somebody take time out to protest loudly against such trash?

Scary movies are frightening people out of their minds causing severe traumas like those that strike victims of plane crashes, hurricanes and wars.

Previously healthy people have suffered sleepless nights, chest pains, screaming and crying fits, nightmares and even suicidal tendencies after seeing such films as "Jaws" and "The Exorcist", report top medical experts.

"Movies can be so traumatic that they cause illnesses and psychiatric symptoms. It's a clear-cut medical disease", declared Dr. Jansen C. Burzette, a psychiatrist and clinical director of the Capitol Region Mental Health Centre in Hartford, Conn.

"I call it cinematic neurosis, because it's very similar to traumatic neurosis, which strikes people in stressful situations such as plane crashes, hurricanes - and even atomic bombs and concentration camps."

Added Dr. Michael Ingall, a Providence, R.I. psychiatrist who treated six cases of trauma triggered by "The Exorcist". "My patients had nightmares and sleepless nights.

"Some even believed they were possessed by the devil".

Here are a few frightening examples of "cinematic neurosis":

- One man who viewed "The Exorcist" suffered a stiff neck, lost 15 pounds and had a recurring nightmare that he was interceding between a vampire and its female victim.

- A young mother of two developed chest pains and had difficulty breathing after seeing "Jaws". At the hospital doctors gave her tranquilizers and recommended counselling. She finally went to the psychiatrist after suffering repeated crying fits and exhibiting suicidal tendencies.

- A 17-year-old girl was being examined for encephalitis (brain inflammation) when she suddenly screamed "Sharks" during a seizure.

Doctors found out she'd gone to see "Jaws" before her illness - and within a few days her symptoms disappeared.

Moviegoers who seek medical help represent only the tip of the iceberg.

"Many, many people have definite neurotic reactions to films than ever see psychiatrists", declared Dr. Louis Schlan, medical director of Riveredge Hospital in Forest Park, Ill.

Fortunately, most victims recover quickly. Explained Dr. Burzette, "Most of them are young and previously healthy. Short treatment is sufficient."

Added Dr. Ingall, "My patients all returned to a healthy state of mind within six weeks."

G. Connolley Dies In Hospital

Sympathy is being extended to Mrs. Burns Vickers following the death of her father, George F. Connolley Sr. of Nelson-Miramichi, which occurred at Chaleur General Hospital in Bathurst after a long illness. He was 85.

Born at Barnaby River, he was a son of the late Joseph and Mary (Hackett) Connolley. His wife, the former Emma Jean Doyle, died in 1965.

Surviving are two sons, Thomas of Kirkwood and George Jr. of Nelson-Miramichi; four daughters, Mrs. John Brennan (Mary) of Hamilton, Ont., Mrs. Burns Vickers (Peggy) of Bathurst, Mrs. Lambert Saunders (Ruth) of Chelmsford and Mrs. Edward Scovel of Queenstown; 40 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Connolley rested at Davidson's Funeral Home, Newcastle.

The funeral was held at St. Patrick's Church, Nelson - Miramichi, this morning at ten o'clock. Entombment was in the parish receiving vault pending burial in the adjoining cemetery in the spring.

B COMPANY CONDUCTS WEEKEND WARFARE

Twenty-five members of B Company, 2nd Battalion, Royal New Brunswick Regiment were busy last weekend testing survival skills and winter warfare tactics learned during fall training. The Bathurst troops bivouaced in an area just north of Nepisiguit High School off St. Anne Street, and startled snowmobilers, cross-country skiiers and snowshoers alike on Sunday afternoon when they conducted a mock battle in the area. Major Wilmont Turbide described the weekend's activities as "a success in every way." B Company is still looking for recruits, and anyone 18½ years of age and over interested can drop in at the Bathurst Armoury, 96 Main Street, on Tuesday or Thursday nights.

Curriculum Is Explained

Several hundred parents and guests turned out for the Bathurst High and J. Gordon Chalmers Home and School Association meeting held Wednesday, Jan. 19 at the Bathurst High amphitheatre.

President Mrs. Jay Winton welcomed members and the large gathering of parents who have children entering Bathurst High in September.

Several items of interest were discussed, such as the brief which will be presented at the annual home and school meeting in Fredericton. This brief will request that a full-time nurse be made available for the two schools.

Through money raised by the rummage sale in November, it will be possible to give a $100 bursary to a deserving Grade 12 student, and a $25 donation to the Bathurst Music Festival.

A ways and means committee composed of Mrs. Vina Taylor, Mrs. Leona White and Mrs. Joseph MacDonald was formed to look into ways to raise more money to buy needed equipment for the two schools.

Ronald MacMillan, BHS vice-principal, and guidance counsellor Fred Cormier, explained for the benefit of parents the Grade 10 curriculum, and the many courses available to students, such as college prep, industrial and commercial courses.

The programs for the February, March, April and May meetings were also outlined.

Bathurst High and J. Gordon Chalmers now have a membership of 230, making this one of the most successful and rewarding years for the association.

Cross-Country Skiing Growing In Popularity

Members of the Bathurst Cross-Country Ski club have received an invitation to make a tour on skis of the Acadian Village during the coming weekend. Sponsored by the Caraquet Cross-Country Ski Club, the tour is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Sunday, February 6.

A similar event last year at this time attracted over 100 skiers and Serge Duguay, president of the Caraquet club, expects an even larger turnout this time because of the increasing number of skiers in the region. Those attending the outing must present membership cards.

Meantime the cross-country boom continues in the Bathurst area and local retailers report they are sold out of skis, or nearly so. There is also a shortage of accessories such as knapsacks to take along on lengthier trips, such as the 5½ mile "Orange Trail" that runs from the by-pass highway to the Holy Family Scout Chalet (an 11-mile round trip for the more ambition skier).

Maps showing the orange trail and other nearby trails were distributed to members of the Bathurst cross-country club at their most recent meeting, a gathering attended by over 100 members and prospective members. Attendance has also been high at the instructional clinics which the club has been sponsoring for its members.

A French-language clinic January 23rd had a full attendance, but an English-language clinic set for last weekend was cancelled because of bad weather. The clinics are held at Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club, an ideal site for teaching groups the techniques of travelling smoothly over flat ground and the problems in going up and down steep hills.

New skiers are surprised at how fast they can travel once the technique is acquired, some club members are now making the trip down the 5½ mile orange trail in one hour, or less. A big assist is the excellent condition of the trail, prepared weekly by the N.B. Department of Natural Resources - Forestry Branch.

The rangers use a "trail groomer" to smooth the trail and a "track setter" which digs out two parallel grooves for the skis to travel in.

The local club is pleased with the co-operation received from snowmobilers who are observing signs and leaving the trails undisturbed.

Good weather during the January 22nd weekend brought out nearly 200 skiers to try the new trail on its opening day, and enthusiasts have been out on the trail nearly every day since. There is no sign that interest will lessen, especially since the best days of skiing are yet to come as the hours of daylight increase and the sun gets highers and warmer with each passing week.

Many Mourn Mrs. T. White

The death of Mrs. Thomas White of Robertville occurred Jan. 31 in hospital at Moncton at the age of 88.

Born at Saint Louise, she was the former Lucy Duguay, a daughter of the late James and Marie (Hachey) Duguay.

Surviving are eight daughters, Mrs. Michael Richardson (Kathleen) of Chatham, Mrs. Edward Berthelotte (Irene) of Peter's River, Mrs. Samuel Shawluk (Mildred) of Hamilton, Ont., Mrs. Ulric Cormier (Vina) of Dunlop, Mrs. Arthur Devarennes (Bertha) of Moncton, Mrs. Adelard Comeau (Rita) of Robertville, Miss Jeannette Marie White of Quebec, P.Q. and Mrs. William Corcoran (Eva) of Stouffville, Ont.; six sons, Delphis, at home, Norman of Saint John, Harold of Santa Anna, Clif., Kenneth and Edmund, both of Montreal and Armand of Beresford.

Three half-brothers, Leandre Duguay of Bathurst, Adelard Duguay of Sormany and Nicholas Duguay, St. Louise; one half-sister, Mrs. Albert St. Onge (Beatrice) of Sormany as well as 52 grandchildren and 29 great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. White is resting at Elhatton's Funeral Home.

The funeral will be held at St. Theresa Church, Robertville at 11 a.m. Thursday.

Entombment in the parish receiving vault will be followed by spring burial in the church cemetery.

Majorette Corps Now Registered

Bathurst Chaleurettes Majorette Corps has become a registered organization, according to notices published in recent editions of The Royal Gazette.

A non-profit group which raises funds for equipment, supplies, etc., its executive is comprised as follows:

Serving on the board of directors are Bonnie Stever, Shirley Boudreau, Dorothy Knowles, Claudine Gauthier and Sanford Gauthier.

The instructress is Miss Joanne Fournier.

Bathurst Chaleurettes Majorette Corps has been active since 1973 in all local and several out-of-town parades each year. In addition, several of the girls have been successful in baton competitions in various other centres.

In addition to all sections of the city, the group encompasses the surrounding communities so that the entire area is represented.

The official uniform symbolic of the organization consists of a royal blue, military style jacket with gold trim, and bright gold shorts and hat.

Eyeglasses Not New Invention

If you are wearing bifocal glasses today, and thousands do, you may be surprised to know they were invented by Benjamin Franklin. About 200 years ago, when he flew kites in quest of electricity and worked on the famous Franklin stove, he also invented glasses that brought long and short distance into one frame.

"We take our glasses for granted," said Greg Collrin, of Saint John, District Administrator, The Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

In an interview for White Cane Week, Feb. 6 - 12, the annual education period of CNIB and The Canadian Council of the Blind, Mr. Collrin told how philosophers rather than scientists took an active part in the early development of eyeglasses.

Safety glasses were on the drafting board about 1905 but did not appear in today's forms until 1960. Contact lenses that covered the whole eye came into use in 1887.

Today's glasses are precision made, scientific instruments. For best possible vision follow these tips. Order your prescription in safety lenses. In an eye accident they will prevent injuries. When not in use, place your glasses lenses up to avoid scratches. Polish often to keep lenses clear.

Concern Over New Building

The Bathurst Downtown Merchants Association is concerned about the proposed location of the federal government's Unemployment Insurance Commission, and has formed a committee to look into the situation.

At its regular monthly session last night (Tuesday), association members wanted to know how the new building would affect parking on Harbourview Boulevard. Merchants indicated there is little enough parking space for customers at present, and decided to approach City Hall to find out how parking will be affected.

In other business, the association decided to keep Main Street open for the duration of Hospitality Days this coming summer. In past years, the downtown area was cordoned off to form an outdoor mall.

The association has thrown its support behind an Air Bathurst Ltd. proposal which would initiate air service between the city and Fredericton.

Plans for the annual meeting of the association, set for March 1, were also discussed. A new slate of officers will be elected at the session.

Planning for the day you retire or buy your first home means having a master plan for your investment in the future. So we have two plans to help. A Retirement Savings Plan, and a Home Ownership Savings Plan. They both earn you valuable tax savings, and when you subscribe to either one, or both plans your contributions can be applied to any one, or a combination of these investment vehicles:

1. Royal Bank RSP and HOSP Deposits. Interest-bearing deposits with The Royal Bank of Canada, offering a high interest return, geared to the general deposit rate structure. Because of the long-term nature of these deposits, it is possible to pay a higher rate of interest than on conventional savings deposits.

2. Income Fund. High-yield bonds, deposit instruments and mortgages insured under the National Housing Act make up this portfolio which is actively managed by professionals. The policy is to achieve as high a current income as is compatible with maintaining reasonable price stability as well as moderate capital appreciation.

3. Equity Fund. Investment mainly in Canadian common stock portfolio which is actively managed by the same professionals. Long-term capital growth with reasonable current income is the objective of this fund.

It's all in how you plan your strategy.

Your Royal Bank manager can help you work out a master plan. Why not call or visit today. Now it's your move.

Keeffe's 3 Goals Highlight 6-4 Win By SNBHL All Stars

Centreman Bob Keeffe and goaltender Gerry Endall, both members of the SNBHL's Fredericton Chevies, combined to spearhead the South All Stars to a 6 - 4 win over the NSHL Stars in the annual North-South All star hockey game played in Fredericton Saturday night before an estimated 2500 fans.

Keeffe scored three straight goals in the final period to spark the South's winning rally while Endall stopped the North cold after replacing starter Gary Bernard in the second period. Keeffe, who also assisted on the South's first goal, was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

Al McRae, John Henry and Bill Loughery counted the other goals for the winners who trailed 3 - 2 after 40 minutes.

Danny Lessard of the Chatham Ironmen scored twice for the North and was named the best defenceman in the contest. Dalhousie's Luc Bonneville was selected as the top player for the North. He scored once and assisted on two others. Veteran Lou Ouellette of the Bathurst Alpines, appearing in his tenth All Star game, added the North's other goal, his 10th in the annual classic. Lou was forced to leave the game early in the third period after receiving a stiff bodycheck from Luc Bedard of the Saint John Mooseheads.

Al McRae of Newcastle Northmen opened the scoring for the South at 4:22 of the first period but Bonneville tied the game at the 16:20 mark. Bill Loughery gave the South the lead again early in the second but Lessard's first of two squared it at 6:02. Lou Ouellette put the North ahead for the first time at 12:20 as the NSHL Stars appeared to take control of the contest. But Endall, who took over for Bernard after Ouellette's goal, was unbeatable for the remainder of the period making miraculous saves on North shooters from point - blank range.

Keeffe then took over for the winners firing three goals in a row to put the South up 5 - 3 by the 16:45 mark. Leonard finally beat Endall with a drive from the left point at 17:10 but John Henry fired the clincher with a little over a minute to play.

The win was only the second for the South in the past six contests and now leaves the North with a 7 - 6 edge in the annual classic.

North coach Hubert Poulint of the Bathurst Alpines, while conceding nothing to the South, stated the puck didn't bounce in the North's favor when his team badly outplayed the South late in the second period. "We had it all over them but we run into a hot goaltender," he added.

Tigers' Triumph Clinches Title

Campbellton Tigers clinched the North Shore Hockey League pennant with a 7-4 win over the Bathurst Alpines last Friday in Campbellton.

The win dashed any hopes the Alpines might have had of moving up from their second-place position. It was the Tigers' seventh NSHL title in the past nine years.

All star defenceman Sterling Logis fired three goals and assisted on Luc Tessier's marker to lead the Tigers to their 21st win of the season. Greg McCullough, Brian Forster and Denis Henderson also scored for the Tigers who held period leads of 3 - 2 and 5 - 3.

Lou Ouellette fired a pair for the Alpines with Bob Chenick and Denis Langlais netting the others. Lou's second goal drew the Alpines even at three early in the second period but Logis scored twice with 15 seconds midway through period to allow the Tigers to pull away.

Langlais' marker cut the deficit to one early in the third until McCullough and Henderson tallied to wrap up the win.

Beresford Bees Edge Lasers 6-4

Beresford Bees of the North shore Junior Hockey League came from a 4 - 1 first period deficit to score five goals in the second and go on to defeat Bathurst High School Lasers 6 - 4 in a exhibition hockey game at The Bathurst Arena Sunday.

Charlie Viennaux and Michel DeGrace each triggered a pair for the winners with the others coming from Marcel Maillet and Larry Lavigne. Glen Melvin counted twice for the Lasers while Jim Savoie and David Burke fired the others.

Saturday night in Campbellton, Beresford had a chance to gain on the North Shore Junior League leaders when they had to settle for a 10 - 10 draw with the North Stars in a free-wheeling contest. The Bees led 2 - 0 after the first period but the teams were tied at 5-all entering the final period. Both teams scored five times in the final 20 minutes.

Mario Doucet led the Bees with four goals while Charlie Viennaux added a pair. Roger LeBlanc, Larry Lavigne, Fred David and Jean-Marc Fournier netted the others. Kerry Chiasson and Donald LeBlanc each fired a hat-trick for the North Stars while Pierre Richard counted a brace. Paul Bertheiot and Frances Bouley were the other Campbellton marksmen.

Sunday night in Shediac, the Caraquet Acadiens topped St. Isidore-Tracadie Save Easy 6 - 4 to stay within a point of the second-place Beresford Bees.

A dance with music by the Mysticks is also scheduled the same night, starting at 10 o'clock and is open to members and guests.

The past presidents of the Ladies Curling Club will be honored at a past-presidents' supper on February 26. Everyone is welcome.

Five teams travelled to Newcastle to compete in play provincial ladies' preliminaries.

The club extends best wishes to Anne Orser, skip, and her rink of Pat Maher, Elvira Kennah and Ethel LeFurge who will compete in the Lassie provincial double knockout. They are representing the club as winners of the Northeastern Zone competitions played here early in January.

Ladies, do not forget to watch for the new posters concerning invitationals as they go up on the club's bulletin board.

In the afternoon play series, Sis Dodd's team of Janet Cormier, Cathy Pearce and Yvette Kenny beat skip Gisele Shaw, supported by Elaine Schnarr, Jean Randall and Claire Currie to determine the winner.

The mixed series begins this week for both morning and afternoon sessions.

Skippy delayed completion of the mixed series in the morning curling section. The girls will begin the skips' series next week.

First round of the March Bonspiel, a mixed bonspiel, were scheduled for Wed. Feb. 9.

The next meeting of the ladies club will be held Thursday, Feb. 3 at 7:30 p.m. Everyone welcome!

Chaleur Bay Swim Is Set

The second annual 14-mile swim across the Bay of Chaleur from Paspebiac to Grand Anse has been set for August 7, 1977 and for the first time will be an event of international scope.

Challengers this year will include Veljo Rogosic of Yugoslavia, Claudio Marcello of Argentina, Cindy Nicholas of Scarborough, John Erickson of Chicago and Regent Lacoursiere of Montreal.

Prize money will be awarded as follows: $4,000 for first place, $2,500 for second, $1,500 for third, $1,000 for fourth and $500 for fifth place. The swimmer who cover the last four miles of the crossing in the fastest time will receive an additional $1,000, with the second fastest time getting $500.

Last year's participants, Regent Lacoursiere and John Erickson, encountered 30 m.p.h. winds, cloudy skies, 15-foot waves and water temperatures in the vicinity of 54 degrees. Mr. Lacoursiere gave up enroute while Erickson swam on to New Carlisle from Grand Ganse and four miles west to Paspebiac after an eight hour 40-minute struggle.

Paspebiac summer festivities are set for August 4 - 7. The village of Grand Anse has not yet announced its festival dates.

NBFL Wants Explanation For Higher Phone Rates

The New Brunswick Federation of Labour called on the Public Utilities Board Jan. 27 to disallow the latest NB Tel rate increase application and to explain to telephone subscribers the basis for substantially lower rates in Manitoba under the publicly owned Manitoba Telephone System.

"...Inflationary rate increases intended to bring about higher returns for NB Tel shareholders first, and expanded and improved services secondly, can no longer be justified, declared Federation President Paul LePage in a detailed submission to the PUB.

"...The people of New Brunswick warrant a full and detailed explanation as to why rates for virtually all forms of basic telephone service are substantially lower in provinces with public telephone systems and, in particular, why costs in Manitoba are far less expensive than for similar services in New Brunswick," stated Mr. Paul LePage. "And if, as stated time and again by the Federation, the return of higher profits to investors is the cause of subscribers incurring continuing inflationary rate increases then future private operation of the provincial telephone system should be seriously assessed."

The NBFL brief claimed that the proposed increases would see New Brunswick residential subscribers paying the highest rates in Canada and, with the exception of Halifax, the highest business rates as well. Based on a requested 19.6 per cent increase of $1.50 per month, 1-Party customers in Saint John would be paying $9.15 monthly – an increase of 20.4 per cent in under two years, it pointed out.

For comparable services Bell Canada subscribers in Montreal and Toronto would be paying only $7.45 per month, while similar service in Manitoba under the government run Manitoba Telephone System would be only $4.90 with no increases projected over the next few years, noted the submission.

The Federation expressed concern over escalating service charges and described the $.20 increase for person-to-person calls (initial three minutes) as "excessive" and a "seemingly ...deliberate attempt by NB Tel to reinforce consumer use of long distance operator assistance. With the proposed increases New Brunswick intra-provincial toll calls would be $.60 cents more for the initial 3 minutes and $.9 higher for each additional minute than similar calls in Manitoba, while service calls to install main service would jump to $28 as opposed to $10 in Manitoba.

The Federation also urged the Board to more closely examine NB Tel's involvement in non-telephone services including the development, promotion, sale and servicing of miscellaneous equipment items with limited market potential and involving private competition, as well as the whole area of special contracts.

"Emphasis on the expansion and improvement of provincial telephone services should in no way be sacrificed by NB Tel's entry into non-telephone sidelines such as video services, smoke signals etc. which, if anything, are likely a severe financial drain on upgrading larger revenue producing basic telephone services," stated the Federation brief.

Citing radio paging (bellboy) equipment as an example, the Federation suggested that NB Tel is reluctant to institute warranted price increases for services where alternate supply sources are available to customers because of market competition.

"The possibility of a financial loss in the marketing of miscellaneous items, consequently, is very real and to the complete detriment of basic telephone subscribers forced to incur larger rate increases", charged the Federation. "And insofar as deficient revenue returns for these items are under written by other Company operations, NB Tel would hold an unfair market advantage over its competitors".

To ensure that there is no diversion of revenues from telephone operations to non-telephone services, the NBFL recommended establishment of a separate financial division of NB Tel to account for all costs associated with non-telephone Company services separate and apart from costs incurred with respect to regular telephone operations.

The labour submission strongly attacked NB Tel's failure to complete its proposed $62 million construction program in 1976. In particular, it questioned the allocation of $2.3 million for unprojected contract services – including $1.3 million for non-telephone related video services, at the expense of a $6.5 million cutback in the Company's Rural Service Improvement Program.

"By allowing NB Tel to substantially alter its construction program on the basis that the Board did not allow the required revenues to support all the necessary programs, Board authority and effectiveness in ensuring compliance with its decisions are open to question in that the PUB approved earlier rate increases on the basis that the projected construction program would be carried out," claimed the Federation.

Rate increases approved in 1975-76 have allowed NB Tel to earn record profits, suggested the Federation. "But rather than applying a greater share of profits to expanding and improving services thereby generating additional revenues, improved earnings have been largely paid out to shareholders in the form of dividends," it noted.

Of 1975 - 76 net income totalling $22.5 million some $15.7 million or approximately 70 per cent was used for payment of dividends with share dividends rising from $1.20 in

Brunswick Mill Now Owned By Province

The New Brunswick Government's formal offer for Brunswick Mills Ltd. and associated New Brunswick companies has been accepted by the owners, Natural Resources Minister Rolland Boudreau announced January 27.

And the timing of the sale could help meet the department's objective of getting the mill back into operation by early summer Deputy Minister R. E. Hanusiak said.

Purchase details are now being finalized on the approximately $4.6 million offer made in mid-December by Bathurst Woodland Holdings, a subsidiary of the New Brunswick Forest Authority.

The actual transaction is expected to be completed within the new week.

"The delay was not due to any dispute or anything of that nature," Mr. Hanusiak said. "It was simply a matter of lawyers getting papers shuffled around. Nothing has been changed in the original offer."

The principals of the British Columbia-based Clear Lake Ltd. have been paid $570,000 for their shares and advances and the $1,250,000 bank loan has been paid off. The present long term debt guarantee of $1,272,000 is in the process of being transferred.

Now that Bathurst Woodland Holdings is in effective control of Brunswick Mills Ltd., the additional $1,250,000 provided earlier is in the process of being made available for the settlement of accounts.

Some managerial staff has been retained as well as some former production employees in order to maintain the mill during the shutdown, Mr. Hanusiak said. Former employees, because they are a trained workforce, are expected to be given priority in rehiring.

"In the final two months of operation, the mill was running a shift at its designed capability," the deputy minister said. "It was designed to run two shifts, but it was running only one shift and was yielding what it was designed to yield in one shift."

There will be no serious negotiations for resale of the mill until N.B. Forest Authority has control of the mill, he said. But, in the meantime, an inter-departmental team with representatives from the Forest Authority, Natural Resources, and Commerce and Development is preparing a proposal to offer it for sale.

"There are a number of companies, some of them in New Brunswick, who have expressed an interest in the mill," the deputy minister said, "and we expect proposals from some of them."

The pilot project, on approximately one million acres of forest land near Bathurst, was designed to bring about a system of wood allocation to the various industries in the province in such a fashion as to make maximum use of the resource. Mr. Hanusiak said that the pilot project will continue toward its stated objective.

"You must appreciate," he said, "that a tree, or a portion of it, can in some instances be placed into a higher value product than in others. While it may seem simple to the layman, when you are dealing with substantial quantities it is not as simple in practice as it is in concept."

"Hundreds of thousands of trees are harvested," he added, "and the logistics of flowing wood are not simple. It requires a great deal of expertise which, fortunately, we have in New Brunswick, and it is demonstrated in the private sector."

The deputy minister said that because of the imbalance between larger and smaller trees, there is a tendency to generate an imbalance between sawable and fibre materials. Smaller trees containing portions of defect can be used by the pulp and paper industry, he pointed out, and efforts are now being made to flow more fibre quality material.

Efforts will continue along these lines, he said.

Fears He May Lose His Job

The director and senior economic counsellor for the Quebec government office in Toronto is concerned that a Radio-Canada interview, which emphasized he is not bilingual, could cost him his job.

Thomas Oliver Moorse said he "could be the fatted calf" if "the more radical elements in Quebec and forced the government".

(Mr. Moorse is known in Bathurst, where he was one-time purchasing agent for Consolidated Bathurst Ltd.)

Moorse, who opened the office in 1973, said he had been interviewed "under the umbrella of wanting to discuss what this office could do for Ontarians and francophones in Ontario."

He said he was asked about his proficiency in French, but declined to be interviewed in French because "I can express myself better in English."

The 61-year-old former resident of Montreal said he has taken a six-week, total immersion course in French at Laval University in Quebec, at the expense of the Quebec government, and he "can carry on without too much trouble... it (his French) seems to have been adequate."

Moorse said there is "not a question of doubt, that the Radio-Canada report was unfair."

"They've admitted that to me and said they were sorry it came out that way", he said.

Moorse said his lack of fluency in French has helped him in his job because it shows Ontarians that a tolerance for anglophones exists in Quebec.

"My job is to make a happy situation here - to try to reduce confusion and make harmony between the Quebec business and financial world and the Ontario business and financial world", he concluded.

College Still For The Rich

Most students in university and college come from families with large incomes despite attempts to make post-secondary education accessible to all classes, the federal government said in report last week.

"Students from the already privileged classes in society appear more likely to obtain a university education and hence to earn the higher incomes associated with it", the report concluded.

"These inequalities are important for public policy because they tend to extend differences in earnings from one generation to another."

The analysis of statistics compiled from questionaires filled out by 60,000 students in 1974 - 75 also showed students with a parent who had a university education were much more likely to be in university than community college. Most of the latter had parents with elementary school education only.

The report said nearly 60 per cent of the post-secondary students who replied to the survey said they had never borrowed any money to finance their education.

But of those who did, students in the Atlantic provinces borrowed the most.

More than half the fulltime undergradutes in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick had debts higher than $2,000. Students in British Columbia and Manitoba had the smallest debts.

The report said one-third of all the students reported fathers' incomes of $15,000 or more, and less than one-fifth had fathers with incomes below $6,000.

No recommendations were offered in the 179-page document.

A response by the National Union of Students (NUS), issued a few hours after publication of the report, criticized the study for basing its findings on a survey of students already in post-secondary education.

Dan O'Connor, executive secretary of NUS, questioned the accuracy of the report but said it accords with the NUS view that post-secondary education is restricted largely to the financially well-off.

"What about people who simply can't afford to continue their education, who didn't get a chance to answer the survey? Their problems are not covered in the survey, yet the report makes conclusions about their situation", said Mr. O'Connor.

Edmundston group on arrival at local lodge.

LOCAL CLUB HOSTS EDMUNDSTON SNOWMOBILERS

Four members of the Bathurst Snowmobile Club travelled by snowmobile to St. Quentin last weekend to escort a group from the Edmundston Snowmobile Club to the Fish and Game Lodge at Grand Falls.

Comprising the Edmundston group were Conrad Cassista, Dr. Gilles Levesque, Roger Martin, Gerard Bard, Gerard Jalbert and Normand Michaud. Harold Imough, Aurele Frenette, Manny Imough and George Spence made the trip from the Bathurst club.

The newcomers were pleased with the receiving party and hospitality shown them, and expressed amazement at the groomed snowmobile trails in the region. The width and smoothness of the trails were said to be much better than in the northwestern part of the province.

The Department of Natural Resources currently maintains about 150 miles of trail, and is looking at the possibility of grooming another from Little River to the falls as the number of snowmobilers driving from Bathurst to the Falls is forever increasing. All are looking forward to groomed trails in this area.

The Bathurst Snowmobile Club will hold a rally on February 12, with registrations to be held between 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. that day. Fees will be $2 per unit, and the rally gets underway at 1:30 p.m.

A bouillon supper will be served from 5 - 7 p.m., and a party for members will follow. If possible, the Edmundston group will also attend.

The club reminds members that those who have not yet received their 1977 cards can pick them up at the lodge.

Policy Pendulum Swings One Way

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

The Mackenzie King documents that have just gone into the Public Archives pack a wallop for today's readers.

They take the reader back half a century, to a time when government and business shared an intimacy that is almost inconceivable today.

The documents show Prime Minister King receiving $25,000 cash, expensive presents (to judge from his effusive thanks) and lavish hospitality on vacation trips to upstate New York, Bermuda and Europe - all at the hands of business leaders.

Those businessmen, in turn, expected and received special consideration from the King government when bills affecting their various projects came before Cabinet and Parliament.

The pendulum has swung far in the other direction, during the past generation or two.

Today, business leaders are fair game for political leaders. Politicans looking for advancement must first bag their quota of business hides, and make sure that the voters know about each kill.

UNEVEN POLICY

It would be difficult to find a better case than the Trudeau government's anti-inflation restraints on incomes, to illustrate how business people have fallen out of favor.

Anti-inflation rules allow wage rates to rise by considerably more than the inflation rate.

But they insist that corporate profit margins be rolled back 15 per cent, that corporate dividend pay-outs be frozen, and that high income-earners pay an income surtax and accept rigid income ceilings.

The Trudeau government is, above all, realistic. It knew that it had no hope of reversing the trend that had pushed average annual wage increases to about 18 per cent unless it showed that it was cracking down hard on labor's traditional adversaries in business.

Pragmatism and politics weren't the only determinants of the anti-inflation policy, however. Ideology was another - the kind of ideology that says that above-average producers, savers and investors should be penalized.

Taken all together, it adds up to Pierre Trudeau's "new economic order," in which business is reduced to a subordinate role - take it or leave it.

Government is firmly at the helm, making the big economic decisions, establishing priorities, setting society's values, each year taking a bigger share of gross national product.

NO TURNING BACK

Few Canadians, if any, would want to return to the days when a few business leaders could profit throught their influence over - and generosity toward - the head of government.

And increases in government spending have helped to raise our standards of health care, education and welfare to a far higher and more humane level than even that former social worker, Mackenzie King, had dared to visualize.

Against that, however, must be set the social cost: The toll that inflation (fed by government spending) takes on those with fixed incomes, the increasing resentment that the unorganized feel at what they consider to be governments' favoritism toward the strongly organized; the emigration of talented, productive people who feel they are unfairly taxed and penalized by controls.

Only in Utopia are all people treated with equal justice. Canadian society has moved in that direction since the days of Mackenzie King - but it still has a long way to go.

N.B. Products Are Promoted

The Department of Commerce and Development has published a new directory designed to promote the use of construction products manufactured in the province.

"The New Brunswick Construction Product Directory has been prepared to assist those associated with the construction industry in the province to identify local sources of material," explained Commerce and Development Minister Gerald Merrithew.

The directory is being distributed to architects, engineering consultants, construction agencies and contractors. "We are requesting that they use materials manufactured within New Brunswick whenever possible," said Mr. Merrithew.

"These people can have a significant impact on the development of the construction materials industry and the economy of the province by conceiving designs that use materials produced in New Brunswick, specifying New Brunswick products in contract documents, and purchasing materials produced by provincial manufacturers," he added.

The Minister noted that department staff are available to further assist anyone in the construction industry to identify local, specific sources of materials which might not be covered in the directory.

Mr. Merrithew said it is one of the policies of the Commerce and Development Department to encourage the maximum possible utilization of New Brunswick products both within and outside the province.

The construction product directory is available free of charge from the department.

The compact with Dodgeability to satisfy big car drivers.

In one short year, Dodge Aspen has made it. From beginner to winner. Which leads us to believe that it precisely meets Canada's need for the compact car plus. Compact in exterior dimensions by all means—trim, easy to park. But inside, big. On comfort and ride. Dodge Aspen is what we promised from the very start... the compact for big car drivers. When you test-drive Aspen, here are some of the things to look for.

Comfortability. Start with the vital statistics: Dodge Aspen has more leg room and head room than most full-size North American cars. For '77, we've even added more rear knee and leg room in Coupe models. Add in European driving position—a little higher, more upright—really puts you on top of things. Big, wide-opening doors. And quiet. For a car its size, remarkably comfortable.

Rideability. Talk to any Aspen owner about ride. You'll hear "smooth," "very quiet," "just like a big car." All absolutely correct. As a test-drive will prove to you. From the engineering viewpoint, Aspen's transverse-bar front suspension is something of a masterpiece. Certainly a cut above what you'd expect in a compact car.

Optionability. Pretty well anything you can order on a big car is yours for the asking on Aspen. From air conditioning to AM/FM stereo, power door locks, automatic speed control—and a brand new T-bar roof on coupes with removable panels you stow away in the trunk.

Model availability. Dodge Aspen comes just about any way you want it...in three levels of luxury: Aspen, Aspen Custom and Aspen Special Edition. And in 3 body styles, 2-door Coupe, 4-door family Sedan, and the very popular 4-door Station Wagon. The Aspen wagon, interestingly enough, has 90% of the weight capacity of a full-size wagon—no wonder it's popular.

Affordability. You'd be justified in thinking this much car could end up costing a lot, right? Wrong. Compare the basic Aspen 2-door Coupe with any car in its price class—you're in for a surprise. Compare our miles per gallon too. We're fully competitive. And for even greater economy, ask about Aspen's optional overdrive 4-transmission.

Plan Rituals For Members

Jane Richard was hostess for the Jan. 12 meeting of Xi Delta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi.

Members were urged to sell their Theatre New Brunswick subscription tickets before Feb. 3 when the first play is scheduled to be staged in Bathurst.

Pledge for new members, Cinda Aujoulid is set for Feb. 23. Cindy Pop and Gwyn MacKenzie will receive their rituals at the same time.

A sleigh ride, for members and their husbands planned and organized by Judy Lozier, will take place Jan. 22, and will be followed by a social hour.

Gwyn MacKenzie and Mary Gavin discussed practical arts. Mrs. Gavin introduced Mrs. Hilda Lavoie who was the evening's guest speaker.

Mrs. Lavoie, who feels strongly about encouraging local artists, said that exhibits by local artists have proved they are just as valuable as those brought in from out of town, and have good sales as well as potential.

The local group is a non-profit one, with the proceeds going to the exhibitors. Mrs. Lavoie said she hoped the studio will remain open week-days if the grant is obtained from Canada Council for secretarial help. She is also hoping to organize an arts course.

Speaking on graph prints, Mrs. Lavoie said they are inexpensive; the framing is simple, and it is a contemporary way of decorating.

An interesting aspect is that they are original, and fit in almost anywhere, the speaker noted, and the demand has risen immensely over the past decade.

Mrs. Lavoie accompanied her presentation with various exhibits which were interesting and informative.

Noting that everyone is an artist in her own right, Mrs. MacKenzie asked that each member bring an item of interest she had made, giving the program a different and pleasant aspect: participation by the whole group.

Various objects ranging from wood-working to knitted apparel and crocheted articles were brought in and displayed. Mrs. MacKenzie had an unusual exhibit of shells worked on a board of sand-backing collected in Miami during her visit to that city, and the effect was striking.

The evening concluded with luncheon served by the hostess and Louise Doucet.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 26 at the home of Cheryl Brewster

BREAKFAST

Studies carried out on boys and girls showed that those receiving an adequate to good breakfast, over 90 per cent maintained good grades but among breakfast skippers only 66 per cent maintained good grades. It has also been noted that the industrial accident rate is higher among breakfast skippers. So not only from the stand-point of children but adults also, breakfast is important if one is to be physically and mentally alert to the late morning hours, which are often the busiest.

Good eating habits once formed are almost as difficult to change as bad ones - so if children could be trained to have an adequate breakfast, it would stand them in good stead all their lives. However, since most family habits are copied from the adults and many adults have poor eating habits, it is a vicious circle which so far defies solution.

Research has found that having a good breakfast tends to cut down on the desire to snack during the day. If breakfast is missed, it's doubtful the breakfast nutrients will be made up later in the day. It's a common observation that overweight individuals are more prone to go without breakfast in an effort to lose weight. But hunger generally starts the breakfast skipper snacking on "junk" foods - and they continue snacking throughout the day.

What is an adequate breakfast? According to Canada's Food Guide, from 1/4 to 1/3 of the day's food should be taken at breakfast. It should include a source of vitamin C such as a large glass of tomato juice or a four-ounce glass of vitamined apple juice or other vitamin C rich fruit juices or fruits in season, an egg or whole grain cereal or both, some bread or toast and milk for children and a beverage for the adults.

Adopt Spring Projects

A list of projects which the Bathurst Kinette Club could consider taking on for the remainder of the year was outlined by the president Joyce Fisher, at the Jan. 12 meeting.

Following discussion and due consideration, the Kinettes decided to undertake the following:

Catering to a Kinsmen supper on Jan. 17, the annual pot-luck supper for Kinsmen in February, and co-convening Founder's night jointly with the Kinsmen in March.

Other projects include making slippers for children of pediatric ward at Chaleur General Hospital; the "take-time" project; continuing to chauffeur members of the Canadian Council for the Blind Bathurst Club and catering to a CCB group meeting in March; and a spring rummage sale.

The meeting, held at the home of Aurea Poirier, opened with the Kinette song and prayer. The minutes were read by acting secretary Mrs. Sarah Landry. The financial report was submitted by Mrs. Poirier, treasurer.

Correspondence and committee reports were read. Projects including in these reports concerned the Christmas parties held for the Kin children and adult Kinsmen as well as the bar dinner. All events were reported as enjoyable and successful and will be carried out again next year.

One new member, Paulette Dessau, and a former member Lucille Desjardins were welcomed into the club. Marilyn Hathaway was voted into the club as an honorary member.

It was noted the spring zone meeting will be held in Newcastle April 22 - 24.

The names of "secret pals" were drawn.

The president asked members to consider and bring forth ideas for community service projects.

The Tom mattress report was given by Sharon Cowan.

The next meeting will be held Wed. Jan. 26, at the home of Sarah Landry.

Some Guide Calendars Still On Hand

Gloucester Division, Girl Guides of Canada, have a number of 1977 calendars they wish to sell.

The calendars may be obtained by contacting any Guide or Brownie or the leaders, including Division Commissioner Mrs. William Mean, phone number 548-2426.

Proceeds from sales are used to assist the division in its work of providing leadership training, camps and workshops for the Guides and Brownies.

Will Decide In February

Suggestions for a spring or Lenten season money-raising project were brought up at the regular monthly meeting in January of the R.E.O. Branch of Anglican Church Women held in the R.E.O. Centre.

Among suggestions were a bake sale, plant sale and travelling basket. Choice of a particular project will be made at the meeting in February.

The meeting, chaired by President Donna Baker, opened with the ACW prayer. Devotions Secretary Sybil Hills led the group in a participatory reading from Ecclesiastics, followed by special prayers.

Twelve members answered roll call and five guests were present.

Kathy Brown read the minutes which were adopted. Treasurer Hazel Carroll reported a balance of $15.15 on hand and moved that outstanding bills be paid, a motion that was carried.

Members were reminded of the annual parish meeting on Jan. 24 beginning with a pot-luck supper.

Mrs. Baker read from the latest Diocesan Newsletter. One item concerned several paragraphs written by Mrs. Owen Smith, ACW Diocesan president, reflecting on her pleasant autumn trip last fall to Bathurst where she met with ACW women from St. George's Anglican Church and the Downshore parishes.

After adjournment, the annual bring-and-buy sale was conducted by Gloria Knowles, the group's experienced and lively auctioneer.

This year, the project realized $75, a commendable amount it was agreed.

Refreshments provided by Maxine Goodspeed, Elizabeth Wood and Hazel Carroll brought the evening to conclusion.

ANN LANDERS

Asks If Marriage Going Out Of Style

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I was jolted by your column that started, "My husband hasn't touched me in four years — not even my arm."

Now and then, a wife surfaces screaming. How many more remain silent? God only knows. Look at us. One marriage out of three in the United States ends up on the rocks. Soon it will be one in two.

Ever notice the couples who sit apart, stand apart, walk apart, have separate beds and separate vacations? Daily or nightly prayers together? Forget it.

Your poll revealed that 70 per cent of the parents today would NOT have children if they had it to do over again. It didn't surprise me. That survey was an index of the lousy marriages. Only 30 per cent were half-way decent.

Where is the help? The professionals and experts have the same problem themselves. Look at THEIR marriages — and their children. It's scary.

Is marriage going out of style? — From Philadelphia

DEAR PHIL: I doubt it. But one thing is certain. A great many people, not only in the U.S., but all over the world (look at Italy, where divorce was out of the question until recently), no longer feels compelled to stay locked into marital situations that have gone sour.

This is both bad news and good news. The bad news is that some couples call it quits at the drop of an adjective. They make no effort to iron out their differences. The good news is that social pressure and fear of disgrace are no longer keeping couples together when they would be happier, healthier and more productive apart.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm engaged to marry a fine man but I'm afraid he's a perfectionist. It will be my first marriage, his third.

Sunday we spent the day looking at homes. We both fell in love with an old brownstone. As we walked through the kitchen he said, "I know you're going to be a wonderful cook." When he showed me the laundry room, he reminded me that he was very fussy about his shirts. Then, we went into the living room and he said with a smile, "I'm sure you'll be a fantastic hostess." When we looked at the bedroom, he said, "You know how important it is to be a super bed partner."

Ann, no one person can excel in everything. How can I get him to be more realistic? — Look Ahead

DEAR LOOKING: The next time you and your fiance go through the house, ask him to select the room he wants you to be the greatest in. Tell him you'll do your best but not to expect you to excel in everything.

DEAR ANN: Mom died when I was 11. Almost everything I know I learned from your column.

I'm 19 now and work in an office. The boss frequently has visitors and introduces them to his staff. (There are five of us — all women.) Two remain seated, three of us stand up for older women but not for men. Some of us reach out to shake hands, others don't. What is proper? — San Diego

DEAR S.D.: You should ALL rise when introduced to a guest — male or female. A woman always extends her hand first. (It's amazing how many women stand there like aunts on a pickle, waiting for the man to extend HIS hand first.)

What kind of wedding goes with today's new life-styles? Does anything go? Ann Lander's completely new "The Bride's Guide" tells what's right for today's weddings. For a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (13 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1089, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

S. Teteagouche UCW Conveners Appointed

Mrs. Donald MacIntosh was hostess at her home for the monthly meeting of the South Teteagouche United Church Women held Jan. 19.

The meeting opened by repeating the U.C.W. purpose. Mrs. Hugh Smyth led the devotional period entitled "In First Place", starting with call to worship.

Scripture reading by Mrs. Gordon Vance was from John Ch. 15: 4-11. The hymns, O Jesus I Have Promised and Workman Of God, O Lose Not Heart were sung. The offering was dedicated and meditation followed. A prayer and Lord's Prayer closed the worship period.

Bible study, led by the president Mrs. Kenneth Vance, concerned St. Matthew Ch. 11: 1-30.

Roll call was answered by two members and two guests were present.

After reading the minutes which were approved, Mrs. D. MacIntosh, treasurer, submitted her monthly and yearly financial reports which were adopted.

Correspondence read by Mrs. Harvey Murchie included three thank-you cards. Mrs. D. MacIntosh read a letter from Jeffrey Greenville acknowledging a donation towards the Pennies for Peace fund. It was decided that all bills be paid, and that a gift be sent to a member who is in hospital.

Articles were turned in for the Flowers of Hope Training Centre and money from the sale of cookbooks was submitted.

The following conveners for 1977 were appointed:

Mrs. Ervine Good, program literature and communications; Mrs. Gordon MacIntosh, sick and visiting, citizenship and social action; Mrs. Ian Oliver, Christian and missionary education, and leadership development.

Mrs. Gordon Vance, supply and welfare; Mrs. William Oliver, stewardship and recruiting; Mrs. Gordon Vance, flowers; Mrs. W. Oliver, cookbooks; Mrs. Sanford Smyth, auditor.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hugh Smyth. Mrs. G. MacIntosh and Mrs. I. Oliver will assist with the lunch.

After the meeting closed with members repeating the creed, lunch was served by the appointed hostesses.

The chairman and president of the Royal Bank of Canada, W. Earle McLaughlin, has called for abandonment of the Anti-Inflation Board controls in the private sector "as we all privately" realize the need are to ease controls.

Commenting in the bank's monthly publication, Business Review, Mr. McLaughlin emphasized the suggestion that the government should study more open competition in free markets as a substitute for the compulsory regulation of the anti-inflation program. At the same time he called for a greater degree of consultation among government and business.

Mr. McLaughlin told the 68th Annual Meeting of Royal Bank shareholders here that as far as A.I.B. controls were concerned, Canada had three options. Canada could be kept as indefinitely - which he insisted was not only hurting the economy, but was unacceptable on a permanent basis; they could be phased out over a period of time, but the problem here is who to decide first and who is deserving last - and what determines the right choice at any moment?

"Or, thirdly, we can allow the controls to lapse completely and let the government, before the next wage settlements - whether measured at mid - for having produced a significant moderation of price relief, and prepare the ground for the post-control era. The government can provide leadership by making direct appeals to all economic groups in Canada for discipline. It can engage in broadly based consultation with all sectors of the economy, restoring badly frayed lines of communication. Above all it can act as an example of belt-tightening for all Canadians - particularly in the key area of public sector wage settlements - settlements which were so instrumental in triggering the explosion of wage demands in the first place."

The Royal Bank chairman's remarks centered on Canada in the post-controls period and what he saw for the future. In putting forward his recommendations he referred from time to time to the government's recent white paper "The Way Ahead: A Framework for Discussion" - the government's own diagnosis of the inflation problem plus some options for the future. This paper suggests the government should place greater reliance upon free market competition as a regulator of business, in lieu of expanded government intervention, and Mr. McLaughlin gave his full support to this view.

Mr. McLaughlin noted that private business in Canada has been demanding greater consultation with government on issues of public policy and termed the government's discussion paper "very constructive move toward more active consultation - an activity which we must all support."

He said the real benefit to be achieved is that the government will gain from a broad spectrum of individuals and organizations of all types, the advantages of ideas and opinions on which constructive policy can be built. "And business, labor, and other groups, will gain a broader understanding of the complex problems and choices facing government."

He suggested that to combat any lingering inflationary pressures that may remain after the controls are lifted the government can provide leadership by making direct appeals to all economic groups in Canada for discipline. It can engage in broadly based consultation with all sectors of the economy, restoring badly frayed lines of communication. Above all it can act as an example of belt-tightening for all Canadians - particularly in the key area of public sector wage settlements - settlements which were so instrumental in triggering the explosion of wage demands in the first place.

At the same meeting, Rowland C. Frazee, the Bank's executive vice-president and chief general manager, reported to shareholders that despite a difficult operating environment both in Canada and abroad, the past year had been one of progress in many areas for the bank.

The after-tax balance of revenue for the fiscal year was $107 million, an increase of three per cent. He noted that even with business volumes weakening, the interest rate spreads returning to more normal levels, and the addition by small increases in earnings last year, "the bank's average annual rate of growth in after-tax earnings over the last five years has been 17 per cent."

Total assets, which have also been growing at an average annual rate of 17 per cent over the past five years, reach $30.1 billion.

Other highlights of the year included a further streamlining of the bank's corporate structure to bring the decision-making process nearer to the customer interface and allow services more closely to the needs and expectations of the public.

The bank's portfolio of residential mortgages under administration has risen to 6 years from $700 million to $2 billion and under $3 billion at the end of last year. In 1976 alone, the Royal committed a record $900 million for residential mortgages and Mr. Frazee said the bank was planning a further increase in its allocation of mortgage funds this year.

Internationally, the bank continued to expand its wholesale banking activities, with this aspect of the business increasing by more than half a billion last year during which time the bank completed or co-managed some 30 major corporate loans.

The Royal, Mr. Frazee said, recently organized a special study team on the status of women in the bank. He noted that at present a small number of women holding management and pre-management positions in the bank totalled more than 2,200 — and increase of 27 per cent over a year earlier.

Moving from the human to the technological side of banking, Mr. Frazee said the Royal is in the forefront of the application of computer and communications technology to banking and now has a network of 1,200 on-line terminals, one of the largest in North America.

Mr. Frazee noted that the revisions of the Bank Act, now pending in parliament, "hold promise of introducing further changes in the way we go about the business of banking. Undoubtedly, it will bring new opportunities and almost certainly more and varied competition. Hopefully the legislation will be positive and serve to constructively strengthen a financial system already rated by many as the finest in the world."

THE WORLD OF BOOKS is the most remarkable creation of man; nothing else that he builds ever lasts. Monuments fall, nations perish, civilizations grow old and die out. After an era of darkness new races build others; but in the world of books are volumes that live on, still as young and fresh as the day they were written, still telling men's hearts of the hearts of men centuries dead.

Atlantic Fisheries Registration Resumes

The resumption of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries Registration Program in New Brunswick was announced Feb. 1 by H. Douglas Johnston, Maritimes Director General of the Fisheries Management Service, federal Department of Fisheries and Environment.

The program, which registeres all commercial fishermen and commerical fishing vessels in the Maritime Provinces, recommenced on November 15, following a one year suspension. The main purpose of the program is to provide detailed information on many aspects of the Maritimes fisheries. The information is needed by Fisheries Biologists and Fisheries Managers to assist in formulating and controlling sound Fisheries management policies. Commenting on the importance of the program, Mr. Johnston said, "The management of our fisheries is becoming an increasingly complex and difficult task in light of declining stocks resulting from tremendous fishing pressures of recent years. The information required to manage our rapidly changing fisheries, and to provide the basis for the many government subsidy and support programs will come through the registration program".

Mr. Johnston went on to state that in 1977, it will be necessary for each vessel and fisherman to be registered in order to become eligible for the various fisheries support and subsidy programs. He urged all vessel owners and fishermen to support the program by forwarding their application forms prior to the February 28 cut-off date.

Mr. Johnston indicated that this program is the first phase of a Departmental plan to streamline fisheries licensing procedures. We are committed to reducing the number of pieces of paper that a fisherman must fulfill prior to taking part in the commercial fishery" Mr. Johnston said.

The program begins with the distribution of renewal application forms in November for Cape Breton Island, and will continue during December and January for the rest of the Maritimes. Applications for new registrations will be available at all offices of the Fisheries and Marine Service.

Was Native Of Caraquet

CARAQUET — The death of Miss Agnes Legere occurred Jan. 21 at Infant Jesus Hospital, Caraquet, at the age of 82.

A native of Caraquet, she was the daughter of the late Charles and Charlotte (Poirier) Legere.

Surviving are one brother, Henri Legere of Caraquet, and several nephews and nieces.

Miss Legere rested at Racicot's Funeral Home, Caraquet.

The funeral was held at St. Peter in Chains Church, Caraquet, Monday at 4 p.m. Entombment was in the parish receiving vault to await spring burial in the adjoining cemetery at Caraquet.

Civil Service Changes Made

Some changes to existing hiring practices in the provincial Civil Service became effective February 1. These changes are intended to strengthen administration of the Civil Service Act by ensuring that open and consistent hiring and appointment procedures are followed.

The key change is that employees required for a continuous period of six months or more will be appointed by the Civil Service Commission. Employees required for periods of less than six months for short-term relief or tasks can continue to be appointed by Departments and agencies, although the Civil Service Act will still apply to them.

The new policies were recommended by a special task force of senior officials after considerable study of the present practices. They met with interested parties, including employee representatives who have been seeking improved procedures for some time.

In announcing the new policies, the Chairman of Treasury Board, Honourable Jean - Maurice Simard, stated that "the practice of hiring long-term casuals goes back many years, but is not compatible with the Civil Service Act. The Act is re-affirmed as the basic protection for the public and civil servants.

Appointments and promotion will be on the merit principle, and all citizens will have an equal opportunity to enter the civil service in open competitions."

The government now has in its employ a number of persons employed on a long-term casual basis, some going back to the 1940s. Mr. Simard added that "these employees will be given an opportunity to be appointed to regular civil service positions as appropriate vacancies occur, and their past service will be considered."

Briefing sessions are being conducted for departmental personnel and employee representatives by the Civil Service Commission.

The Glynns needed a mortgage to open the door.

They got action.
Niagara was their key.

Happiness. To the Howard L. Glynns it was a 6-room, three-bedroom, bungalow with enough property for two young children and one very-large dog. Niagara knows a lot about the Glynn's kind of happiness. We also know a lot about money. That's our business. Mortgage money to purchase a new home, money for home improvements, a new car, money to consolidate bills or refinance an existing mortgage. If what stands between you and a thing called happiness is a thing called money, come in and sit down with the people you've come to know at Niagara. We'll show you how sometimes all it takes to be a little happier is to put a little money into action.

BIBLE DIGEST: "For whosoever shall give you a cup to drink in my name, because ye belong to Christ, verily I say unto you, he shall not lose his reward." Mark 9:41

How many people have perished in the desert of life for the want of a cup of water? It can come in the form of a kind word, a bit of courtesy or concern. Our spiritual height is often measured by whether or not we are willing to bend down to do the little things. Be good to someone today - God is watching - Ye shall not lose your reward.

Cabinet Ministers To Meet With People

The provincial government will soon undertake a series of special information meetings with the public involving visits by a group of cabinet ministers to several areas of New Brunswick to meet publicly and privately with local groups and interested citizens.

In making the announcement, Premier Richard Hatfield said: "The government is pleased with the important role being played by select committees in improving communications between the public and legislators. These information meetings with cabinet ministers will create yet another vehicle for discussion, one very directly involving the government."

Treasury Board chairman Jean-Maurice Simard will head the delegation of ministers attending the meetings. Others who will attend them are Finance Minister Lawrence Garvie, Paul Creaghan, as chairman of the cabinet committee on social development, Health Minister Brenda Robertson and Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau. Whenever possible other ministers are expected to attend as well.

The areas to be visited initially include, Tracadie, Caraquet and Shippegan on February 22 - 23, and Bathurst on February 27 - 28. Further details will be announced.

"Fredericton wants to know more about the greatest concerns and overall priorities of an area," said the premier. "I hope that local and regional organizations and citizens will give serious consideration to the many public matters that influence development of their area and arrange to present their views to us. This will help cabinet committees in deciding between program proposals that conflict, even if the conflict is only for limited funds."

The main traditional approach to influencing government policy is through briefs to Cabinet or to the department most directly responsible, and trips throughout the province by individual ministers on departmental matters.

"The unique aspect of these visits," added Mr. Hatfield, "is that a group of ministers, including those in central government, will become immersed into the concerns and issues of an area."

NBFL

1975 to $1.52 per annum in 1976, stated the NBFL brief. Retained earnings grew from $22.5 million to $29 million over the same period, while Company assets increased to $292.6 million from $210.4 million in 1974, it added.

Terming the current application by NB Tel "untimely and unjustified", the Federation spokesman suggested NB Tel be required to finance its 1977 construction program through increased borrowing and by drawing on its retained earnings or foregoing payment of dividends to common shareholders.

"Should the Board ... hold the view that NB Tel shareholders must be guaranteed a definite return on investment, we strongly suggest that the Board make it abundantly clear to the public to expect annual rate increases of the same magnitude required to ensure the guaranteed level of profit," asserted Mr. LePage.

Strict Testing Of Germ Goes On

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau says further testing is being considered for a bacterium that has shown promise in battling spruce budworm infestations in New Brunswick forests.

But no decision is expected until after a meeting of eastern Canadian budworm researchers scheduled for Sault Ste. Marie early next month.

Dr. Frank Webb, an advisor to the minister, said, "We have to listen to the scientists to determine what next needs to be done."

The bacterium - bacillus thuringiensis (BT) - has been tested in New Brunswick. Tests were conducted in 1960 and 1975, and in addition it has been tested in Quebec, which is also faced with a serious budworm outbreak.

Dr. Webb said results of the tests on BT have so far been inconsistent. "Some results have been good. Others have been just rotten."

The minister said the tests have also raised a number of questions, "too many" of them to begin the use of the bacterium on a wide scale, without further tests.

Mr. Boudreau said the province is considering the tests on a small, limited, restricted basis, and "under very, very strict rules."

The bacterium can be applied from aircraft in much the same manner the insecticides are sprayed on the forest.

If the tests are conducted they will likely be restricted to about 1,000 acres.

The bacterium is not intended to immediately replace chemical spraying, conducted in the province since 1952, and carried out last year over about half the province.

PETIT ROCHER INDUSTRY FORMALLY LAUNCHED

Faith in the northeastern region of New Brunswick, as exemplified by Chaleur Fertilizers Ltd., was lauded Sunday at the official opening of the Petit Rocher based enterprise.

The fertilizer blending plant, located in the village's new 24-acre industrial park, was erected through the help of a $55,000 DREE grant. The overall project, which saw participation by all levels of government and from other sources, represents an expenditure of a quarter of a million dollars.

About 150 people including farmers from St. Quentin to Lameque and the Miramichi area, were on hand to witness the blending and bagging process and later to hear brief remarks from government and company representatives.

Telegrams were read from Federal Regional Economic Expansion Minister Marcel Lessard, N.B. Premier Richard Hatfield and Federal Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc.

Maurice Harquail of Campbellton, MP for the Restigouche riding, said the opening of such a plant is the area was "indicative of what can be done through working together. He said a good product at a reasonable price and lower transportation costs was destined to expand operations and to put more people to work.

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau and MLA for the Nigadoo-Chaleur constituency, said Chaleur Fertilizers Ltd. was a much needed plant in the area. He congratulated the people who believed in their region and who had taken the initiative to establish such an enterprise.

Petit Rocher Mayor Pierre Godin noted Chaleur Fertilizers Ltd. was the first industry in the village's newly established industrial park and he hoped the example would be followed by others.

He recognized the support given by the federal department of regional economic expansion (DREE), the provincial department of commerce and industry and the Chaleur Regional Industrial Commission.

The municipality of Petit Rocher owns the industrial park and the industrial commission administers it. Development of the site was carried out under a federal-provincial cost shared industrial sub-agreement.

H. R. Scovil, deputy-minister of agriculture and rural development, said it was significant that the first plant in the park was an agriculture-based industry that would be manufacturing a product so important to the growing of crops.

He said the plant was capable of producing different kinds of fertilizer according to soil analysis provided by the farmers. Mr. Scovil noted his soil testing service was provided by the department at no cost to the farmers.

Speaking on behalf of the new company was Albert Doucet Jr., the president and general manager.

"We are a young company," Mr. Doucet told the gathering, "not even a year old, and we are all from the area."

"Our plans for the future are not to expand elsewhere but to expand our services and product within our own area. In a few years we hope to satisfy all farmers' needs in fertilizer, lime and other agriculture materials".

Other speakers were Senator Michel Fournier, also a resident of the immediate area, and Louis Philippe Albert, director of planning in the provincial department of agriculture and rural development. Gilles Chamberland was master of ceremonies.

The building itself is a 60' x 100' wood frame structure with steel cover. The office and changeroom are separate. John Landry of Chaleur Building Supplies Ltd. in Beresford was the designer.

Reynald Paulin, sales and purchasing manager, said the new enterprise is employing nine persons at present. It is expected the number of hourly-paid employees will be doubled for the approaching peak season.

The fertilizer ingredients used are diamonium phosphate from Belledune Fertilizer Ltd. along with potash from Saskatchewan, ammonium nitrate from Quebec and lime filler from Havelock.

The plant is situated about half a mile off the Bathurst - Dalhousie highway eleven and immediately adjacent to the main Montreal-Halifax CNR line. It is about a mile from the proposed Petit Rocher exit from the bypass highway now under construction. Delivery by transport is also offered.

Council Denies Bid For Zoning Change

Objections from many residents of the area to the rezoning of a parcel of land on King Avenue resulted Monday night in the rejection of the application, made December 20.

By a vote of 4-3, with Deputy Mayor Patrick McLaughlin casting the deciding ballot, City Council turned down a request from Jack and Sharon Relph to have the zoning of 775 King Avenue changed from residential to special commercial.

Appearing on behalf of the Relphs was George Chiasson, a barrister with the local firm of Whelton, McGinley, Chiasson and Desjardins. Mr. Chiasson explained that his clients wished to sell the land and the building in question to an insurance adjustment firm in the city, to be used for offices.

Mr. Chiasson noted there would not be a great volume of business involved due to the nature of the prospective buyers' business, and pointed out there would be even less traffic and annoyance than was being created at present with the building housing apartments.

He also assured council the building would not be used "for a tavern, restaurant, service station, etc., and we would be willing to submit to any condition in respect to usage were a zoning change granted."

Mr. Chiasson added the entire building, encompassing three floors, would be used for offices, and the parking space would hold about 25 cars.

Speaking to council on behalf of the prospective buyers, Gorman-Cain Ltd. of Bathurst, was Tom Riordon of Byrne, Riordon and Lenihan.

Mr. Riordon explained that his client occupies rented space at present, and is faced with the termination of the lease in the near future. He said the volume of traffic created by the company would be small as clients would be referred to it by insurance companies, and indicated the building would be ideal for the firm's purposes.

He asked council to encourage and accommodate small businesses in the city.

Councillor James MacLaggan, representative for Burns Ward, spoke against rezoning of the land in question.

"I have been contacted a good deal on this matter, and I feel the people concerned have good reason to oppose the move.

"They are worried about traffic problems, decreasing property values, the creating of precedence, and the selling of the land for personal gain. When these people purchased their homes, they did so in a residential area. There are better places in the city for offices.

Coun. MacLaggan added that council has spent much time and money on planning studies, all of which frown on spot rezoning.

Coun. Robert Hodgins agreed, saying council had welcomed rebuttals to rezoning and received them. "I can't see how we can go against the citizens or the people who have carried out those expensive studies."

A petition with about 60 names protesting the rezoning was presented to council, which also heard an oral objection from E. J. DeGrace, a former councillor.

Coun. Henry Murphy, however, wondered how council could try to keep the King Avenue area residential. "This is a main artery, and I don't see why we have to bend to the wishes of a few. There is a lot of congestion on King Avenue now, and there will be a lot more in the future."

Taken to a vote, Councillors Doug Williamson, Jean Paul Lavoie and Henry Murphy were in favor of rezoning. Opposed were Couns. Jim MacLaggan, Robert Hodgins, and Valmond Saulnier. Deputy Mayor Pat McLaughlin, with the tie-breaking vote, opposed the zoning change, and the bylaw was defeated on second reading.

Mayor John Duffy and Coun. MacNeil were not present at the meeting, and Coun. Terry Lenihan abstained from voting to avoid a possible conflict of interest.

FROM MISSOURI BUT GENUINE

While snowmobiling in the Basin Road-Bygrave area three South Bathurst youths — from the left, Jeffrey Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fitzgerald; Gregory Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Garrett; and Blair Good, son of Wing Good — spotted a strange looking apparatus in a field Monday evening, February 7. Touring on in Jamie Good, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Good, Beresford. After examining the item, it was found to be a weather balloon from Kansas City, Missouri. Instructions on a card attached to it read: "Please use the cloth bag attached to this tag for mailing the radiosonde to: NOAA - National Weather Service, Radiosonde Recon-ditioning Section, 601 Hardesty St., Kansas City, Missouri 64101. Your assistance will make it possible to use this instrument again, thereby saving a considerable part of the cost of obtaining upper air information needed for making weather forecasts and preparing storm warnings." The discovery consisted of a parachute, transmitter, baloon, film, battery and launching mechanism. At first, the boys were reluctant in approaching the baloon, thinking it might be a bomb. But after cautiously checking it, they were relieved it wasn't. The-Goods have returned the baloon to its owners and Mrs. Good stated, "It's worth a lot of money to them but worth nothing to us".

MELODY LINGERS ON

"Gander has once more returned to normal as the exhilaberance of a week filled with loads of fun and topnotch curling has passed."

So stated a recent edition of The Beacon, that Newfoundland town's weekly newspaper, which then went on to say:

"However, the 240 curlers who crowded into Gander to participate in the Airways Curling Bonspiel, sponsored by Eastern Provincial Airways, created a legacy which will probably be talked about for months to come."

Among the 60 rinks competing was one representing Bathurst, skipped by R.A. (Bob) Archibald, who, at 73, was the oldest participant in the event.

Although he was playing against good sweepers in the 26-year-old bracket, Bob's foursome which included Dave Brown, Gleadon Eddy and Hugh Parrott, were still among the prize-winners in "D" Division.

Bob describes the trip as a very enjoyable experience in every way. It was also like Old Home Week, he said, due to playing against Fred Chamberlain, formerly of Bathurst, and renewing acquaintances with people like Jim Branch, also originally from Ourtown; President Lee Travis of the Gander Curling Club, who hails from Dalhousie Junction; and Larry Donahue, transplanted to Gander from Newcastle by the UIC.

STILL SERIOUS

Don Hinton, first person to formally announce he would seek the mayoralty in the next municipal election, emphasizes he has by no means changed his mind, despite some reports he is leaving the city.

Mr. Hinton says such an idea is the furthest thing from his mind, although he has advertised his Youghal home for sale. His intention is to move into the city proper or at least closer to Don Hinton's Village Inn on Thornton Ave.

In addition to this enterprise and his new interest in civic politics, Mr. Hinton has indicated he is contemplating the launching of other business ventures in Bathurst in the not too distant future.

LOSS LAMENTED

Figures don't lie, the saying goes, but something has to be amiss in this instance. The Northern Light estimated last week's Pointe-Verte fire loss at $250,000 plus; The Telegraph-Journal, Moncton Times and Radio Station CKBC called it $½-million; while l'Evangeline figured $800,000.

Regardless who is right, wrong, or closest to the actual amount the loss is a disastrous one for the upshore community in which the building, its owners and the services they provided have been an integral part.

It is hoped, therefore, that the Salesian Sisters will see fit to rebuild and remain in the area.

MORE DETAILS

The Northern Light's headline story last week concerning local federal building improvements, etc., was confirmed in a joint announcement from Ottawa the following day by Herb Breau, MP for Gloucester and Hon. Judd Buchanan, the Minister of Public Works.

Cassidy Construction Limited's contract price, which was accepted, was $529,400, while the highest bid of three received was $577,400.

Appointments Are Approved

The City of Bathurst finally has a new treasurer to fill a vacancy left by the resignation of George Jardine almost a year ago.

City Council Monday night approved the appointment of Robert A. Bouchard to the post at an annual salary of $22,000.

Mr. Bouchard, a native of Montreal, is 32 years of age, and has worked in the accounting field with many firms in both Montreal and Moncton. He is married, and has three children.

The only councillor opposed to the appointment was Hachey Ward representative Robert Hodgins who felt the treasurer should be a chartered accountant.

The resignation of NIP coordinator Louis J. Robichaud was accepted with regret. Named to replace Mr. Robichaud was David Brewster of the city, a 1968 graduate of the Saint John Institute of Technology.

Opposing the appointment of Mr. Brewster was Coun. Jean Paul Lavoie who felt the coordinator "can't do the job properly if he is not bilingual".

Also in connection with the NIP project, council passed a draft resolution calling for the submission of the planning report by the city to New Brunswick Housing Corporation for approval and that the application for funds under the program towards the implementation stage be included.

City Manager Pierre Marquis said the funds, a total of $1.2 million, will go towards the installation of water and sewage, and adequate road base and drainage, lighting, paving and park improvement.

Councillors Jean Paul Lavoie, Valmond Saulnier, Robert Hodgins, Jim MacLaggan and Deputy Mayor Pat McLaughlin will attend the Six Cities of New Brunswick Association meeting in Edmundston February 18 - 19.

A committee of three, Couns. MacLaggan, Hodgins and Lavoie, was set up to review applications for recreation director.

Smoking Now Prohibited At Bathurst Arena

Bathurst City Council Monday evening honoured a petition bearing a total of 635 names and passed a motion prohibiting smoking at Bathurst Arena during all public events.

Presented by the Bathurst Area Non-Smokers Association and other concerned citizens, the petition received the unanimous support of city councillors.

"There are No-Smoking signs all over the building now", said Coun. Jim MacLaggan, "but the rule is very hard to enforce with 800 - 900 people in the arena at a time. However, we'll just have to make more of an effort."

City Manager Pierre Marquis pointed out that a No-Smoking policy had never before been adopted by council, but signs had been placed with the hope that smoking would be reduced during major events. He said three members of the police department attend Bathurst Alpine Papermakers' games at present, with more during playoffs.

Mr. Marquis indicated more signs would be posted, and the new rule would be announced regularly over the PA system. Fans not respecting the smoking regulations will be removed from the building, he said.

Coun. MacLaggan added the city might be able to get the co-operation of the hockey team and have the rule included in the programs printed for each game.

In other business, the resignation of 1976 Bathurst Festival Commission President Claude Young was accepted, and council thanked Mr. Young for his services. Appointed as council liaison for 1977 was Valmond Saulnier, and it was decided to inform the commission of the appointments as well as the decision to make a grant of $3,000 available again this year.

Also in connection with the summer festival, the Downtown Merchants Association informed the city that it has decided to let Main Street and King Avenue remain open to vehicular traffic during festival week. Councillor Jean Paul Lavoie felt the letter from the association should be forwarded to the commission in case the two parties want to meet to discuss the matter.

City Seeks Advice On Permit Issues

Uncertainty over the legality of a motion which appeared to be in direct conflict with a resolution made in 1973 by an earlier council has prompted a delay in a decision by Bathurst City Council regarding a request for a building permit.

At the first February meeting of council Monday night, the city was presented with a request for such a permit from the owner of a piece of land in Grove Hill Subdivision.

Making the presentation on behalf of Rene Pratt was Lawyer Jacques Desjardins of Whelton, McGinley, Chiasson and Desjardins. Mr. Desjardins explained that his client had purchased lot 1E on the east side of Youghal Drive in 1973 with the belief that he could build on the property. "The land was not bought on speculation as it would have been today", said Mr. Desjardins, "but in good faith."

However, he pointed out, the city council in power in 1973 passed a resolution prohibiting any further building until arrangements for additional water and sewage services were provided.

"Now Mr. Pratt wishes to sell the lot to Hedley Wood who intends to build a home there", said the spokesman. "We believe that since Mr. Pratt bought the land in good faith with intentions of building, this privilege should be transferred to Mr. Wood. We are prepared to assume responsibility for water and sewage."

Councillor Jean Paul Lavoie wanted to know what the legal implications of changing or rescinding the 1973 motion would be.

"The motion can be rescinded", replied City Manager Pierre Marquis, "but if the city makes an exception for one, it must allow do so for others. Many have been interested in building in the area since that time but have not done so in light of the resolution."

City Engineer Geoff Cavanaugh explained the building freeze had been called because of problems with the existing water and sewage system. He noted there had been water shortages in the past, and the sewer system had been designed for 25 families only. Twenty-four homes now utilize the system.

Coun. Lavoie moved the issuance of a building permit for the 11,300 square-foot lot, subject to approval by the provincial health department of the well and septic tank.

Mr. Marquis felt, however, that council should deal with the 1973 motion before making any decision.

Councillor Valmond Saulnier was in agreement, saying council should "proceed in the proper way. We may be opening up an entire subdivision to builders, and just to get the subject off of the agenda. We should get counselling before we vote on this one."

Deputy Mayor Patrick McLaughlin, who chaired the meeting in the absence of Mayor John Duffy, decided to defer the matter until legal advice is obtained from city solicitors.

The request will be dealt with at the next meeting of council, set for February 21.

Foyer Patients Are Moved

Twenty-five residents of Foyer Notre-Dame de Lourdes in Bathurst were transferred Thursday, February 3 to rooms in the north wing of the Chaleur General Hospital Annex. The evacuation was necessary to allow for renovations to the north wing of the Foyer.

The alterations now in progress by Connolly Construction Ltd. are expected to be completed within several months.

Assisting in the move were three St. John Ambulance units as well as Foyer staff and friends and relatives of patients.

The Foyer administration would like to thank ambulance personnel, Foyer staff members, the Chaleur General administration and relatives and friends of patients who made the transfer as pleasant as possible for all concerned.

UNDERTAKE EVALUATION OF MEDIA PROJECT

The committee which is a regional one that meets regularly in Bathurst, is presently evaluating the media programs for radio and television concerning current issues in education. Seated from left: Ed MacDermaid, NBTA director, Chatham; Jack Archibald, chairman, Campbellton; and Jim Blanchard, committee member, Dalhousie; standing: Dale MacRae, Newcastle; and Gary Branch, Bathurst, committee members; and Dwain McLean, Assistant Executive Director of NBTA, Fredericton.

Kinsmen rotated shifts from 6:30 a.m. until sign-off time Sunday at 1:30 a.m. The seven disc-jockeys broadcasted a number of advertisements received from local businesses and firms. The day was a tremendous success. Gerry Popp (left), chairman of radio day, presented an engraved bronze plaque to Joe Devereux who accepted it on behalf of CKBC. Looking on is Bill White, co-chairman. The engraving read: "Presented to CKBC in appreciation for an outstanding contribution to the Kinsmen Club of Bathurst through their participation in Radio Day from 1972 - 77".

Death Ends Long, Useful Career

The death at Sister Wadette Boudreau of the Religious Hospitallers of St. Joseph in Bathurst, occurred early Feb. 4 at Chaleur General Hospital following a heart seizure the previous evening. She was 69 and had served 47 years as a religious.

Born at Petit Rocher, she was a daughter of the late Napoleon and Alice-Ann (Boudreau) Boudreau. She received her early training in schools there and came to Bathurst with her parents when she was in her early teens.

Sister Boudreau was a member of the first graduating class at Holy Family Academy in Tracadie. She was a graduate of Provincial Normal school in Fredericton and had taught in south Bathurst and Caraquet.

In 1929, Sister Boudreau entered the novitiate in Tracadie and taught there about 40 years at Holy Family Academy. She also studied and taught music. After coming to Bathurst in 1971, she taught a few years at Bathurst Youth School.

Was Familiar City Figure

The death of Leo J. Leger, a taxi operator in the Bathurst area for more than 40 years, occurred Feb. 5 at Chaleur General Hospital where he had been a patient since December.

A familiar figure and a well-known and liked personality in the city for most of his lifetime, Mr. Leger was 63.

He was a member of a pioneering Bathurst family, his father, John P. Leger, being responsible for initiating street lighting in Bathurst over 65 years ago.

Mr. Leger lived in Detroit as a young man, and was associated with his father in the hotel business and, for a period was a restaurateur. During the Second World War, he served as a security guard for Canadian Industries Limited at Valleyfield, P.Q. He was a Fourth Degree member of the Knights of Columbus.

POLITICAL HUMOUR

Allie Savage, a well-known Chatham figure, writes a regular column for the Newcastle North Shore Leader. And, like most Miramichiers, he's endowed with a keen sense of humor which he incorporates into his weekly contributions.

In last week's edition he put Sir Winston Churchill and Minister of Health Brenda Robertson on somewhat the same level as far as repartee goes with the following:

The British statesman on leaving a party bumped into an uppish lady. "Sir", she observed, "you are drunk."

"Madam", replied Sir Winston, "you are ugly, very ugly. In the morning, I'll be sober."

Once in Hillsborough, at a convention, someone threw a cabbage at N.B.'s only woman cabinet minister. Brenda took it in good part and rose to the occasion with the remark: "Some one of my opponents lost his head."

He was also fortunate in saving most of his belongings. . . Despite all the winter woes, Francis, Gail and Trevor Kenny, children of Mrs. Ruby Kenny, of Daucetville came across some pussy-willows behind their home Feb. 6 and brought a bouquet to The Northern Light as well as to Mrs. Mavis Kerry, Gail's Grade 2 teacher at Salmon Beach School. The same thing happened about this time last year. . . Ed DeGrace, a onetime city councillor, among the faces in the gallery at Monday's city council session. He attended the meeting as spokesman for a group of citizens from his neighbourhood who were opposing a proposed rezoning. . . Colleagues and students missing Guy Perron, popular French-language teacher at Bathurst High, who is on several months' leave of absence for health reasons. He's now out of intensive care but still in Chaleur General Hospital with visitors restricted. . . Roy, Green Point winner of The Northern Light's Atlantic Sweepstakes for Feb. 2. . . A onetime well-known Bathurst resident, Roy Evans, 69, died early today in Nipigon, Ont., many friends are sorry to learn. He is survived by his wife, the former Gladys Rennie and several children. . .

"Dollar Woman" Play Of Mixed Reactions

There were so many expectations attached to The Dollar Woman, TNB's play about outdoors, that it was sure to delight some, disappoint others, and even anger a few. Predictably it did all those things to Thursday's audience at Nepisiguit High School Auditorium.

For a lot of New Brunswickers The Dollar Woman cuts close to the bone. Alden Nowlan and Walker Learning have given authenticity to their play by using places and family names long familiar provincially. They show us a 19th century parish with a conscience along with a quite human amount of selfishness, cruelty, and kindness. The proper system in pre-socialist days emphasized certain qualities, but no one is all good or all bad.

Simon Tim, the villain if there is one, becomes pitifully manifest at the memory of his own two children's deaths, years before, from scarlet fever. The townspeople who had been loathing him, suddenly remember him, and give sympathy. Small town folk pulled together at death or disaster.

For us The Dollar Woman was a strong drama with some very moving scenes. We believed in Michael Donaghue's overseer. The train engineer had read enough socialism in Montreal and Halifax papers, as well as local Citizen Train's, to feel guilt about his Christian paternalism. The character's spirited temper, and sense of humor counteracted his "do-good" image.

His pretty wife Alice emerged from being decorative background during the overseer's trial. Barbara Hayden displayed honest temper, indignation and fear. Her one big moment should have been her speech about old Martin's death. Because it was overwritten and overstaged, the play lost the audience at that point.

For some of the audience The Dollar Woman never completely recovered. The last act was somber visually and emotionally. It philosophized aloud, forgetting that the action had until it all. The writers didn't trust our understanding.

There were so many marvelous Victorians on stage. Leo Leyden gave the outsider, Citizen Train, all the dandified airs of a Victorian gentleman. He delivered his socialist rhetoric in a thoroughly Dickensian manner. The attention he gave to posing his legs could have been taken from a Pickwickian cartoon!

Sean Sullivan as the ugly Tom Beach was another Victorian type, ignorant, exploitive and mean. His language and behavior rang true. It was a strong characterization that made us laugh, despise and pity the man.

Sheila Hussey as the old ingénue-mercy, Maggie, might have come directly from another Dickens novel. She could pull out all the tragic tones and create some intense, poignant moments. Her despair and caring made us weep, as the overseer's never did. There were some jarring edges to Maggie as well, when her voice sounded suspiciously cultured for a plain woman in a little New Brunswick town. Her coaxing Scots accent didn't always hold.

The smaller roles were all vivid individuals. Kenneth Wiches as the feeble, foolish, old pauper was sympathy immediately. Claude Ray made the genial hatchkeeper-county judge likeable. John Peters did some amusing, brisk business as the junior clerk. Between the three serious murder hearing had some comic relief to lighten the gloom.

Warwick Learning, the overseer's young son is also the son of Walker and Lea Learning so is born to the theatre and subsequently at home in it. He had good stage presence and moved and spoke very naturally, but it took the audience a while, however, to get attuned to his voice and inflection and catch all his lines clearly.

Everyone did agree that Michael Fagan's sets deserved raves. Their detail was impeccable, even to the arched door and gingerbread on the train station. There was a nice difference in mood in each of the three, a careful attention to space. Part of our sense of futility in the final act came from the smallness of the people on the bleak train station platform. There were dwarfed by the mist and snow from above, caught between the dark, solid Victorian building and the heavy tracks in front.

Tim Bond's sense of melodrama was right for The Dollar Woman. The girl of the title only appeared once, but in that appearance the director established her as symbol, the sorrowing, helpless madonna. Tim Bond staged the scene with such brutal effect that even the disbelieving in the audience gasped in horror. He always made the most of the action. Where the production was sluggish, the play talked too much.

If you accept social documentary drama, The Dollar woman was a gripping production. It is the kind of a play that worries away at you afterwards. For us, and many others, the Dollar Woman was a powerful experience, one of the high points in TNB's career.

Thursday night's production being Theatre New Brunswick's first offering of the new season, Jill White and Kumari Sundaram of Beta Sigma Phi, the local sponsors, appeared on stage following the final curtain call. The former directed suitable remarks to both actors and audience, while the latter presented bouquets of flowers to the three female members of the cast.

Program Asset To Community

Bathurst residents wishing to participate in a challenging program with unlimited opportunities to develop skills in communication and leadership have a chance to receive instructions and gain experience in chairmanship and parliamentary procedure.

Accordingly, both men and women can improve themselves in the art of speech, both in conversation and public address, as a means of increasing their usefulness in business and social relationships. A further aim is to promote good fellowship.

All this can be accomplished through a high standard of club procedure known as Toastmasters International, a well-organized, non-profit organization with more than 3000 clubs throughout the world.

The training is practical, inexpensive and designed for the development and benefit of the individual.

Toastmasters International is an important asset to community resources and has been established in the city for some years.

The Bathurst Toastmasters' Club holds weekly supper meetings Mondays at 6:15 p.m. at Danny's. More details are available from one of the following members: Gilles Wilson, 546-6694; Edward Aubie, 548-8986; John Doucet, 548-3837.

Committee To Study Ice Plant Problems

Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard of the Legislature's Select Committee on Fisheries told a group of Stonehaven, fishermen here Monday night the group would look into problems faced by the men in trying to establish an ice plant in their area, especially with respect to a $1,500 deposit paid to a Montreal company.

The deposit, put together by three fishermen, was for delivery of an ice-making machine to insure an adequate supply of product for mackerel fishers.

The matter was raised by Harper Smith, who presented a brief for the Northern Regional Development Council during an evening committee meeting.

He said the project had run into snags, including red tape involved in obtaining grants, an adequate supply of fresh water and the matter of the deposit.

Several of the men said the machine purchase had been arranged by an agent for them in Caraquet. But the Montreal firm had not made delivery, had in fact sold two of the machines which might have gone to Stonehaven and was now talking of charging them interest.

During the evening briefs from the NRDC, the North East Amalgated Fishermen's Association and others made recommendations for improving the industry without emphasis on the need for cold storage and icing facilities along the coast and the total prohibition of large draggers from the Bay of Chaleur fishery.

In the latter instance, draggers were blamed for damage to the coastal spawning ground of cod and lobster.

Other suggestions included gradually increasing the minimum size of lobsters for commercial fishing, development of sports fishing in the bay with a publicity program and better communication between governments and fishermen.

During presentation of the Northeast Fishermen's Association briefs, President Michael Arseneau suggested building more small fish plants and the upgrading wharves and ramps and for the government to copy an experiment tried of the coast of France regarding creation of artificial lobster reefs by dumping old tires and car bodies in shallow waters.

He recommended an artificial reef from Petit Rocher to Nigadoo to collect lobster larvae, thus creating a protected artificial bed.

Before adjournment the meeting went into a discussion of what is a "moonlighter" — an important point in New Brunswick these days in light of federal regulations aiming to take the part timers out of lobster fishermen and leave the industry to full-time fishermen.

When Conservation Officer Norbert Theriault asked for a definition of a moonlighter a voice from the back of the hall shouted "he's a man with no mother and no father."

Carson Daley of New Bandon commented he has never heard of the word in the fishing industry until he received a registered letter from federal fisheries minister Romeo LeBlanc advising him he was one and that his days as a lobsterman might be numbered.

Says Blindness Can Be Avoided

No panacea pipe dream - prevention of blindness really works. According to G. Collrin, president of the Bathurst Club. The Canadian Council of the Blind, early work by a non-medical group banished many causes of blindness from everyday life.

In an interview for White Cane Week, Feb. 6 - 12, sponsored by CCB and The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the president told how trachoma, now limited to eastern countries, was once a serious cause of blindness among Indians in Canada.

"CNIB discovered the condition in the 1930s," the club president explained. Through strong recommendation to the government a doctor was appointed to investigate the problem. He discovered grandmother wore kerchiefs around their heads, wiped their trachoma eyes with the kerchief ends and also the faces of their little grandchildren. Unknowingly they passed on the germs of trachoma which led to blindness in hundreds of youngsters. Through his work and CNIB, trachoma has disappeared as a cause of blindness.

Even earlier, in the 1930s, a condition known as babies' sore eyes in new born infants caused corneal ulcers and blindness. It affected one third of the pupils at the school for the blind.

CNIB efforts, supported by eye doctors and provincial governments, brought about legislation for the compulsory treatment of babies' eyes at birth and so eliminated this cause of blindness.

Diphtheria, Scarlet Fever and Smallpox have long since disappeared from the CNIB registry. However, today new causes such as Diabetes and Glaucoma are taking their toll.

"That's why most people don't realize prevention practices really work," said the CCB Club President. He urged every Canadian to keep Canada's sight record high.

One project rests with parents. Vaccinate your children against German Measels (Rubella). If mothers catch this desease during pregnancy the babies may be born blind, retarded or burdened with other disabilities. "This vaccination is a simple means of preserving future Canadians from many handicaps, including blindness," he said.

Father Dies In St. Stephen

Sympathy is being extended to John Gorman, 175 Union St., Bathurst, in the death of his father, John Joseph Gorman, which occurred January 2 at St. Stephen, N.B.

Born at St. Stephen, Mr. Gorman was the son of the late Thomas and Elizabeth (Moran) Gorman.

He was a former employee of New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, Fredericton, retiring in 1961, and a life member of the Association of N.B. Professional Engineers.

Mr. Gorman, who spent some time recently in Bathurst, is survived by another son, Thomas, St. Stephen; a daughter, Mrs. Jean Campbell, Winnipeg, Man.; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Grannan, Saint John; and 13 grandchildren.

The funeral was held at 2:00 p.m. February 4 from the J. A. McAdam Funeral Home to St. Dunstan's Church, Fredericton, followed by entombment. Burial will be in the Hermitage Cemetery there later.

Film Depicts The Drug Scene

"The Cross and the Switchblade" is one of the outstanding films of recent years - an explosive motion picture that bares the raw needs at the core of drug addiction, racial hatred and violence. Never has a film been more timely.

Adapted from the autobiographical best-seller of the same title, the film relates the dramatic experiences of Rev. David Wilkerson, fresh from the country... defenseless and alone... facing the New York ghettos and their street gangsters and dope addicts, courageously proclaiming a revolutionary message of love and hope. "Death was not the only door out of the hell that trapped them". On three occasions this crusade nearly cost him his life.

The Cross and the Switchblade is a movie for people who care.. for people who love... people who themselves seek "a better way". Here is a movie for you.

Pat Boone stars as David Wilkerson with co-stars Erik Estrada, Jackie Giroux, Dino DeFilippi and Jo-Ann Robinson.

A special showing of The Cross and the Switchblade has been scheduled for Nepisiguit High School, 915 St. Anne St.

There is no admission charge but a free-will offering will be received.

People Power

What people want they get.

This fact has been proven in recent years time and time again by demonstrations, petitions and mass objections in other ways.

The public requests may not be always completely fulfilled or perhaps as rapidly as preferred, but the protests are always noted and more times than not, respected by the government or private sector, as the case may be.

Take the prices of food. The more they soar, the louder and oftener we complain. Yet we go on buying and often in larger quantities. What if we held our tongues and tightened our purse strings?

This is just what happened in New York City and London, England, recently over the rising coffee prices. And, as everyone knows, the campaign had successful results.

By the same token, violence would disappear from television screens and motion picture theatres, which brings us to this fascinating news item which appeared November 18 in The Toronto Globe and Mail:

"London (Reuter) – Kojak is to stop sucking lollipops on television. A spokesman for the British Dental Association told reporters that they had made representations and have been assured that the lollipops will be dropped."

The point is this: everyone is opposed to tooth decay. Men, Women, Children, even Dentists. A simple representation to the producers of Kojak and presto – no more lollipops.

If most people felt that way about violence on Kojak, it would be gone too. And the same would apply to similar programs dominated by violence.

It really is as simple as that. Television does listen. It's the most democratic medium we have.

Neglected Market

One group of consumers that has been largely neglected, even by the consumer movement itself, is the physically handicapped.

Nobody seems to be sure just how large a group that is - but if U.S. figures can be applied here, then one out of every seven Canadians has some form of physical handicap.

Since the totals are unknown, the extent of the problems the handicap face is also obscure. Here's one indication, however: The physically handicapped unemployment rate is 50 per cent, according to studies cited by Susan Paquette, writing in the current issue of Canadian Consumer.

As consumers, the physically handicapped face a chain of commercial handicaps in the marketplace.

The first, for those using wheelchairs, is transportation. Public transportation is inacessible, and so wheelchair users must pay more - to use specially equipped cars or vans of their own, or to use taxis.

That, in turn, tends to restrict them to accommodation located fairly centrally in their communities - perhaps to new and expensive high-rise apartments, since wheelchairs usually face too many barriers in older buildings.

Most budget-conscious consumers make a practice of comparison-shopping. That kind of economy is impossible for the physically handicapped person, who finds it a major undertaking just to get a near-by store at all.

Some charges for the better are being made, however. For example, Dominion Stores Ltd. has recently redesigned two of its supermarkets in suburbs of Toronto to make them more convenient to wheelchair users and other handicapped persons. (Whether by design or accident, the rear ramp entrance to Bathurst's downtown Dominion Store is ideally suited for this purpose.)

It has provided food counsellors to answer questions, as well as more accessible shelving, wider spaces at a checkout counter, and special washrooms.

A supplement to the National Building Code has made it possible for the physically handicapped to enter and use public buildings without assistance. Such improvements are slow to be included in buildings in the private sector, however.

As for the high unemployment rate among physically handicapped Canadians, Susan Paquette notes that "the handicapped person's need for support services will be met by means of a new federal-provincial program of shared-cost social services."

A good deal of inconsistency has marked the government's approach to the task of helping the physically handicapped to become more independent consumers.

On occasion, generous amounts of public money have been allocated to research and development of certain types of aids, but none for their manufacture and distribution.

On the other hand, little public money has been devoted to research and development of wheelchairs, the design of which has hardly changed since they were first introduced.

The wheelchair market in Canada, the author notes, is supplied largely by one U.S.-controlled manufacturer.

"Because the equipment the handicapped need is so essential to daily living, they are not in any position to do much bargaining, if any at all, as to price.

"There is little competition to affect prices. Few companies are manufacturing aids to the handicapped, and those that do have what amounts to a monopoly."

The handicapped, it is concluded, aren't able to function as informed consumers either of the products that everybody uses or of special products for themselves.

Although the Consumers Association of Canada has limited resources, it would do well to use its considerable influence to try to achieve a fairer shake for the physically handicapped in the marketplace.

English Teachers Attend Workshops

20 ÷ 2 + T • W.S.

The latest in New Math? A Bionic formula? No, merely January 20th and a ½ day workshop for English speaking teachers in District No. 4.

Bathurst High School teachers divided along subject lines. Each Department met under the general supervision of Department Head to evaluate Christmas exams, in relationship to school and subject objectives and general results. At 3:15 all the high school teachers met in general session to discuss the computer method of reporting to parents.

English teachers at Assumption Academy divided into three major groups. Teachers of Grades 1, 2 and 3 met to work on a project course. Grades 4, 5 and 6 teachers worked on Social Studies units. Teachers of 7 - 9 considered grading regulations.

Once again Belledune teachers undertook an ambitious program. All teachers in the school met to discuss continuous progress, the non-graded system and the open classroom concept. The over-all view of this joint session was to consider the feasibility of the adaptation of any or all of these educational innovations in the Belledune system.

After this meeting, teachers considered school rules and grading regulations. The teacher in-put should help to bring about an improvement in these areas. The afternoon was climaxed by an in-depth consideration of community involvement in school projects and the need to remove the school from its academic vacuum and take it into the main stream of the community life.

Salmon Beach School saw its teachers divide into two sections. Grades 1 and 2 teachers worked on the Ginn 360 reading program. Teachers of 3, 4, 5 and 6 attended the music workshop at Nepisiguit High School.

At Mary Gosnell the entire staff met to consider the criteria for teacher evaluation. Later the teachers divided by interest. These ranged from the social studies program to reading and other concerns of a mutual taste.

At Superior the junior high teachers considered Math and Social Studies; both teacher and student in-put and occupation. Grades, 4, 5 and 6 studied the grading regulations and reviewed the approaches to the Ginn 360 reading program. Grades 1, 2 and 3 teachers divided their attention between music, the immersion programs and individual concerns.

South Bathurst teachers sent representatives to the music workshop; while a few teachers were busy with the social studies program. The great majority of South's teachers attended a St. John Ambulance workshop given by Sister Marie-Mae Furtin. This nurse and member of the St. John Ambulance Brigade involved teachers in essential areas of public school education.

Sacred Heart teachers spent their half-day in a variety of ways. Grades 1 and 2 immersion teachers attended a workshop at Superior School. Meanwhile Grades 3, 4 and 6 teachers were at Nepisiguit for the Music Workshop. Grade 5 teachers concerned themselves with a consideration of continuous progress and the most talked of and demanding of subjects – spelling and the implementation of the program. Junior high teachers did battle with the most perennial of concerns – grading and the regulations there to attached.

Chalmers teachers discussed school discipline for a half hour and then divided and spend the remainder of the afternoon in private projects.

In February teachers will meet for a two-day workshop. If this writer's Math holds true, four times the teachers work and in-put will result in much that will bring credit to School District No. 4 and its students.

Add Pabineau To Ice Fishing

Ice fishing for brook trout and other fish will again be permitted in several lakes near Bathurst from Feb. 14 - March 22, Natural Resources Minister Roland C. Boudreau announced February 3.

Held each winter since February 1975, this experimental ice fishery is part of the Bathurst Pilot Project efforts to help decide if other lakes in New Brunswick can support ice fishing.

Each angler is required to have a valid N.B. angling permit or license, available from the department's offices.

Daily limits are five brook trout and eight course fish such as perch or suchers, the total weight of which must not exceed seven and a half pounds. Each angler is allowed to fish a total of five lines, attended at all times, with one single bait hook attached to each line.

Middle, Upper and Lower Tetagouche Lakes, Nepisiguit headpond, Teagues Lake, and Pabineau Lake are open to ice fishing for 1977. For the first time Pabineau Lake has been added to the list of waters on which ice fishing will be allowed in 1977.

Chief Ferguson Highly Regarded

Bathurst, N.B.
January 10, 1977

We in this part of the province have watched with considerable concern the problems of the Saint John City Police Department. Now biting Department. 'Not being acquainted with members of your force, it would be very unfair to offer comment regarding the struggle that appears to be underway at this time.

We are, however, acquainted with Chief Ferguson, who was for some time senior NCO in charge of an RCMP detachment in this part of the province. We remember him very well as a first-class police officer, an excellent administrator who conducted the duties of his office with dignity and with respect for others. Eric Ferguson went well beyond his regular duties, getting involved in community affairs, demonstrating fine leadership when a leader was needed. When Eric and his fine wife were transferred from this area they were greatly missed.

If Officer Ferguson had a fault it would have to be his total abstinence from strong drink - hardly a fault for one in police work!

It is hoped that the present problems will be resolved, and that the police department as well as the people of Saint John will be able to benefit from the ability of this very sincere policeman.

Promotes Floral Beauty Of City

Bathurst, N.B.
February 7, 1977

It is midwinter. The dirt, garbage, mess is covered over by a blanket of snow. One wonders if the powers-that-be at City Hall are giving any thought to beautifying the City this coming summer. Many of us were ashamed of Bathurst's appearance last summer, rubbish, grit, etc... the lack of flowers.

Surely, we could have more blooms about the city. How wonderful it would be to see some green alongside the water's edge and trees instead of that ugly old bark. Is there a Park Department? Breathes there any one in City Hall who CARES" or are they all becoming so dehumanized, unionized and computerized that the beauties of nature are lost to them?

Let's hope this year we'll see lots of flowers!

How Much Wine Did They Drink?

Saint John, N.B.
February 4, 1977

Some of your readers could possibly solve a problem that has always intrigued me about the wedding feast at Cana 2. 1 - 10) This incident is rather in season since it is usually read in the month of January.

However, to the point, the apostle John mentions that there were on hand six jars, each capable of holding two or three firkins apiece, or 25 to 30 gallons.

Now, taking the lower figure and extending the length of the feast and allowing for a considerable number of guests, we still come up with a very generous portion for each person. In fact it works out to 600 quarts of the best, or if you will, 1,200 pints. And keep in mind that they had already "well drunk" before this came along.

I find this story most interesting inasmuch as John describes it in such minute detail. And I just can not help wondering if at the end of the feast Peter or John could have passed a modern breathalyzer test, and whether they would be taken off their camels for a few months.

Granted, some may suggest that the wine mentioned in scripture was a very light drink, grape juice for example, but you must remember that Noah found it to be a most potent beverage indeed.

Snowmobile Crash Fatal

A 14-year-old boy who was the victim of a snowmobile accident in southern New Brunswick February 4, was a former resident of Bathurst.

Stephen Phillip Jensen lived here from May 30, 1966, until January 30, 1969, while his father, Phillip Jensen, was associated with the Woodlands Division of Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. The family now resides at 122 Burpee St., Fredericton.

The boy, who was a passenger on a snowmobile, fell off and was struck by another vehicle following behind. He died of a fractured skull. An autopsy and inquest were considered unnecessary.

Besides his parents, the victim is survived by a sister, Lisa, two brothers, Chris and Peter, all at home.

Born in Plaster Rock, the youth had resided in Fredericton the greater part of his life. He was a student in Grade Nine at George St. School.

The funeral was held February 6 at First United Church, Nashwaaksis, with interment to follow in the spring.

City Water Bills Are Questioned

Bathurst, N.B.
February 9, 1977

After we received our water bills in February, 1977, we noticed an increase in the rates as of October 1, 1976 to January 1, 1977.

The City Council previously approved the increase as of January 1, 1977, not as of October 1, 1976, as shown on our bills.

It might seem like a small increase, but this could net the City of Bathurst over $50,000, illegally (?), when you consider the entire city.

After inquiring from city officials, they replied it is legal, following this same logic, if any one of us bought a car 3 months ago and the car dealer since then received an increase, then he can also bill you for the increase.

We are publicly asking the city officials what is their right in effecting the new water rates as of October 1, 1976, when they were only given the right to do so as of January 1, 1977.

Another small thing that the city officials overlooked is that the increase is over 25 percent on the water rate - 70 to 88 cents and 26 per cent on the base rate from $8.30 to $10.70.

Did the city get approval from the Anti-Inflation Board to apply the increase of 25 percent when the approved line is 6 per cent.

Claims City Is Gone To The Dogs

Bathurst, N.B.
Feb. 7, 1977

People who own dogs in the city of Bathurst do not follow the city laws. The law says "tie your dog". If dog owners do not follow this law and keep their dogs tied, I hope the Town Council and City Manager will look into this problem. A fine for not keeping a dog tied should be $25.

Protest Over Aerial Spraying

Fredericton, N.B.
February 4, 1977

The Concerned Parents Group of New Brunswick agrees with Premier Regan of Nova Scotia that aerial spraying of insecticides is not safe enough for the people of Nova Scotia. Aerial spraying is also too dangerous for the people of New Brunswick. This province is now the only Atlantic province persisting with a program of aerial spraying of chemical insecticides, using several chemicals even more toxic than the one rejected by Nova Scotia as not sufficiently safe for use there.

We have sent the following telegram to Premier Regan and the Nova Scotia cabinet, to express our appreciation for a decision taken with the health of the Public in mind:

"Premier Regan and Cabinet
Halifax, Nova Scotia
We appreciate the conscientious concern for human health shown in your decision not to spray the forests of Cape Breton. Perhaps you would share the information that led you to make this decision with Premier Hatfield and his cabinet in New Brunswick. N.B. Concerned Parents Group."

Now is the time for the people of New Brunswick to let their government know that we no longer want to be sprayed with chemicals that are too dangerous to be used in other provinces and countries. Write to your MLA and the Premier of New Brunswick. Your voice will count.

C. Richards, Secretary,
Concerned Parents Group

Backyard In West Is A Wilderness

(A former Bathurst man, principal of Chemainus Secondary School, Ocean Falls, B.C., says "The wilderness has not vanished, it is in my back yard. He is married to the former Judith Bass, also a Bathurst native. Mr. Henry describes his present environment and surroundings for the benefit of relatives and friends back home.)

Across the street from my house runs a salmon-spawning river. Thousands of salmon come up this fall, mostly Coho. It is about the same size as Middle R. or Nigadoo River. A footpath at the end of the street follows the river to its source - a lake about 5 mi. upstream.

The valley is surrounded by small mountains (about 3000 - 4000 ft). My ten year old son, Wesley, has caught a goodly number of cutthroat trout in this stream.

With my binoculars, I have observed Mountain goats feeding on nearby ridges and peaks. The narrow valley floor is very dense in underbrush, and, except for the swamped trail, it would be difficult to hike. There are towering Douglas fir up this valley, some so large that four men holding hands could not span.

This morning is very clear and sunny. The river has receded from the raging torrents that usually cascade down during heavy rains, which are frequent since this area averages 100" of rainfall per year.

BERMAN HENRY

Carcasses of salmon which have died after spawning were deposited along the river banks. (upriver the grizzlies are probably feasting)

Through my living room window I can observe five bald eagles flying or perched in various trees. One is clutching and tearing away at a half eaten salmon carcass. Another stares back defiantly as I scrutinize his fierce gaze through my 20 x 50 binoculars. His large square-skulled white head tops a huge black body ending in a white, fanned tail and treacherous yellow talons. These match the large, yellow, hooked beak which joins the head at an angle seemingly designed to give this predator the fiercest of all possible expressions.

Although there are 1,500 people in this pulp mill town, we sometimes share the townsite with uninvited guests. During our first three nights here last August, I had to chase a nasty black bear from our backyard. Last time I connected with a piece of firewood – haven't seen him since!

There are grizzlies and wolves in the vicinity but they are seldom sighted near the town.

We have seen seals, porpoises, whales and, at a distance several of the rare trumpeter swan which usually winter in the Atnarko Valley near Bella Coola (the place where Alexander MacKenzie reached the Pacific on July 22nd, 1973, by travelling overland.)

The book "Crusoe of Lonesome Lake" describes how the Edward family (pioneers in this isolated valley) have protected and saved this rare species from near extension.

The area rings with the magical-musical place names of the once proud and mighty West Coast Indian - Owikeno, Bella Bella, Namu and Bella Coola.

As a schoolboy in Bathurst I recall reading and looking somewhat with awe and curiosity at the photos of the large West Coast Indian totems, longhouses, masks and huge dugout canoes. Of course these are only museum pieces now.

I often wondered what had become of these people who had created such an artistic culture. I did not know then that I could one day come to know many of their descendants as close friends.

Live up to the reputation your ancestors built — not on it.

Community Prayer Meeting

The House of Prayer, 775 College St., held its weekly prayer meeting Monday evening, Jan. 31. New members were made welcome to the Community.

Topic chosen for the teaching session was entitled, "What Is The Lord Calling Us To In The Charismatic Renewal?" This teaching dwelled on personal holiness, Christian unity and obedience.

The readings taken from the letter of Paul to the Ephesians 4 and the Gospel according to John 17, and were in keeping with the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

Songs chosen by the "music ministry" also revealed the importance of Christian Unity.

Mass was celebrated by Rev. Gregory Sampson, followed which fellowship was enjoyed, with tea and coffee being served.

Bible References: John 17: 21 -22.

"That all may be one, even as thou, Father, in me and I in thee, that they also may be one in us, that the world may believe that thou has sent me.

"And the glory that thou has given me, I have given to them, that they may be one, even as we are one."

With this theme of unity in mind, let us contemplate upon the greatest and most perfect of unity: God The Father, The Son and The Holy Spirit – The Blessed Trinity.

Honored Employee Reflects On Past Years In Hospital

An employee at Chaleur General Hospital with a record of 40 years of service was honored on a special occasion on Feb. 3.

Miss Bernadette Gallant, a native of this area, was presented with several gifts in acknowledgements of her long period with hospitals in the city.

An engraved gold pendant watch was presented by J.R. Miller on behalf of Chaleur General Hospital Governing Board, and a gold chain was presented on behalf of the hospital by the administrator, Mrs. Therese Ton That.

Present were several board representatives, administration staff members of all departments as well as co-workers electrocardiograph department.

Miss Gallant was also presented with a beautifully decorated cake which, along with coffee, tea and small cakes served during the function held at 3 p.m., were courtesy of VS Services Ltd.

The recipient acknowledged, in a few well-chosen and appropriate words, the gifts as well as the presence of those who were at the function, held in the basement cafeteria of the hospital.

Miss Gallant is a registered nursing assistant, having completed her course at the Hotel-Dieu, forerunner of the present hospital. A qualified E.C.G. technician as well, Miss Gallant is very dedicated to her work at C.G.H. and her constant good humor is an asset to those in Radiology, it was noted by the speakers who presented the gifts.

REFLECTIONS

In an informal discussion, Miss Gallant reflected on her long career with the following remarks:

"Forty years in not a long time," says Miss Gallant, in reflecting about her work in the intervening time, continuing:

"I started working at the Sanatorium on Jan. 11, 1937. It was a lovely day of sunshine, one could see the grass in the fields.

"I worked as an aide in the beginning, very long hours – seven days a week. We even had to answer the patients' bells during the night, and still get up at 5:30 a.m., nuns and employees alike.

"In spite of the long working days, we found time to amuse ourselves with concerts, plays and sing-songs; even played tricks on each other from time to time. We often played cards with the patients. It was like one big family.

"There were 96 bed-ridden patients. Patients stayed at least two years, and many as long as seven or eight years. After so many years, when the time came for a patient to leave, they cried. We always had a little social upon someone's leaving.

"Each and every person, including the nuns, worked until all was done. there were no specific duties. We worked as long as 15 hours a day, doing anything that had to be done.

"There were no vacations at that time. I lived there at the sanatorium. Starting in 1947, employees received half a day off per week. Following construction of a residence, employees lived there until 1971.

"The sanatorium closed its door in Sept. 1974 and I continued to work there until July 31, 1975. At that time, I transferred to Chaleur General Hospital.

"My first salary was $8.00 per month plus board. The nurses received $30.00 per month.

"Although my family was in town, often times I did not get to see them for as long as six months. The few purchases we made were through the catalogue.

"I did many different jobs over the years such as assistant to the doctor, dentist, taking electrocardiograms, working on patients' files, in sterilization, in X-ray.

"Our patients came from as far away as Quebec and Ontario. We had patients from all walks of life – from professionals to labourers, young and old, and even children.

"During a lawyer's stay as a patient, we even had a 'play' court with other patients and employees.

"At Christmas, many people from town came for midnight mass and the 'reveillon', and we had lovely choirs and music. There were gifts for all the patients."

Aspires To Spot On National Ski Team

Hard work, a good deal of dedication, and the understanding and support of one's family. These, combined with a necessary amount of natural prowess, are the essential attributes of a contender for Canada's national ski team.

And if love for the sport can enhance one's chances, then Suzanne Leonfellner has to be among the first on the list of hopefuls.

Suzanne, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Leonfellner, and lives with her parents and brother Perry in Belledune where her father is maintenance supervisor with Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. (Smelting Division).

Suzanne began her Alpine skiing career at the ripe old age of four when the family lived in Labrador City, Nfld. Her mother, a qualified ski instructor who was born in the Russian state of Estonia, was her first coach, and Mrs. Leonfellner succeeded in instilling a genuine love for the sport in her daughter.

Miss Leonfellner began to ski competitively about six years ago. She attended the 1975 Canada Games at Lethbridge Alberta, as part of the Newfoundland team, and placed fifth in her class in giant slalom. Suzanne has also attended the Canada and Quebec Juveniles (for skiers 16 years of age and under) and placed third in the downhill slalom at the Quebec competition.

The young skier was also chosen to train at Val d'Isere, France for three consecutive summers, 1974-75-76, under top-rated French instructors. This is considered quite an honor as only the top ten racers in the province of Newfoundland are eligible to attend.

According to Suzanne, coaching makes all the difference in the world. "We had very good coaches in Labrador", she explained, "and they are essential to aspiring skiers. This is one disadvantage of living in New Brunswick. Also, I am no longer supported by a ski club and so must do all training on my own and pay all expenses as well."

However, these drawbacks have not diminished her enthusiasm and dedication to skiing. Since moving to Bathurst three years ago, Suzanne has been training in Mount Alice.

"I usually travel to Quebec every weekend and spend about six hours per day on the slopes on Saturday and Sunday." Because she is not far away from a good hill, she must take practice what she calls "day-to-day training" during the week.

Miss Leonfellner recently took part in the competition for the Gaspesian Cup, and came second in her class and third overall. This was a letdown from last year when she won the event, but she admits that competition was much stiffer this year.

Upcoming events include two Provincial Cup races in Ontario towards the end of February, and Suzanne is hard at work in preparation. These races are the first step towards getting looked at for the national ski team, something which she wants very much. "Of course, it wouldn't be for another two or three years", she explains, "It takes a lot of time and work."

With all the travelling and practise which is necessary to become a good competitive skier, Suzanne does spend a considerable amount of time away from studies as a Grade 11 student at Bathurst High School. However, she does a lot of catch-up work on her own, and gets good grades.

Suzanne's family also enjoys skiing on a recreational basis, and she recommends it as an excellent family sport. Her parents have always supported her in her endeavours, and this too means a great deal to her excellent progress.

INTEREST INCREASING IN KIDNEY FOUNDATION ACTIVITIES

At the last regular monthly meeting of Bathurst Chapter of the Kidney Foundation, held January 26, at the Inservice Department of Chaleur General Hospital; a good attendance viewed the informative and interesting film "Kid's Kidneys".

Among those present were, seated from the left: Sara Eddy, treasurer; Sheila Burns, president; Angie Hebert, secretary; and Dr. B. Satya, medical adviser; standing: Mrs. Joan Hachey, Mrs. Arthur Morrison, Mrs. Andrea Daigle, Mrs. Doris Alexander, Mrs. Carmella Godin, Mrs. Leandre Doucet, Leandre Doucet, and Andrew Vienneau, members.

The Bathurst Chapter wishes the public to be made aware of the organ donor cards which are available to the public with their 1977 driver's licence. These cards are to be filled out, if so desired, and kept in the individual's wallet.

Patient assistance was discussed and it was decided that help would be made available for members of families afflicted with kidney disease.

At the present time, memorial cards are available at Ellershaw's Funeral Home and at the Dame Shop only.

The attending members were encouraged to bring a friend to the next monthly meeting which is to be held February 28 at Chaleur General Hospital. Members of the Medical Staff are in attendance in an advisory capacity. The atmosphere of these meetings is informal and pleasant. All those interested are cordially invited to attend.

Following officers for the coming year:

Dr. Robert J. Hicks, president;

Dr. B. Satya, vice-president;

Dr. Michael J. Plata, secretary-treasurer.

Welcomed as new members of the Medical staff were Dr. V. Rajendra, anesthetist, and Dr. Angelo Mercuri, wife of Dr. M. W. Hachey.

The latter will be working part-time in the Mental Health Clinic and ER (Casualty Department).

Over 300 Immigration Cases Processed Here

C.G. Savoie, manager of the Canada Immigration Centre, Bathurst, has released selected statistics that briefly outline the Canada Immigration Centre's operations during 1976.

The CIC conducted 113 secondary examinations of people entering Canada. Secondary examinations differ from primary examination (required of all people entering Canada and conducted by the Customs and Excise Branch of the Department of National Revenue) in two respects: they provide an opportunity for people unsure of Canada's immigration laws and regulations to seek clarification in interviews with the Immigration Officers; and they allow Immigration Officers to determine a person's intentions in entering Canada when the primary examination raises doubts.

Some 29,556 secondary examinations were conducted throughout the Atlantic Region.

Sixteen people were granted landed immigrant status by the CIC, from a total of 2,479 throughout the Atlantic Region. Slightly less than three per cent of Canada's immigrants settle in the Atlantic Region.

The CIC processed 43 sponsorships and nominations by Canadian residents for relatives abroad. The Regional total was 1,914.

Of the 2,294 crew and ship documentations carried out in the Atlantic Region, The Bathurst CIC handled 68, and four ship deserters were reported.

A total of 328 investigations for possible illegal immigration activities were conducted in this CIC. Six arrests were made under various violations of the Immigration Act. Six special inquiries were held in the area, and six deportations were made.

A total of 51 employment visas were issued in this area compared with 3,415 for the Atlantic Region this past year.

These statistics reflect this office's operations in Bathurst, Dalhousie, Campbellton, Chatham, Newcastle, Caraquet, Tracadie and Shippegan areas. In overall 1,140 people were seen through the year 1976 at these various areas.

2 - February 16, 2:00 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Bathurst Trade School, Youghal Drive.

3 - February 18, 2:00 p.m., at the "centre d'accueil" du Village Historique Acadien.

Deux invités chez les Dames d'Acadie

M. Elie DeGrâce, historien, archiviste à l'Evêché de Bathurst et responsable des archives de la Société Historique Nicolas-Denys, était le conférencier à la dernière réunion des Dames d'Acadie de Bathurst et a parlé de ce personnage.

M. DeGrâce a d'abord dit quelques mots sur l'histoire, le rôle de l'historien et a encouragé chacune à garder lettres, photos, documents, souvenirs qui pourraient être très utiles plus tard. Sa conférence a porté ensuite sur Mgr Donnet.

Originaire de Bathurst, ce prêtre a souvent prêché plusieurs années dans la paroisse de Grande-Anse. Il a été l'un des fondateurs du journal "Le Courrier" dont l'édifice existe encore. Homme de science, Mgr Donnet possédait certaines connaissances en électricité (quelques inventions extraordinaires, un astronomie et aussi en météorologie. Il avait une façon bien à lui de guérir ses paroissiens et même des personnes de régions avoisinantes. Ils écrivaient souvent leurs maladies et demandaient un remède.

Les Dames d'Acadie recevaient aussi M. Raymond Robichaud, coordonnateur régional pour la Société des Acadiens du Nouveau-Brunswick pour traiter la possibilité d'implanter un district franco-québécois pour remplacer l'actuel district régional No. 6 (Bathurst). M. Robichaud a pour mandat de recueillir de la documentation, sensibiliser les groupes et recevoir de l'appui.

Thérèse Thériault, agent de liaison pour tout les cercles des Dames d'Acadie de la province rendait visite au groupe de Bathurst, elle a donné un compte rendu sur un projet bien approprié pour ce mois de février, le "mois canadien". Le "mois canadien" a été donné par Peggy Bourque; elle a donné de parler d'un des ses hautes positions, la fabrication de courte-pointes. Elle en avait d'ailleurs apporté quelques-unes qui étaient très jolies.

Le souper de février est remplacé par une danse de la St-Valentin. Cette soirée aura lieu le 19 février à 21:30 hres. Chez Danny's, les "Mystiks" feront les frais de la musique. Un buffet sera servi à 24:30 hres. Il y a encore des billets à vendre. Vous pouvez vous en procurer en téléphonant à Cecile Dugay à 546-2334 ou à Desanges Ouellette à 546-6755.

LOCAL CLUB'S MEMBERSHIP BOOSTED BY SIX

The Bathurst Jaycees' membership was increased by six at their regular meeting held at Danny's Colonial House January 26. Bill Comeau, president, welcomed the new members into the club which, in the past, has been benevolent to this community in many ways. From the left are: Mr. Comeau, Ron Bourque, Brian Deacon, Mark Dempsey, Ron Doucet, Moraj Ali, and Edmond Pitre.

Both Bev and Sharon are in Group A and completed a bingo on the same day.

County Woman Dies In Mishap

Coroner J. D. Gardner of Shippegan has reserved decision on an inquest into the death Saturday of a 55-year-old fisherman Perry venture.

Mrs. Elena Duguay, was killed when struck by a car driven by Eddy Henry, 21 of Pokemouche. Reports indicate that Mr. Henry did not see the victim, who was crossing Highway 113 at the time of the accident. Roads were reported to be good at the time.

An autopsy was ruled unnecessary.

Donor Program Given Support

The Government of New Brunswick is lending its support to the human organ donor program sponsored by the Kidney Foundation of Canada.

The foundation seeks pledges from individuals prepared to donate following their deaths, one or more of their organs for transplantation, therapy, medical research or education.

While support was recommended by the department of Health, it is being effected through the department of Provincial Secretary which is now mailing a brochure and organ donor card along with motor vehicle operators license renewal forms.

The brochure explains the program, its benefits and purpose and the pledge card is intended to be completed and signed by the prospective donor.

Provincial Secretary Paul Creaghan notes that through the program thousands of Canadians have received transplanted corneas and regained their sight. Hundreds of others have their lives restored through kidney transplants.

However, says Mr. Creaghan, thousands of other potential beneficiaries are currently awaiting available anatomical parts.

The minister says that prospective donors should be in good health, should inform relatives and friends of their intention and should keep their donor card with them at all times. Transplant operations must be performed within a few hours of the donor's death.

PA Will Seek Sound Platform

"A sound political platform" which will guarantee more economic opportunity for Acadians in New Brunswick will be aimed at when the provincial Parti Acadien meets in spring convention.

At a provincial executive council meeting in Moncton recently, party officials decided plans for the upcoming session, tentatively scheduled for April 29, 30 and May 1 in Moncton.

PA President Jean Pierre Lantaigne explained that the party would define a solid electoral platform and policies so that Acadians would not be "carried off with the tide" as they have in the past.

"Now there exist, he said, the Acadian population now realizes the importance of having its own political party on which to place its hopes.

Dr. Lantaigne made the remark in reference to the recent November election of Quebec's pro-separatist Parti Quebecois and of the provincial politics being New Brunswick's recently Acadian population should Quebec break away from the rest of Canada.

Canada as a nation will have to "find new ways to live together", and as will the province's Acadians who, with no political support, will not be able to halt the cultural and economical exploitation that has been ongoing in the past, he said.

The PA executive, Dr. Lantaigne said, has made enormous strides since its political birth, but has been unable to do anything of a concrete nature in political issues during N.B. Acadians.

The proposed three-day congress at the end of April has as its first priority to mobilize

YOUR BUSINESS

More Hikes In Cost Of Living

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Tighten your belt another notch: Inflation hasn't been beaten, and the cost of living is still rising fast."

(But if you belong to the federal civil service or to a strong union, relax. Your indexing clause protects you against all future inflation.)

Canada's consumer price index (CPI) went up by 7.5 per cent last year. It will rise by at least another six per cent both this year and next, according to one detailed economic forecast.

When these figures are compounded, they show that the cost of living is likely to be at least 20.8 per cent higher in 1978, when anti-inflation restraints are officially scheduled to end, than in 1976, when the restraints were imposed.

Even that rapid rate of inflation may be surpassed. Here's one example of the way in which forecasts can go awry:

Food prices actually dipped 0.7 per cent in 1976. One reason was a record U.S. citrus crop.

Now, with the 1977 crop severely damaged by cold weather, a scarcity is likely and food distributors have wasted no time in jacking up the prices of the stocks they have on hand.

FOOD PRICES

Coffee prices have shot up through a similar combination of cold weather and opportunism. But they represent less than one-third of one per cent of the CPI, and so will have only a slight inflationary impact on the average family's budget.

"Milk prices will likely increase moderately due to rising production costs and planned conversion to metric weighing," according to the economic forecast just published by Wood Gundy Ltd., Canada's largest investment house.

"Beef prices will likely stay low throughout 1977 but start increasing in 1978," they add.

"Pork prices are expected to stay under downward pressure throughout 1977, as hog supplies continue to expand.

"Poultry prices are substantially below levels of a year ago due to an increase in chicken slaughter compared to 1975, and the large volume of poultry imports from the United States. Those poultry prices should continue to stay low."

HOUSING COSTS

Housing and transportation costs, on the other hand, will continue to go up faster than other prices.

The cost of housing (which represents 31 per cent of the average cost of living) rose by 10.8 per cent in 1975 and 10 per cent in 1976.

Wood Gundy forecasters think they will increase by another 10.6 per cent this year, and 8.5 per cent in 1978.

Any reduction in mortgage interest rates will be felt only slowly, but most home-owners will be socked quickly with increases in electricity rates and property taxes.

The 70-cent increase in the domestic price of crude oil (to $9.75 a barrel) that went into effect Jan. 1 will hit consumers about March 1, and boost the cost of both home-heating and transportation.

HIGHER FARES

One obvious result will be higher fares on buses, trains and airlines. (Air Canada and CP Air are making increases said to average about seven per cent.)

All major car manufacturers have announced price increases - which are really greater than they seem, since equipment has been downgraded in many instances.

On balance, transportation costs - which gained 8.6 per cent last year - are expected to jump 10.1 per cent this year and 9.3 per cent in 1978.

Clothing prices could rise as a result of the recent imposition of import quotas - but the currently high level of clothing inventories will probably tend to restrain price increases.

Alpines Drop Ironmen 5-3 After Drubbing By Rangers

Mike Morton scored three times to pace the Bathurst Alpines to a 5 - 3 decision over Chatham Ironmen in an NSHL contest played in Chatham Sunday. The loss marred the return to action by the Chatham club which had been on the sidelines for the past two weeks.

Mike Brophy and Jackie Roy connected for the other Alpine goals while Ken Martin, Paul Findlay and Henry Gibbs scored for Chatham.

Morton scored the first two goals of the game in the opening period and completed his hat trick in the second with the third of three unanswered goals fired by the Alpines.

Gibbs and Findlay beat Tom Martin in the Bathurst cage for the only goals of the final period. Martin went the distance and turned aside 45 shots. Bobby Chamberlain made 29 saves for the Ironmen.

The win was the 16th of the season for the Alpines and left them 10 points back of the pennant-winning Campbellton Tigers with a total of 33.

Ranger Romp

Last Thursday in Dalhousie the Rangers handed the Alpines a 12 - 2 defeat highlighted by the seven point performance of Roger Luc Bonneville. Bonneville scored twice and drew five assists to overshadow playing coach Clem Tremblay who scored three times. Wayne Emerson and Gaetan Duguay scored a pair each for the winners with Marcel Dumais, Bob Fraser and Bill Audfrod netting the others. Mike Brophy and Jack Roy connected for the Alpines who were outshot 43-21.

MIKE MORTON

Top Tigers

Here last Tuesday, the Alpines topped the Campbellton Tigers 5 - 2 in what could be a preview of things to come in the upcoming NSHL playoffs. The loss was only the fourth of the season for the pennant-winners.

Ghislain Tardiff and Lou Ouellette gave the Alpines a 2 - 0 first period lead and Mike Morton made it 3 - 0 after 40 minutes with the lone goal of the second frame.

Dave Stevenson got Tigers on the board early in the final period but Paul Ouellette restored Bathurst's three-goal margin at the 6:01 mark. Sterling Legg connected for Campbellton 52 seconds later but that was the last gasp for the Tigers. Mike Brophy added the Alpines' fifth goal when he fired into an empty net in the final minute of play.

Lasers Bomb Newcastle 11-3 Host Black Kats On Sunday

Jimmy Savoie and Glen Melvin sparked Bathurst High School Lasers to an 11 - 3 trouncing of Miramichi Valley High School of Newcastle here Sunday in N.B. Interscholastic Hockey League play.

The win marked the Lasers' fifth consecutive game without defeat and increased their league lead to seven points over James M. Hill High of Chatham and Fredericton High who currently share second place. The Lasers only loss this season came to the Fredericton High School Kats in the Lasers opening game. These same Black Kats will be here Sunday with face-off time set for 2:30 p.m.

Lucien Melvin triggered three goals in Sunday's win against NBHS while Jimmy Savoie netted one and assisted on three others. Savoie's four points gave him a one point margin over Melvin in the league's scoring race.

Jimmy Kyle and David Savoie each scored a pair for the winners with the others coming from Daniel Chabot, Gary Doucet and Donnie Christian Yvon Richard, Bruce Steele and Bert Feneion scored for Newcastle.

Relatively few penalties were called in the game with the Lasers picking up 19 minutes and Newcastle assessed 13 minutes.

Northern Juniors Blank South 5-0

The North Shore Junior B Hockey League All Stars shut out their counterparts from the Southeastern Junior B League to win the North-South Junior B All Star contest played Saturday in Memramcook.

Beresford's Andre Arsenault, who replaced starting goaltender Paul Dugas of Caraquet in the second period, turned aside 35 shots the rest of the way and was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

Other members of the Beresford Bees played key roles in the North victory as Roger LeBlanc and Michel DeGrace both scored second period goals.

Hector Chiasson of Shippegan gave the North a 1 - 0 first period lead scoring at the 15:22 mark.

Roger LeBlanc made it 2 - 0 at 5:56 of the second and Michel DeGrace upped the count to 3 - 0 two minutes later. Paul Emile Basque of St. Isidore-Tracadie Save Easy added the North's fourth goal midway through the period.

Bobby LeBreton of St. Isidore completed the game's scoring with the North's fifth goal early in the final period.

The Southern Stars outshot the North 51 - 38 but were unable to put the puck past the North's goaltending duo.

Ladies Curling

By JOYCE CONLEY

Two teams skipped by Shirley Cunman and Jeanne Rossignol will represent Bathurst at the Ladies North Shore annual bonspiel at Campbellton Feb 11 - 12.

Unfortunately, June Orser's rink in the provincial Lassie this past weekend in Newcastle was unable to repeat last year's spectacular performance. The line was especially keen and presented a more difficult opponent than teams the local girls have met previously.

The evening curlers have completed their series of games in the new year. The evening mixed series was won by Georgette Assaff and her team of Norma Samson, Judy Seymour and Ruth Morrison.

The morning and afternoon ladies have the mixed series under way. The tie-breaking game of the six-game series will be played this week.

The first games of the Mark Den bonspiel, a mixed event, are scheduled for tonight, Feb. 9.

Because the ladies' club will be catering to the NB Bowl bonspiel this weekend, there will be no supper served to club members this Saturday evening.

Until next week, good curling!

IN MEMORIAM

SEALY — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Lewman Sealy who passed away Feb. 9, 1971

You were a Dad we were proud to own.
How much we miss you will never be known.
To some you maybe forgotten
To others a part of the past.
But to us who loved you and lost you
Your memory will always last
You are where we cannot see you.
And your voice we cannot hear
Yet we know you walk beside us
Never absent, always near
Sadly missed and always remembered by wife, Neillie and family

DOUCET — In loving memory of a dear husband Frank Guy Doucet who passed away Feb. 7, 1976.

I have lost my life's companion
A soul linked to my own
Day by day I miss you more
As I walk through life alone
A million times I've needed you
A million tears I've cried
If my love could have saved you
You would still be by my side
It broke my heart to lose you
But part of me went with you
The day God called you home
Sadly missed and always remembered by wife, Mahrina

LEVY — In loving memory of a dear mother Marguret who passed away Feb. 19, 1974

Beautiful memories are

They last till the longest day.
They never wear out they never get lost
And can never be given away.
To some you may be forgotten.
To others a part of the past.
But to me who loved you and lost you.
Your memory will always last.
Sadly missed and always remembered by daughter Anita and grandchildren. Newmarket, Ont.

Regular Prayer Meeting Is Held

The community of Peace, Love and Joy held its regular Monday night meeting at the House of Prayer, 775 College St., on January 31.

Newcomers were welcomed and briefed on the charismatic renewal in the Church today. It was noted that tapes regarding the movement are available for the benefit of the community, and for personal worship, individuals can go to the chapel at any time.

All ministries and members gathered in the gym for the prayer meeting which commenced at 8 p.m. The leaders extended a hearty welcome to all and called upon the music ministry to lead in the hymn "Spirit of the Living God". Praise and thanks were given to the Lord in prayer, hymns and readings throughout the meeting.

The teaching for the evening was "Love God with your whole heart and your neighbour as yourself - we are all God's children and all equal in His eyes."

His Excellency Bishop Godin honoured the gathering with his presence and celebrated Mass. Celebrants were Fr. Greg Samson and Fr. Greg Culligan. Also present was Fr. David Beauregard, the spiritual director for all prayer groups in the Diocese of Bathurst. Readings were from Hebrew 11 of the Old Testament and Mark 5, New Testament.

Out-of-town visitors were Sr. Mary Catherine from Rome, Italy and Sr. Patricia Ann from Waterville, Maine.

The mass concluded with a blessing for all and their families for the year 1977 by Bishop Godin.

The closing hymn was "His Name is Wonderful".

Coffee, tea and fellowship followed.

Improvements In Old Age Security Policy

Over half a million residents of Canada may eventually gain access to the social security credits they have acquired overseas, as a result of the proposed amendments to improve the Old Age Security Act which Marc Lalonde, Minister of National Health and Welfare, tabled in the House of Commons January 31.

Among other things, the amendments would authorize inclusion of the Old Age Security Program in international agreements which would make benefits portable to and from countries with which Canada may negotiate agreements.

According to Herb Breau, MP for Gloucester, the central purpose of reciprocal international agreements is to protect migrants who spend portions of their working lives in more than one country. Such people cannot always meet the minimum eligibility requirements of the mandatory social security programs to which they have contributed.

"Such countries as France, Italy, the United Kingdom and the United States, from which a large number of Canadian immigrants have come in recent years, have expressed interest in having reciprocal social security agreements with us", said the Minister. "Until now", Mr. Lalonde added, "Canada had no adequate response to such proposals since OAS, the building block of our retirement income system, could not be taken to the bargaining table".

Most countries place explicit restrictions on the payment of social security benefits outside their national boundaries; some pay benefits only to nationals and some freeze the benefits at the level at which they were when the beneficiary left the country. Others require minimum periods of residence or contributions or allow payment abroad only on the basis of a reciprocal agreement.

The Government's proposals would establish partial pensions based on one-forthieth of a full pension for each year of residence in Canada. The pension would thus be acquired a year at a time, over a maximum 40-year period, through residence in Canada after age 18, with a minimum requirement of 10 years for payment of the pension in Canada and of 20 years for payment of the pension abroad.

Turning to the strategy for implementation, Mr. Lalonde stressed the fact that the Government proposals would not affect OAS pensions currently in pay. There would be a 40-year transition period before the new rules apply to everyone.

When the amendments become law, people living in Canada who are 25 or over would be governed by whichever set of rules is more beneficial, and everyone now under 25 would be subject to the new rules.

The eligible OAS population, Mr. Lalonde explained, is made up of current and former legal residents of Canada. For the purposes of the amended legislation, current residents would include people holding valid immigration visas when the amendments come into force. Thus, the new rules would apply on proclamation to current and former legal residents of Canada under the age of 25 and to anyone, regardless of age, without prior attachment to this country.

The transition period, said the Minister, would protect the pension rights of all residents of Canada who have had association with this country during their productive years, in accordance with the prime intent of the Old Age Security Act.

Social security agreements are designed to overcome the restrictions which governments place on the payment of benefits outside their national boundaries. This is accomplished by adding together periods of residence or contributions to determine eligibility under the programs of one or both countries. Once eligibility is established, each party to the agreement calculates, under its own rules, its share of the composite benefit payable and pays it directly to the beneficiary.

"Once Parliament has approved the proposed amendments", said Mr. Lalonde, "the Government of Canada will be prepared, over time, to negotiate reciprocal agreements with interested foreign governments to remove duplicate coverage for the same period of work or residence and to make benefits portable to and from Canada and those countries.

DENIS LOZIER

Appointed To Advisory Post

Treasury Board Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard has announced today the appointment of Denis Lozier, originally of Tracadie and recently of Moncton as an advisor in his department, effective on March 1.

Mr. Lozier will be responsible for economic research and will devote special attention to the economically depressed regions of the province. He will also examine the hiring and recruiting policies of the provincial Civil Service.

"I am particularly delighted to have such a well-prepared person at our service. Mr. Lozier's rich experience is obviously an extraordinary advantage for the realization of the responsibilities he will assume," said Mr. Simard.

Mr. Simard noted that Mr. Lozier's appointment reflects the provincial government's effort to recruit French-speaking public servants.

After elementary studies in his hometown, Mr. Lozier completed a bachelor of arts degree at the University of Moncton in 1973. The following year he completed a diploma in social services, with specialization in economics. In 1975 the University of Western Ontario awarded him the degree of masters of arts.

The same year he was private advisor to the federal department of Regional Economic Expansion in Bathurst. In November 1975 he became secretary general of the New Brunswick Society of Acadians (sic), the office he held prior to his present appointment.

While at the University of Moncton, Mr. Lozier was elected president of the student council of the faculty of arts and secretary general of the student federation (FEUM). In addition he has been a member of the board of governors and of the academic senate of the university. He was also in charge of the Canadian division of the World University Service organization. As such he was a delegate to a WUSC seminar in India in 1973.

Mr. Lozier is married to Annette Landry.

House Opens On March 1

Premier Richard Hatfield announced February 3 that the third session of the 48th Legislative Assembly will begin on Tuesday March 1, 1977, at 3 p.m. with the reading of the Speech from the Throne by his Honour Hedard J. Robichaud, Lieutenant Governor of New Brunswick.

Trip To Bathurst Cost Over $5,000

From The Ottawa Bureau Of The Northern Light

The federal government paid out more that 5,000 dollars in bills accumulated by 23 employees of the Unemployment Insurance Commission who accepted a four-day junket last summer to "look over" the City of Bathurst.

According to Manpower and Immigration Minister Bud Cullen, the object of the trip was to permit the employees to form their own impressions of Bathurst which will become the home of the Commission's annuities branch and central index.

Mr. Cullen was responding to written questions which had been placed on the House of Commons order paper by Ontario MP Tom Cossitt (PC—Leeds).

The group left Ottawa by rail August 19 and returned August 23. The government paid $2,907 for their rail tickets and another $2,063 for rooms at Danny's Motel, which charged a room rate of $19.98 for each member of the group.

Some free time was given to the group on Friday, Aug. 20, which permitted some to investigate the Bathurst real estate situation while others went shopping. About "six or eight" went fishing.

On the evening prior to that the group accumulated additional expense by entertaining a senior civic official and his wife who were not identified by Mr. Cullen.

Each member of the group had an extra $9.25 restaurant charge added to the motel bill, of which $6 was collected as the maximum dinner meal allowance. Additional "entertainment" cost of $84 were covered by the government's hospitality allowance.

Microfilm Project At Chaleur General

In order to improve their filing system of patient records, Chaleur General Hospital has been accorded a job creation project. A federal government grant of $26,000 is actually being used utilized in this Local Initiatives Program project.

The workers were hired in mid-December 1976 after being referred to project officials by Canada Manpower Center in Bathurst. So being, four young women now share this new working experience.

Because of limited working equipment, they form two teams executing their chores alternatively day and night. Hired as clerk-typists, their experience here is somewhat different. They will be microfilming old patient records for a new filing approach.

The 1965 to 1967 records are already microfilmed; this year, the records of 1968 to 1971 will be completed and stored away. These documents were submitted to the new hospital by the old Hotel-Dieu of Bathurst.

The sponsor of the project, hospital archivist Mrs. A. Roberge, explains what the girls' work consists of. "The girls prepare the well classified records, readying them for micro-filming procedures; they film these documents of 16mm size films using a Recordak Film Unit machine; they then send out the reels to outside companies for development. Once the films return, the employees verify the reproduction quality, and check that every record is present. This verification is handled through a Recordak Magnaprint Reader. The films are then filed properly and the old records destroyed.

This process of microfilming will allow the hospital management to make better use of the large space taken by the old records, and give efficient service as a filing system. The complete microfilm records can easily be stored in compact filing cabinets.

Mrs. Roberge expresses complete satisfaction regarding her employees' activities and that these women referred by the Manpower Centre are composing "a good staff, answering to our qualification requirements". The four affected project participants are Miss Claudine Duguay, Miss Judy Robbins, Miss Monique Cormier, and Mrs. Helene Gallant. All are bilingual.

Another interesting aspect of this project is soon to begin. It consists in preparing structured patient-teaching programs. Mrs. Stella Kennah, from the hospital's department of Educational Services, will soon hire a registered nurse to develop, structure and have approved by the hospital Board of Directors a teaching program giving basic information relating to special illnesses. This information would be given to the patients being helped at the hospital. Patients will then benefit from this information service as it advises them of their situation and particulars of the illness.

Firm Reports Year Of Growth

Central and Eastern Trust Company reports that for the year ended December 31, 1976, the company's net income amounted to $7,003,000 ($1.30 per share) an increase of 9 per cent over the net income of $6,403,000 ($1.19 per share) for the same period last year.

In the current year, the company reported Securities Gains amounting to $64,000, as against $47,000. in 1975.

In a letter to shareholders H. B. Rhude, president, reported that "Company and guaranteed assets increased by $124,507,000 or 14 per cent in the year and now stand at $1,009,508,000.".

With assets now in excess of $1 billion, the company has reached a new milestone and ranks as seventh in size among trust companies in Canada. Mortgages and other advances increased by $102,469,000 (13 per cent) and amounted $904,555,000 at year end. Term deposits increased by $97,438,000 (14 per cent) in the period under review.

Mr. Rhude also advised that at the directors' meeting in Halifax on January 25th, a dividend of 19 cents a share was declared on the company's Class A shares and a dividend of 16.15 cents on the Class B shares, both payable on April 1, 1977. The new quarterly dividend represents an increase of 2 cents per quarter on the Class A shares and 1.7 cents on the Class B shares. These dividend increases have been approved by the Anti-Inflation Board.

The Company also announced that the annual meeting will be held on March 8th at 11:00 a.m. in the Hotel Beausejour, Moncton.

NO ONE WANTS THIS KIND OF KINDLING

Christopher (left), and Jocelyn (extreme right), six and four years old respectively, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Burns, 271 Millhaven Ct., are minus a toboggan these days. Jocelyn and a friend six-year-old Nicole Noel (centre), were enjoying their favorite winter sport, sliding, on the afternoon of January 31, and returned home for a few minutes, leaving the toboggan at the foot of the hill. When they returned, two young boys were in the process of smashing the toboggan with hammers. Both lads were in the 7 to 9-year-old bracket; a bit young for such disregard for the property of others, possibly the lack of parental guidance. In other words, they're candidates for vandals of the future, of which this community already has a surplus supply.

Gov't Studying Telegraph Usage

The federal government's Communications Department, concerned over Canadian National's decision to close a number of telecommunications offices across the country, has conducted a survey on telegraph usage to help in assessing the future of telegraph service in Canada.

In reply to inquiries from Gloucester MP Herb Breau, the Hon. Jeanne Sauve, minister of communications, noted the closure of the Telecommunications office in Bathurst "results from management decisions and lies outside both by jurisdiction and that of the CRTC".

"As you may know," Mrs. Sauve said, "recently CNCP has closed a number of telegraph offices across Canada, largely as a result of the steady decline in telegraph traffic in recent years. Our concerns have for some time related to both the impact of these closings on the workers directly affected as well as on those members of the public who continue to rely on telegraph service to meet their communications requirements.

"In an effort to more fully understand the impact of this situation on telegraph users, the department recently has completed a comprehensive nation-wide survey of telegraph usage to assess which groups within the general public and the business community continue to require telegraph service and to what extent other forms of telecommunications, such as telex or telephone service, may or may not be able to adequately meet their communications requirements.

"This survey has been undertaken with the co-operation of the operating companies and I am certain that its results, once analysed, will assist the companies, the CRTC and the department in assessing the future evolution of the telegraph service in Canada.

"The results of the survey will be made public and I shall be pleased to ensure that they are forwarded as soon as they become available", Mrs. Sauve concluded.

Decision Up To School Boards

Education Minister Charles Gallagher last week unveiled his department's new policy on the immersion method of second language teaching.

The minister made the policy public in Fredericton during the opening of a two-day conference on immersion.

He said the new policy makes the immersion method an official part of the New Brunswick curriculum, although the decision to implement it still remains with each school district.

Described as "the alternate approach to learning the second official language," the immersion program, according to the policy statement, is one which involves the use of the second official language as the medium of instruction for all or any number of subjects other than for the teaching of the student's mother tongue.

Under the policy, school districts are given responsibility for planning and implementing an immersion program, for setting the policy on the admission and withdrawal of applicants, for selecting and supervising staff and for an ongoing evaluation of the program.

In addition, immersion classes are to be funded within the regular school budget.

A curriculum committee will be established before March 31 to adapt the program of studies to meet the particular needs of the immersion classes.

Restructuring Now Finalized

Dr. Jean Cadieux, president of l'Universite de Moncton, Marcel Sormany, president of College Saint-Louis-Maillet in Edmundston, and Sister Irene Leger, President of College Jesus-Marie in Shippegan announce that all the documents concerning the implementation of the new structures for l'Universite de Moncton have now been signed.

On December 17, 1975, the presidents of the three institutions were named to form an implementation committee, whose terms of reference were to organize the new operating procedures.

Thus, the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission has recommended to the provincial government that funds required for the property transfers, the maintenance and development of francophone higher education be allocated to l'Universite de Moncton.

Bill 50, which will make the proposed agreement official, should be proclaimed February 15, date suggested in the petition submitted to the government by the university's executive committee.

The implementation committee will convene the first meeting of the new board of governors within a few days after the official proclamation.

The new Board will consist of 24 members, six of whom will be from each of the three francophone regions of the province and six at-large. Elections will follow the three campuses to reorganize the academic senate.

The new executive committee of the board of governors will consist of the president, the associate president of each of the three campuses and three other board members selected from those who are not employees of the university.

New by-laws will have to be issued after the reorganization of the operating procedures and this can be done in the coming months. Meanwhile, the by-laws governing each campus will continue to be effective and the merger contract includes a clause honoring former appointments.

Unity Theme Of New Symbol

A new logo, or graphic symbol, and a new system of identification for New Brunswick Community College campuses, has been announced by the college's chairman, W. B. Thompson.

Henceforth the various establishments of the Community College will be designated as campuses. The trade schools at Edmundston, Grand Falls and Campbellton are now known as the Campus. d'Edmundston, Campus de Grant-Sault, and Campus de Campbellton.

The former Northeastern, New Brunswick and Saint John institutes of technology are now respectively the Bathurst, Moncton and Saint John campuses, and the former Carleton Community College and Lady Dunn Community College are now the Woodstock Campus and the St. Andrews Campus.

The new logo will be used equally by them all, and also by the college's extension operations in Caraquet, Chatham, St. Charles and Fredericton. These latter will not be designated as campuses, but simply by their place names, for example New Brunswick Community College-Caraquet.

In making the announcement, Mr. Thompson emphasized that the new standardization of campus names and the new logo are intended to show that there is a single, unified community college in the province.

"As we approach our third anniversary of service, having involved more than 50 thousand people in our programs, it is important that we be seen for what we are – a single organization with many varied activities in many locations across the province." Mr. Thompson stated. "We are, above all, a team, and we want to identified as such."

Mr. Thompson says that the new logo, a pair of white stylized hands on a red background, reflects the college's co-operative approach and sense of unity.

HOCKEY IS THE NAME OF THE GAME

Kirby Daley, RR No. 1, Bathurst, was the winner of two tickets for the Montreal - Boston hockey game scheduled for February 12 at Montreal Forum, plus $300 expense money in the Bathurst Old Timers Hockey Team lottery. Cst. Pierre LaPointe (centre), of the Bathurst City Police, made the draw at The Northern Light office January 27. Co-chairmen Dave Ratchford and Jeannot David assist with the drawing. The profits attained from the lottery will be used by the team to defray expenses while participating in the National Old Timers Hockey Tournament in Saint John February 18 to 21 inclusive. A total of 72 teams have registered for the tourney.

Forest Assn. Scores Government Policies

Two senior government officials "seem to be at odds" with each other over whether the province will become involved inthe awarding of logging contracts, the president of the New Brunswick Forest Products Association said Jan. 31.

S.A. Heckbert, general manager of woodlands for Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd., told the legislature's select committee on renewable resources that the association is concerned the government wants to control the actual harvesting of wood.

But he said the government's intentions are not clear because the views of deputy natural resources minister R.E. Hanusiak and New Brunswick Forest Authority general manager Bryan Walker seem to conflict.

While Mr. Hanusiak has assured the association the forest authority will not become involved in awarding the logging contracts, Mr. Heckbert said Mr. Walker has said the forest authority will identify all users of wood in the Bathurst area forest reserve and sign all contracts.

Mr. Heckbert said the forest authority, a Crown agency, should be restricted to wood allocation and reforestation, but never directly involved in logging operations or negotiating prices with contractors.

He headed a 15-man delegation from the association which voiced strong opposition to what they consider disruptive government involvement in the forest industry. The association represents about 40 sawmill and pulp and paper companies in New Brunswick.

Mr. Heckbert said the association is confused over the role of the forest authority, which manages 1.5 million acres of Crown land formerly leased to consolidated-Bathurst.

He also said it is the general opinion of the industry that the forest authority should be dissolved, and that the association will oppose any moves by the government to extend the forest reserve project to other areas of the provinces.

Sawmill and pulp companies recognize that some government intervention is necessary to regulate and with consultation with the industry."

Other association members said the Bathurst project has been poorly managed and indicative of what happens when government officials, possibly inexperienced in forest management, are allowed to make major decisions.

The association also said it has never seen a detailed breakdown of how $58 million in federal funds for the forest reserve were spent.

J.K. Irving, president of J.D. Irving Ltd. of Saint John, said he is "alarmed" by reports the government "will apply the same medicine in southern New Brunswick they did in Gloucester County".

Peter M. Belyea, vice-president of woodlands for Fraser Companies Ltd., Edmundston, said the government has "wasted three years" by concentrating its efforts on the pilot project area.

Deane Crabbe, owner of Crabbe Lumber Co. of Bristol, wondered why the government brought in a British Columbia firm to operate Brunswick Mills Ltd. when there is forest expertise in New Brunswick. "It's a poor mill...never have I seen so much spent on so little."

The government has just completed negotiations to buy Brunswick Mills from Clearlake Timber Ltd. of Prince B.C. for $4.75 million. Clearlake lost about $3 million since the mill was opened in 1975, attributing much of the blame to poor quality wood received from the forest reserve.

Mr. Irving, quoting figures that indicated Brunswick Mills lumber sold for about $20 less per 1,000 feet than Irving lumber, accused the government of working in competition with New Brunswick companies.

He said he recently asked Mr. Walker: "Why bail out someone form British Columbia? If you've got four and a half million dollars, I want first chance at it."

Mr. Irving said the forest authority should be "put out of business" and not allowed to "disrupt the industry". He questioned the money spent on the forest reserve and Brunswick Mills, saying "they spent me and a half-million dollars for a wood yard and an office. We (Irving) never had that kind of money to be spent like that." W.S. Butler, president of Dead River Ltd. of Fredericton, said he still does not know what is being studied in the pilot project, who is studying it and who is going to evaluate the results. The pilot project is in the third year of a five-year experiment.

Some committee members were equally critical. "There was a cheque book given out with an open account", said Adjuster Ferguson (L-Tracadie), adding that the money should have been used to assist existing companies.

Leland McGaw (PC-Charlotte West) said he was far from satisfied with the amount of wood left behind after harvesting. "It would have been better off to leave it there for shade trees than to pay to have it cut and leave it in the woods."

Pension supplement forms out

More than one million Guaranteed Income Supplement application forms were recently distributed by Health and Welfare Canada to Old Age Security pensioners across Canada.

These pensioners, who already receive the supplement, must complete the forms and return them before March 31 in order to ensure uninterrupted payments. Application for the supplement must be made every year.

More than half of the two million Old Age Security pensioners in Canada receive some additional payment each month through the Guaranteed Income Supplement program of the federal government.

The amount of supplement paid depends on a pensioner's income. In January 1977, the basic Old Age Security pension was raised to $141.34. A single pensioner, qualifying for the maximum supplement, would receive a total of $240.47. A married couple, both pensioners and receiving the maximum supplement, would be paid a total of $458.74 a month in pensions and supplements.

Inquiries about the Old Age Security pension or the Guaranteed Income Supplement may be made at regional offices located in the provincial capitals.

PORTAGE RIVER — The death of Mrs. Olivier Hachey occurred Jan. 21 at Hotel-Dieu in Tracadie at the age of 70.

She was the former Marie-Anne Leger, a daughter of the late Jacques and Archange (Holmes) Leger. She was predeceased by her husband.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Elie Brideau (Adelma) of Pont-la-France, a step-daughter, Agnes Hache of Chatham; two sons, Savier and Camille, both of Portage River; and a step-son, Auguste, also of Portage River.

The funeral was held at Notre Dame du Portage Church at Portage River on Sunday at 3 p.m.

Tracadie Gets New Chief

Tracadie Town Council has announced the appointment of Sgt. Hector LeBreton as chief of the town's police force.

Sgt. LeBreton took over his duties as police chief on Tuesday, February 1 following a period of about three months as acting chief. He had served in that capacity since the resignation of Chief Joseph Roussel early in November.

"I think Sgt. LeBreton is capable of doing a good job", said Deputy Mayor Gerard LaPlante, "and that is the feeling of the whole council."

Mr. LaPlante said Cst. Dennis McLaughlin, senior constable on the force, will be promoted to the rank of sergeant. Council also intends to add another constable to the department.

"All applications for constable are in", said the deputy mayor, "but no decision has been made as to who they will be. The method in which they will be chosen hasn't yet been decided, but it will probably be by special committee including the new chief, council members and others outside of council".

Mr. LaPlante said the additional officer, which will bring the department up to four full time members in addition to the chief and sergeant, will help provide better protection to the community.

"We're hoping for better protection and more equitable sharing of the workload among officers in the future", said Mr. LaPlante. "All of the present force has attended courses at the Holland College police academy and, after a few months on the force, we hope to send the new members to Holland also."

Sgt. LeBreton, 33 and a native of Tracadie, is married and has a two-year-old son. He served two years as constable and five as sergeant.

His immediate plans for the department include the introduction of a swing shift, reorganization of police offices and selection of new constables.

Live-ABILITY is making a life worthwhile

If there is any one ingredient to guarantee man's happiness, it would have to be a sense of achievement. To practice one's talents in an exchange of ideas with his fellow men on a daily basis. To be criticized, praised and rewarded. Herein lies a man's worth. You know it's important in your life. To the physically handicapped, it's just as important.

Every year, The Ability Fund Agencies provide thousands of handicapped persons with the ability to go out and work. Their efforts help provide the confidence the disabled need to sell themselves in person and on paper. But we can't do it alone. We need your help to make it happen. A small contribution from you could make a life worthwhile.

Over 200 Phone Numbers Change

One of the most difficult aspects of a large NBTel construction project in Petit Rocher was carried out during the past few weeks when over 200 telephone numbers in the "783" exchange were changed to allow for new switching equipment in the Petit Rocher central office.

The conversion, which should be complete by next autumn, will allow service to waiting customers and provide for growth in telephone demand in the area. Some subscribers now waiting for upgrades in their rural service will also be affected by the project.

The change in telephone numbers took place early in the project because the phone book for the area is only distributed once a year — in February. And with a project completion date of September, 1977, customers who had their numbers changed at the end of the project would not have their new numbers recorded for another five months.

Among the 234 numbers that were changed, 21 belong to businesses in the area. They are listed below with their addresses and new numbers:

Home Gets Full Accreditation

The Jordan Memorial Home, a residential nursing home outside Moncton administered by the Department of Social Services, has been awarded full accreditation status by the Canadian Council on Hospital Accreditation.

The institution is directed by a former Bathurst resident, J. Guy Hachey, son of Edgar T. Hachey.

It is only the third such long-term care facility in the province to be granted such status. The other are Mount St. Joseph in Chatham and the Roseamara Nursing Home in Saint John.

The designation, considered prestigious in hospital circles, signifies that the facility has reached and maintained a level of patient care and nursing home procedures compatible with the Council's rigid set of standards.

It follows upon a year of provisional accreditation for the nursing home, and two in-depth assessments of the facility's policies and procedures, philosophy, patient care, status of its medical records and staff qualifications.

In a letter announcing the Council's decision, its executive Director, Dr. A. L. Swanson, said in part: "... The improvements made since the last survey (Oct. 1975) are notable and everyone connected with this excellent facility is commended. The Council feels assured that the Jordan Memorial Home will continue to improve and render quality care to this special group of patients." The Jordan can accommodate 172 mentally and or physically handicapped residents.

Social Services Minister Len Hull said he is thoroughly delighted to learn of the Council's decision to grant full accreditation. "It is testimony to the extensive efforts made by the Department of Social Services to provide the Jordan's residents with the highest calibre of nursing care services and a full and satisfying activity program."

Mr. Hull had particularly high praise for J. Guy Hachey, the nursing home's administrator since August, 1974. "Mr. Hachey and his staff deserve much of the credit for the Council's decision. Their untiring efforts and concern for the Home and its residents have played a large part in reaching this goal."

All-Star Game Attracts Large Bathurst Crowd

There were at least two innovations for this year's 13th annual North-South All-Star Hockey Game held in the new Aitken Centre in Fredericton on Saturday, Jan. 29.

For the first time there was a pre-game dinner, and when the players skated onto the ice for the opening face-off at 7:00 o'clock, both teams were wearing all-star uniforms.

A pre-game dinner scheduled for 3 p.m. in the U.N.B. Memorial Student Centre was hosted by Social Services Minister Les Hull.

All proceeds from the game go to the province's mentally handicapped children as they have since the game was conceived in 1965.

Mrs. Ann-Marie Tingley of Campbellton, president of the N.B. Division of the Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded said, "Last year was the first time that our group really took an active organizational interest in the game. We felt that a get-together before the game would give us a chance to show appreciation to the players and officials who have donated their time. It also gives them an opportunity to see who they are helping out."

Added Mrs. Tingley, "we are certainly grateful to Mr. Hull and the provincial government for tendering the dinner."

Mr. Hull personally invited to the dinner players and officials from the competing teams, selected CAMR children from around the province as well as members of the provincial CAMH executive.

The minister said, "It is a pleasure for the provincial government to host this banquet and hopefully it will become an annual event. I think that it's a real tribute to our provincial intermediate hockey players and teams that they take time out from their schedules to play this game which is so beneficial to the CAMR people."

Moosehead breweries, who have helped with organization since the games began, again tendered a post-game buffet for the players and officials.

Despite unfavourable driving conditions on the weekend, a fairly large contingent of hockey fans from Bathurst were on hand for the contest. They included Mr. and Mrs. James MacLaggan and daughter Nancy, Ron Louden, Kevin Knowles, Tom Martin, Bobby Chamberlain, Dennie Chamberlain, Helen Jamieson, David LeBreux, Kirk Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Aubie, Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, Ghislain Tardiff, Mr. and Mrs. Elie Frenette, Gerard Couture, Jessie Legere, David Young, Danny Fournier, Beth Davidson, Roderick White, Joe Flynn, Susan Hachey, George Willett, Alma Fullerton, Don Sergeant, Mary Ann Sergeant, Allan Jamieson, Ralph Jamieson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Aubie, Danny Davidson, Bob Sullivan, Jocelyn Aubie, Mr. and Mrs. Aurele Daigle, Pam Arseneau, Sharon Veniot, Keith Bowes and many more.

Former Bathurst residents now living or attending school in Fredericton and also in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. Donnie McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hicks, Paul Lenihan, George Ansell, Jim Fagan, Danny Veniot, Jacques Poitier and Denise McKay.

The North Shore Hockey League had gone on record as saying that if an sponsor could be found to absorb the cost of the sweaters, it would contribute $250 from league fee money toward their purchase. In the past, the players wore team uniforms.

It was not necessary to honor this offer, however, since Mr. and Mrs. Huntly Fergusson of Bathurst picked up the $250 tab for sweaters and socks for the north team. Both are ardent promoters of hockey and the cause of mentally handicapped children. Mr. Fergusson, a former manager of the Bathurst Alpines, has also directed financial campaigns on behalf of the CAMR. Mrs. Fergusson is a former teacher of the mentally handicapped.

New Social Studies Program Explained

For several years teachers, principals and supervisors have been requesting a new elementary social studies program, one which is more relevant, challenging and interesting to their students.

In 1974 the Department of Education adopted such a program. The new program was introduced to year one to three teachers in September 1975 and to your four to six teachers in September 1976. Social Studies in that area in the elementary curriculum concerned with man's relationship to his physical and social environment and his interaction with other men and their ideas "people".

The Elementary Social Studies Sub-Committee recommended the persistent problems approach to social studies as developed by William Crowder of Purdue University. Crowder describes his approach as:

"In a real sense, this curriculum is concerned with a study of progress and achievement in human relations and human condition. It seeks ways to help young people take positive and continued action to improve the quality of their own lives and that of the people around them."

The seven problems or strands (Synonymous) in the persistent problems social studies curriculum chosen for study and investigation in the elementary school are:

1. The development of Self-Understanding and a Knowledge of Human Behavior.

Before students can begin to understand one another they must first understand themselves. Many people do not know how to interact with others or how to enjoy good interpersonal relations. To develop this understanding the teacher must have an understanding of child growth and development and apply this knowledge to pupils.

2. Using the Group Process to Develop Good Human Relations, Respect and Empathy.

Man is concerned through life with becoming a part of, adapting to, working with and living with the group. The "give and take" which students experience in group activities in preparation for participation in many of the efforts they will undertake as adults. Through group activities children can develop such skills as planning, sharing ideas, participation without fear of being rejected, evaluating others' ideas, disagreeing without being negative, giving mutual support to each other.

Strand III

Acquiring a Knowledge and an Appreciation of the Locality and Region.

Many young people grow to adulthood without becoming familiar with their own locality and its problems. They need an in-depth consideration of problems relating to governments, economics, history, etc. They need to discover what their community or region is like, how it developed, how it is unique and how it is similar to other communities or regions. Students should gain an understanding of the past in order to have pride in the present.

The main thrust of social studies in the past has been the "here and now" but as S. H. Stevens says, "Our local environment and history are the mirror in which are reflected every aspect of our history as a nation. Here are to be observed and what is more important - understood - the every process through which we build a nation out of the wilderness."

The persistent-problems approach considers the vital problems of the local community that will be challenging for young people to study as an aid to becoming better citizens, both now and in the future.

Strand IV

Restoring and Maintaining the Quality of the Total Environment of Man.

Whether or not it is too late to restore the quality of the environment depends to a large extent on the present generation. Will they become well enough informed to attack the problems seriously?

Strand V

Clarifying Values and Understanding the Process of Valuing.

Crowder defines "values" as the beliefs or ideals an individual holds to be good and true for himself and others in society. Valuating is the process of examining certain values to judge their worth and validity for individual conduct. Because of a child's experiences in his home, in school, in organizations to which he belongs or with his peer group, etc. he will choose his own values.

Strand VI

Understanding the Democratic Process.

Current research has shown that values and beliefs develop rapidly between the ages of 5 and 12, that most children learn about politics and government before they begin school and that although they learn much about government and politics during the high school years, it has little effect upon the attitudes and values formed in the earlier years.

Children will have a better understanding of the democratic process if it is practiced in the classroom and in the school. Another method is studying situations where democracy is in action.

Strand VII

Perspectives on International Relations or Learning About Our World.

Students discover that people in other countries have the same feelings of superiority, inferiority, jealousy, prejudice, etc. that they have. Studies of international problems should help students understand the similarities and differences among the problems different nations face. Six of the 7 problems involve the student in a study of his community and its problems, with most of which he has had contact (only the last problem deals with a problem outside his own experience).

In addition to the strands, the Social Sciences are another important aspect of the new program. The program is concerned with people. People live in specific places - which is geography. They live at a specific time - history. They earn a living and exchange goods - economics. They live in various groups, families, tribes, communities, sociology and anthropology. They organize themselves or are organized into political units of many kinds - which is the study of government or political science. All of these need to be included even at the elementary school level.

The Key Concepts are another thread in the spiral.

Key Concepts such as: Causality, Conflict, Cooperation, Cultural change, Differences, Interdependence, Modification, Power, Societal Control, Tradition, Values.

They relate to all the persistent problems as well as to the social sciences.

The new social studies program emphasis the inquiry or problem-solving approach, in which students are encouraged to discover relationships, meanings of concepts, and generalizations on their own with

POLITICAL SCENE

Clark Won't Be Talking Policy

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

If those public opinion polls continue to push Joe Clark toward the prime ministership, we'll never get any policies from the Opposition leader. Why risk alienating voters with policies when your popularity soars without them?

The latest polls show that a record percentage of Canadians feel Prime Minister Trudeau is not doing a satisfactory job. Even in Quebec, Mr. Trudeau's traditional stronghold, only 35 per cent of those interviewed said they approved of the way he is performing.

And the prime minister has been talking policies constantly.

Mr. Clark is not on the verge of falling into that trap. Amid all that assorted speculation that the Conservative leader would soon be forced to alter his basic policy of striking committees to deal with every conceivable and inconceivable situation, his new policy advisory council held its first meeting and gave him the reassurance he needed.

SIX-MONTH WAIT

The 21-member council, headed by Chairman Reva Gerstein of Avon fame, announced that it wouldn't be ready to talk policies for another six months. First it has to appoint task forces to take a look at such broad issues as federalism, economic development and Canadian heritage.

By waiting one year after his election to appoint this council, Mr. Clark is guaranteed a full 18 months of non-policy leadership. And if present trends continue in the public opinion polls, that should give him an unsurmountable lead over Mr. Trudeau. After that he can afford to mention an odd policy or two.

The only danger is that the prime minister, seeing the effectiveness of the non-policy approach, might get on the same bandwagon. Senator Keith Davey, the Liberals' national campaign chairman, is fairly quick to spot techniques like this, and he could insist that Mr. Trudeau refrain from mentioning any policies.

Nothing else has been effective in increasing the prime minister's popularity during the past year.

But it would have a dampening effect on Mr. Trudeau's weekly news conferences.

GREAT RELIEF

Meanwhile, Mr. Clark must have been greatly relieved to hear that his policy advisory council plans to establish these task forces which, we can assume, are just other committees under a different name. We can also assume that subcommittees will be put into action and, with any luck, Mr. Clark won't hear from them until well into 1978.

The way Mrs. Gerstein put it after the first council meeting was that "we hope by the end of June to have task force papers that we can think about and discuss."

There was no indication how long the thinking and discussion stages might go on, but it's significant that the council will eventually report directly to Mr. Clark, not his parliamentary caucus. Presumably, he can think about the recommendations as long as he wants before embracing, or scuttling, them.

Until then, Mr. Clark seems free to hit the shopping centre circuit, shaking hands and assuring voters that their views will be high in mind when policies are eventually formulated.

This is not only a more pleasant way to play politics, it also prevents the Liberals from stealing seemingly popular policies as they did with Robert Stanfield's wage and price controls.

Come to think of it, Mr. Trudeau would probably think twice before organizing another hunt like that. He's finding it decidedly difficult to get rid of stolen goods.

PBM'S 50/50 DRAW IN SUPPORT OF WORTHY CAUSE

The Pabineau, Big River, Mines Road, (PBM), Volunteer Fire Brigade's 50-50 draw was held in the basement of the Pabineau Falls Mission Church January 20. MLA for Nepisiguit-Chaleur, Frank Branch drew the winning ticket. Winner was Sandra Paul, R.R. No. 5, Bathurst, who received $200. The lottery is held in order to help pay for the construction of the fire hall, which is near completion, and fire fighting equipment. Mr. Branch stated that he would encourage people to support the PBM Volunteer Fire Brigade. "It is a wonderful thing to see people giving so generously of their time and effort to protect the innocent in time of disaster. I believe that the fire hall is near completion of the initial construction, and a fire tanker donated by Natural Resources will be at the fire station very shortly. With this progress for all to see, I hope that everybody will support this effort by purchasing tickets in these 50-50 draws so that present equipment and facilities can be paid for." From the left are: Ernie Lavigne, secretary; Sydney Smith; and Omer Duval, directors, Mr. Branch, Theodore Duval, treasurer, and Norman Paul, president. Missing from photo are: Lee Wood Jr., vice-president; Donald Branch, Stan Gray and Kevin McKendy, directors. Seller of the winning ticket was Lillian McShan who received $10.00.

History Of Rock And Roll Traced

By BEN WAXMAN

More than any other popular music of the 20th century, rock 'n' roll has transcended mere musical values to become a potent influence on the life and lifestyles of our time.

Each contemporary phenomenon is longer lived as years roll on, and even the segregation of teenagers as a distinct group, to take two examples, is unimaginable by rock music and musicians.

At the same time the sound has become so all-pervasive that it is virtually the only popular music of today, and other performers from countries to Japanese have been forced to define themselves in terms of that giant rock masterpiece.

That's what makes the striking three-illustrated history of Rock 'n' Roll, edited by Jim Miller (Random House of Canada, 302 pages, $11.50) doubly valuable. For it deals both with the music itself and the sociological considerations that helped form and spread the sound.

Not that it's a dull academic treatise either, but a lively volume that can serve both as an informed history for the most committed rock fanatic, and as an intelligent introduction for the heretic adult who thinks of rock music as no more than three guitars, a drum set and ever-quavering noise.

HEARTS OF ROCK

A profusely illustrated, soft-cover volume about half the size of this newspaper page, the book offers essays by some of the most perceptive rock musicians.

Writing about trends and the music's superstars from scorning Elvis Presley to fey David Bowie, they offer insight into rock from its roots in the parallel tradition of rural country-and-western music and frantic rhythm-and-blues to rock overwrought present-day manifestations in heavy metal and art rock.

If your interest in popular music ranged with Glen Miller or Patti Page, you'll probably be fascinated to see how such 1930s stylists as the Ink Spots and saxophonist Louis Jordan helped prepare the public for rock.

You'll note how rock has been available enough to accept nearly every outside influence from jazz to Tin Pan Alley songs, while constantly returning true to its roots with movements such as the blues revival of the mid-1960s.

If you're a younger fan, you'll probably be gratified by the intelligent appraisal of artists and styles offered by experts who aren't afraid to praise lesser known talents, and cut down to size those with an inflated and bloated reputation.

The over-view of the entire field pin-points the different breakthroughs over the years, and proves that the music wasn't just created by the newest superstars.

CANADIAN BIBLE

When it comes to Canada, though, this book, like most things Americans, gives short shrift both to this country and its Canadian performers. Although a good percentage of rock music has been created by Canadians, they all get lumped in with Americans or ignored completely. Canada's most successful rock band, now-defunct Guess Who, is never mentioned, while its successors as hit-makers, Bachman-Turner Overdrive, is discussed with one paragraph and a photo. Gordon Lightfoot (who doesn't rate a picture), Joni Mitchell, Leonard Cohen and Neil Young are dealt with in a chapter on singer-songwriters, though nowhere does the author mention their Canadian background, or how that may have had some bearing on their songs.

Only members of The Band, recently disbanded, are identified as Canadian-born, but hence the author of the piece uses this as an excuse to slam Canada for its "backwardness," which at least, he concedes, allowed the group to develop its unique sound.

This is the major drawback in a volume that, after all deals with essentially American music and entertainment event when performed by British rock bands.

In the final analysis, an encyclopedia book on music should be judged of success if it sends you scurrying to your stereo, and records to listen to the sound described on the printed page. And this illustrated history will do that frequently.

An Advantage To Handicapped

Permanently disabled residents of New Brunswick now benefit from an agreement reached between the National Bus Traffic Association and the Canadian Rehabilitation Council for the Disabled.

As of January 20, 1977, a permanently disabled person who must be accompanied by an attendant will pay only a single fare for the two persons on any Canadian carrier named in the agreement. The agreement covers most major carriers including SMT Limited in New Brunswick. Municipal bus companies are not involved. Inter-Provincial travel is covered, but not travel within the U.S.A. Children's fares are not affected.

Persons believing themselves or knowing someone who may be eligible should write for a "Certificate of Eligibility" which they must fill out and return to the Canadian Rehabilitation Council for the Disabled, P. O. Box 33,000, Postal station, K2H 9G1.

Upon receipt of the Certificate by the Council, eligible persons will receive an official "Disabled Person's Identification Card" good for all participating bus lines.

The Canada Rehabilitation Council for the Disabled, N.B. Branch is funded in part by gifts to "The Ability Fund."

Kids Tell Kids To "Play Safe"

"O.K., go out and play - but be careful. Be careful!"

A mother's worried call. A teacher's continuing warning.

An adult to a child - and how much does a child really hear, when it's said over and over again? By an adult.

But when one kid says it to another kid, perhaps it's different. It's the wisdom of your peers, not of your elders, that makes an impression.

That is the idea behind "Play Safe", a new thirty-minute film on child safety in which the message comes from children who have been badly hurt and want to tell other children about it.

Like seven-year-old Chris Peterson of Moosomin, Saskatchewan, who lost an arm and shoulder in the blower blades of a forage harvester driven by his father.

Like Susan Nicholson, 9, who lost her leg in a grain auger on her parents farm near Wesley, Ontario.

Or Norman Parker of Carleton, Ontario, who was run over by a power lawn mower and lost his left arm.

Or Dale Vincent of Galt-Cambridge, Ontario, now 13, who lost both his right arm and right leg, under the wheels of a freight train when he was seven.

Or little Tammy Nickerson of Bolton, who chased a cat into the road and was hit by a truck, where she was only three. She lost a leg and part of a hip.

All these Canadian young-sters have three things in common: they are amputees; they have been taken under the wing of the CHAMP program of the War Amputations of Canada, and almost all of them star in "Play Safe", which is scheduled for screening in classrooms and theatres across the country in 1977.

Commissioned by the War Amps' national headquarters in Ottawa, "Play Safe" will be distributed to the general public as a voluntary project by the National Film Board. Booklets and other educational material will supplement it in the schools.

The appealing aspect of "Play Safe" is that it features in a spontaneous unscripted way, the child amputees themselves, using their artificial limbs and telling other children exactly how their tragic accidents happened.

This subtle and, they hope, effective, prevention route, is the latest step in the War Amps of Canada's continuing efforts to offer emotional, psychological and financial aid to civilian amputees.

There are now 29 youngsters under 21 in the War Amps CHAMP program. Another 12 to 15 will be added in 1977 "if the budget permits", says War Amps national secretary, Cliff Chatterton, in Ottawa. The children are reported to, or discovered by, the association's 19 provincial branches and the commitment to each is long-term.

Immediately after the accident the child is assigned a "counsellor", a war amputee, who will concern himself with the child's well-being for years to come. The War Amps will buy the prosthesis (artificial limb) if necessary, calling on their research resources for the best and most advanced design for each particular case. They will also aid in the child's education, up to and including university level. The only guideline is that they will provide "any reasonable form of assistance which is not available through government or other private sources."

The prime source of funds for the Child Amputee Program - and all other War Amps programs - is the annual Key Tag Service, now in its 31st year. Donations from households, who receive the confidentially numbered key tags early each year, enable the association to continue with its work of prevention and help.

Universities Seek More Government Aid

Maritime Universities need an average increase of 12.5 per cent in the 1977 - 78 operating grant from provincial governments, to meet unavoidable salary and inflation increases. This was the message in a letter delivered to the three Maritime premiers January 24 by the Association of Atlantic Universities.

The AAU stresses that this is the minimum need, and that even a grant increase of 12.5 per cent will mean falling further below the national average support for universities. But the AAU recognizes the difficult financial situation of governments in the region and has not included funds for catch-up, or improvements in the quality of education.

Professor Ronald Baker, U.P.E.I. president and AAU chairman, said this is the first time that the AAU has appealed as a group to the Maritime premiers.

"We had no choice," he explained. "We have to pay our faculty and support staff a fair wage within the AIB guidelines; we're very hard hit by increases in fuel, power, books, paper and supplies such as chemicals, all increasing at rates much higher than 20 per cent, and our student fees are already the highest in the country."

Most universities have no income except government grants and student fees. The government grant, as a percentage of operating budget, varies from university to university but is very roughly 80 per cent for the Maritimes as a group.

"So even an increase of 12.5 per cent in the government part of our income doesn't mean we have 12.5 per cent more to spend," Professor Baker added. "That has to be spread across the whole budget and it really means an increase of only about 10 per cent."

The AAU approved the statement during a recent meeting at Dalhousie University. Much of the agenda dealt with ways to make further savings in budgets that have been squeezed steadily since the start of the seventies.

The association approved a study of the possibilities of joint purchasing, to be carried out by Larry Smethurst, of the Council of Maritime Premiers. It heard a progress report from Ms. Mary Mawer, on phase three of a study to refine university accounting procedures, and a report from Ms. Anna Dubiy on the progress of the experiment in shared computer cataloguing by the region's libraries.

The AAU is a voluntary association of 26 universities and colleges which works on co-operative projects in the region.

SAVE ENERGY

A refrigerator should be installed away from direct warm spots. Allow enough room along side and back for free air circulation. A built-in refrigerator may limit proper air circulation thus placing a burden on the cooling system since heat cannot be dissipated.

Heaven's Very Special Child

A meeting was held quite far from earth;
It's time again for another birth.
Said the angles to the Lord above:
This special child will need much love.
Accomplishments he may not show —
And he'll require extra care
From the folks he meets down there.
He may not run, or laugh, or play.
His thoughts may seem quite far away.
In many ways, he won't adapt
And he'll be known as handicapped.
So let's be careful where he's sent.
We want his life to be content.
Please, Lord, find parents who
Will do a special job for you.
They will not realize right away
The leading role they've asked to play.
But with this child sent from above
Comes stronger faith and richer love.
And soon, they'll know the privilege given
In caring for this gift from heaven.
Their precious charge so meek and mild
Is heaven's very special child.

Duplicate Bridge Results

Mrs. Helen Ferguson and Mrs. Douglas Shirley placed first in a combined membership game with the Newcastle club Jan. 24 at the Bathurst Duplicate Bridge club session in the regular meeting room – the J. Gordon Chalmers School library.

Joan McKeigan and Carol Singer of Newcastle wound up in runner-up position and E. Woods and Mrs. D. Mitchell of the visiting group were third. Fourth position went to Mrs. Pat Maher and Mrs. Alice Doucet of Bathurst.

Above average were Robert Baker and Ray Poirier; Mrs. A. Hobbs and Mrs. Y. Kenny; and M. O'Brien and P. Arseneault (Newcastle).

At the Jan. 21 local weekly session, Mrs. D. Shirley and R. Poirier were tied for top spot with R. Baker and Wayne Hickey. Mrs. A. Ferguson and Mrs. P. Wedge placed third while above average scorers were Mr. and Mrs. P. Chiasson, and Mrs. W. H. Hocking and Mrs. J. C. Stairs.

Duplicate bridge clubs in Canada and the United States hold periodical bridge game for charity purposes, the proceeds of which are put into one specific fund so as to make a very worthwhile contribution towards a particular research decided upon by the bridge club board of directors.

In late December, a presentation was made to the Arthritis Foundation, with $35,000 being given to help find a cure for this human affliction. As well, $30,000 was for arthritis research in Canada.

The Bathurst club expects to hold a charity game within a few weeks.

Funds are given to the field of research in cancer, heart, etc., in turn. Doing it in this manner makes for larger donations which can be used more effectively.

The club is hoping for support when it holds this annual charity-wide event.

Donation For Music Festival

A $50 donation was given to the Bathurst Music Festival. Judy Lanoie who organized the sleigh ride reported the event was well-participated in and a thorough success. Members and husbands afterwards took part in an interesting lunch box auction and relaxed by the box-fire.

Edna Roussel and Donna Cormier discussed public relations and the press. Mrs. A. Jamieson from The Northern Light was the guest speaker. Members gathered many important and informative points about the press, how it operates and the history of The Northern Light.

Mrs. Roussel presented a film strip which explained in detail how to read a newspaper intelligently.

Mrs. Cormier spoke on the "who, what, where, when and why" aspect of advertising, the effects it has on people today, making luncheon a necessity, but at the same time spreading the knowledge of higher standards of living.

Quoting the late Sir Winston Churchill, Mrs. Cormier noted that advertising sets before a person, the goal of a better home, better clothing, better food for himself and his family, and spurring individual exertion and greater production.

Luncheon was served by Judy Lanoie, Kimapri Studdaram and the hostess.

Honored On Retirement

A surprise party was held for Burton Comeau Feb. 1st at his home in Clifton where approximately 40 co-workers and friends, accompanied by their respective wives gathered.

The co-workers were from Consolidated-Bathurst Limited where Mr. Comeau was employed in the woodroom department, and the reason for the gathering was his retirement Jan. 31 after 25 years of service with the company.

A ring and other gifts including money were presented to Mr. Comeau on behalf of those present.

The evening function included a social hour of music and sing-song after which the ladies served lunch.

Minutes, read by the secretary, Mrs. Wayne Miller were approved as corrected.

It was noted a dart tournament for the North Shore is scheduled for Feb. 6 at the local Legion and on March 30, the auxiliary will cater to a hot turkey dinner for the C.N.I.B.

The treasurer's report submitted by Mrs. Robert Knowles, and seconded by Mrs. F. Daley was accepted. On motion of Mrs. P. McLaughlin, seconded by Mrs. Aurele Vienneau, it was decided that all outstanding bills be paid.

Mrs. Fenton Daley reported on the provincial auxiliary convention to be held in Bathurst in June.

It was decided a name plate be ordered for immediate past president Mrs. Mildred Taylor, which will be placed on the past presidents' plaque.

Mrs. MacKay reminded members that resolutions should be prepared as soon as possible for presentation at the convention, and said delegates for this event will be chosen at the next monthly meeting.

A highlight of the meeting was the presentation of 50th anniversary Legion service medals to three past presidents: Mrs. Irene Van der Pluijm, Mrs. Alma Aube and Mrs. Anna Wesenberg, who were absent at the previous presentation in November.

The meeting adjourned, on motion of Mrs. M. Watson, after which the colors were retired and God Save the Queen was sung. Mrs. Fenton Daley was pianist for the evening.

Annual District Seminars Held Throughout The Province

Mrs. Vivienne Bishop, Riviere de Chute, seminar chairman, has announced the annual district seminars were held by Auxiliary Command to the Royal Canadian Legion of New Brunswick with a total membership attendance of 522.

Two new auxiliaries were formed in 1976, making a total of 79 auxiliaries in the province and, of these, 65 were represented at the seminars.

At the annual convention, it was announced there is now a total of 6,000 auxiliary members in New Brunswick. The two new auxiliaries, Big Cove and Tobique Reserve No. 96, received their charters in September, 1976.

The by-laws are gone over and explained, also uniform and color drill for the benefit of new members attending a seminar. Sometimes "mock" meetings are held to assist the new presidents in conducting a meeting correctly. Auxiliaries are also told where to obtain the various forms and how to complete them.

It is especially important for new secretaries to attend these seminars as a great deal of the work they have to do is reviewed.

ELECTS YEARLY

Each year, four new councillors are elected at these seminars, so that at all times there are four new councillors, and four councillors with one year's experience.

Councillors serve two years, which means the one-year councillors have the experience to help the new ones.

District seminars were held as follows:

Capital District: chairperson, Mrs. Ralph Pyne, past president; secretary, Mrs. Mary Reynolds, councillor, Miss Kay Fortune of N.B. Command, Royal Canadian Legion, was a guest.

North Shore: Chairperson, Mrs. Nathan Higgins, past president, assisted by Mrs. Mary Kingston, councillor; Secretary, Mrs. Irene Sansom, secretary of Campbellton Auxiliary No. 19.

Royal: Chairman, Mrs. Murray Henderson, immediate past president; secretary, in the absence of the councillor Mrs. Ida Blythe was Mrs. Anne Holder 3rd vice-president who also explained color drill and uniform.

St. Croix: Chairperson, Mrs. Nathan Higgins, past president, assisted by Mrs. Kathleen McLeod, councillor; secretary, Mrs. Helen Rubin, a past officer of Auxiliary Command.

Saint John: Chairperson, Mrs. Anne Holder, supervised by Mrs. J. Lockart. Opening and closing ceremonies by Mrs. Betty McDougall, councillor; secretary, Mrs. H. Rubin.

Upper Valley: Chairperson, Mrs. Archie Bishop, 2nd vice-president, supervised by Mrs. J. Lockhart who also gave instruction. Secretary, Mrs. Harry Garvie, councillor.

Westmorland-Albert: Chairperson, Mrs. M. Henderson, immediate past president, assisted by Mrs. R. Wilmot, secretary, Mrs. Margaret Agnew, provincial Auxiliary Command secretary. Miss Kay Fortune of N.B. Command of the Royal Canadian Legion was a guest.

Mrs. Wanda Jonah was elected as the new councillor and was installed at this latter seminar, in order to enable her to take over the vacancy left in June when Mrs. Agnew was appointed provincial secretary by the new president Mrs. J. Lockart.

Four new councillors were elected in the following districts: Mrs. Connie Arnold of Marysville Auxiliary No. 15 for Capital; Mrs. June Lamy of Millbrook Auxiliary No. 48 for St. Croix; Mrs. Arthur McKinley of Edmundston Auxiliary No. 25 for Upper Valley; and Mrs. Wanda Jonah of Hillsborough Auxiliary No. 22 for Westmorland-Albert.

These ladies will be going to the 50th annual convention, Auxiliary Command's Golden Anniversary at Bathurst in June 1977, to be installed.

Other guests included Mrs. Jessica Ryan, the new Pubineau District Commissioner and parents. Mrs. Anna Garrett is the company's first lieutenant. An entertaining program was presented before closing, after which the Guides served a lunch which they had made and prepared.

HOT DOG

Have you ever stopped to think about "What's really in a hot dog."

Our most popular sausage, the frankfurter, weiners or hot dog, as it is commonly known, is a wholesome, nutritious protein food with a definite place in the food budget of all families. Moreover the hot dog may well be the ultimate convenience food, easy to prepare and versatile.

Hot dogs manufacturer's utilize meat by-products, of shape or form, which normally cannot be sold as retail cuts, or have moderate popularity, and thus a limited demand. Such meat and meat by-products are neither inferior or less nutritious than retail cuts. In fact, many of these meat by-products are good sources of vitamins, minerals and protein.

Standards for sausage products are set down in the Food and Drug Act outlining what is permitted in the production in the way of meat, spices, binders and specifies maximum levels for moisture and filler.

The term "filler" or "binder" may have a derogatory connotation to some people. However, the "filler" has numerous beneficial functions. The filler may contain salt, nitrite, sweeteners, sugar, spices and seasonings, milk powder and or grain flour - all entirely edible ingredients.

Salt provides flavour and retards bacteria growth in hot dogs. Sweeteners harmonize the flavours and spices of the hot dog. Seasonings provide flavour. Milk powder and cereal flour improve cooking quality flavour and product stability. These ingredients also reduce product cost - an important factor, considering today's spiraling food costs. Nitrite is a very important ingredient in the manufacture of hot dogs. It promotes the pink, "cured meat colour", and the characteristic cured flavour. But most important it inhibits bacteria growth.

You needn't be alarmed at the term bacteria growth. Hot dogs and precooked and smoked. During the cooking the internal temperature is sufficient to kill most organisms. The weiner, frankfurter or hot dog as it is most commonly known is indeed wholesome and so easy to prepare.

Parents and representatives of the sponsoring groups were present. The program concluded with a camp-fire after which lunch was served by Guides who were working towards their hostess badge. ANN LANDERS

Says Not His Fault He's Crashing Bore

BY: ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I add something to your superficial answer concerning the gentleman who droned on and on in conversation – "boring everyone to death"?

This is a symptom of a problem known as "verbal expression disability." The victim of this condition has an extremely difficult time organizing his thoughts. He tries to compensate for his weakness by speaking slowly and deliberately – pausing frequently in an attempt to pull his ideas together and hold his audience.

I hope the next time a person complains about a "non-stop talker" who connects one sentence with another by saying "and – uh –" you will not call him a "crashing bore."

Enlightened educators are now making an effort to help children with learning disabilities which later may develop into verbal expression disabilities. I'm disappointed that you were not more compassionate. – An Educational Therapist

DEAR ED: I may be inadequate in some areas but lacking in compassion I am not. Sorry, dear, but there are more crashing bores around than people with "verbal expression disabilities."

DEAR ANN: A wife asked what you thought about a cute, young secretary who said to her boss (jokingly, of course), "If you lose 30 pounds I'll have an affair with you."

Your reply was, "At the heart of every remark made in jest is a kernel of truth."

How right you were! I am caught in a similar situation – in reverse. My overweight boss asked, with a devilish grin, if I would give him a kiss for every ten pounds he lost. He really needed to lose weight (doctor's orders) so I agreed, thinking maybe I'd help add a few years to his life. He bought a scale and kept it under his desk.

Within five days, "Big Daddy" lost ten pounds and I paid off. Soon after, he lost another ten. The second kiss was more passionate than the first. The third was even more so. Before long we were kissing without any weight loss and ended up locking the office door. To make a long story short, I am now involved in a full-scale affair.

I'm not asking for advice because I believe everyone has to solve his or her own problems. But I had to write to say you're an awfully smart lady. That shoe certainly fits ME and it's – Pinching Like The Devil

DEAR PINCHING: Usually when the shoe fits – it's out of style. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In reply to a question asked by a reader who had some doubts about the man she was seeing, you advised her, "Give him a nice Methodist handshake and send him on his way."

I'm a Methodist clergyman who has never heard of a "Methodist handshake." How does it differ from other handshakes? – C.W.C., Jr., Hobart, N.Y.

DEAR C.W.C., JR.: A Methodist handshake is firm and sincere (a trait of Methodists) with an added air of finality. I first heard the expression when I attended a Methodist college, Morningside, in Sioux City, Iowa. I tried to trace the origin of the term back in 1926, but was unsuccessful.

Is alcoholism running your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism – Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 30 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Donations, Projects Discussed By Chapter

The first meeting of the new year for Kappa Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Pat Mongeau.

Christmas greetings cards were received from Dawn Shillington and Bev Pruneau. A thank-you note was received from the chapter's sponsor, Mrs. Leger, for a basket of fruit sent to her husband, Dr. E. J. Leger while he was in hospital, also a thank-you letter from J. R. Miller for a donation to the Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded.

Diane Knowles will present the $100 donation to the Multiple Sclerosis Society Bathurst at their next meeting.

Tickets for the Valentine Ball to be held at Blaney's Feb. 12 now are on sale. Plans for decorations for the hall were discussed and many good suggestions were brought up. These will be put together at a workshop scheduled for a later date.

The surprise box was won by Aurore Despres.

The cultural programs for the evening presented by Joan Nelson was on religion.

"Some of us might think of religion as something to which a minority of the people in the world might belong," said Mrs. Despres. "We think of religion as groups of people believing in Roman Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths. It is more complicated than that."

In general, religion is a group undertaking, although every person tries to follow his own religious belief in his personal life. It is possible for a person to develop his own private religion, but it would be difficult, the speaker said.

Most religions are organized systems of beliefs based on traditions and teachings. Religion has been one of the most powerful forces in history. Millions of people have died for their religious beliefs, and many nations have gone to war to spread or defend their faiths.

Mrs. Nelson mentioned the different types of religions in the Bathurst area, as well as others found throughout the world.

After the program, a lunch was served by the hostess Mrs. Mongeau and Mrs. Nelson.

The Major Retailers Rediscover "Downtown"

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs
Analyst Thomson News Service

An unprecedented expansion drive among Canadian department stores over the past five years could well be entering its decisive phase.

More than 100 new branches of department stores have opened their doors all across Canada since 1972. Consumers have been caught in the middle of a tug-of-war between suburbs and city centre, between bare-bones outlets and full-service stores, between independents and chains.

A major milestone in that expansion drive is the giant new flagship Eaton's store, opening Feb. 10. With 650,000 square feet of selling areas, the new store takes up almost half of the $250 million Toronto Eaton Centre, a huge shopping complex in the heart of the city.

Clearly, Canada's oldest and largest retailer has placed its faith— and money—on the strength of downtown and on the appeal of a full range of services.

If it proves to be right, it could change a good deal of the conventional wisdom that applies to Canadian retailing.

BACK TO THE CITY

From the Great Depression of the early 1930's no major downtown department store had been built in Canada until the 500,000 square foot pacific Centre was opened in Vancouver in 1972.

(The last previous such opening was Eaton's College Street in Toronto, one mile north of the main store at Queen and Yonge Streets, in 1930. Eaton's gambled that the mercantile centre of downtown Toronto would move north. It was mistaken, and the College Street store—devoted primarily to furniture—will close, along with the Queen Street store, on Feb. 5.)

In the intervening 40 years, virtually all the growth in Canadian retailing took place in suburban areas.

The trend toward one-stop shopping—with its lure of convenience, ample parking, protection from inclement weather, and no doorways—was strongly suported not only by Eaton's but by the other department-store chains that had previously been downtown landmarks in many Canadian cities, such as Simpsons Ltd., Woodward Stores Ltd. and Hudson's Bay Co.

That trend drew in several new entrants, chains that emphasized discounts and offered fewer services or even none at all.

MORE COMPETITION

It's paradoxical that the discounting movement flourished during the 1960's a time of unprecedented growth in the Canadian economy and in Canadians' family incomes.

But even then there was only so much disposable income, and it proved to be too little to go around among all the old and new competitors. With their low profit margins, the discount chains inevitably suffered some casualties.

(Another problem: Discount stores attract more than their share of shoplifters. Thefts are estimated at three to six per cent of sales.)

Just as inevitably, the growth process brought about the take-over of some smaller participants by the big chains.

In Ottawa, for instance, Hudson's Bay Co. acquired the A.J. Freiman Ltd. chain, while Simpsons Ltd. took over Murphy Gamble Ltd.

The long-established chains remain fully committed to suburban shopping centres, some of which have three or four big-name department stores—not just the minimum two.

At the same time, however, there seems to have developed a new appreciation of the old potential for profit in prime downtown locations.

John Craig Eaton, chairman of Eaton's of Canada, says that his company had been planning a redevelopment of its downtown Toronto operations since at least 1958. The Toronto Eaton Centre project began in earnest in 1970.

TABLES TURNED

The other day, he recalled that his late father (and predecessor as chairman) "felt that the Eaton's store in Toronto had helped pay for the rest of the expansion of the company in Canada, and it was time for the rest of the company in Canada to rebuild downtown Toronto."

Speaking for himself, the younger Mr. Eaton said the newest Eaton's would be not only the flagship for the 68 Eaton's outlets in every province of Canada, but "probably a model for all department stores to be built in North American in the next 20 years."

Along with the architectural studies that have produced a distinctive, many faceted building, Eaton's commissioned intensive research into customer preferences.

The result, to be visible after the new store goes into operation Feb. 10, will be a strong demarcation of customer-interest areas.

These are described by R.G. Butler, chairman of the operating subsidiary, T. Eaton Co., as seven "worlds" – men's fashions, women's fashions, youth, home furnishings, home entertainment, food, accessories.

SPECIAL INTERESTS

And Eaton's will be directing its merchandising efforts at six basic categories of customers:

–People who travel either into or out of Toronto. There will be a quick-service travel agency, foreign-exchange facilities, out-of-town newspapers and so on.

–Families. "The husband can come with the family, then get a haircut or a pair of sneakers while the rest of the family shops," says Mr. Butler.

–Business people working in downtown Toronto.

–People under 25 years of age. They will have an entire floor of their own, with provision for live entertainment on special occasions.

–The housewife who comes downtown for the day to shop (rather than to buy). There will be six eating places for shoppers.

–The "mature market," people over 45.

Eaton's new store dominates Toronto Eaton Centre, which it will share with 60 other (and smaller) stores.

All will probably follow Eaton's example, and adopt store hours that are common for suburban shopping but unprecedented downtown – from 10 a.m. daily, closing at nine p.m. Monday to Friday and six p.m. on Saturday.

SOCIAL

the teacher acting as a guide. In this approach the student learns how to learn, how to pose a problem, formulate a hypothesis, gather data, arrive at a tentative conclusion and test his findings. Teachers realize what their students learn is not nearly so important as how they learn it. Teaching is proving, discovery, thinking, analyzing, inquiring and searching, and certainly learning is all of those things.

These three - the persistent problems or strands, the social sciences and the key concepts are the common threads visible and present through the grades and everything done in the area of social studies should relate to these threads and everything should help children move toward accomplishing the major objectives and the intended learning outcomes.

Eaton's, a private company, doesn't disclose its financial results. G.R. Purchase, a senior vice-president, says 1976 sales exceeded $1 billion.

Car License Sales Slow

New Brunswick automobile owners should give a thought to buying their 1977 motor vehicle registrations early.

Latest figures from the motor vehicle branch of the department of Provincial Secretary show that only 13,000 licenses have been purchased since they went on sale last November.

The province has an estimated 225,000 passenger vehicles that require a license.

According to department officials, unless sales soon pick up, automobile owners can expect to find long lines at motor vehicle offices as the March 31 deadline draws near.

You just can't acquire people's confidence by knocking.

Insincerity is the worst evil anyone has to contend with.

Old Age Pension Amendment Tabled

Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde Jan. 31 tabled in the house of commons major improvements in the Old Age Security program.

The Bill to amend the Old Age Security Act revises the residence requirements for Old Age Security and provides for the payment of pro-rated old age pensions. In addition, the amending Bill contains a provision to include the OAS program in international social security agreements.

The proposals are designed to introduce greater equity in the treatment of beneficiaries within the OAS program. The amendments will markedly improve the consistency of treatment of beneficiaries between OAS and other social security programs, particularly the Canada Pension Plan. In addition, the provisions, as they relate to international social security agreements, will enhance the Government's ability to protect the acquired social security credits of those of its residents who migrate across international boundaries.

Under the present Act, the OAS pension is payable either in full or not at all. Furthermore, the residence requirements attach more weight to some periods of residence in Canada than to others. The combination of these rules means that persons who have had little association with Canada are treated in the same as those who have spent all or most of their lives here.

Under the proposed formula the OAS pension would be "earned" at the rate of 1/40th of the maximum pension for each year of residence in Canada, after age 18, up to a maximum of 40 years. The effect of this amendment is to relate more directly the amount of the AOS benefit received to a person's association with and participation in Canadian society.

A minimum of 10 yeRrs residence would be required to obtain a pension in Canada. Payment of the pension abroad would require 20 years of Canadian residence.

The new provisions will be implemented gradually over a 40-year period to ensure that everyone in Canada, and persons abroad with prior residence in Canada, will have the opportunity to earn a maximum OAS pension. The new residence rules will apply immediately to everyone under age 25 and to persons outside Canada without prior residence here. However, persons over 25 years of age with prior residence in Canada will be able to obtain benefits under either the new or the existing rules whichever is more favourable.

Current recipients of AOS and the Guaranteed Income Supplement will continue to receive the full amount to which they are entitled under present legislation.

The amendments will also enable the Government of Canada to include OAS in the negotiation of international social security agreements. International agreements are often the only means by which people can retain their accrued social security credits in moving from one country to another.

Basic Training For Your Dog

By Marguerite Merrison

Any sort of training should begin about the eighth month. When you leave your dog alone in the house, listen to see if he howls or cries. Go back inside and firmly tell him "Quiet". He'll soon learn you have a right to leave him alone.

Never allow a dog up on furniture unless it is a chair you want him on. Use a rolled newspaper to get the message across, but never hit the dog hard. Do not use your hand, as he should associate your hand with kindness and praise. Dogs are very sensitive and remember cruel acts.

One way to help a dog to learn obedience is to announce meals and happy time by using the dog's name, and the command, "Come."

And never forget your dog is part of your family. Speak to him at all times and make him feel wanted.

Action at the Animal Shelter: Six kittens, two cats, two watchdogs and four puppies all found new homes. A special thanks to Rene Beaudet of the Carpet Ranch for donating new curtains for the office.

Pet owners, be sure to keep your pet tied in your own yard.

Signing Follows Lengthy Dispute

From the Ottawa Bureau
Of The Northern Light

The memorandum of agreement signed by the prime minister and Maritime Premiers Feb. 1 caps almost 12 years of controversy and dispute.

It began in 1965 when the federal government attempted to gain control of West Coast offshore resources by referring the question to the Supreme Court after Ottawa and the provinces failed to agree on the question.

A federal-provincial conference was staged in July that year and the provinces were willing to negotiate. The federal government, however, refused to negotiate until legal rights had first been established.

If the rights to offshore resources were found to lie with the central government, the late Prime Minister Lester Pearson argued, "Equitable arrangements may then be negotiated."

The Supreme Court's advisory opinion finally came Nov. 7, 1967, when it ruled unanimously in favor of the "Crown in the right of Canada." The ruling affected resources of all submerged lands lying seaward of the "ordinary low water mark" and beyond inland waters such as harbours, bays and estuaries.

That was followed a year later by an offer by Prime Minister Trudeau giving the provinces half the revenues located seaward of administration lines. The federal government would have maintained control over the resources outside the lines.

Discussions continued intermittently and in August, 1972, East Coast premiers agreed that questions of jurisdiction and ownership should be set aside in favor of agreement on administration and revenue sharing.

Newfoundland and Quebec subsequently withdrew from the bargaining, leaving New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia which resumed talks with Ottawa in early 1976.

Queen, King Hustler To Reign Over Five-Day BHS Winter Carnival

ANN MARIER | BEV MATTHEWS | HEIDI ALCOTT | ANNE MARIE DEVEREAUX | PEGGY McLEAN | WENDY WELLS | ELLEN SCOTT | WENDY GIONET

Bathurst High School's annual winter carnival gets underway next Wednesday, Feb. 23, and students will be treated to a number of activities ranging from a King Hustler and Queen pageant to chess tournaments and a Dannyburger Day.

The carnival kicks off at noon hour Feb. 23 with a tug-o-war, swimming races and chess competition. These three activities will continue Thursday and Friday at the same time, with tug-o-war finals set for Saturday afternoon.

During the day on Wednesday, students will gather in the gymnasium to choose a King Hustler. The eight most popular male students, chosen in an earlier vote, will be lined up on stage with only their legs visible. The student body will be asked to drop a penny into the basket in front of their choice, and the contestant with the most pennies will reign as King Hustler for the five-day event.

At 7 p.m. Wednesday night, the carnival will be officially opened, followed at 8 p.m. by the Queen's pageant. This event will see one of eight beauties crowned queen of 1977 festivities.

Judges are Mrs. Edna Roussel, Keith DeGrace, Tom Riordon, Mrs. Al Burns, Dr. Les Davies, Terry Lenihan and Mrs. Theresa McLaughlin.

Entertainment will be provided by BHS students.

Thursday is Dress-Up Day and students are invited to "Come as you feel." Dannyburger Day, sponsored by Big D Drive-Ins Ltd., will be held in the gym, and students will be able to purchase the popular meal at a discount. Costumes will be judged at this time, and entertainment will be compliments of Community Theatre Inc. Snow sculptures, which always drum up a bit of friendly rivalry and emerge as a big part of any winter carnival, will also be judged Thursday.

A variety show in the BHS gym under the theme of the Sonny and Cher Comedy Hour and starring Michel Doucet and Bev Matthews in the title roles, will round out the list of the day's activities.

On Friday, Oakwood Ax, a local group consisting of Kirk Miller, Wally McKinnon, Brian Imough, Roger Guitard and Robert Levesque, will entertain students from 12:30-2:30 p.m. The motion picture Mahogany, starring Diana Ross, will be presented in the amphitheatre, and the sportsminded can enjoy skating, broomball and hockey at Bathurst Arena. Curling, a sliding party and bonfire will also take place Friday night.

On Saturday, the school will sponsor a skiing trip to Campbellton for 48 students. Seats will be allotted on a first come-first serve basis, and the bus leaves at 8 a.m.

"Wally Oliver" will entertain at the gym for the 9 p.m. winter carnival dance.

On the final day of the carnival, Sunday, the old golf course will be the scene of snowshoeing, snowmobiling and skiing. A 2:30 p.m. hockey game between the BHS Lasers and a team to be announced will conclude this year's event.

The chairman of the Winter Carnival Committee, Bronwyn Davies, has issued the following invitation to all students:

"This year we have a lot of activities planned for the Winter Carnival Week. A lot of people have put a lot of work into making your week one to remember.

"Yet, all of this work will be in vain if YOU do not participate. It's school spirit that really makes a Winter Carnival. Many can stand back and criticize, but who can get involved?

"Come on, let's get together. Let's make this week the best ever! It's your Carnival."

Let's build together

BRUNSWICK SMELTING HAS BEST SAFETY RECORD

The Mining and Metallurgical Accident Prevention Association of New Brunswick held its seventh annual safety night on Friday, February 4 at Danny's Colonial House.

About 200 members and guests were on hand for the presentation of awards, which saw Brunswick Smelting pick up the MMAPA Safety Award Trophy for the best safety record during 1976. The association also made available a Manager's Improvers Trophy awarded on a quarterly basis to a firm that shows the greatest improvement over the previous quarter. Nigadoo River Mines won the award for the first quarter of 1976, followed by Heath Steele Mines, Belledune Fertilizer and Consolidated Durham Mines.

The topic of discussion for the evening was hand injuries, and a slide presentation on this subject was, shown by Jack Dawson, safety co-ordinator at Brunswick Mines. Mr. Dawson stressed the value of one's hands, noting that 30 per cent of all injuries were to this particular area of the body. All were urged to do their utmost to reduce this percentage.

In the photo, from left, Albain Landry, field representative of N.B. Industrial Safety Council; Aldeo Robichaud, safety co-ordinator for Belledune Fertilizer; R.J. Duford, manager of industrial relations, Heath Steele Mines Ltd.; Gus McLean, safety co-ordinator of Heath Steele Mines Ltd.; Mike Street, production superintendent, Brunswick Smelting, who accepted the safety trophy on behalf of Manager Allan Young; Loftus Benjamin, manager of Belledune fertilizer; Carl Dimitroff of Safety Equipment and Accessories, trophy sponsor, and Al Furlotte, safety co-ordinator for Brunswick Smelting.

The association would like to congratulate Brunswick Smelting on having the best safety record in 1976, and all others who improved or reduced their frequency for 1976.

Library 10 Years Old; First Board Honored

An interesting and informal gathering at Nepisiguit Centennial Library Monday evening honored Mrs. A. J. Arsenault an assistant librarian from the very beginning, who is retiring, and members of the original board of directors.

A. J. Savoie, present board chairman, presided and guests included members of the past and actual boards, the library's personnel, Mrs. Arsenault's husband and son, Provincial Court Judge Frederic Arsenault and Mrs. Arsenault, Paul Delicaet, representing the contractors for the building, Connolly Construction Ltd., who were also a benefactor, and Mrs. Delicaet.

This is the library's 10th anniversary year and "as Mrs. Arsenault was also a member of the first board of directors, the present board couldn't find a better occasion to recall the fine work done by the pioneers of Nepisiguit Centennial Library," said Mr. Savoie in his opening remarks.

"Tonight we want to pay tribute to a lovely and devoted lady and the dedicated members of the first board of directors in a very informal way, "en famille", as it is said in French.

"We would have liked to have all the members of the initial administration, but due to certain circumstances this was impossible.

"We are favored, however, in having with us J. R. Miller, the first chairman of the board; Mrs. Arsenault, Frank Messereau and Richard Gallagher. We regret the absence of Mrs. Robert Eddy, Mrs. E. G. Byrne, Mrs. D. A. Thompson and Dr. Maurice Leblanc. In memory of the contribution made by the late Ev Doucet, we have invited his wife to this memorable event.

"I would like to thank His Worship Mayor Duffy and his wife, Agnew Hall, assistant Director of Provincial Library Services, and Roger Richard, of Campbellton, the regional librarian, for accepting an invitation to attend this social gathering.

"The best way to show our gratitude to the members of this first board of directors is to summarize some of its results achieved in the past ten years.

"In his first report Mr. Miller noted the purchase of 10,300 books at a cost of $68,336.37. Today we have 25,000 books, or an increase of 15,000 volumes.

"You will be interested in knowing that the actual membership is 11,120: 7,080 adults and 4,040 juniors.

"Mr Miller also reported that the circulation in the early days amounted to 57,000 books over a period of 16 months. Last year it was 77,000 books. Close to 600,000 books have been circulated since 1967.

"In her report for March, 1968, Sister LeBlanc, the librarian, gives some interesting statistics: 2,573 young people viewed 140 motion picture showings through auspices of the National Film Board and Bathurst Richelieu Club, who donated a projector; 5,000 students from 236 area schools took advantage of the library's facilities during school hours.

"Every year we have had art displays by local artists as well as exhibitions of paintings from outside sources. These have been well encomed by an appreciative public.

"The music appreciation sessions continue to create interest and we are grateful to CKBC Radio for records donated to the library.

"These figures are given simply to emphasize the value the first board of directors had as to the possibilities of this library. It is a credit to their foresight and they deserve our most sincere congratulations for a job very well done.

"There is, incidentally, one black mark on the record. The francophone population is not availing themselves of the library's services as much as they could. Last year among 77,000 books in circulation, only 29,455 were French. In other words, only 37 per cent, while the French-speaking population of the city exceeds 40 per cent. The library stocks a total of 25,000 volumes, of which 12,047 are in the French language. That is to say, the selection of books is practically even-as far as the two official languages are concerned.

"The policy of the first board of directors was to assure the French-speaking and English-speaking populations equal rights of access to the library's services. This policy has always been adhered to.

"It is encouraging to note that the junior francophones are getting more interested in reading. Last year there were 17,189 junior French-speaking readers as compared to 21,620 English-speaking. This denotes an improvement over the previous years.

"I could mention a number of improvements, but time does not permit. All these and others are the consequences of the work begun by the first board of directors, along with Miss Jacelyne Lebel, the first librarian, Mrs. Arsenault and all other persons who worked in the library."

Mr. Savoie then called upon J. R. Miller, who, in a very thorough and detailed manner, reviewed the library's history from the time it was a suggested Centennial Year project until it became a realization of a dream and an asset to the community.

Mr. Miller also mentioned the several obstacles it was necessary to straddle before the library, a previously lacking community service, became a fait accompli.

Following Mr. Miller, Mayor Duffy and Mr. Hall offered complimentary and appropriate remarks and the former presented Mrs. Arsenault with an engraved silver tray on behalf of the City of Bathurst, owner of the premises. Mrs J. R. Miller, on behalf of the library board, gifted the guest of honor with a pottery piece designed and produced at Nigadoo from native clay, while Sister LeBlanc, chief librarian, presented Mrs. Arsenault with a bouquet of nine red roses, one for each year of dedicated and capable service rendered.

Mrs. Arsenault, although visibly moved by the gestures on her behalf, nevertheless rose to the occasion in her reply. She said she had thoroughly enjoyed her association with the library and the people associated with it and was severing her connections with genuine and sincere regret.

The "formalities" over, the honored people and other guests enjoyed a pleasant social interlude and partook of refreshments prepared for the occasion by members of the library staff.

WASTEFUL WAYS

Conservation of energy has been a favorite topic during the past year or so and it's an ironic fact that the government does not practise what it preaches.

When it comes to cutting costs and saving electricity, the administration apparently couldn't care less.

Take Bathurst's new Provincial Building, for instance. Each floor is equipped with a master switch so that all lights stay on, whether used or not, from about 7 o'clock in the morning until the custodian leaves, probably late at night. No doubt a similar situation exists in public buildings in other cities.

And did you every try to open those beautiful glass and metal doors that enhance the entrance of the building. Well, it wouldn't be too much of an exaggeration to describe it as a feat for even the most rugged of individuals.

Wonder what happens to those dear little old ladies who business of some sort or other. Guess they would just have to go away frustrated, disillusioned, or just plain mad.

Then we hear via the grapevine that the windows leak during certain high winds, a situation which has existed since the building was taken over and the guarantee, warranty, or whatever, has been

Assn. To Push For In-Patient Service

Mental Health Bathurst has announced it will spearhead a push towards total in-patient services at Chaleur General Hospital by convening a public meeting February 24 with all organizations in the region. The purpose of the meeting will be to approve a brief to be presented to the provincial Cabinet when it meets in Bathurst on February 28.

This action was approved at a joint meeting held at Chaleur General Hospital between members of the hospital board and the mental health association.

The co-operative effort is aimed at attracting the greatest number or organizations to stand behind a strong delegation when the brief is presented to the Cabinet ministers.

The administrator of Chaleur General, Mrs. Therese Thon That, and hospital board vice-chairman Reginald Miller, recently accompanied two representatives of the mental health clinic, Paul Chiasson, director and Dr. K.A. Comish, head psychiatrist, on a tour of the proposed in-patient facilities.

Also included in the tour were Mrs. Joyce Watling, president of Mental Health New Brunswick; Richard Priestman, executive director for the provincial association and President Hilaire Brideau and John Goyette of the local branch, Mental Health Bathurst.

It was felt the newly-proposed arrangement would satisfy all requirements for quality services to those seeking psychiatric care at the local hospital. Original modifications had estimated the cost at approximately $500,000 but with the new concept, using the north wing, the project could be accomplished at a minimal cost. Admissions would be at the general admisson desk, with twenty beds for general use along with two isolated beds.

There would be full communication facilities with the existing hospital structure. A cafeteria and recreation room would complete the

Fire Levels Lodge At Grand Falls

Bathurst RCMP are continuing their investigation into the cause of a blaze which destroyed the four-year-old Bathurst Fish and Game Lodge at Grand Falls Sunday morning, February 13.

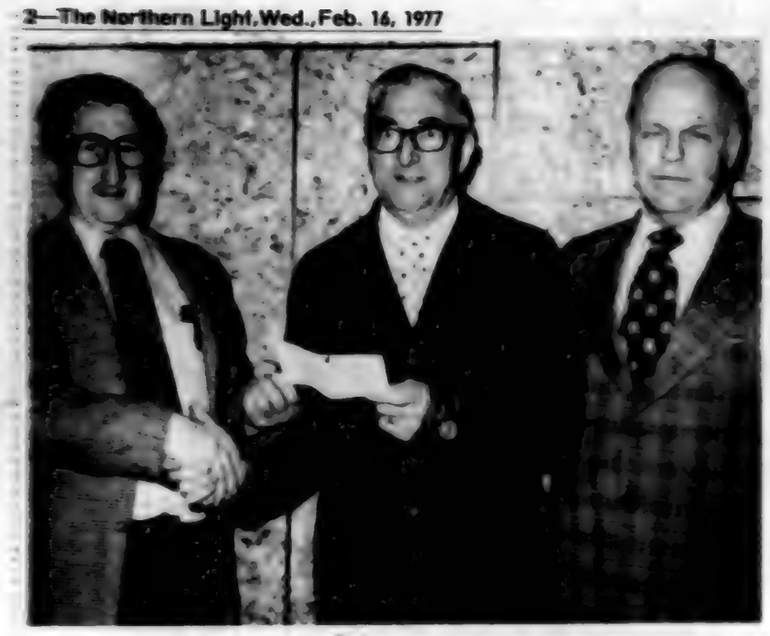
The fire was first noticed by an employee of the nearby Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. power plant, who investigated and alerted Ernest Bay, lodge caretaker, who lives in the area.

The lodge had a membership of about 75 and the building was also used by about 100 members of a newly-formed snowmobile club.

President of the Bathurst Fish and Game Association, Harold Imough, told The Northern Light there had been snowmobile races Saturday afternoon followed by a bouillon supper and dance attended by about 200 people. The circular central fireplace had not been used, however, and the premises had been checked at about 2 a.m. after the crowd had left.

The 30 x 50 foot wooden structure was only partially covered by insurance, and the loss is estimated at $75,000.

The lodge featured interior panelling and was well-equipped with furniture, appliances and other conveniences. Mr. Imough said the building had already been levelled when he arrived at the scene at about 8:30 a.m. Nothing was saved.



UCT WISHING WELLS WORTHWHILE PROJECT

A cheque for $200 was presented by Omer Roussel (left), Senior Counsellor, United Commercial Travelers of America, Council 827, and chairman of the Wishing Wells project, to Hector Sonier, chairman of adult services, Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded (CAMR). Looking on is Gerald Harris, chairman of properties services (CAMR). The money is raised from UCT Wishing Wells which are placed in various business outlets throughout the City. The donation by UCT will be used to purchase working materials and other important items for the Adult Workshop, Bass River.

Local Businessman Adopts Foster Child

A very special commitment has been made by Roger R. Godin of Godin's Electric, Bathurst. He has joined Foster Parents Plan of Canada and "adopted" little Lina Paramo, aged eight, of the Philippines.

Lina, her parents and five brothers and sisters live in the Camarines Norte region of the Philippines, and are within walking distance of A. Pabico and Aborodo Elementary School where Lina is enrolled in the third grade.

Her father, Jesus, works as a farmer and gets a share of about 20 sacks of unhusked rice per year. A part of this is kept for home consumption while the rest is sold for cash. Rosita, Lina's mother, grows vegetables in the family's back yard which she sells in the market for about $7 a month. However, this income is totally insufficient to meet the large family's basic needs.

The Paramo family lives in a small hut, rent free, on the maternal grandfather's lot. It is made of cement and rusty galvanized iron sheets, and is elevated about two feet from the ground. Lighting for the sparsely-furnished dwelling is obtained from a kerosene lamp, and water is taken from a nearby community artesian well.

Cooking is done on a crude stove using wood as fuel. Meals usually consist of rice and vegetables while meat and fish are seldom served.

Despite the poor diet, the family enjoys good health. Lina herself is a responsible child who has a good relationship with her friends. She performs averagely in school where she learns English, Philippino, music, math, social studies, health and science. Engish and Philippino are the media of instruction.

Mr. Godin's monthly contribution of $19 brings help not only to Lina but to every member of her family as well. The cash grant and accompanying benefits make medical and dental care, free prescriptions, guidance and counselling available.

Some Facts On The St. Bernard

By Marguerite Morrison

Members of this breed are credited with rescuing scores of travellers from the treacherous Alpine slopes. They have great ability in finding their way in fog and snow.

The St. Bernard is said to be a descendant of the Roman Molossian dog, and was introduced to the Swiss Alps area in 1660.

Its reputation for gentleness and loyalty grew, and the breed found its way to England in 1810. The name was changed to Saint Bernard from Alpine mastiff, and the dog was crossed with another giant breed, the Newfoundland, which resulted in two coat types, the rough and the smooth. In 1888, a breed society was formed in America, and the dog has grown in popularity ever since.

A great family dog, but it needs lots of room to romp and sleep.

Police Probe Wharf Death

Wayne Wheeler, 24, of 1745 Rough Waters Dr., was found dead on the East Bathurst wharf at an early hour this morning when Bathurst City Police followed up a report that a half-ton truck had been parked there with the engine running since 8:00 p.m. Tuesday.

No further details concerning the fatality were available at press time, except that an autopsy was in progress at Chaleur General Hospital.

The victim was born in Halifax and brought up in York Harbor, Bay of Islands, Newfoundland. He joined Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. as an apprentice industrial mechanic in 1974. At the time of his death he was employed in maintenance work at the company's concentrator.

Survivors include Mr. Wheeler's wife, the former Jeanne D'Arc (Joan) Thibodeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donat Thibodeau, Dunlop, and two children, aged 15 months and 5 months respectively.

Useful Career Is Terminated

The death of Reginald J. Aube, 869 Riverside Dr., a well-known and popular Bathurst resident for his lifetime, occurred February 18 in Chaleur General Hospital following a lung illness. He was 66.

Born in Bathurst, he was a son of Mrs. Agnes (Bertin) Aube and the late George Aube. He was a town alderman prior to city amalgamation and effectively served as chairman of the finance committee.

Mr. Aube was an accountant by profession and at the time of his retirement several years ago was on staff in the City Police Department. He was a part-time insurance underwriter in earlier years.

Mr. Aube's first job following graduation from Sacread Heart College Commercial Dept. in 1928 was with J. P. Whelan's men's wear store. He was later and successively associated with Kennah Bros., Bathurst Power and Paper Co. Ltd., both mill and woodlands divisions, Northern Machine Works and General Dairies.

Mr. Aube played hockey in his youth. He loved the great outdoors and spent considerable time fishing and hunting upriver. As a member of the Bathurst Fish and Game Assn., he promoted the conservation of wildlife.

Of artistic bent, Mr. Aube was a hobbyist painter, and many of his fine works grace his own home as well as others in the community. He was also a talented cartoonist and horticulturist.

Mr. Aube's affiliations included the United Commercial Travellers Assn. and several religious societies including the Propagation of the Faith, of which he was a life member.

Mr. Aube had been a blood donor at clinics from the time this Red Cross service was inaugurated locally during the Second World War. In the 60s he was a recipient of a certificate for having made 50 donations and he continued this custom as long as health permitted. He was also cited by Governor-General Georges Vanier for his dedication to this cause.

Surviving Mr. Aube are his wife, the former Ita Grant, his 93-year-old mother of Bathurst, two sons, George Aube, Elliot Lake, Ont., and Aaron Aube, Bathurst, a sister, Mrs. Robert Desmarais (Laurinda) Lake Wales, Florida, two brothers, Alden Aube, Masson, P.Q., and Louis Aube, San Antonio, Texas; and four grandchildren. An older brother George, a forestry engineer, died accidentally in 1934.

Mr. Aube rested at the family residence on Riverside Dr., where many sorrowing friends called to pay their respects, and where there was a profusion of flowers, masses, telegrams, etc.

Revs. Noel Cormier, G. Forest Sampson, J. Emile Fournier, John Duguay and Jules Genereaux, con-celebrated the mass at Holy Family Church at 2:00 p.m. Sunday. Father Duguay also read the epistle.

The active bearers were Brian O'Neil, Hollie Green, Wilfred Bertin, Gerald Aresneau, Joseph Bertin and Gerald O'Connell.

REG. J. AUBE

Music during the mass was by the Junior Girls' Choir of Holy Family Church, with Mrs. Ralph Hachey as organist. Sandra and Linda Aube were soloists for I Believe during the offertory while How Great Thou Art was the choir's communion selection, and Nearer My God To Thee was chosen as the recessional.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault, St. Peter Ave., pending burial in the adjoining cemetery in the spring.

Those attending the funeral from out of town points included George Aube, Elliot Lake, Ont.; Alden Aube, Andrew Aube and Miss Madeline Carriere, all of Masson, P.Q.; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Aube, Hull, P.Q.; Mrs. Annie Boulay, Kedgwick, N.B.; Charles and Guy Boulay and Ron Culligan all of Newcastle, N.B.

In addition, the air-conditioning system doesn't always operate properly and it has been reported that on certain occasions employees have had to flee their offices because they can't work in the discomfort of 90 degree or plus temperatures.

No Virginia, we're not nitpicking. These are just a few random examples of uncontrolled and ignored inefficiencies which irk us (and a lot of other people we know) as taxpayers. And there are other deficiencies which appear to exist but cannot be substantiated.

BATHURST BOOKS

Local authors are well-represented on the shelves at Nepisiguit Centennial Library, or had you noticed?

There are more serious works like Ernest Picot's A Brief History of Teacher Training in New Brunswick (1848-1973); Un Demi-Siecle d'Histoire Acadienne by Alexandre Savoie, and Ralph Chalmers' theological treatise, The Happy Science.

And in lighter vein are three volumes of fiction by Gail MacMillan: Deadly Passion, Forest of Fear and Inherited Deception.

QUOTABLE QUOTE

"Sanford University kept track of MBA graduates and found that those who got good grades in school earned more money in later years. Five years after graduation, the top third of the class was averaging $300 more per month than the bottom third. Ten years later, the difference was $700 per month." — Executives Digest, on why school marks do count.

PET PROJECTS

City Councillor Jean-Paul Lavoie says he expects to make an announcement concerning his future plans as far as municipal politics are concerned within the next week or so.

In the meantime, he adds, two pet projects have been monopolizing his time. These -a tree planting day in Bathurst sometime in May, and a wading pool for pre-schoolers in Centennial Park at Parkwood Heights.

Coun. Lavoie is in the process of acquiring individual sponsors and he has been trying to persuade local service clubs to assume the responsibility.

According to Coun. Lavoie, a similar planting scheme proved very successful in Moncton and 1000 trees were added to private properties to enhance their appearance.

From 150 to 200 plantings are planned for Bathurst and the idea is to buy the trees and sell them to the public. Direction and advice from professionals in the silviculture field will be part of the program.

Film Depicts The Drug Scene

"The Cross and the Switchblade" is one of the outstanding films of recent years - an explosive motion picture that bares the raw needs at the core of drug addiction, racial hatred and violence. Never has a film been more timely.

Adapted from the autobiographical best-seller of the same title, the film relates the dramatic experiences of Rev. David Wilkerson, fresh from the country, defenseless and alone, facing the New York ghettos and their street gangsters and dope addicts, courageously proclaiming a revolutionary message of love and hope. "Death was not the only door out of the hell that trapped them." On three occasions this crusade nearly cost him his life.

The Cross and the Switchblade is a movie for people who care for people who love... people who themselves seek "a better way." Here is a movie for you.

Pat Boone stars as David Wilkerson with co-stars Erik Estrada, Jackie Giroux, Dino DeFilippi and Jo-Ann Robinson.

A special showing of The Cross and the Switchblade has been scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 17 at 8 p.m. at Nepisiguit High School, 915 St. Anne St.

There is no admission charge but a free-will offering will be received.

V.O.N. Visits Well-Received

The monthly meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses board of management, Bathurst branch, was held in the Occupational Therapy room of Chaleur General Hospital on Tuesday, February 8 at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Alexandre Savoie presided.

Constitutional amendments were accepted and copies of the bylaws were distributed.

The nurse-in-charge reported that 195 visits were made in January, 42 of which were for home care. There were two child health clinics at which 41 children were seen.

The nurses are continuing their regular visits to the senior citizens' apartments on Demeresque Street which are being very well received and anticipated.

The March meeting of the board will be the annual session. Date and location will be announced when arrangements have been finalized.

Heritage Day Is Declared

Premier Richard Hatfield today declared Monday, February 21 as "Heritage Day" in New Brunswick.

"Our heritage, like many of the most important things in life, is something that we sense more than see. It is so tied up in the fabric of daily life that all too rarely do we give it any conscious thought.

We, in Canada, are living through a period in our history when the concept of Confederation, the idea of our nation, is being challenged.

If we are to meet that challenge, we must understand our heritage -- who we are as New Brunswickers and as Canadians. Now, more than ever, we need to know what we have done as individuals, as communities and as a nation.

We need to know where we have been, what we are doing and where we are going.

We must understand our heritage so we will know how rich and precious a birthright we have inherited.

I think that we are becoming more aware of this rich cultural legacy, both as a province and as a nation. One indication of this is the tremendous response that heritage conservationists have received in promoting a national day of heritage awareness. I support the concept because we in New Brunswick possess a unique heritage that we are just beginning to appreciate and to share with other provinces.

I therefore am pleased to lend my support to this coming national movement by declaring Monday, February 21 as Heritage Day in New Brunswick, and encourage one and all to reflect on the contribution that heritage makes to our lives and on our need to preserve this legacy for our future."

Sign Contracts For Drilling

The signing of contracts worth $.15 million with Becker Drills Ltd. and B.P.B. Instruments (Canada) Ltd. to carry out a drilling evaluation project in New Brunswick was announced today by federal Regional Economic Expansion (DREE) Minister Marcel Lessard and Natural Resources Minister Roland C. Boudreau.

The program, consisting of approximately 300 holes at an average depth of 400 feet, is designed to evaluate the province's potential for coal, uranium, base metals and water resources throughout the central carboniferous basin.

The basin area of approximately 10,000 square miles includes parts of Gloucester, Northumberland, Kent, York, Sunbury, Queens, Westmorland and Albert Counties.

The project will take two years to complete and the compilation of results another year.

The mineral resources branch of the department of Natural Resources is responsible for administration of the program, which will be carried out under the provisions of the Minerals and Fuels Sub-Agreement of the DREE-New Brunswick General Development Agreement. DREE will provide 60 percent of the required funds.

Drilling is currently being carried out in the Grand Anse-Caraquet area of the province by the contractors. Department of Natural Resources personnel are accompanying the drilling rig and monitoring the progress and results.

Purchasing At Home

As opposed to fringe benefits, fringe disadvantages to other parts of Canada are bound to be engendered by the new order of things in Quebec. And some of them have already surfaced.

A "buy Quebec" protectionist purchasing policy, for instance, was announced early this month by the Quebec Government. It also urged all Quebec citizens to follow the Government's example in favoring goods and services made in Quebec "so as to take in hand our economy."

The new policy is to apply to about $2-billion spent annually by the Government Crown corporations such as Hydro-Quebec, the agencies of the Government, universities, colleges and school boards, hospitals and social service agencies.

All are to take account of the Quebec content as well as the lowest cost in choosing among competing bidders, Companies bidding for contracts with these public agencies must specify what percentage of their product is Quebec content. Canadian goods as well as Quebec goods are to be favored, said Bernard Landry, the minister responsible for economic development.

In tenders for construction, subcontractors must also be based in Quebec. Previously it was only the general contractor.

Mr. Landry also said he is only proposing what Ontario and the other provinces are already doing.

In this last assertion, the official is off base, however. The situation obviously does not exist in New Brunswick and a spokesman for the Management Board Secretariat in that province has denied that Ontario follows or previously followed a purchasing policy systematically favoring Ontario companies.

Apparently there is only one clear answer to this dog in the manger attitude on the part of La Belle Province. If we can't beat 'em, let's join 'em by adopting a similar policy: limit our public contracts to New Brunswick firms, and, where possible, to New Brunswick materials. Even if the costs are higher, these charity at home tactics should pay off in the long run.

Worth Watching

Some training programs scheduled for delivery in New Brunswick may have to be scrapped and others postponed until after April, 1977, due to a lack of additional training funds from Canada Department of Manpower and Immigration.

Since apprenticeship is the main source of skilled tradesmen, Labour and Manpower Rodman E. Logan has expressed his concern over this lack of suppor from Manpower.

Many New Brunswickers rely on apprenticeship as a means of acquiring a trade and employers including those in the Bathurst area, rely on the same system for satisfying their need for a trained work force. (Remember the uproar over the importation of skilled workers from abroad?)

Enquiries on the local level have indicated there is no problem in this regard as at present. Still, it might be a good idea to keep abreast of the situation.

Mr. Logan and his deputy ministers have met with representatives of the N.B. Federation of Labor and the United Steelworkers' Union to discuss the problem. All are particularly concerned about it.

Mr. Logan said he had met in Ottawa with federal Manpower and Immigration Minister Bud Cullen and requested an additional $500,000. for the balance of this fiscal year. As a result, an additional $50,000., or only one-tenth the required amount was made available. The federal minister has been asked to reconsider this decision.

Answers Awaited

With the announcement of a March 1 opening of the Legislature, the tempo of New Brunswick's political life is beginning to increase.

A number of measures await the urgent attention of the House and the government has been criticized for the long interval since the last session.

In addition, the opposition has been understandably impatient to get going on a long list of what it considers to be major issues affecting the governing of the province. These include the growing number of failed business ventures funded by the administration.

There is every indication that this will be the liveliest session in many years, and one which will, hopefully provide answers and solutions to an assortment of puzzling problems.

The full attention of all New Brunswickers will be focused on Fredericton during the upcoming weeks.

Dies Suddenly In Middle East

Many lifetime Bathurst friends of Frank (Jockey) Baldwin have learned with sorrow and regret of his sudden death which occured last week in Bandar, Pahlevi, Iran. He would have been 65 in March.

Mr. Baldwin first went to the Middle East last November in his capacity as chief erector for Black-Clawson Ltd., manufacturers of industrial equipment. He had only recently returned there after spending Christmas at his home in La Salle, P.Q.

Born in Bathurst, Mr. Baldwin was a son of the late Thomas A. and dePazzi (Meahan) Baldwin. After attending St. Thomas College, Chatham, and serving in the Canadian Provost Corps overseas during the Second World War, he worked in paper mills in British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec before assuming the post he held at the time of his death.

Athletically inclined in his youth, Mr. Baldwin was a good sprinter and swimmer and played hockey, baseball and football.

Questions Mail Not Going Through

Bathurst, N.B.
February 14, 1977

It's happened again! No school or one session. No mail delivery! One doesn't expect postmen to plough through the snow. Today's breed is not as rugged as yesteryear's, but one would at least expect to be able to pick up the mail at some spot!

After a telephone call to the P.O. I'm informed that this is "not possible" ... pourquoi? It is being sorted out in West Bathurst and, evidently, available to no one.

Fun, fun to work for the Department, good pay, lots of holidays, overtime, etc. Surely, there must be some one somewhere (maybe Ottawa?) from whom the downtrodden taxpayer can get a reasonable explanation.

There are skidoos galore around. Couldn't the mail be transported from Fundy Line to the Post Office so that businesses and others expecting important mail and willing to brave the elements could pick it up? Even at Fundy Line? This certainly does nothing to endear the P. O. to the general public.

How sad the days of "the mail must go through" etc. have gone and we are so entangled in bureaucracy, redtape, pass-the-buck, one-upmanship that no one in the Civil Service seems to be able to make a decision or give a straight answer.

Couldn't something be done, so that if there is no mail delivery an announcement could be made on the radio that hardy citizens (who so wish) could pick up their mail at a designated place at certain hours?

Disgruntled and Disgusted

P.S. Cheers. There is a mail delivery

Fictional Hunting, Spiritual Truth

Beresford, N.B.
February 3, 1977

In January 1975, I sat at home thinking that it would be a wonderful day to go hunting. The sun was shining and the temperature was about five degrees Celcius.

I got up to check my rifle (Bible) and took it down from the rack. It was all dusty so I cleaned it up. I opened the breach and checked inside. It looked good so I decided to try my luck at the biggest game available. I mean, why fool around with small stuff? When you go hunting, you may as well go big. There's not much to gain by going halfway.

I decided to cover the Nine Mile Brook area (Gospel of John) since it was known for successful hunting. When I arrived in the area, I looked for some sign of game and spotted some sort of track almost immediately. (John 1:12. But as many as received Him, to them gave he the power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name.) I realized I was in good hunting country so I trodded on at a slow pace thoroughly studying every sign.

All of a sudden, I saw the bush directly in front of me move. I proceeded with great care and soon arrived to where I has seen the bush move. There it was, another great sign. (John 3:16) For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life).

What a tract! I knew right there and then that I was after the big one. I proceeded with the greatest caution, looking left and right. I soon saw more and more signs and felt that something was going to happen soon (John 3:36. He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not on the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him).

I soon learned that whatever this game was, it was smart. There was no way that I could con it into doing what I wanted it to. I soon got tired and gave up. I returned from my hunting trip feeling I had learned something but I was still empty handed, at least physically. For the next several months, I tried to forget that area (Gospel of John) but it kept returning to haunt me.

Then in May of 76 I decided to try once more. I went through the same territory and it brought back memories of the great feeling I had when I had been here before. It wasn't long before I arrived upon fresh tracts. (John 14:1-4. Let not your heart be troubled: Ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions. If it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also. And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know.)

Boy, it sure felt good covering this ground once more. What thrilled me is the fact that I remembered this country fairly well but it seemed to tell me a lot more about the game even though I had been here before. I then arrived where I had stopped the year before. I found the area so interesting that I decided to cover new ground.

I wasn't long before more interesting cities were found. (Romans 3:23. For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God). This fresh tract urged me on. I didn't have to go far and sign after sign began to appear. (Romans 5:8. But God commendeth his love towards us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.)

Man, with all these fresh tracts, I just couldn't turn back. I felt sure something fantastic was about to happen. After my next sign, (Romans 10:9-10. That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.) I thought if this continued, I would surely blow my mind.

And then it happened. There it was before my very eyes. What a spectacular sight, what game. (Revelation 3:20. Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.)

That's what hunting is all about, my friend. Spiritual hunting. That's where the big game is. Salvation and everlasting life. You wouldn't never go hunting without a gun so don't take the chance of seeking eternal life without the greatest Word of Jesus Christ. (For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved - Romans 10:13).

The greatest insurance policy in existence and its free, by asking Jesus into your heart. Won't you get your free policy before you leave this earth? I've got mine. The time is now. Don't delay.

May the Lord add His blessing to anyone who reads or hears the aforementioned scriptural quotes.

I personally thank the Editor for his decision to allow me to witness for Jesus Christ through his column. Editor's mail.

More Details On Religion Suggested

The article that appeared in the February 2nd Northern Light welcoming the arrival of Mormon missionaries, reminded me of the pamphlet I just received.

The pamphlet provides easy reading and is crystal clear on the surface. The beliefs of this relatively new religion (1830) are outlined and so is the general organization of its churches. All is made to appear very close to the faith and church organizations of any other Christian church. So the first question that comes to mind is, why the mission work in these quarters?

It is however regrettable nothing is mentioned about the beginnings of this religion. I admit: there is a picture of Joseph Smith, the founder, on the cover, but nothing else is mentioned about Mr. Smith. Nothing is mentioned about the true history of their faith.

Nothing is mentioned about the Book of Mormon. Now this is an interesting subject. The Book of Mormon is an account written by the hand of Mormon upon plates of gold taken from the plates of Nephi. These plates, late from the time of the Persian Empire. The plates seemingly were revealed to Mr. Smith, who discovered the cuneiform engravings and translated them to English. It is true the had some help from an angel who brought these special eye-glasses.

Since mission work is done here it seems the public should be more appropriately informed about the religion, of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The belief in the revelations of Nephi, Mormon and Joseph Smith constitute the basis of their Faith.

Another Typical Example Of Waste

Montreal, P.Q.
February 9, 1977

Recent articles on Canada's conversion to the metric system served to remind us how far the country has sunk into a morass of regulatory harassments. The government's squander-and-waste fiscal policy has brought the country to the verge of bankruptcy.

Its planned inflation of the money supply has forced down the value of every citizen's dollar, robbing them of a large portion of their wealth.

The stage is now reached when government is more of a nuisance than the entire criminal population. What crime outrages in a lifetime the government extorts every month.

The craze to go metric will cost the country millions of dollars and waste millions of man-hours on work that is futile.

No benefit is apparent from the metric system and none is anticipated. To be able to buy groceries by the gram or the litre is about as useful as being able to say "good morning" in Swahili.

The decimal system of measurement is simpler to use than the English method of measurement, but this cannot be the reason for its introduction.

A government which has imposed an unwieldy and unpractical postal code upon us, and which still has to find a way to deliver the mail on time is not likely to place much value upon efficiency.

Why then does government embark upon these costly confusion boondoggles? A hint was given by writer Phil Tracy in the "Village Voice" of last April. He observed: "...ignorant fraud no longer carries us a order to serve the country but exists primarily to serve itself. Nobody believes that the policies, or the programs, will accomplish more than the furring of more government bureaucrats."

To prevent this conviction from surfacing they work ceaselessly upon projects that have little or no relation to the needs of the country. The work itself satisfies their needs for a sense of achievement.

The activity generates an atmosphere of confidence that overwhelms their honest feelings of frustration, and their arrogance towards the general public is purely a defensive measure to bolster their ego.

Meanwhile, in the outside world reality consists of working but only receiving part of one's wages. The portion we have earned, but do not receive, goes to pay for the feeding and care of an army of unproductive bureaucrats. This waste of the taxpayer's wealth is the chief cause of high prices and unemployment.

It takes capital to create jobs, and unproductive jobs do not create wealth, they merely consume the wealth of the productive citizens.

These are the ideas that should be remembered whenever our discusses Canada's venture into the world of metric measurement.

POLITICAL SCENE

Insights Not Overwhelming

By STEW ART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

After Ontario Premier William Davis was so decisive in lecturing other politicians about how to behave toward Quebec, I expected him to offer us all sorts of wisdom following his talks with Rene Levesque.

Mr. Davis' government had spent two months considering what approach to take to Quebec separatism and after he went to Quebec City for 2½ hours of conversation with Mr. Levesque, it wouldn't be unreasonable to expect some profound pronouncements. After all, the Ontario premier had earlier accused Prime Minister Trudeau of being immature in his reaction to Mr. Levesque. Now, I thought, we would get the benefit of Mr. Davis' more mature assessment.

But when he flew out of Quebec and directly to London, Ont., to report to a convention of Conservatives, he didn't exactly haggle minds with his insights. He said it was too early to search for solutions. He said the problems of separatism were not fully understood. He said non-Quebec politicians should not "get on our horses and go barrelling into Quebec to make an argument for Canada." He said the debate must be carried on with "decency, respect and dignity."

And he said that Ontario's role is to keep the channels of communication open with Quebec and when the Ottawa-Quebec lines became affected by partisanship and personality clashes.

The voice of reason, or at least the Signal Corps, will be based in Toronto.

CRITICISM DIFFICULT

It's not easy to criticize any premier who calls for moderation, reason, tranquility, decency and all the other ideal ingredients which should be added to debate. And even if there never was any hysteria in the discussion between Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Levesque, it isn't a serious offence for Mr. Davis to say that hysteria should end immediately.

Politicians do have a bit of licence now and then.

But if any provincial premier is going to jump into the Great Confederation Debate after two months of consideration and come down firmly on the side of moderation, optimism and reason, he should be able to make contributions based in this criteria.

His first mistake, I thought, was that Toronto speech in which he ticked off Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Levesque - but particularly Mr. Trudeau - for the way they were debating the Confederation issue. He suggested childishness, brinkmanship, shouting and he referred to federalist hostility.

Up to this point most of us thought that Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Levesque were decidedly confrontational in presenting their opposing viewpoints. This may shock Mr. Davis, but the last time Mr. Levesque came to Ottawa, Mr. Trudeau said "Hi, Rene, it's good to see you again."

ANOTHER OVERSIGHT

There is something else Mr. Davis may have overlooked in the debate so far. That is the way the prime minister has been consistently questioning Mr. Levesque's proposal for an economic union with the remaining provinces after he pulls Quebec out of Confederation.

The message Mr. Trudeau has been trying to get across is that the Quebec separatists shouldn't be foolish enough to expect co-operation from the other provinces after they break up Canada. He has been very careful not to be threatening, but he suggests that the other premiers would not be in a mood to enter agreements with an independent Quebec.

It's a good point in the prime minister's argument.

So what does Mr. Davis do? He goes to Quebec City where he and Mr. Levesque appear to hit it off just splendidly and he does nothing to lend support to Mr. Trudeau's suggestions. At a joint press conference, the Quebec premier said that no matter what happens in the future, there will be an inevitable partnership with Ontario. Mr. Davis was at his side smiling.

Premier Supports Scout-Guide Week

Premier Richard Hatfield has endorsed International Boy Scout and Girl Guide Week which will be held from Feb. 20 to 26.

The premier noted that Feb. 22 is the 120th anniversary of the birth of Lord Robert Baden-Powell of Gilwell, founder of the boy scout and girl guide movement.

There are 9,300 New Brunswick boy scouts belonging to the two national associations, the Boys Scout of Canada and the "Association des Scouts du Canada".

"These two associations are committed to the betterment of youth and, for this reason, deserve special thought. Former members of these associations, whether they were boy scouts or girl guides, have all been profoundly influenced by such human values as consideration toward others and to nature, altruism, judgement, initiative and leadership, which are the hallmarks of both the scout and guide movements," said the premier.

Both associations have always preserved and promoted these basic human values espoused by Lord Baden-Powell.

"One should not forget that these associations, which could not exist without our youth, depend in large measure, too upon the unselfish dedication of volunteer leaders from all walks of life, "Mr. Hatfield said.

"I therefore am pleased to lend my support to the expanding boy scout and girl guide movements across the province and encourage everyone to become aware of the contributions these youth associations bring to society."

Quebec television viewers might be impressed with this picture. True, Mr. Davis made it clear he was a foe of Quebec independence, but that wouldn't surprise anybody. All other provinces are foes of Quebec independence.

Mr. Davis would have made a far greater contribution to the debate if he had simply interrupted Mr. Levesque for a moment when the Quebec premier talked about the inevitable partnership with Ontario.

REPRESENT BATHURST IN OLDTIMERS' TOURNAMENT

Pictured are members of the Bathurst Goodtimers Hockey Club, sponsored by Doucet's Landscaping, who will be participating in the Canadian Oldtimers Hockey Tournament in Saint John, February 18, 19, 20, 21, 1977. Sixty-six teams from throughout Canada will be playing in six divisions. Bathurst is classified in Section 'B' and will play its first game Friday at 11 a.m. against Fredericton. The Bathurst team is made up of many former Alpine Papermakers including Jeannot David and Boy Melanson who starred in the late 1950's. The team also boasts four players from the Alpine team which won the Canadian Intermediate A Hockey Championship in 1971. The four are Joe Hachey, Marcel Coulombe, Bob DeGrace and Howard Doucet. Also playing are Dave Ratchford who played Junior B in Montreal and college hockey, Maurice Leblanc who played with Bathurst College, Ronnie Doucet and Phil DeGrace who toiled with Industrial teams in the Bathurst area. Coaching the group, and well known in local sport circles, is Roger Clinch. Added to the team for the tournament are Buddy Byers, a standout goaltender with Dalhousie Rangers for many years, Rheal Hachey, Joe's brother, and Jean-Guy Morais who both starred in the lower Gloucester Hockey League for many seasons. Last year, the Bathurst team won the Maritime Invitational Tournament in Moncton and this year, lost out to Halifax 1 - 0 in the semi-finals. The squad has played many exhibition games with the Bathurst High Lasers as well as other area teams in preparation for this weekend's tournament. From left, front row: Marcel Coulombe, Dave Ratchford, Buddy Byers, Jeannot David, Roy Melanson and Bob DeGrace. Back row: Rheal Hachey, Joe Hachey, Junior Bourque, Jean-Guy Morais, Gordie Stever and Ronnie Doucet. Missing are Roger Clinch, Maurice LeBlanc, Howard Doucet and Phil DeGrace.

Alpines And Ironmen Open Semi-Finals Here Tuesday

NSHL president Joe Flynn's decision to cut six games off the league's regular season schedule means the second - place Bathurst Alpines concluded their schedule with last Tuesday's 4 - 3 loss to Chatham Ironmen.

The Alpines were less than happy with the decision as they are presently enduring a two week layoff while the remaining league teams prep for the playoffs with scheduled games all this week.

The league schedule winds up this Sunday with the best-of-seven semi-finals commencing next Tuesday, February 22. Pennant-winning Campbellton will host Dalhousie in Series 'A' while the second-place Alpines will entertain the last-place Chatham Ironmen in Series 'B'. The second games in both series will be played February 24 in Dalhousie and Chatham.

Third game of the Bathurst-Chatham series will be back here Sunday February 27 with the fourth back in Chatham March 1. If more games are needed they will be played March 3 here, March 5 in Chatham and back here March 6.

The best-of-seven finals will start no later than March 6 with a winner to be decided by March 20.

In the game here last Tuesday, Chatham defenceman Dan Lessard fired a pair of goals, including the winner, to pace the Ironmen to their upset win. Ken Martin also scored twice for the winners who were outshot 43 - 33 in the contest. Paul Ouellette, Bob Chomick and Mike Brophy counted for the Alpines.

Add Two More

In other games played last week Campbellton Tigers kept winning with a 7 - 2 decision over Dalhousie on Thursday and a 9 - 4 triumph over the Ironmen on Friday. Highlight of the wins was the scoring surge put on by the Tigers' Jean-Marie Bouchard and John Wood. Bouchard picked up four goals and four assists in the two wins to take over the top spot in the scoring race with 66 points, one more than teammate Wood who added 6 points.

Ladies Curling Club News

By JOYCE CONLEY

President Geraldine Mason chaired the regular meeting of the Bathurst Ladies Curling Club held in the ladies' lounge Feb 8.

Secretary Lillian Chick read the minutes. Reports of committees were heard and the club's regular business was discussed.

Brochures for the curling clinic to be held the last weekend of October or the first weekend in November were not received as yet, it was learned. Interested individuals were invited to list their names on the appropriate poster in the main lobby. Hope was expressed that a high school curling clinic would be available at the same time.

Notices of the curling clinic to be held in Bathurst are being sent to other clubs in this zone.

Flo Ross and Clare Mitton are co-conveners of the regular Saturday evening supper on Feb. 19 when cold ham and turkey, scalloped potatoes, vegetables and cole slaw with angel food cake for dessert await members and their guests.

It is expected the new electric stove for the club kitchen acquired with Dominion Store grocery slips should be installed shortly. Members are requested to continue depositing these cash sales slips in the container in the main lobby. The new slips will be used to secure other kitchen accessories.

Lasers Keep Streak Alive; Edge Black Kats 7-6 Sunday

Bobby Girouard and Chris Melvin each triggered a pair of goals to lead the Bathurst High School Lasers to a hard fought 7 - 6 win over the Fredericton High Black Kats in N.B. Interscholastic Hockey League action here Sunday.

The win runs the Lasers' unbeaten streak to 15 consecutive games and increased their league lead over the second place Juniors to 7 full Tuesday to eleven points. They only lose came in their first game of the season against the Black Kats in Fredericton. Since then they have been unbeatable.

In Sunday's game, the Lasers held a 3 - 1 first period lead but the Black Kats came back to tie it up 5 - 5 entering the final period and actually pulled ahead 6 - 5 in the third. The Lasers then tied the game and Bobby Girouard's second goal of the contest late in the final period pulled out the win.

Racing Season At Speed Bowl Opens June 15

At a recent meeting of the management and owners of Danny's Speed Bowl Ltd., it was decided the popular local track will begin its 1977 racing season on Wednesday, June 15.

After a successful season last year, officials are optimistic and confident racing this year will be at its peak with many new cars expected to compete.

Last year's track manager Roger Gauvin will return to run the quarter-mile oval and has scheduled a meeting for all interested persons on Sunday, March 13, at 2:00 p.m.

The scheduling for the upcoming season tentatively calls for a total of 16 events including the "Provincial 77" on June 25. The "Festival 50" will run on July 6, 1977 with the "Consolation" set for August 20, 1977. Two big events are scheduled in September with the "Labatt's 50" set for the 11th followed by a Big Demolition Derby later in the month.

Oil Kings Face '76 N.B. Champs Here Saturday

Lantry's Esso Oil Kings have made arrangements to play the Fredericton Hermits, last year's New Brunswick Senior 'A' Basketball Champions. The game, which should be the toughest of the season for Bathurst is set for 2:00 p.m. Saturday afternoon at the Bathurst High gym.

Last Sunday's game between the Oil Kings and St. Thomas University Tommies was cancelled due to poor road conditions as the STU coach Brian Flanagan refused to make the trip. Because of this cancellation, the Bathurst club decided to bring in a better team. The Hermits, this Saturday. Tickets for the STU game will be honoured at any future Oil King game, including the game this Saturday.

Most of the Fredericton players have played University basketball, and probably the best known is Dick Slipp who starred with UNB. Mike Springer is another well known player for the Hermits, who are also undefeated this season.

The final game of the 1976 - 77 Miramichi Valley Basketball League schedule was played last week with the Oil Kings downing off the Chatham REC Whoppers 86 - 52.

Player-coach Danny Kelly dropped in 45 points and John Farrow added 20 for the winners who led 43 - 23 at the half. Other scorers for the Kings were Mike Calnan with 15, John Nicholson 12, Stephen Kelly and Ron Kelly 4 each.

THE WORLD OF BOOKS is the most remarkable creation of man; nothing else that he builds ever lasts. Monuments fall, nations perish, civilizations grow old and die out. After an era of darkness new races build others, but in the world of books are volumes that live on still as young and fresh as the day they were written still telling men's hearts of the hearts of men centuries dead.

Emphasis On Safety Urged

Miramichi Timber Resources Ltd. has been called upon to place more emphasis on safety in its woods operations.

The plea came in the form of a recommendation from a coroner's jury in Newcastle February 7. The inquest was probing the June 8 death of Leonard Chiasson of Allardville.

Evidence given to the jury by Allan Sonier, industrial safety inspector for the New Brunswick government, indicated MTR conducts a safe operation "as a rule".

"The company should be stricter on the treatment of traps" Mr. Sonier said.

Attempts to remove a lodged tree resulted in Mr. Chiasson's death.

Smelt Sales Given Boost

An evaluation of last month's smelt promotion campaign throughout the province shows that sales increased an average of 61 per cent.

The results of 180 questionnaires sent to producers, fish markets, supermarkets and restaurants by the fisheries department's inspection and marketing branch indicate sales increased from a low of eight per cent to a high of 300 percent.

In addition to the widespread advertising campaign, the department issued several thousand smelt promotion pamphlets entitled "Smelt Delicacies".

Commenting on the campaign's success, Fisheries Minister Omer Leger noted that an increased demand for smelt by New Brunswick consumers would lessen the fishermen's dependency on the American market for that fish product. As much as 75 percent of the smelt catch is currently exported to the United States.

Mr. Leger said a higher consumption on the part of New Brunswickers would have an effect on the price paid to the fishermen for their product.

BATHURST ENTRIES DO WELL IN MARITIME MARATHON

A cross-country skiing expedition from Woodstock to Silverwood near Fredericton was held Feb. 12 and 13. Approximately 400 skiers participated in the Maritime Marathon which consisted of a 67½ mile route. Thirty-two miles were covered the first day and overnight lodging was at the Crabbe Mountain Lodge. Attending from Bathurst were Eric Leger (left), who completed the nine checkpoints receiving a Men's Touring Gold Medal. Chris Carson (centre), was awarded a Junior Men's Gold Medal for completing eight out of the nine checkpoints at Mazerolle Settlement. Finishing in Mactaquac, checkpoint seven, was Claude Dumtruff who merited a Men's Touring Bronze Medal. Prizes were also awarded to the oldest person who was at the prime age of 72 and to the youngest who was an eight-year-old.

Forest Industry Forms Tree Co-Op

A voluntary organization to be known as the New Brunswick Tree Improvement Co-operative was organized at a recent meeting of industrial, provincial and federal forestry officials. The objectives of the co-op are to improve the quality of the province's forests through undertaking the genetic improvement of planting stock used in reforestation programs in New Brunswick.

Attending were representatives from the New Brunswick Department of Natural Resources, Fredericton, Acadia Forest Products Ltd., Nelson-Miramichi, Consolidated Bathurst Ltd., Bathurst, Fraser Companies Ltd., Edmundston, Georgia-Pacific Corp., Woodland, Maine, J.D. Irving Ltd., Saint John, MacMillan Bathurst Ltd., Saint John, Miramichi Timber Resources Ltd., Newcastle, New Brunswick International Paper Co., Dalhousie, Valley Forest Products Ltd., Nackawic, and the Maritimes Forest Research Centre of the Canadian Forestry Service. The co-operative will be chaired by the New Brunswick Department of Natural Resources and technical direction will be provided by the Maritimes Forest Research Centre.

The most recent estimates by DNR is that approximately 60 million seedlings will be planted annually in N.B. by 1980 a planting program of this magnitude will be expensive and will require large quantities of tree seed. Reforestation costs will be incurred whether improved seed is used or not. The opportunity exists therefore, to significantly increase growth and yield of our planted forest by utilizing genetically superior reforestation materials. The investment required for a tree improvement program is quite small when compared to the overall cost of reforestation.

At the recent meeting, a proposal outlining the selection, testing and development of seed production areas and the strategies for selecting and testing of individual plus trees to form seedling seed orchards was presented. Detailed plans for the improvement of black spruce, jack pine, larch and white spruce will be presented to the co-op for discussion at the next meeting on Friday, March 4th.

Enquires should be addressed to the Secretary, N.B. Tree Improvement Co-Operative, Maritimes Forest Research Centre, P.O. Box 4000, Fredericton, N.B. E3B 5P7.

Seek Convention Trade

New Brunswick hospitality personnel are in Ottawa this week in search of convention business for the province.

Tourism - New Brunswick and municipal officials and private operators are making personal calls on the offices of 150 association executives in the nation's capital.

"The co-operative program is a concerted effort to bring new business into the province, particularly in the spring and fall of the year when our accommodation facilities need additional business," said Tourism Minister Fernand G. Dube.

The minister explained that the provincial delegation has been divided into teams, each of which has made appointments to meet the association heads to relate the new convention facilities that are now available in the province.

"It's a first for our province and must be considered a pilot program, but participants expect to interest a number of associations in holding their conventions in New Brunswick in future years," Mr. Dube said.

The solicitation program was planned and co-ordinated by the marketing branch of the department, in co-operation with the participants and the New Brunswick Hotel-Motel Association.

In addition to marketing branch personnel, the delegation includes representatives of the municipalities of Fredericton, Moncton, Saint John and St. Andrews; properties operated by the Wandlyn and Keddy chains, Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Hotels and Eastern Provincial Airways.

Life Underwriters Briefed On Progress

Over 200 delegates and members of the board of directors attended the 70th annual general meeting of the Life Underwriters Association of Canada held recently at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto.

J. Camille Roy, of Bathurst, was the official representative of the Northern New Brunswick Underwriters Association, of which group he is president.

R. Norris Bowden, CLU, who was re-elected for a second term of office as chairman and chief executive officer, said "The excellent results obtained by our national membership committee and the continued high enrolments in our training and education programs are a source of much satisfaction. Our aim is not only to fully represent Canada's agency force but to ensure that each member is equipped to render his or her clients and prospects truly knowledgeable counsel".

During 1976, LUAC's total membership reached an all time high of 17,861. According to the latest statistics available LUAC now represents approximately 80 per cent of the full time life insurance field force in Canada.

During the current course year, 3,033 members of the Association are participating in the two-year Life Underwriters Association Training Course (LUATC) which is designed for members during the early years of their life insurance career. In addition, 2,089 are enrolled in 7,000 subjects in the CLU of Study. The demanding CLU program is administered by LUAC in consultation with the School for Continuing Studies at the University of Toronto, and l'Ecole des Hautes Etudes Commerciales in Montreal.

Graduates of the CLU Course of Study becomes eligible for membership of the Institute of Chartered Life Underwriters of Canada, and the right to use the title and designation "Chartered Life Underwriters of Canada" (CLU). As at November 1, 1976, the Institute recorded 4,007 members.

Four-day "Schools for Continuing Education in Life Insurance" provide members with the opportunity for continuing professional growth and competence. Two-day CLU Seminars arranged at various university campuses for CLU graduates are led by the faculty of experts in the fields of law, accounting and life insurance. Some 750 members were attendees at various schools and seminars during 1976.

In his report to the 70th annual general meeting, Mr. Bowden further commented on the following areas of Association activity:

A new code of ethics which continues to emphasize the responsibility of members of the Association to ensure that the policyowners' best interests are first and foremost in all transactions.

In accordance with LUAC's recommendations, during 1976 the provincial Departments of Insurance in both Saskatchewan and British Columbia have issued regulations which allow agents with two or more years of experience to place business with other than their sponsoring companies subject to any contractual obligations they may have.

Previously, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick deleted the single company requirement from their law. Quebec has never had single company representation by law and there is good reason to believe that other provinces may amend their law in this regard during the coming year.

It appears unlikely that any action will be taken in Ontario until after the Select Committee of the Legislature appointed by the government completes its review of the Insurance Act.

LAUC has continued to express concern that there is some degree of coercion by bank employees to persuade customers to take out a bank RRSP or to apply for creditors' group life insurance to cover a mortgage or business loan.

It is expected that a bill to revise the Bank Act will be introduced by the federal government early in 1977. Such bill will normally be referred to the House of Commons Committee on Finance, Trade and Economics. This should provide LUAC with the further opportunity to put forward the Association's views about the current procedures whereby the banks sell large amounts of group life insurance to cover mortgages and business loans.

A number of LUAC's recommendations in the area of Taxation and Legislation were adopted during 1976 including increases in the limits of RRSP contributions and the maximum annual dollar limit on retirement pensions.

Concern has previously been expressed on the proposed revisions to the Canada Pension Plan and the question of the indexing of the federal civil service pension plan. Our concern in these areas is not based on concern as life insurance and pension plan practitioners, but as citizens of Canada who are concerned about the enormous costs which are being foisted onto the shoulders of tomorrow's taxpayers.

"It is our responsibility as concerned Canadians to become knowledgeable about such matters and as professional sales people to make the problems known to those with whom we come in daily contact.

National President, Joseph L. Etherington, CLU, Toronto.

First Vice Chairman, Ralph G. Simmons, CLU, Toronto.

Past Chairman-Board of Directors, Stephen Roughton, CLU, Kingston.

Secretary-Treasurer, Donald R. Glover, CLU, Calgary.

Chairman, Institute of Chartered Life Underwriters of Canada, Robert J. A. Wildman, CLU, Toronto.

Chairman, Education Council, Richard J. Thrope, CLU, Toronto.

Elected as members of the Executive Committee were Roger J. Latta, CLU, Vancouver; J. Yves Pilon, CLU, Quebec; P.Q.; V. H. "Lin" Marchbank, CLU, Winnipeg.

PROMOTED IN LOCAL MILITIA

Sgt. C.S. Bass (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bass, Bridge St., was promoted to Warrant Officer of Bravo Company by Major W.D. Turbide at the local armouries February 8. W.O. Bass joined the militia forces in August 1970 and has trained with "B" Company in Bathurst as well as other locations on the North Shore. He completed summer employment in Gagetown as well as three months fly-over training in Germany with NATA forces. He received his corporal stripes in November 1971 and was promoted to sergeant in July 1972. W.O. Bass is married to the former Margaret Hicks and is employed with Consolidated Bathurst as an apprentice electrician.

Urges Other Pattern For Federal Spending

New Brunswick's economic policies and suggested changes to the DREE and manpower programs were drawn to the federal government's attention last week by its Finance minister, Lawrence Garvie at the finance ministers' conference in Ottawa.

"Governments in Canada must strive to create an economic environment of stability and long term strength," Mr. Garvie said.

Governments must not continue to loom larger and larger in the life and business of Canadians but rather use existing resources in a way that will foster the kind of initiative and enterprise that created this country and that are necessary to sustain it, the minister said.

"We have made major strides in New Brunswick in expanding our economic base and creating jobs over the past several years. This growth momentum is now being lost and any hope of recovering it is dim as long as investment is weak nationally. The best prospect for new investment provincially is during periods when there are many expansion decisions being taken nationally."

The New Brunswick finance minister said that unemployment may ease marginally this year, but the longer term problem remains. "Any measures to deal with the current unemployment problem should make some contribution to the long term goals of permanent job creation and increased productivity," he emphasized.

Increased investment will not only generate jobs in the immediate future but will increase industrial capacity.

Federal recognition of regional needs and potentials is one of the fundamentals of governing this country. This recognition must involve consultation with provincial governments and a federal response to regional needs as perceived by governments that are much closer to people and circumstances in the regions, Mr. Garvie said in his statement.

"Above all, the federal government must not appear to be motivated primarily by political considerations," he said, adding that such often seemed to be the case and thus has contributed to a feeling of disillusionment and cynicism.

"DREE programs could be more effective in assisting firms through the start-up phase," the minister said.

"Specifically, we ask that 80 per cent of the DREE grant be advanced to a firm as it progresses with its construction schedule," Mr. Garvie added. He suggested such a change be placed in effect on a retroactive basis to help firms during current economic conditions.

This approach, according to the minister, would be preferable to the present system in which DREE requires the firm to be producing a marketable product for a period of a month before 80 percent of the grant will be advanced.

During periods of slow economic growth and high unemployment, the training and up-grading of the labour force must be a prime consideration in government economic policies, the minister said.

"The province knows what needs to be done but, unfortunately, does not have the finances to do the job."

To deal with unemployment New Brunswick recommends small public works programs aimed at employing unskilled people, direct casual employment by government departments to carry out work that might ordinarily be done over a period of years, and a grant program designed to provide socially beneficial activities in high unemployment areas.

Measures to stimulate investment and reduce personal income taxes will help restore confidence and initiative on the part of the private sector, Mr. Garvie added.

"In New Brunswick, we stress that measures to deal with the short term economic situation must contribute to creation of permanent jobs," he said.

Maritimes, Ottawa Sign Offshore Resources Pact

From the Ottawa Bureau Of The Northern Light

Prime Minister Trudeau and the three Maritime premiers February 1 inked the first federal-provincial offshore resources agreement which will guarantee the provinces 75 per cent of the revenue from future mineral development.

The memorandum of understanding signed by Mr. Trudeau and Premiers Richard Hatfield, Alex Campbell and Gerald Regan will ultimately lead to a full agreement which will establish a six-member board to manage resources development in demarcated zones offshore from each of the three provinces.

The boundaries of the zones are similar to those agreed to by Maritime premiers in 1964. Within those zones, the provinces will share 75 per cent of the revenue while Ottawa will claim 25 per cent.

The areas lie seaward from a "mineral resources administration line" (MRA), five kilometres off the low water mark of each shore, to points equidistant between other provinces or to the limits of Canada's new economic zone.

Inside the MRA line, the provinces share 100 per cent of resources revenue. It was intentionally drawn seaward of known Maritime coal reserves that are accessible from land.

In New Brunswick's case, both the MRA and the revenue-sharing line pass from the Quebec border through Chaleur Bay equidistant between the two provinces. The revenue-sharing line continues out to meet the boundary splitting waters between Prince Edward Island and the Magdalen Islands.

The MRA line follows the coast south to a point five kilometres off Point Escuminac where it is drawn out to Prince Edward Island's MRA line offshore from North Cape.

On the Fundy side of the province, the revenue-sharing line will start at the provincial border in Cumberland Basin, down the Bay of Fundy equal distance between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to a point which will be decided once a Canada-U.S. agreement is reached on international zones.

Premier Hatfield claimed the agreement is an indication of a whole new "regime" for off shore resources development.

He said it removes the climate of uncertainty which has clouded the issue.

Mr. Trudeau expressed pleasure with the fact that the memorandum sets aside long-standing jurisdictional disputes between the two levels of governments.

He called it a historical agreement which will prove equitable for the people of the three provinces and the country as a whole.

The Maritime Offshore Resources Board which will manage development of the resources will consist of three federal members and three representatives of the provinces. In the event of a tie vote or deadlock on any issue confronting it, the federal energy minister will decide within a prescribed period of time.

The board will be funded 25 per cent by the federal government and 75 per cent by the provinces, but a federal body which will act on the board's behalf and administer the resources on a day-to-day basis, will be paid for entirely by Ottawa.

The board, which will maintain an office in Halifax, will have the authority to issue development rights, set the terms and conditions for agreements, commission economic, sociological and related studies and provide for the distribution of revenue.

Monday Prayer Meeting Held

The regular Monday meeting of the Peace, Joy and Love Prayer Community was held at the House of Prayer Feb. 7. There was a large number present, with one newcomer welcomed by the community.

Christian community and sharing of brotherly love was explained and expanded upon during the teaching. It was noted that people grow more quickly in the spiritual sense if they have a close relationship and love with other brothers and sisters in Christ so they can share joys, problems, experiences and sometimes even work.

The Eucharist was concelebrated by Frs. Greg Samson and Greg Galligan. The readings pointed out that although we are weak and sinful, God in his goodness and greatness forgives us and tells us to fear not, but to be open and ready for His call.

The evening closed with sharing of tea, coffee and fellowship.

Romans 8 : 28 states, "We know that in all things God works for good with those who love Him, those whom He has called according to His purpose."

Funeral Held For Child

CARAQUET — The death of Eric Poirier, five-year-old son of Yvon and Marie-Therese (Albert) Poirier, occurred at l'Enfant-Jesus de Caraquet Hospital January 28.

Surviving other than his parents are one brother, Etienne, his paternal grand-parents Edgay and Victoria (Dugay) Poirier, maternal grand-parents Jean and Gilbert (Hache) Albert, his great-grand-parents Arthur Dugay and Marie-Louise Hache and his god-parents Robert Albert and Denise Poirier.

Entombment was in the parish vault to await burial in the adjoining cemetery in the spring.

Pallbearers were some of his close friends: Claude Albert, Yves Albert, Eric Leger, Isabelle Viennaux, Michelle Richeau and Louise Lacroix.

Pension Deadline March 31

Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde Feb. 7 reminded the more than one million Old Age Security pensioners who receive Guaranteed Income Supplement benefits of the March 31 renewal deadline. If pensioners fail to re-apply by then, their benefits may be interrupted.

Application for the federal government's Guaranteed Income Supplement, paid to pensioners with limited incomes, must be made each year.

The Department of National Health and Welfare sent application kits containing informative booklets and application forms to all Supplement recipients in late December or early January. Two reminders will also be sent before the March 31 deadline.

As a further way of ensuring that pensioners continue to receive their Supplement regularly, the department will operate 76 satellite offices in small towns across the country between now and March 31. The dates, hours of operation and locations of these offices will be announced locally.

Pensioners can receive assistance with their Supplement applications at these satellite offices as well as at the 10 regional offices in the provincial capitals and at the four district offices: Montreal, Ottawa, Calgary and Vancouver.

During the 1975-76 fiscal year, pensioners received $922 million in supplementary benefits. This was almost one-quarter of the total $3.9 billion paid to Old Age Security pensioners during that period.

Each month more than half of the two million Old Age Security pensioners receive some additional payment through the Guaranteed Income Supplement program.

The amount of Supplement paid depends on a pensioner's income. For example, a single pensioner, receiving the basic pension of $141.36 a month, would also receive the maximum Supplement of $90.15 a month if his yearly income, including the Old Age Security pension, was less than $2,700. A married couple, both pensioners and receiving the maximum Supplement, would be paid a total of $468.74 a month in pension and Supplement if their combined yearly income, including the OAS pension, was less than $5,400.

The Supplement is reduced gradually by other income until it reaches zero with a total yearly income, inclusive of the Old Age Security pension, of $3,900 for a single pensioner and $7,800 for a married couple where both are pensioners.

Campsite Policy Change Protested

President Harold Imough welcomed a large attendance, and a special guest, Frank Branch (MLA-Nepisiguit-Chaleur) to the February meeting of the Bathurst Fish and Game Assn., held Monday night , Feb. 7 at the upriver lodge.

In the treasurer's report, which showed a credit balance of $703.14, it was noted that a cheque had been forwarded as a donation to the Pabineau Fire Brigade. Thanks were extended to Aurele Frenette of Bathurst Draperies Ltd. for the installation of beautiful drapes at the lodge at a reduced price.

Present membership of the group was reported as 173, with an estimated 15 undeclared. Reference was made to a membership drive aimed at an increase to 300 by March.

A report on lodge activities showed a large attendance on weekends and many snowmobilers driving from Bathurst to the Falls area.

In a review of the sports program, Mr. Imough mentioned that many members has been enjoying snowmobiles excursions in the area and that there had been many complimentary comments regarding the trails being maintained by the Dept. of Natural Resources.

On the other hand, Mr. Imough said, dissatisfaction had been voiced in connection with the trail from Bathurst to the lodge site. Replying to enquiries as to the possibility of having this section groomed, the president indicated the Dept. of Natural Resources will try to have this done within the coming week.

Among correspondence read was a letter to Tom Riordon thanking him for past service on a no-fee basis and according him an honorary membership in appreciation.

A cheque for $25 was received from Brother Jacques Decoste along with a note thanking the association for allowing him and a group of 25 youths use of the lodge on a recent weekend.

A communication from the publishers of l'Evangeline requested that all correspondence be translated into French before being forwarded to them.

The secretary also read a letter from Bathurst MLA Eugene McGinley explaining his inability to accept an invitation to a recent meeting of the association.

Other communications included those from Robt. Lewis, publicity chairman of the N.B. Wildlife Federation, advising that this year's lottery may have two CJ5 Jeeps as grand prizes, plus 48 additional awards; from District Forester Yvon Moureault in reply to a request for a green belt along the lodge snowmobile trail. It was decided that the president along with several members will meet with Mr. Moreault in connection with this matter; a final letter read was from Jack Perry, provincial president, was in respect to campsite regulations.

Accordingly, a motion was passed to the effect that the association bring to the attention of the Premier and Minister concerned the necessity of having the Dept. of Natural Resources change its regulations involving campsite leases in clusters and revert to the former method of individual campsites located throughout the Crown Lands in the Greater Bathurst Area.

It is the association's belief that having people spread out in different areas serves as a protection for fire spotting, game protection and woodland conservation.

Asked to elaborate on this regulation, Frank Branch agreed there is a strong feeling of protest on the part of many people in his riding. Mr. Branch addressed the group of approximately 20 minutes following which he was thanked for his remarks and his attendance. He was asked for his support in Fredericton when the session reopens March 1.

It was moved by John Labonville, seconded by Tim Buraglia, that the lodge purchase a quantity of dishes.

Pursuant to a motion by Gerry Lavigne and Ernest Roy, a letter is to be written the premier concerning pollution of the Nepisiguit River and the possibility of a fish ladder at the Falls.

Tim Buralgia, Ron Doucet and John Labonville were appointed a nominating committee to select a new slate of officers. They are to report their findings at the next regular meeting.

Large Boats, Foreign Fishermen Blasted

Unless big draggers and seiners can be stopped from sweeping up fish off the New Brunswick coast "in a few years we'll be importing herring from Norway to bait our lobster traps with," the Legislature's Select Committee on Fisheries was advised here Monday, Feb. 7.

The warning comes during presentation of an oral brief at a public meeting here from the New Bandon Fishermen's Association represented by Carson Daley.

For over 30 years the big boats have been cleaning the waters, leaving smaller catches of herring, cod and other species for the inshore man along the coast, he said, and for over 30 years the locals had been pleading with Ottawa to enforce some rules.

Last year new regulations were applied respecting herring to big operators in Chaleur Bay but it was a "little late" according to the presentation.

Mr. Daley asserted the deep sea fleets plus the pollution of Atlantic salmon spawning streams had helped wreck that fishery and trend had been noted by fishermen long before a federal ban on commercial fishing was enacted in 1971.

The herring fishing, he continued, had been good in the bay until British Columbia seiners moved in after their west coast stocks disappeared and the situation was such that he could force importing Norwegian herring in the future for lobster bait.

Lobster fishing was good in Chaleur waters, he said, there was very little poaching but new federal regulations with regard to who was being considered a fisherman or not was creating confusion.

He scored bureaucrats in offices making decisions without consultation and charged the federal minister Hon. Romeo LeBlanc had been misinformed — "he should have been talking to fishermen."

Two key recommendations in the submission were for a subdivision of district 7C to accommodate a fishery basically geared to small inshore boats and not requiring the same rules as the big boys.

More participation by fishermen at the policy and decision-making level was also requested.

Of the new 200-mile limit to be administered by Canada the New Bandon group said the idea had looked good at the first but too many loopholes existed, including the granting of special permits allowing foreign vessels to fish inside the limit.

Mr. Daley charged that the foreign fleets would be going hard after the runs of caplin, a small fish which he said was the food fish for most of the groundfish caught commercially.

In general, the brief charged that the government was using the fishermen as "scapegoats... we saw trouble brewing 30 years ago."

Vernon Doucet of the Belledune Fishermen's Association voiced general agreement with the New Bandon submission, asserted fishermen were being used and the time had come to stop and think "why is it so?"

WINS $500 CREDIT UNION PRIZE

Louise Levesque, 444 Varrily St., was a recent winner of $500 offered by "La Federation des Caisses Populaires Acadiennes", Caraquet. In order to become eligible for the draw, members of any transfer credit union in Gloucester County must make a monthly deposit of $10 or more to their account without any withdrawals for a full year. Such a scheme was initiated to encourage members to save on a more regular basis. Paul Dube, manager of Holy Family Credit Union, made the presentation.

Mr. Brandt's Class
Through the open windows
a bird flew in.
It's size is no bigger than a budgie.
Back and forth it flew trying to get out.
Crowds throng at the door
to see and peer at the bird.
I hope it gets out at noon.

Miss Wilson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, 234 Demerseque St.

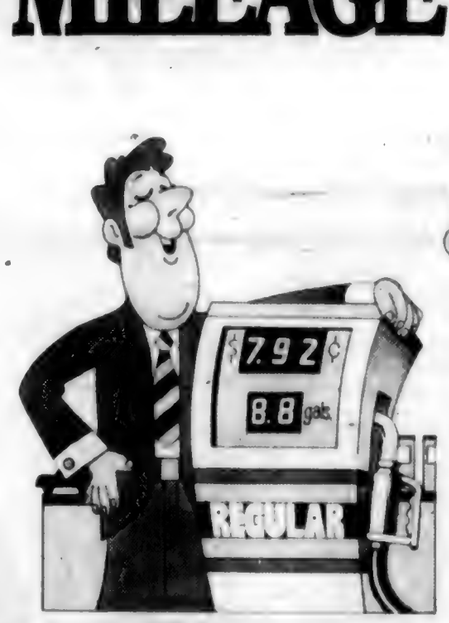
THERE'S TWO WAYS TO LOOK AT HONDA'S TOP MILEAGE NUMBERS.



1. LEAST CENTS PER MILE.*

Fill up a Honda Civic CVCC. It'll take Regular gas. The good news is you can probably top the tank for less than $8.00. The bad news: gas prices are going up.

With gas costed at 90¢ a gallon, according to the Transport Canada fuel economy figures, you can keep the popular Honda Civic Sedan or Hatchback in gasoline for about 2.1¢ per mile. The Station Wagon for 2.3¢ per mile, the best of any 5-door wagon. The CVCC for 1.7¢ per mile, and nobody's topped that figure. The remarkable Accord needs 1.95¢ per lovely mile.

Your nearby Honda dealer has some other figures you'll like. A price that's a sight for sore eyes. And some eye-popping space statistics. See him soon.

2. MOST MILES PER GALLON.*

Of all figures released by Transport Canada, the 1977 Honda Civic CVCC and Honda Accord achieved the highest gas mileage. Both are 5-speed hatchbacks, and fifth gear gives them boosts in mileage by dropping rpm's while cruising.

The actual figures:

CVCC: 47 city, 62 highway, 53 combined.

Accord. 30 city, 38 highway, 46 combined.

Nobody did better than that.

But that's only one way to look at fuel economy.

HONDA

PUT A SMILE ON YOUR FACE. DRIVE A HONDA.

*Based on Combined city and highway mileage figures, as supplied by the Ministry of Transport "Fuel Economy Guide." Your actual mileage may vary based on such factors as the type of driving, options fitted to the car, seasonal temperatures, road conditions, the condition of your car and how you drive.

CITY TOWING ADDS HEAVIER EQUIPMENT

A Bathurst firm, City Towing has expanded its 24-hour service with the acquisition of the largest piece of equipment for this purpose in Northeastern New Brunswick. Acadian Village Expected To Boost Region's Tourism

Modern-day Loyalists who have enjoyed seeing the days of their ancestors recreated at King's Landing will finally get a chance this year to see how the other half lived.

Based on somewhat the same idea as the popular King's Landing historical village near Fredericton, the Village Historique Acadien will open in May with a number of historic buildings and costumed staff to take the visitor back into time.

Some of the buildings, one and two-storey wooden structures, date back as far as 1781. Each will have its own staff dressed in costumes of the appropriate period, going about their business as their ancestors might have two centuries ago.

Visitors will also get a hitherto rare opportunity to eat an Acadian meal similar to what might have been on the tables well before Confederation. The menus are being prepared now.

The village, located beside the northwest Caraquet River, is about eight miles west of the town on Route 11. To build it, homes and other structures from Acadian settlements all over the province were taken from their original sites and carefully tracked to their new locations.

Planning for the village, says director Jean-Yves Theriault, began about ten years ago. The final go-ahead from the federal and provincial governments to start the $5.5 million project was given in 1972.

Mr. Theriault expects between 80,000 and 100,000 people to visit the village during its first official year, which begins May 28 and ends after Labor Day.

One hope is that the village, located in the opposite corner of the province from the well-travelled St. John River Valley and its King's Landing, will boost tourism in the northeast.

But while it is expected to be a tourist attraction - and that, says Mr. Theriault is important - there are also plans for an education program at the village "because that's the most important part of it."

Discussions are currently under way with the education department to use the village in conjunction with history courses. It is also hoped that students can stay in the village a few days so that they may better understand the way people lived at that time.

Visitors will be welcomed at the village reception centre with a slide presentation and brief instructions on the history of the Acadians, particularly their early settlements, their expulsion from the province by the English in 1755 and their gradual return.

A map will show where they came from and went to. There will be separate presentations in English and French.

The idea, says Mr. Theriault, is to try to get visitors thinking about the past before they actually enter the village.

They will be able to wander at their own speed with the help of a map and guides located in various buildings.

Grand Anse Firm Awarded Grant

A direct loan of $150,000 will be issued by the province to Grand Anse Beverages Ltd., Commerce and Development Minister Gerald Merrithew has announced.

The company, which produces carbonated soft drinks, is the major employer in Grand Anse, providing fulltime employment to 15 people.

Grand Anse Beverages has been in operation since 1964. Sales were up last year some 38 per cent above the 1975 level and the forecast for 1977 indicates an even higher increase in sales.

The loan will be used for working capital, and to assist the company to institute a second shift, providing up to six new jobs.

Put confidence in everyone else and you'll build up your own.

FLASHBACK - HELPED PUT BATHURST ON CURLING MAP

The popular winter sport of curling and the City of Bathurst have always been synonymous, even as far back as when this was only a building town. And, although the local club's reputation has been reasonably retained in recent years, the list to the left were the days of the real champions. Shown, here is the Tidsbebeau rink, whose winning of the Ganong Trophy in 1951 entitled them to represent New Brunswick in the ninth annual Maritime Silver Tankard Dominion Curling Championship at the Granite Club in Toronto in March of the same year. Left to right are Phil Andrews, lead; Eddie Stories, second stone; Harper Kent, mate; and Vick Tidsbebeau, skip. A Tidsbebeau rink had also won the Ganong twice previously in 1931 and 1932, and on two later occasions, 1949 and 1951. Mr. Kent, considerably younger than his colleagues, is the only surviving member of the quartet. Another Bathurst rink, that skipped by Joe Connolly, with his brother Dan as mate, Jack Kennedy, second stone, and Aurele Landry, lead, lifted the Ganong until subsequently played on the Wardendell Silver on three occasions - 1938, 1942 and 1944. Although of the same age group, Mr. Kennedy is the sole member of the foursome still living.

Lawyers Told "To Cooperate" With Councils

Lawyers attending the annual mid-winter meeting of the New Brunswick Bar Association in Fredericton recently were told that cooperation is the best attitude to take when dealing with municipal councils.

One of the panel members in a discussion group was George Chasson of Bathurst, who talked on the role of the private solicitor and his dealings with councils.

Mr. Chasson, of the local firm, Whelton, McGinley, Chasson and Desjardins, said that as a lawyer with a private practice he gets calls almost every day from someone with a problem relating to municipal government. Most are small matters such as a zoning violation by someone running a business out of his home.

A lawyer must know the people he will have to deal with at city hall and be "pretty well-prepared", with his arguments, he said.

Mr. Chasson told delegates that when they are defending someone charged under a municipal by-law they should see that the particular law is in order. There have been cases when someone has been charged under a by-law that, for example, hasn't come into effect.

He described dealings with municipalities as "frustrating at" and said he doesn't think "you can fight them - you have to try to cooperate."

In conflict-of-interest involving municipal councillors, Mr. Chasson said he doesn't think the problems are all that great. If there is protection against it some of which is provided in the Criminal Code.

Solicitors who run for public office are in "a very poor administrative position" because their law firms at some point are probably going to become involved with city council on behalf of a client, Mr. Chasson said.

Even if the councillor associated with the firm refrains from voting and leaves the council chamber there will still be a "stigma" attached if the matter is resolved in the client's favor, he added.

High Risk Types Can Get Vaccine

Health Minister Brenda Robertson said February 4 that after reviewing the latest recommendations of the National Advisory Committee on Immunizing Agents with officials of the Department of Health she is making available the 'swine' vaccine - A/Victoria - A/Swine - to the high risk groups through the various public health offices in the province.

Persons over 65 years of age and those with chronic ailments of the heart, kidney, lungs and those with diabetes should contact the nearest public health office if they desire to receive the vaccine.

The minister went on to say that an association between the Guillain-Barre syndrome and the influenza vaccination has not been confirmed in Canada.

The potential benefit of the influenza immunization still outweighs the risk of possible complications in persons for whom inoculation or combined influenza vaccine is recommended, the minister said.

In agreement with the recommendations of the expert committee, the department is shortly to make available special trivalent vaccine for children in the age group 3-10 in the province.

Those adults in the high risk category desiring the vaccine should obtain a letter of recommendation from their family physician and present it to the district medical health officers in the respective regions. The vaccine will be available to the public after Feb. 14, where the present stock of vaccine needs to be replenished.

Bank-Rate Cuts Feed Inflation

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

As Canada's economic machinery limps along from one crisis to another, people with long memories must surely remember those long-gone days when the goals of efficiency and success were shared by government and business alike.

A generation ago, for example, finance ministers were proud to plan for growth and price stability - sloughed off, today, as an impossible combination - and energy ministers encouraged new development instead of taxing it to death.

Now, those who favor creation and development of wealth are largely being pushed to one side, by those whose only concern is redistributing it - even if they have to grunt it first.

If the federal government is taking any advice on its current economic policies, it must be that of the party hacks in the Senate and elsewhere, rather than those people who are generally conceded to possess some expertise.

The latest half-point reduction in Canada's bank rate, to eight per cent on Feb. 1, is an example of a decision that seems to have been made for short-term political reasons rather than for economic reasons.

EASY MONEY

This was the third such reduction within three weeks, and is clearly inflationary since money supply grew rapidly in December and January.

It has left the money market unable to forecast - with reasonable accuracy - future trends in interest rates, and fearful of new political tampering with the market.

There's little if any justification for the government's rush back to its pre-controls policy of ever-higher inflation.

Granted, economic growth has been slow and unemployment has been edging upward.

But Canada's system of indexing personal taxes, pensions, family allowances, etc., is a perfectly adequate built-in method of economic stimulation.

According to economist D.D. Peters of the Toronto-Dominion Bank, the effect of our indexing program in Canada this year will be the equivalent of the $15 billion to $20 billion in tax cuts proposed in the United States by the new Carter Administration.

Yet Trudeau, Macdonald and company appear to be determined to pile stimulus upon stimulus, regardless of inflationary consequences, simply because such a policy is politically popular and profitable in the short term.

OUT OF TOUCH

Two-figure inflation poses no threat to politicians and bureaucrats, whose incomes are "indexed" for life. (For the majority of Canadians, however, it doesn't mean the good life but rather a life of increasing hardship and disillusionment.)

That makes it all the more unlikely that Ottawa's policy-makers will ever be brought back into touch with the kind of reality in which efficiency, prudence and good management are the commonly accepted objectives of public administrators.

It's fashionable to denigrate business and its methods. But leaders of government and bureaucracy would do well to ponder the four basic principles through which business achieves efficiency, according to executive director Herbert Perry of the Certified General Accountants Association of Ontario:

-People at the top set an example.

-Experts' advice is heeded.
-Efficiency is rewarded.
-Poor managers are eliminated.

"None of these rules seems to be followed at present in Ottawa", says Mr. Perry. "In fact, quite the reverse seems to be happening."

Former Rector Local College

The death of a former rector of Bathurst College, Rev. Albert D'Amours, a member of the Eudist order, occurred Feb. 5 at Chauveau Centre Hospital, Lorretteville, Que. He was 79.

A native of Willimantic, Conn., he studied classics and philosophy at Nicolet College, Que., 1913 - 1917, and Saint Jean-Eudes Seminary in Bathurst from 1918 - 20.

Father D'Amours attended the Eudist Novitiate from 1917 until 1921. He then completed theology studies at the Gregorian Institute in Rome, Italy, and was ordained at Caen, France, Sept. 29, 1923.

Throughout his life, Father D'Amours was engaged in the teaching profession, serving on the faculty of Bathurst College from 1924 - 35 and superior of that institution from 1935 - 40. In 1940, he was appointed provincial super of the Eudists' Canadian Province, serving in this capacity until 1949.

Father D'Amours served successively on the faculty of St. Louis College, Edmundston; Holy Heart Seminary, Halifax; at Laval-des-Rapides, Que. as chaplain of Bon-Pasteur religious order; director of Willowbrook Seminary at Washington, D.C.; and Saint Anne College, Church Point, N.S.; returning in 1963 to Laval-des-Rapides, Que. as chaplain until his retirement in 1968.

Since then, Father D'Amours has resided at the Eudist Provincial House as Charlesbourg, Que., where, in the past year, he had devoted his energies to writing the genealogy of the D'Amours family.

Father D'Amours rested at the Eudist Provincial House, 6125 1st Ave., Charlesbourg, where the funeral was held in the chapel Feb. 9. Entombment will be followed by burial in the cemetery of the order at Charlesbourg in the spring.

RCMP Put The Bite On Lobster Thieves

(By Cpl. W. B. Heneigar in the summer edition of The RCMP Quarterly)

On the morning of June 15th 1976 a call was received from the owner of a lobster stand near Petitcodiac, N.B., who complained that someone had broken into the stand the previous night and stolen approximately $200.00 worth of lobster.

The owner of the lobster stand turned over a set of false teeth which he had found near the entrance to the stand. Closer examination of the scene revealed an empty beer case which contained a receipt from the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission store number 1. It was quite obvious that the teeth had been dropped by the culprit and it was also felt that they left the beer case behind as the owner said he had not put it there himself and the stand had been closed all night.

A telephone call was immediately made to the liquor store in Amherst, Nova Scotia where it was learned that store no. 1 was in fact that same store. Other members on the receipt indicated that this particular case of beer would have been purchased on June 14th, 1976 near closing time which was 6:00 p.m.

The investigation was continued with the false teeth being taken to a local dentist, who after examining them indicated they appeared to have been made by a private denturist rather than a commercial dentarist as the quality of the teeth was much better than those made by the latter. The dentist was unable to determine any identifying marks on the plate. He in turn, gave the names of both dentist labs in Moncton, N.B. and they were subsequently checked. It was learned that these teeth were not made in New Brunswick by a N.B. dentarist. This, along with the liquor receipt, resulted in several dentarists being contacted in Amherst, Nova Scotia. While making enquiries in this regard, the N.C.O. i/c Petitcodiac Detachment, recalled a break and entry at the same lobster stand several years ago and the two suspects had been from Amherst, N.S. However, this case had not gone to Court.

Enquiries made at the liquor store in Amherst, N.S. revealed that these same suspects had been at the store on June 14th, 1976, and had purchased a case of Alpine beer. The investigation continued, and by examining the false plate under a microscope, it was established that the work performed by a local dentarist in Amherst, N.S. This dentarist advised that he made the false teeth one month ago for one of the suspects mentioned by the N.C.O. i/c Petitcodiac Detachment.

With the able assistance of Amherst Town Police both suspects were picked up and to our amazement, both had them.

The suspect who had the plate made a month earlier was questioned first and upon asking where his false teeth were he replied that he had not had them made yet. Through further interrogation he admitted that he had them made but had lost them. He was then shown the false teeth and asked if they might fit him. Needless to say, this was the piece of hitting evidence that led to the conviction of the two persons responsible. Most of the goods were recovered and returned to the owner.

So to any would be lobster thieves in the Province of New Brunswick, make sure that while stealing lobster, you keep your teeth in your mouth. To use a T.V. Cliche "In Petitcodiac, New Brunswick, this is the law."

Funeral For Mishap Victim

ST.-RAPHAEL-SUR-MER - The death of Mrs. Xavier Duguay occurred in an accident Feb. 5 at the age of 55.

She was the former Helena Guignard, a daughter of Xavier and Josephine (Mallet) Guignard.

Fishermen Speak Out On Licensing Policy

"Is it a sin to work anymore?" an angry Gloucester County fisherman asked members of the Legislature's Select Committee on Fisheries at a meeting here Monday, February 7 as he protested Ottawa's proposed new lobster fishing regulations which have the effect of forcing men out of the fishery if employed elsewhere for a major kpart of a year, agriculture excepted.

The voice of Carson Daley of New Bandon was one of several raised during the public session in the afternoon against the type of laws being laid down by federal bureaucrats which, they said, were being implemented without due consultation with fishermen.

"Farmers can fish lobster" they told the committee but other individuals who have winter employment at Brunswick Mines, or smelter or local mills are going to be frozen out of the industry, and a number of hardship cases were related by the audience during the brisk meeting.

Problems endured by the fishermen of Gloucester and Restigouche Counties were peculiar to their type of fishing — pretty much of their criticism was directed against the big dragger and seiner floats which "sweep" the offshore waters, leaving little for the coastal men, as well as anger over the lobster regulations.

In fact, responding to questions from chairman Jean-Maurice Simard they said they had little complaints over operations of the Fishermen's Loan Board, a touchy subject at other committee hearings, because "we're little fishermen who pay our own way."

Fisherman Bill Wiseman made that comment after Mr. Simard posed the query and turning to the audience he asked "isn't that right boys?" His answer was an enthusiastic round of applause.

Mr. Wiseman, who has been fishing for around 30 years, said the Gloucester inshoremen started out with a few traps "and a $10 boat" and improved their gear and boats as they went along.

"This is an unique area, we asked for no help," he continued "but now they (the federals) say we were wrong and want us to burn half of our gear."

Mr. Wiseman said next season he himself will have to fish with 100 less traps while he, and others contended the lobster stocks were increasing in Bay Chaleur waters.

Mr. Daley blasted Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc and officials in Halifax for rules which punish initiative, make it a sin to work and leave welfare and UIC monies as alternatives from men who will be forced out of lobstering without compensation.

The Halifax office of the federal department, he observed, should suffer the fate of the Biblical sin cities of Sodom and Gommorrah and "be destroyed".

Problems of two brothers in partnership on a lobster boat were outlined by Eric and Gordon Ellis because one of them will have to leave the fishery and men complained bitterly that they were not being allowed to pass their lobster licenses on to their sons if the latter were involved with industrial employment.

Mr. Wiseman said one of his sons was facing that future because of industrial employment plus a fishing operation with his father.

"He had initiative but now he can't take the boat...the government is saying what you did have we're taking away...we have fishermen with sons coming along but they are not allowed to fish because of a connection with industry."

During the discussions the men opposed a suggestion that there might be, in the future, two lobster fishing seasons on the North Shore in the spring and fall, arguing that if left alone in the fall the lobster would gain weight and be a more valuable product in the next spring.

They also advocated a division of fisheries district 7C with a new region and specified rules for the inshore fishermen along a great arc of the coast from Grand Anse to Dalhousie and the suggestion was also made that the Province of New Brunswick should take over from Ottawa the job of running its own fisheries.

Mr. Daley suggested that monies spent by Ottawa should be turned over to the province for the operation and he noted in Quebec there appeared to be little confusing among fishermen—"they are managing the area and there is no curtailment on the Quebec side of Chaleur Bay."

"I believe the province should take over the whole damn works", he declared, should get into the marketing end a bit (but not like eggs) and also help the coastal fishermen get freezer facilities and ice plants, especially for mackerel catches.

Disparities in lobster seasons on the Fundy and northern shores were rapped by Mr. Daley who noted the south had nearly eight months fishing while in Bay Chaleur the spring season was only eight weeks long and usually a week or so of that was lost because of ice in the bay.

Fishermen are generally confused over the federal intentions he said and recalled the difficulties which arose in the area last spring, when shortly before the season was due to open, 80 notices were sent to lobstermen in a 20-mile area warning them of impending license losses.

He remarked the men demonstrated then, and might have to again, before the word was flashed on April 25 that "everybody is going to fish."

The hundreds of small boats are the lifelines of this area" and Mr. Daley urged the committee "to listen to the little voice in the wilderness, don't worry about the big boys with the money."

Appearing on behalf of the Bathurst Fish and Games Association Harold Imough, urged the committee to spear a drive to clean up pollution in the Nepisiguit, Miramichi and Tetagouche Rivers to improve their potential as salmon spawning streams, and for fish ladders on the Tetegouche to enable the fish to get around waterfalls.

Most of the pollution was from wood pulp production and a little from the mining industry, he said, with no sewage involved.

Interim Report On Education

The Task Force on the School Year appointed by the minister of education last June has released an interim report on its findings.

It has been sent to all school board chairmen, district school superintendents, and to all groups and individuals who submitted briefs or recommendations.

Education Minister Charles Gallagher stressed that only an interim report has been submitted. The final report is expected at the end of February.

"It's really a study document calling for public reaction," said the minister. He added that the Task Force is anxious to get reaction and suggestions from the public and those to whom the interim report has been sent. The final report, according to the Task Force, will reflect public opinion on the matter.

Mr Gallagher advises school boards, parents and students that major decisions are not expected to be effected for the next school year. Changes may be made in future years but "the first part of the coming school year will be on the usual basis," he said.

Copies of the interim report are available from the department. Inquiries, comments or recommendations should be sent to either of the co-chairmen: A. H. Kingett, P. O. Box 752, Fredericton or Mrs. Madeline Girouard, 336 High Street, Moncton.

Copper Prices Rise

Canadian producers of refined copper and lead have raised the domestic prices of both the metals following recent upward price changes in the United States market.

The new Canadian published prices are 69.375 cents a lb. for copper, basis electrolytic full plate cathode, and 28 cents a lb. for lead.

Inco., which had earlier raised its copper wirebar price by 1.125 cents a lb. effective Jan. 28, said on Jan. 27 that it had filed a premotification form with the federal Anti-Inflation Board for an additional increase of 1.75 cents a lb. effective Feb. 3.

Noranda and Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting followed on Jan. 28 with an increase of 2.875 cents raising the Canadian price for cathode to 69.375 cents effective immediately. The companies said the premium for electrolytic wirebar remained unchanged at 0.625 cents a lb.

Planning for the day you retire or buy your first home means having a master plan for your investment in the future. So we have two plans to help. A Retirement Savings Plan, and a Home Ownership Savings Plan. They both earn you valuable tax savings, and when you subscribe to either one, or both plans your contributions can be applied to any one, or a combination of these investment vehicles:

1. Royal Bank RSP and HOSP Deposits. Interest-bearing deposits with The Royal Bank of Canada, offering a high interest return, geared to the general deposit rate structure. Because of the long-term nature of these deposits, it is possible to pay a higher rate of interest than on conventional savings deposits.
2. Income Fund. High-yield bonds, deposit instruments and mortgages insured under the National Housing Act make up this portfolio which is actively managed by professionals. The policy is to achieve as high a current income as is compatible with maintaining reasonable price stability as well as moderate capital appreciation.
3. Equity Fund. Investment mainly in Canadian common stock portfolio which is actively managed by the same professionals. Long-term capital growth with reasonable current income is the objective of this fund.

It's all in how you plan your strategy.

Your Royal Bank manager can help you work out a master plan. Why not call or visit today. Now it's your move.

All Members Attend Meeting

A full attendance of members of the Canadian Council of the Blind Bathurst Club at the Feb. 7 meeting resulted in fruitful discussions on club business and plans.

Special topics discussed concerned the Maritime and international bowling roll-offs scheduled for late spring.

The meeting, held at Villa Chaleur residence for senior citizens, was chaired by the president, Mrs. Therese Levasseur.

Jack Dawson of Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd., was on hand to present a fund-raising project to the club, giving initiative to members to assist in their finances.

After adjournment, a social evening was held in the Villa Chaleur cafeteria, giving an opportunity for the resident senior citizens and CCB Club members to become acquainted.

A group of musicians headed by Clovis Comeau of Beresford provided entertainment and members of both clubs joined in old-time dancing and jiving.

The senior citizens lunch committee and ladies of the Nepisiguit Women's Institute Branch served lunch jointly.

The CCB Club extended thanks to both groups and to the director of Chaleur Villa who so generously made facilities of the residence available so that the residents and CCB members were able to meet socially. They also expressed appreciation to the Clovis Comeau group for providing such enjoyable music.

Several associate members of the CCB Bathurst Club were also present.

ANN LANDERS

Counseling Advice Is Far-Fetched

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am fed up with your all-purpose answer — "Get some counseling." You apply it to every situation. "I hate my father." "Get some counseling." "Nobody likes me." "Get some counseling." "I was hit by a bus." "Get some counseling."

I admit that last one is a little far-fetched, but so is your idea of counseling. How many people can afford $50 an hour for a shrink?

Don't tell me about those wonderful "free clinics." Show me a free clinic in a small town and I'll show you a zebra with feathers.

Telling a kid to see her school guidance counselor is ridiculous when she goes to a school that doesn't have one. Besides, a 13-year-old girl like myself doesn't want counseling. She wants your advice. That's why she writes to you. — Mad Teen

DEAR TEEN: Some problems can be solved by saying yes or no, or, "Tell him to get lost," or "Forget it." Other problems need to be talked out. Just verbalizing your feelings can make you feel a whole lot better. . . and sometimes it can help you identify the problem yourself, which is better than having someone point it out to you.

Any junior high school that doesn't have a least one guidance counselor is short-changing its students. If they have money for gym equipment they have money for a counselor. The parents should raise Cain.

If there is no free clinic in your town, there must be a clergyman or a doctor or a judge or a kind teacher who will listen to a troubled kid. I'm not copping out when I say "get counseling." It's good advice and I stand by it.

DEAR ANN: A woman wrote to say she wished her friends and relatives had sent money to help pay the funeral expenses when her husband died, instead of sending huge baskets of flowers and long letters that only made her feel worse. You replied, "Sorry, it would not be in good taste."

You are WRONG. Sending money to the family of the bereaved is an honorable Japanese custom. When my father-in-law died, the money gifts not only paid for his funeral, but helped keep my mother-in-law in a nursing home until she died.

A retraction, please. — Mrs. M. (Chicago)

DEAR MRS. M.: You are right. I was wrong. I checked with my Japanese friends and learned the "ko-den" (money gift) is not only proper but considered a very thoughtful gesture. Money gifts are accepted by a committee at the wake. The list of donors is then given to the next of kin who later sends each doner some home-baked sweets or a note of appreciation. "Arigotto" for straightening me out.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read your definition of maturity, for the second time. It first appeared five years ago and I was delighted to see it again. (This time I clipped it out, something I meant to do in 1972 but didn't.)

I notice you rerun various letters when readers request them. Why don't you gather your best columns and make them into a book? I would be pleased to have such a collection. — LONG TIME ANN FAN

DEAR FAN: I did. The book published by Fawcett, "Ann Landers Speaks Out", is now in paperback. Price $1.50. If your bookstore is out, write to Fawcett Publishing Company, P. O. Box 1014, Grenwich, Conn. 06830. Add 35 cents for postage.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Lander's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann-Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Entire Slate Is Re-Elected

The entire slate of officers for St. George's Organ Guild was re-elected at its annual meeting held Jan. 18 in the R.E.O. Centre.

The 1977 executive includes: Mrs. C. Furlong, president; Mrs. R. H. Murphy, honorary president; Mrs. Harrison Ronalds, vice-president; Mrs. Clifford Rodgers, secretary; and Mrs. Donald Jennings, treasurer.

Committees will be appointed at the next meeting scheduled for Feb. 15 when a bring-and-buy sale will be held. Members will be bringing a guest to this meeting.

The elections were chaired by the rector, Archdeacon R. H. Murphy, who thanked the Guild for dedication and support during the past and asked for continued support from the membership.

Mrs. Clarence Furlong chaired the regular meeting as well as the annual meeting which followed and regular and annual reports were submitted.

Donations were made towards the church bulletin and telephone bill for the year and a gift was forwarded to Miss Isabel Murphy, a missionary in Brazil.

GUIDERS AND BROWNIES ARE ENROLLED

Eight Brownies and their Guiders were enrolled in the 2nd West Bathurst Brownie Pack by the district commissioner, Mrs. Anne Marie Gammon. The special ceremonies were held in the basement of Our Lady of the Rosary Church Feb. 3 and parents and several special guests were present. The new Brownies and leaders are, left to right, front: Renee Verret, Sandra Hacquard, Annette Lagace, Kelbe Nicolle, Laura Lindsay, Francine LeBlanc, back Row: Mrs. Carmel Furlong, Brown Owl; Raymonde Brideau, Denise Leblanc and Mrs. Alma Lagace, Tawny Owl. An entertaining program of action songs was presented for the parents and special guests who included the division trainer, Mrs. Winnie Bullen, and Mrs. Barbara Pudille, immediate past leader who presented badges the girls had earned at last year's summer camp at which Mrs. Pudille was the Guider. Mrs. Claudette Pageer is assistant leader and Mrs. Bullen also assists at meetings of the Pack. The program concluded with lunch served by the third-year Brownies.

APPLIANCE EFFICIENCY

Energy conservation means conserving all forms of energy. Whether we use gas, oil or electric power, we'll save money by using all fuels efficiently. Here's some guidelines to help.

Your Refrigerator
- Clean condenser coils regularly.
- Don't let frost build up more than ¼ inch thick.
- Fill the freezer to capacity, use and replace the contents often.
- Check door gaskets for a tight seal.

Your Dishwasher
- Wash full loads only.
- Use a short cycle for normally soiled dishes.
- Open the door after the final rinse so dishes can air dry.
- Use once a day during non-peak hours.

Your Range
- Preheat the oven no longer than necessary.
- Plan meals for the most efficient use (try complete oven meals).
- Use flat bottom cooking utensils that fit the element or burners.
- Don't pre-heat when broiling.

Your Washer
- Operate during non-peak hours.
- Use warm water for lightly soiled articles and save the hot for heavy soil.
- Use the lower water settings for smaller loads.
- Don't overload clothes as this reduces the cleaning action.

Saving energy is everyone's concern. Clip this article to put up beside each appliance as a reminder to save energy.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Lenore Ross, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. David Ross from Hamilton, Ont., have returned to their respective homes after a two-week vacation in Hawaii where the former, who is employed at Chaleur General Hospital, said they experienced beautiful sunshine, and temperatures in the mid and high 80s.

Mrs. Garfield Stratton and Mrs. Henry White have returned from St. Hilaire, Que., where they were guests for a week of the former's sister and the latter's sister, Mrs. William Fisherman, Mr. Fisherman and family.

John and Nancy Donahoe of Broad Cove, N.S., are expecting at the normal arrival of their eleven son, John Paul, eight months, a brother for Dennis and Danielle, and another grandson for George and Cora Donahoe of Bathurst.

Miss Suzanne Levesque has returned from Montreal to complete arrangements for her forth-coming marriage to Roger Young, which takes place here Feb. 26. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Levesque.

SAVE ENERGY

When cooking vegetables, don't drown them; about ½ cup of water is usually plenty and cook only until tender. You'll save vitamins and the food will taste and look better. If you use too much water, then you'll be using unnecessary energy in bringing the water to a boil.

Serve Special Breakfast To Family Shrove Tuesday

Everyone loves some special attention, children and grown-ups alike, especially when it concerns their favorite food.

At the section of the week "Shrove Tuesday" we more distinctly envision a stack of steaming pancakes, lightly dusted with sweet table syrup.

Wouldn't your family get a delightful surprise this Shrove Tuesday if they woke to a special edition breakfast.

Oatmeal Pancakes: they would undoubtedly find them irresistible and come back for more. Or, if they are waffle lovers, there is an excellent recipe for Oatmeal waffles.

To complete your surprise breakfast serve tasty Breakfast Muffins and a glass of your favorite juice. Naturally, this special edition breakfast may be served anytime during the year.

OATMEAL PANCAKES

Method: Combine flour, rolled oats, sugar, baking powder and salt in mixing bowl. Blend egg, milk and corn oil. Gradually add to dry ingredients, stirring just until blended.

Pour batter for several pancakes onto hot, lightly greased griddle. Cook, turning once, until lightly browned on both sides. Makes 10 (3 inch) pancakes. Serve hot topped with Old Tyme Syrup.

Step Into The Future...Now!

There's a new wind blowing in medicine. Prevention is what it's all about: the idea that by altering our surroundings, and the way we live, we can reduce our chances of becoming chronically ill.

The effort to pinpoint the causes of cancer makes news almost daily.

We are learning that certain kinds of cancer are more likely to develop when the body is subjected to particular substances. And we are hearing how to cut down on these factors in our lives. But knowing doesn't necessarily mean doing: witness how many people keep on smoking cigarettes in spite of warnings of lung cancer.

The historians of the year 2000 will look back on the sixties as the period when the risk factors for heart and circulatory disease were identified, and the link with heavy smoking, lack of exercise and overeating became clear. They might well ask, "If the typical Canadian diet was identified as a possible trouble-maker, why didn't more people make preventive changes in their eating habits sooner?"

Of course, many people have already started to cut down on calories, to maintain a trim figure. And anyone who has learned that his blood cholesterol is high is likely to be following his doctor's advice to modify his diet, for high cholesterol values go along with an increased risk of heart attack.

MODIFIED DIET

Simply stated, the modification involves a switch in protein to more fish and poultry, less red meat; the substitution of polyunsaturated fats (like Manola corn oil) for saturated fats (like butter and lard); a limitation of foods rich in cholesterol (eggs, organ meats and certain seafood); and more liberal use of fruits, vegetables, nuts and cereals.

Overall, there's a cut in saturated fat, cholesterol and total calories, and an increase in fibre.

Everyone who plans a family menu has a responsibility to make thoughtful choices from the overwhelming variety of foods available. Every person who chooses his own food should understand the real dangers of an unwise diet.

For generations, there was a mystery surrounding heart attacks. Recently, medical and nutritional research has revealed that what and how much we eat may influence our chances of having a heart attack. No one can say for sure, but the preventive approach could decrease the number of deaths from cardiovascular disease.

By altering your diet to reduce saturated fat and cholesterol, you could be taking a step into the future... NOW!

CWL Enjoys Discussions

The February meeting of Holy Rosary Council Catholic Women's League was held in the meeting room of Our Lady of the Rosary Church on Feb. 3.

The meeting opened with the League prayer and excerpts from the Scriptures read by Ann Leger. They were taken from "Marialis Cultus" and concerned Mary.

Minutes were read by the secretary Jean Bujhas, and convenors' and the treasurer's reports were heard and correspondence read.

Discussed was the annual Bathurst Diocesan CWL convention in May which will be hosted by Sacred Heart Council here, and Holy Rosary Council's participation in this meeting.

Also discussed were plans for a visit to Foyer Notre Dame de Lourdes, with treats and music. Feb. 17 was set as a tentative date for this project.

Present throughout the meeting was the council director, Rev. J. W. Roche who led the ladies in discussions ranging from inter-faith marriage courses and pro-life to the participation of parents in their children's catechism program.

The discussions were lively and interesting and resulted in the meeting being one of the most enjoyable the group had experienced.

After the closing prayer, a light lunch was served.

BIBLE DIGEST "The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life: and he that winneth souls is wise." Proverbs 11:30

The greatest thing that we can do is to see the value of just one soul and go all out to win it for the Lord. He said one soul is worth more than the whole world. "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Employment For The Deaf Is Assn.'s Aim

The President of a recently formed organization for the deaf and hard-of-hearing says one of the group's main objectives will be to encourage education aimed at helping deaf persons to get jobs.

G. W. (Willie) Battah of Robertville, president of the New Brunswick Co Ordinating Council of the Hearing Handicapped, said inadequate job training opportunities in the past have resulted in few deaf persons joining the labor force.

"It was only a few years ago that the only trades open to deaf persons at a school in Quebec were barbering and shoe repair - and there were a lot of people who didn't want to do either."

He said deafness can actually be an asset for some jobs, such as key-punch operator, because noises don't distract the deaf from their work.

The major thrust of the association would be to inform the deaf of existing job opportunities. But education of the public to accept deaf workers was also important.

"I can understand that in construction or any other trade where it would be dangerous if you couldn't hear, there would be a reluctance to accept deaf workers. But the public has to be educated so they understand there are jobs the deaf can do."

The association also plans to be active in detection of deafness in children and in helping elderly people obtain auditory services.

Mr. Battah said the most common cause of deafness in children is German measles contracted by their mothers when they were pregnant. In such cases, the child's deafness is incurable.

An estimated 80 per cent of persons classified as deaf mutes have the ability to speak, he said, but can't because they have never heard voices.

Greater emphasis was needed in obtaining better living standards for the adult deaf.

He suggested that Canadian television networks could help the deaf by having someone stand beside the announcer translating the words into sign language as one United States network does.

The association was created largely on the initiative of parents who wanted their deaf children to have equal education opportunities despite their disability.

"I've always been involved in such organizations," said Mr. Battah. "But having a deaf son made me see the difficulties they have and made me realize how much work is needed."

Pair Fined Under Act

Two Gloucester County residents were sentenced in court in Caraquet February 7 on charges of false statements concerning undeclared earnings for the purpose of drawing Unemployment Insurance benefits.

Victor LeBreton of Duguayville pleaded guilty to three charges and was fined $25 or the alternative of ten days in jail. In addition, Mr. LeBreton has an overpayment of $743 with the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Ola Mallet, a native of Bas Caraquet, was sentenced to a $200 fine or 15 days in jail after pleading guilty to eight charges under the Unemployment Insurance Act. He also had an overpayment of $1,482 with the Commission.

Both men appeared before Judge Gaston Bertrand.

Venus Answers Said Too Vague

The Restigouche East member of the New Brunswick Legislature, Rayburn Doucett, has criticized the provincial government for its handling of the Venus Electric issue.

Mr. Doucett, Liberal economic growth critic, described recent announcements regarding the financially-troubled company's plants in Saint John and Athol ville as "so vague, they've irresponsible."

"The minister of commerce and development knows what is going on but he doesn't think the people of New Brunswick generally, and the employees in particular, have a right to share that information until he feels like telling them.

"It should also have been made clear in the minister's statement announcing the sale of Venus Electric whether the government of New Brunswick intends to have any further financial involvement in the company, which already swallowed nearly $4-million in public funds", Mr. Doucet said.

The provincial government has been involved in the plant and its fate since the company went into receivership last year.

It's easy to tell who the boss is. He's the one who watches the clock during coffee breaks.

AUXILIARY MEMBERS ARE HONOURED

The presentation of 50th anniversary service medals was made recently to three members of the Ladies Auxiliary, Herman J. Good V.C. Branch No. 18, Royal Canadian Legion. From the left are: Wilbur Elhatton, Legion's immediate past-president; Irene Vander Pluijm, Alma Aube and Anna Wessenberg.

Art Exhibit Includes Items From Bathurst

The New Brunswick Museum has announced plans for a major exhibition has summer which will be called "For the Love of God". According to Robert Percival, Curator of Art at the museum, "For the Love of God" is an exhibition of works of religious art from churches and individuals throughout the province. In earlier times, he explained, the churches were among the greatest patrons of the arts, and many great works of art from the past were commissioned by them. This exhibition will attempt to show how the religions of the people of New Brunswick have affected the province's artists and craftsmen. It will also show some of the decoration from churches throughout the provinces, which, though made elsewhere, was chosen to decorate New Brunswick churches.

Mr. Percival explained that the idea for the exhibition grew out of a visit to the rectory of the Roman Catholic Cathedral in Saint John where he examined some large paintings. Some of them were very good, he said, and gradually the idea of an exhibition of works of religious art at the museum began to grow. Because of the paintings at the rectory, it was first envisioned as an exhibition of paintings, but it was soon realized that many more items from churches would fit well into the theme. Most of the arts and crafts practiced in the world are represented in churches, where everything from painting to woodcarving and from embroidery to glass and metal work can be seen.

The collections of the museum were examined for objects for the exhibition. This search revealed that while there were some very fine artifacts there, assistance would have to be obtained from churches and from laymen in order to obtain the best representation of the religious art of the province. The Bishops of Saint John, Fredericton, Moncton and Bathurst as well as other members of the clergy of various denominations and faiths were approached, and in all cases offered advice and support.

A museum vehicle has recently returned from Bathurst with a cargo of items collected there by Bishop Godin from his diocese. Among them is a wooden crucifix about four feet in height carved in what the museum describes as a "primitive, but very moving style". A cross worn by the first bishop of Bathurst and several reliquaries made my nuns in Campbellton have also been received.

Mr. Percival explained that the museum has been offered other items such as stained glass windows from the Old St. Dunstan's Church in Fredericton, a walnut table which survived the Saint John fire from Centenary Queen Square United Church, and many others. He said, however, that there are certainly many more works of great religious, historic and artistic value in homes and churches throughout the province.

The museum is borrowing objects that are made known to it for period of six or seven months he said. "For the Love of God" will last from May until the end of September and a few weeks at either end will be required for research and cataloguing. He explained that all items will be on loan to the museum and that receipts and loan agreements will be issued to the owners. All items borrowed will be insured for the value placed on them by the owners, he said.

Mr. Percival said that anyone who knows of objects old or new that they feel should be part of the exhibition of religious art should contact the Art Department of the museum in Saint John.

The New Brunswick Museum is certain that the exhibition will be a landmark in its increasingly active and vigourous program. It has urged religious congregations and people of all creeds to support "For the Love of God" for the reason stated in the title.

Man Sentenced To Prison Term

The attempted robbery of a downtown Bathurst department store on December 23 has resulted in a three-year prison term for a 29-year-old city native.

Raymond Melanson, 29, was sentenced last week in Provincial Court to three years in federal penitentiary in connection with a holdup at the W.J. Kent and Co. Ltd. store. The accused had originally elected trial by a judge in a higher court, but re-elected to be tried in provincial court where he changed his plea to guilty.

Melanson was thwarted in his attempt to leave the store with $2,320 in cash which he had obtained at gunpoint from an accounting department employee.

Local Principal Attends Session

Bathurst High School Principal Emery J. Goguen was one of 11,000 school administrators who took part in the recent convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals in New Orleans, Louisiana.

Colleagues from all over North America explored possible solutions and alternatives concerning issues facing education and the schools in 1977. More than 100 sessions focusing on such topics as back to the basics; what it is and how it's done; budget decentralization; alternatives to suspensions; extracurricular programs and how to survive in an era of austerity.

Another activity at the national convention was visits to New Orleans area schools that feature innovative practices and concepts. Mr. Goguen visited J.F. Kennedy Senior High School where the mini-course concept is in operation. The school curriculum is divided into a series of nine-week courses rather than the more traditional year-long compartmentalization.

Major speakers at the 61st convention included Senator Sam Erwin, well-known politician from South Carolina and of Watergate fame, Congressman Lindy Boggs, Saturday Review Editor Norman Cousins, Olympic Gold Medalist Bob Richards and Xavier University (La.) President Norman Francis.

The National Association of Secondary School Principals, organized in 1916, serves 38,000 school administrators through several monthly publications, seminars and conferences, research and information clearinghouses, and legal assistance. Its annual convention is one of the largest gatherings of educators in the country.

Harold Stanley Dies In Florida

A well-known Bathurst resident in the 1940s and 50s, G. Harold Stanley died suddenly in Panama City Beach, Florida, February 10. He was in his late 60s.

Originally from Quebec City, Mr. Stanley, an accountant, was connected with Gloucester Lumber and Trading Co. Ltd. when he first came to Bathurst and later with the George Eddy Company Limited.

He was active while here in St. George's Anglican Church as well as in Masonic and Eastern Star circles. He was a past grand master of St. George's Lodge No. 27 F. and A.M.

At the time of his retirement several years ago, Mr. Stanley was with the Star Transfer Ltd., Timmins, Ont. He then moved to London, Ont., where he and Mrs. Stanley resided in the Tower Cliff Apartments (Apt. 305), 285 Base Line Road.

Besides his wife, the former Abigail (Gail) Mutch, of Newcastle, N.B., Mr. Stanley is survived by three sons, Gilbert, Timmins, Ont.; Brian, St. Thomas, Ont., and William, Oakville, Ont.

Funeral rites at St. Thomas of the Seas Protestant Church, Panama City Beach, last week were followed by cremation. A memorial service was held in St. Michael and All Angels Anglican Church, London, on February 15.

There must be something to reincarnation, judging from the way some people come back to life at quitting time.

Pleads Guilty, Pays $225 Fine

Appearing in provincial court here recently before Judge Frederic Arsenault on two charges under the Direct Sellers' Act, Denis Bouchard pleaded guilty and was fined a total of $225.

Mr. Bouchard, who operates under the name of Renovations and Decor Ltd., was represented by Robert Boudreau, a Bathurst barrister.

The charges against Mr. Bouchard were laid by the N.B. Consumer Bureau, Fredericton, on information of Michael R. Crowther. The offences were stated to have occurred at Beresford on or about January 29, 1976.

One count against the accused was for direct selling of goods and services without a licence. The other involved non-possession of a bond in the amount and form prescribed by regulation.

This is why every car should have the Ford Duraguard System.

Quality, reliability and durability. The Ford Duraguard System has it all. Plus a no-charge, 36 month, unlimited mileage warranty against rust perforation.

The salt truck is a familiar sight during Canada's winter season.

And while salt helps to melt ice and snow, it also creates a problem for automobiles.

Rust.

With more and more salt being used on our streets and highways, automobiles are exposed to more corrosive elements than ever before.

In order to cope with this environmental problem, Ford of Canada equips its 1977 North American built cars with the DURAGUARD SYSTEM.

Zinc rich primer is a special paint primer that assists in rust prevention.

The DURAGUARD SYSTEM is what goes into every 1977 North American built Ford and Mercury car to give you the most advanced corrosion resistance system we've ever offered.

It's built in at the factory, and it's standard equipment on every model.

The increased use of anti-rust processes has enabled Ford of Canada to offer an unprecedented no-charge, 36 month, unlimited mileage warranty against rust perforation.

In tests, at a Ford proving ground, individual test cars are subjected to prolonged exposure to a salty environment to simulate the kinds of conditions we experience in Canada.

Tough testing helps to determine the effectiveness of our anti-rust processes.

PRECOATED STEEL is one of our anti-rust processes that provides a defence against corrosive elements. We use more than twice as much precoated steel as in 1976.

VINYL COATING, a standard equipment feature on 1977 Ford and Mercury cars sold in Canada, is applied under the paint, behind the wheel openings, and helps to reduce the effect of stone chipping and road abrasives kicked up by the tires. VINYL SEALER creates a plasticized barrier against rust. ASPHALT COATING supplements the sprayed on vinyl sealer. GALVANIZED STEEL, a well-known rust inhibitor, is used in several extra-vulnerable spots. ALUMINIZED WAX is used in many places where moisture may accumulate, to further isolate the steel from corrosive elements. THE FINISHING TOUCH. The bare sheet metal of each car body has been dipped in a phosphate bath, and covered with a strong epoxy primer. For the final touch, three full coats of acrylic enamel are sprayed and baked into a durable, weather-resistant, glossy finish.

All of these anti-rust processes combine to give you the most advanced corrosion resistance system we've ever offered. The DURAGUARD SYSTEM. And this system has its own special warranty. Only Ford of Canada offers a no-charge warranty like this. It goes along with every one of our 1977 cars sold in Canada, including taxis and police cars. And it goes to show just how good the DURAGUARD SYSTEM really is.

WARRANTY
No-charge, 36 month, unlimited mileage warranty against rust perforation on 1977 cars.

This warranty, which is exclusive to Canada, and is transferable to succeeding owners, covers the cost of both labour and materials for repair of perforation of parts caused by corrosion. The basic 12 month/12,000 mile warranty covers corrosion, other than perforations, that is due to defective factory materials or workmanship. Ask your Ford or Mercury dealer for details.

Canada Manpower Job Information

BY G. J. FRENETTE

This is the second in a series of articles dealing with the activities of the Canada Manpower Centre in Bathurst prepared by G.J. Frenette, Manager of the Bathurst office.

JOB TALK

The Canada Manpower Centre in Bathurst is the largest human resource bank in town with lists of skilled, semi-skilled or professional people seeking employment in the area.

At the end of January 1977, there were a total of 11,741 registered for employment in the Bathurst area and its two branches in Caraquet and Tracadie. Not all of these people are unemployed, a fairly large number are working and seeking a change for a variety of reasons.

In the past twelve months alone, the Canada Manpower Centre in Bathurst and its branches in Caraquet and Tracadie placed 3,300 people in jobs in the area.

If you have not been in our Canada Manpower Centre in the past few years, you may be in for a surprise. Our department, our programs and our offices have changed noticeably.

Among the more obvious changes are the introduction of the self service job bank, our new communication systems with other centres across Canada and a closer working relations between our office and the Unemployment Insurance Commission offices which will lead to full integration of the two agencies along with closer liaison with several other agencies and community organizations.

The self-service job bank introduced by Manpower over two years ago, is an effort to accelerate the job placement process by giving more exposure to job offers and reducing the paper work involved in the job finding process.

These changes allow us to bring people and jobs together faster than ever before benefiting both workers and employer.

I mentioned in my first article that I would discuss the main features of our Canada Manpower Industrial Training Program.

The Canada Manpower Industrial Training Program operates under the adult occupational Training Act. As a principle training employee is the responsibility of the employer, however, where it is in the public interest to do so, the department may assist employers in developing, initiating and improving their training programs.

The main objectives of the programs are to expand employment opportunities for unemployed workers and those with "special needs" who have unusual difficulty getting or holding jobs (ex. disadvantaged, handicapped, etc.,) to alleviate persistent skill shortages, to prevent the lay-off of workers because of technological or economic change, to support industrial development strategies in various regions of the country. Priorities given to these objectives may vary from province to province depending on a pre-established strategy.

When the training is prepared and approved, Canada Manpower will contribute towards training costs and reimburse you for part of your employer's wages while engaged on a training program. The portion of the salaries reimbursed may be up to 85 percent if the workers in training were identified as clients with special needs as previously explained, up to 60 percent if the trainee was unemployed or about to be unemployed, and up to 40 percent if the trainee was employed.

In the past year, the Canada Manpower Centre in Bathurst and its branches in Caraquet and Tracadie have approved 161 Industrial Training contracts with 84 different employers. Because of these training projects, a significant number of people have acquired new skills and are now in a better position to achieve their own personal goals as well as their companies' objectives.

Employers are invited to contact the Canada Manpower Centre in Bathurst for more information on any of our manpower programs and services.

Outdoor Workshop Planned

Students at English-language schools in District 4 are hoping that Thursday and Friday, Feb. 17 and 18 will not bring an unexpected snowstorm that might interfere with a much-needed, two-day break.

On those days, teachers will be attending a professional workshop.

For teachers, activities will be varied and vital. An outdoor workshop is planned under the direction of the N.B. Forestry Service. Lecturers will be here from Holland College to lead teachers in an analysis of the benefits to be derived from group dynamics and human relation skills.

For those teachers who don't want to participate in the joys of a Northern N.B. winter, nor the fun of self-exploration, there are individual activities that have been approved by the Professional Development Committee.

Teachers too join in the plea to the weatherman to prevent snow, wind or rain.

Area Highways To Get Share Of Joint Funds

The federal government will contribute up to $42 million and the province $24 million during the next three years for the construction of priority highways in New Brunswick under a Canada-New Brunswick highways subsidiary agreement.

Close to $20-million of the total funds is earmarked for the Bathurst area.

The agreement comes under the 10-year Canada-New Brunswick General Development Agreement signed in 1974 for the purpose of improving employment and income opportunities within the province.

Federal Minister of Regional Economic Expansion Marcel Lessard and Premier Richard Hatfield made the joint announcement at Fredericton February 11 while reviewing progress under various agreements between DREE and the province.

The sub-agreement provides for the continuation of federal-provincial joint funding to improve the highway system in the northern and eastern portions of the province during the period 1977 - 80.

The agreement shows that on Route 11, $9.7 million will be spent to construct the six-mile Eel River-Charlo section, completing the Campbellton-Dalhousie bypass.

Another $6.3 million is earmarked to complete the 16-mile Beresford-Belledune section of the Bathurst bypass, and $5 million to reconstruct approximately 14 miles of road on the present alignment between Chatham and St. Margarets.

Also on Route 11, completion of the 16-mile Buctouche to Rexton section; construction on a road overpass at South Cocagne and the Richibucto River Bridge will cost an estimated $13.8 million.

The continued upgrading of Coastal Route 11 including completion of major bridges at Inkerman and Pokemouche and construction of the Bass River Bridge, the Grand Anse diversion and paving of 13.2 miles of road is estimated at $8.3 million.

Also, $2.5 million will be used to upgrade sections of the 30-mile route between Allardville and Losier Settlement on the Central Peninsula Access Road (Route 360).

In order to improve general access to the northeast section of New Brunswick, $4 million has been allotted to upgrade special sections on Route 8 between Chatham and Boiestown, and $4 million for Route 17 between Jardine Brook and Upsalquitch.

The remaining funds are devoted to continued highway planning and for continuation of programs undertaken and substantially completed under previous subsidiary agreements.

Salmon Fishing Ban Will Continue In 1977

The five year ban on commercial fishing of Atlantic salmon, imposed in April 1972, as a conservation measure in certain areas of Atlantic Canada, will continue in 1977, Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc announced February 4.

"Although the condition of the Atlantic salmon stocks has shown a marked improvement over the past five years", said Mr LeBlanc, "the full benefit of the closure will not be realized until we get the returns from the 1972 spawning. In view of the six-year reproductive cycle of many Canadian salmon, this will not occur until 1978. By that time, it is expected that the salmon stocks will have recovered sufficiently to allow the resumption of a modest commercial fishery."

The Minister added that compensation payments will again be paid in 1977 to fisherman who are not permitted to fish as a result of the commercial salmon ban. This compensation amounts to about $1.5 million annually, and will continue at current payment levels for about 700 commercial fisherman.

Temporary restrictions were imposed in 1972 as a result of the serious decline in stocks, caused by heavy overfishing by foreign fishermen and the effects of pollution in spawning rivers. The fishing ban areas were the estuaries of the Miramichi, Restigouche and Saint John Rivers in New Brunswick and rivers of the Gaspe peninsula in Quebec. At the same time, to conserve west coast Newfoundland stocks and to reduce the incidence of mainland salmon in the total harvest, the permanent closure of the Port aux Basques drift-net fishery was also introduced.

The Province of Quebec, which has responsibility for management of fisheries in that province under a 1922 agreement, is expected to announce a decision shortly regarding continuation of the salmon fishing ban in its area of responsibility.

In addition to the ban on commercial salmon fishery, the salmon sport fishery in New Brunswick and Quebec has been subject to shorter seasons and reduced creel limits over the past five years.

LIFE'S BATTLE

It just has to be the world's greatest game - income trying to keep ahead of family expenses.

Experience ripens judgement -it teaches to live and let live.

Francophones Gain In Alberta

Just two weeks before the momentous Quebec election, the Association Canadienne-Francaise de l'Alberta marked its 50th anniversary - an event indicating that French - speaking Canadians in the province are successfully managing cultural survival, and suggesting that Alberta's redneck image among some Canadians is overdrawn.

Indeed, recent legislated changes likely will help French-speaking Albertans not only to maintain but strengthen their culture, writes Martin Zivitz from Edmonton in The Financial Post.

There are about 45,000 francophones in Alberta, with amost half concentrated in the Edmonton region.

Following World War II, the provincial School Act was amended to permit the teaching of French as a foreign language for a maximum of one hour a day, and that's the way things stood until 1970.

Then French was allowed as the language of instruction for any subject, except English, for up to half the school day. That was changed at the beginning of this school year to allow French on a full-time basis in the classroom. Although happy with the latest change, francophone officials say the next step is to have French-language instruction enshrined into the law as a right, not a privilege to be left up to the discretion of school boards.

Too often a man declares his opinion and feels he has none.

Employees Credited With NBTel's Success

The New Brunswick Telephone Company, Limited met most of its service and financial requirements in 1976.

In the annual report to shareholders, company president Kenneth V Cox said much of NBTel's success in 1976 can be attributed to employees who made special efforts to achieve service and financial goals.

Mr Cox singled out the dedication of employees during and in the aftermath of the disastrous February 2 windstorm.

According to Mr Cox, the company must strengthen its financial position in 1977 if it is to continue to provide a standard of service that ranks in quality with any other telephone company in North America.

"Service demand over the next five years will require external financing of over $150 million," said Mr Cox, noting that a significant portion will have to come from the issue of new stock.

To be in a position to expand and maintain service to its customers in 1977, Mr Cox said the company filed an application for higher rates last October with the New Brunswick Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities. In its application, the company sought $8.7 million in additional 1977 revenues.

Mr Cox said 1976's financial results reached a level that enabled the company to successfully complete a $17 million issue of common stock, the first since 1967. The company also issued $17 million in debentures in the United States.

Mr Cox said a portion of the money received through the stock issue and the sale of debentures was used to finance the company's capital construction program in 1976. Close to $56 million was spent during the year to meet customer demands for service and to provide for future growth. The expenditure represents a 92% per cent increase over 1975's construction budget. It is the largest program ever undertaken in the company's history.

The capital program included major expansion of 17 switching equipment centres and 54 building extensions. An additional 5,900 customers in eight exchanges received direct distance dialing (DDD) capability. At year's end, approximately 92 per cent of the company's customers had access to DDD service.

In late 1976, many of the company's main office employees moved from 12 separate locations in Saint John to new quarters on the "One Brunswick Square" office building where the company is leasing space.

NBTel's net income was $22,979,000 in 1976, or $2.20 per common share. Annual dividends of $1.36 per common share were declared.

Operating revenues for the year were $92.6 million, an increase of 21.2 per cent over the previous year. Operating expenses were $63.6 million, an increase of 20.6 per cent over 1975.

The number of telephones in service in New Brunswick rose to 331,938, an increase of 3.7 per cent over 1975's total. Approximately 58.2 million long distance messages were made in 1976, up 6.9 per cent over 1975.

FIRE DESTROYS CENTURY OLD CITY LANDMARK

One of the city's oldest residential buildings and in its day among the most impressive, was completely destroyed by fire Sunday. City firemen answered a first call to 404 Riverside Dr. at 9:41 a.m., had the blaze under control, but were summoned again at 2:36 p.m., remaining on the scene until 6:30 p.m. Built originally by the Leahy family, well over a hundred years ago, it was later owned by Dr. C. J. Veniot, the former senator, who sold it to the late Theo. S. Hachey about 1925. The property is presently owned by Grant Hachey. It contained three apartments, one occupied by his mother, Mrs. Lawrence Hachey and son Michael, the others by Alex. Bertin and Keith Veenman. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

City OK's Proposed Air Link

A proposal by Air Bathurst Ltd. which would provide air service between Fredericton and Bathurst was approved Monday night by a meeting of City Council.

Addressing council for the second time on the subject of air service was Eric Tall, operations manager for the local company. He noted that after a full review of the passenger load experienced by Atlantic Central Airlines, the company estimated it would need no more than $5,000 to cover the city's risk of one seat. He added the city should be making a profit after five or six months.

Mr. Tall said if the proposal was accepted, the operation could get underway in about a month, allowing time for adequate advertising.

Coun. Robert Hodgins pointed out that council had just authorized the paving of tennis courts without even an estimate of the cost, and a $5,000 investment in Air Bathurst would come back two-fold. "The money will be going to local people, and our impact and community plans all indicated we should be doing something with our airport. It has been proven to be a viable operation."

Coun. Jean Paul Lavoie moved the approval of the plan, provided city involvement be limited to $5,000 and profits go toward the general revenue of the city.

Council gave its unanimous consent.

CARNIVAL'S ROYAL FAMILY CHOSEN

Highlighting the St. Anne Winter Carnival held February 17 to 20, was the crowning of the queen, and the choosing of two princesses and a dutchess on opening night. A $50 prize for the Queen was donated and presented by Leonard Doucet, director at the Centre. The first and second princesses both received $10 each donated by the Centre and presented by Arismond Chiasson, president. The dutchess received a bouquet of flowers. Frank Branch, MLA for Nepisiguit-Chaleur, who was guest of honor, addressed the capacity-filled hall and invited everyone to participate in the activities as much as possible in order to make the carnival a success. He congratulated the president and his directors for a job well done. Mr. Branch was also called upon to crown the Queen. Mr. Chiasson welcomed those present and invited one and all to attend and enjoy their first winter carnival. From the left are: Lynn Smith, Dutchess; Joan Pitre, 2nd Princess; Mr. Branch, Queen Susan Chiasson, and Doreen White, 1st Princess.

LOSS TO LIBRARY

Thursday, Feb. 16, 1977 was a sad occasion for patrons of Nepisiguit Centennial Library. It was the final day on staff of Mrs. A. J. Arsenault, or Lil, as she is more familiarly known to her friends.

Mrs. Arsenault was part and parcel of Bathurst's first and only library ever since it opened nearly 10 years ago, first as a member of the board of directors, and then as assistant librarian. This popular community centre will never be the same without her.

As Mrs. Reg. Miller, vice-president of the library board, so aptly put it in a farewell presentation to Mrs. Arsenault at a special function Feb. 14:

"This gift is an indication of our appreciation of the work you have done over the years. Your gentle and competent manner had added a degree of quality to the service of this library. It is regrettable that you must go, but you leave with a fine example behind you. We will miss you and we thank you."

Mrs. Arsenault was a natural for her post. She had every qualification plus a few extras. Although not a professional librarian she knew and loved books. She was fluently bilingual, obliging and charming, and her premature swansong to a very useful role, the result of

JOE COMEAU

New Roles For Sports Figure

Joe Comeau, a well-known sports figure in the Bathurst area, has interesting plans these days.

As of March 15, Mr. Comeau, present district sales manager for Maritime Modular Homes and Distributors, will be assuming a new post as manager of a new sporting goods store.

It's to be located in the T.S. Hachey and Sons building on St. Peter Ave., the same premises last occupied by Rayco Realty.

In addition, Mr. Comeau has confirmed he will be a candidate for councillor in the Village of Nigadoo in the May 9th municipal election.

Known as Normoe Sports, the merchandising outlet with which Mr. Comeau will be associated, is a new link in a chain jointly owned by Norman Hebert and Maurice Cormier, Caraquet businessmen. Branches are already located at Shippegan, St. Quentin and Caraquet.

Council Delays Street Decision

Bathurst City Council, in light of a possible meeting between the Bathurst Festival Commission and the Downtown Merchants Association, has made no decision as yet on whether to close Main Street and King Avenue during Hospitality Days.

During Monday's council meeting, councillors voted 5-3 against a motion by Deputy Mayor Patrick McLaughlin which would leave the streets open. He felt that the wishes of the merchants, who have indicated they are against a downtown mall again this year, should be honoured.

However, other councillors, including festival commission liaison Val Saulnier, felt the issue should be left open. "Maybe the two sides will come to an agreement some time before the festival begins", said Coun. Saulnier. He added the commission had already indicated its willingness to meet with the merchants.

Voting against the McLaughlin motion were Councillors Henry Murphy, Val Saulnier, Jean Paul Lavoie, Doug Williamson and Jim MacLaggan. In favor were Couns. Terry Lenihan, Robert Hodgins and McLaughlin. The motion was defeated.

In other business, Coun. Val Saulnier gave a report on the meeting in Edmundston over the weekend of the Cities of New Brunswick Association, revealing the largest-ever delegation from Bathurst in attendance. Those present included Mayor John Duffy, Deputy Mayor Pat McLaughlin, Couns. Jean Paul Lavoie, Jim MacLaggan and Saulnier, and City Manager Pierre Marquis, City Engineer Geoff Greenough and Police Chief David Camp.

Council also authorized a draft resolution calling for public tenders for the water treatment plant extension.

City Will Support Grant Application

Bathurst City Council has thrown its support behind the Parkwood Heights Homeowners Association in its application for a Canada Works grant.

entitled Parkwood Project '77 were explained to council Monday evening by a spokesman for the association, Mrs. Florine Rutledge.

According to the speaker, the project involves the cleanup and development of Riverside and Centennial Parks, located in Riverview and Parkwood Heights respectively. Tennis courts, new baseball backstops, tennis practice boards and other equipment would be installed, and the work would be carried out in conjunction with the city's plans for development in the parks.

The grant would also cover the cost of responsible adult supervision in the recreation areas, and would employ ten workers for 11 months.

Specifically, the grant would provide for lights and fencing for four tennis courts to accommodate 1,000 children, two backstops and two outdoor skating surfaces in Centennial Park, and one outdoor rink and one backstop in Riverside.

"What we need from the city", said Mrs. Rutledge, "is a letter confirming future development of the parks in question. We are asking that the city provide the heavy equipment and materials for paving of the four courts as paving must come before fencing and lights."

Mrs. Rutledge noted that plans to develop the parks had been revealed about three years ago, but by the former council. She stressed that the approval of the Canada Works project hinged on whether the city would honor this commitment, made in the spring of 1974.

Coun. Valmond Saulnier wondered about the cost factor of paving four courts, pointing out that two courts in Hachey Ward constructed six years ago had amounted to almost $6,000.

Coun. Terry Lenihan, however, felt council should give its full endorsement of the project. He moved that council commit itself to the paving of an area equal to four courts in Centennial Park, and that the city coordinate its development plans for the area with the organization.

"The cost of four courts will not be staggering", he said, "and our term of office has neglected parks and recreation. There's a minimum of financial involvement here, and the project should be supported all the way."

Coun. Jim MacLaggan agreed with the motion, but wondered if there was any time limit involved.

Mrs. Rutledge told council that paving should take place when the weather is good, at a time when city crews are working on streets in the Parkwood area. "All we want at present is a letter stating you are willing to do the work. Without this letter, the project won't even be considered."

The motion by Coun. Lenihan was passed unanimously, with the understanding that paving would be carried out in conjunction with the capital works program.

Request For Permit Approved By Council

A request for a building permit for lot 1E in Grove Hill Subdivision received approval Monday following receipt of legal advice from City Solicitor Antonio J. Robichaud.

The matter, concerning a parcel of land owned by Rene Pratt of Bathurst, had been tabled at the Feb. 7 meeting of council pending advice on the legalities involved.

Mr. Pratt had at that time indicated he wished to sell the lot to Hadley Wood, who in turn wanted to build on the property. However, a 1973 motion of council had restricted further development in the subdivision.

Mr. Robichaud noted that while the city had the power to restrict building if services were inadequate, it would have a hard time refusing prospective builders if they could provide their own water and sewage services.

He recommended rescinding the 1973 motion, a review of the situation, and the adoption of a new policy.

Coun. Terry Lenihan agreed with the city solicitor, saying the people who owned land in the subdivision had purchased it with intentions to build.

"It would be fair for us to allow those who bought lots before Sept. 10, 1973, with the exception of the developer, to apply for building permits, subject to the approval of the health department. There are only about 13 people involved, and we all know there won't be water and sewage installations in that area for quite a few years in the future."

Coun. Val Saulnier then moved that the permit for lot 1E be approved, providing the well and septic tank placed on the property meet provincial health department standards. He also suggested council examine the policy as a whole.

The motion was unanimously accepted.

REV. DR. CHALMERS

FATHER VERMEERSCH

Ecumenical Lenten Series Opens Mar. 1

The contemporary significance of creative thinkers in Christian history will be the theme of an ecumenical Lenten series of addresses and discussions set to take place at St. George's Anglican Church Hall beginning March 1.

Scheduled for six consecutive Tuesdays, and to be preceded by brief devotions in the sanctuary, the addresses will centre around society, human life, and how religion relates to the two.

Rev. Dr. Ralph C. Chalmers will give the first presentation, entitled "Saint Augustine (354-430 A.D.) and Where Is Society Going" on March 1. Questions for discussion will include what kind of a society we want, what we can do to change the general attitude of many speakers and writers in the media, and whether we can create a more Christian society.

On March 8, Rev. Louis Vermeersch will speak on "Thomas Aquinas, 1225-1274) and The Value of Human Life". This will touch on such questions as whether a person is free to end his own life, should a person's life be taken when there is no hope of recovery from injury or illness, and what the rights of the individual and society are in the case of the quadriplegic.

"John Calvin (1509-1564) and A Christian View of the State" will be elaborated on by Rev. Chalmers March 15. Questions for discussion will include: Should the Church pay taxes? Can Christians join a revolution against the government?

Professor Thomas A. Mabey, of the Atlantic School of Theology, Halifax, will give the address March 22 on the theme, "Karl Rahner (1904 - ...) and Who Owns This Earth Anyway?" Questions will include whether land should be sold to the highest bidder, and the controversy over spruce budworm spraying in New Brunswick.

On March 29, Professor Frederick G. Kriegar, also of the Atlantic School of Theology, will expand on the theme of "William Temple (1881 - 1944) and Social Justice", taking into consideration such topics as: Can we be joyful without being greedy when it comes to housing, food, transportation and entertainment? How far does our personal way of life depend on society's wealth? How can others benefit from our material possessions?

The final address, scheduled for April 5, will see a presentation by Rev. Dr. Chalmers entitled "Dietrich Bonhoeffer (1906-1945) and Who Needs God Today?" Questions for discussion will be: Have we "come of age" in that we don't need God to make sense out of life nowadays? Are we coming to an age of religionless Christianity?

All addresses are set for 8 p.m., with devotions scheduled for 7:45 p.m.

The planning committee for the series comprises Rev. Yvon Boudreau, James Boyle, Rev. Dr. Chalmers, Rhoese Dickie, Rev. Ray A. Francis, Mrs. Alan Ray, John McAlson, Rev. Raymond H. Murphy, Father Vermeersch and Hadley Wood.

government bureaucracy more or less, is unfortunate.

People come and go and the world goes on forever, although not always exactly the same. With all due respect to those who follow her, Mrs. Arsenault was separate and apart. Her departure marks an irreparable loss.

FITTING TRIBUTE

The Shoe Travellers Assn. of Canada, Atlantic Division, honored Donald Mitton of Bathurst, at an evening reception in Moncton Feb. 6 with the presentation of an engraved silver tray marking "a lifetime of cooperation" with members of the association.

During the same function, a feature of the organization's Annual Boot Show, Mrs. Mitton received a piece of Hummel for her collection.

A native of Moncton, Mr. Mitton started his career with Cook's in that city. Then, after two years in Halifax, he joined Eaton's in Moncton.

Mr. Mitton first became associated with the Kent organization in Bathurst in December, 1964. He remained as manager of the shoe department there for 22 years until his retirement from that merchandising field for health reasons about a year ago.

LOST IN TRANSIT

Of two valentines sent from 4-year-old Krista Huard, Whitby, Ont. to her cousins in Bathurst one arrived here prior to Feb. 14. The second reached Kimmie Jamieson three days late.

Strangely enough, the latter being smaller than the regular type letter, worked its way into an unsealed, but larger type greeting card. It ended up in the mailbox of Sheila Mitchell, who enclosed the valentine with a note telling what happened.

The writer said she was a native of New Richmond, P.Q. and knew Bathurst. She has on occasion visited in the general North Shore area, coming across on the ferry with ples between Miguasha and Dalhousie.

GOOD DEED

People are prone to be critical of the taxi service in the city and complaints have occasionally appeared here.

This time, however, it's a compliment for the cabbies.

It comes from a well-known local woman who was returning Monday via a Mall Taxi from the Medical Clinic on Vallee-Lourdes Dr.

When she reached her downtown home she found her nicely-shovelled walk had been filled in again by the proverbial public plow.

"You can't struggle through this", remarked the driver as he be broke a path for his passenger after assisting her from the vehicle.

The object of this consideration is grateful for this kind gesture beyond the call of duty and wants the person responsible as well as the citizens of Bathurst to know about it.

COLD SHOULDER

It has been the custom for city employees, just for fun and participaction, to hold hockey sessions Sunday mornings at Bathurst Arena.

For the same reason, City Coun. Jean-Paul Lavoie played along with them.

Until he was told recently that he was no longer welcome, that is. Or at least the way it is reported, and the order is said to have been issued from the labor side.

It has something to do with a union-management "sym-drome", apparently.

Cities Association Wants Transit Study Implemented

Despite an Ottawa announcement that federal subsidies for urban transit won't be forthcoming as had been expected, the Cities of New Brunswick Association passed a resolution Feb. 18 requesting that the recommendations of the transit study commissioned by the association be implemented as soon as possible.

The study calls for a municipal transit system to be subsidized by senior governments by as much as 75 per cent.

At the opening session of the Cities' Association quarterly meeting in Edmundston, Fredericton Mayor Elbridge Wilkins said "We should proceed with our demands. If the federal government has opted out, we should try to get support from the province", stated Mr. Wilkins, who is president of the association.

A motion by Saint John Common Council for municipal involvement in regional planning in order to prevent urban sprawl was also approved. The Saint John resolution mentioned particular concern about a subdivision of 225 lots proposed for an area off the St. Martins Road just outside the city limits.

A resolution asking that New Brunswick be made eligible for energy conservation subsidies similar to those totalling $88.6 million which have been granted to Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island was also approved. The subsidies provide grants for the insulation of homes.

The City of Campbellton moved that the province be requested to provide "snow equalization grants" to any municipality receiving more than 110 inches of snow annually. Campbellton Councillor Gladys Swan said that city had already overspent its snow clearing budget and still had until next December to go.

However, Coun. Douglas Stilwell of Fredericton said that although the southern municipalities don't experience the same depth of snow, they spend just as much or, or control.

Representatives of the three northern cities - Campbellton, Bathurst and Edmundston - appeared to be pitted against those of the southern cities - Fredericton, Saint John and Moncton.

Mayor Wheeler proposed an amendment to the Campbellton motion stipulating that the provincial government be petitioned to amend the Municipal Assistance Act to provide a grant support for municipal overexpenditures due to all snow clearance-related operations, including sanding, salting, plowing, snow removal and dumping.

However, Mayor Wilkins ruled that Mayor Wheeler's motion could not be an amendment because it was entirely different than the Campbellton motion. Coun. Edna MacGowan of Saint John continued to speak in favor of Mayor Wheeler's amendment, saying that Saint John spent $110,000 for snow and ice control in January alone.

Speaking in favor of the Campbellton motion were Coun. Sylvio Daigle of Campbellton and Bathurst Mayor John Duffy. Taken to a vote, the Campbellton motion was passed. A later vote on the Wheeler resolution also received approval.

PET NEWS
Facts About A Dog's Diet

By Marguerite Morrison

We have always been told that bones are good for a dog's teeth. However, we have also been advised by a leading veterinarian that it is not necessary for a dog to chew bones. To the contrary, bones are very dangerous for your dog.

Chicken and fish bones are especially dangerous as the chicken bone splinters can lodge in a dog's throat. However, beef bones are not recommended either as they also splinter and may enter the stomach only to puncture the intestine. When this happens, you will lose the dog as nothing can be done for him.

If you want something for your dog to chew on, buy pieces of dry cowhide at the pet section of any store, or some hard rubber bones.

Also, if you give your dog meat, cook it for at least five minutes. Feed the dog as you would yourself, and you won't have any cause to doubt if he has the right diet.

Try to remember to give your neighbor a boost - you'll find it's a hitch ahead for you.

In The Right Lane

Recent signing of a new federal-provincial agreement aimed at improving travelling conditions in this neck of the woods was an important milestone from a development point of view.

Without an adequate highway system it is impossible to attract industrial or commercial enterprises or expand the potential tourist trade.

Hon. Marcel Lessard, the new DREE minister, was making his fifth trip to New Brunswick when he inked this latest document with the province. He had also come to this very scene to see for himself its actual needs.

And Premier Hatfield was the first to acknowledge this active interest on the part of the minister in assisting us to gain a foothold on the economic growth which is already a part of most of the nation.

Signing of the new federal-provincial agreement and the obvious good feelings between Mr. Lessard and Mr. Hatfield are welcome signs of cooperation between the governments at Fredericton and Ottawa.

It is also a changed pattern from the petty bickering on the part of some politicians who like to prolong the acrimony between the two levels of government, merely because they are of different political faiths.

The new highway building program will see over a third of a total $56-million being spent in the Bathurst area. Rightly so because there is serious need of upgrading in order to carry increasing traffic between this hub of the North Shore, and where industrial expansion is greatest, to other provincial centres.

In addition, the road work over the next several years, should bring respite to the situation on the North Shore where unemployment statistics are traditionally high.

Heritage Day

Monday of this week, February 21, was Heritage Day in Canada. It was unanimously approved as such four years ago by a parliamentary committee.

The third Monday in February was also proposed as a ninth national statutory holiday. This has not happened because of the failure to have a covering bill passed in the House of Commons.

By this time next year, however, it is expected the situation will have changed.

Among promoters of the Heritage Day project is a local organization called La Societe Historique Nicolas-Denys.

Although the celebration date has come and gone, it is never too late to do good. The Northern Light, therefore, is pleased to comply with this group's request by publishing the following Heritage Day message from Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau:

"A country's future is rooted deep in its past and we are in constant need of reminders of our heritage to help us shape the course of our progress.

"Heritage Canada and its many societies across the nation help to ensure the continued preservation and recognition of those many exemplifications of our past that are worthy of conservation.

"Your untiring efforts toward this end are praise-worthy indeed and will be gratefully recognized by generations to come."

Timely, impressive words, in these trying, uncertain times.

The Greatest

Boy Scout-Girl Guide Week, now being observed in the Bathurst area, as well as throughout Canada, is an occasion worthy of note, not only for those directly involved but for the entire population.

There are other worthy youth-training organizations but none to compare with the Scout system. And in these times when honesty, integrity and many of the other more wholesome things of life are more or less an unknown quantity, it is somewhat reassuring to know that the principles on which the Boy Scout movement was founded still find acceptance by hundreds of boys across the nation.

It is the same principles and standards upon which the Girl Guides base their programs which attract girls from every walk of life and from every corner of this dominion, as well as many other British Commonwealth countries, the United States, etc.

In New Brunswick alone there are close to 10,000 Boy Scouts, as we mark the 120th anniversary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout and Girl Guide movement.

As Premier Hatfield noted in his Boy Scout week message, these associations could not exist without the continued contribution of volunteer leaders.

Those who contribute to the leadership of the Boy Scout and Girl Guide movements are serving their communities and countries in one of the most vital aspects: helping to build new generations of citizens who have the tough moral fibre so necessary in an age which continuously seems to be walking on the brink of an abyss.

Things For Cabinet Ministers To Ponder

Bathurst, N.B.
February 21, 1977

Press releases in recent days indicate that the Premier of New Brunswick as well as several cabinet ministers will visit a number of centers in the province. The purpose of these visits are, according to a government spokesman, to better serve interests of the citizens.

This is, to say the least, a very noble attempt to satisfy the people of the Northern part of the province that they are not being left out entirely from active participation in government planning. If some real benefit evolves from this effort it will indeed make history as this area of N.B. has been neglected for so long even the senior citizens cannot recall when equal treatment has been noticeable outside the Fredericton, Saint John-Moncton triangle. Only time will tell the result.

The government is seeking input from the citizens and since most of us are to some extent critical of all parties, especially those in power, it should follow then that there should be a "tidal wave" of ideas, suggestions and recommendations both written and verbal during these visits.

As an ordinary taxpayer, I prefer to offer an open letter in the hope that it may arouse a few others to become involved to the point that will provide a personal message to the people from government who visit their area.

The number one priority from all of us should be to get this welfare monster under control once and for all. There can be no question about it that this disgraceful mess has been out of control for the past 15 years and there seems to be no end in sight.

The first suggestion we would make would be to dismiss every person on the government payroll who holds a degree or is a student of any of the social sciences. It has often been stated that the size of the "monies" on the taxpayers back will be in direct proportion to the number of sociologists in positions of influence.

These peddlers of sophistry have caused the human society to decline since the first chair in this science was established in a university. Every one of them knows how to develop a society. But try to find a single one of them who can produce a workable means to finance their theory.

The people who supervise our welfare programs, those who give their stamp of approval on every welfare dollar that is spent, try to lead us to believe that there are a very small amount of abuse in the distribution of welfare dollars. Well if any person in this Dept. just happens to believe this, they had better have their eyes tested and make an appointment for a hearing aid.

Example: A building near where we work, the proprietor tells us that he has 17 small apartments occupied. Of the 17 tenants, 15 are on welfare. This is not difficult to accept as not one of them ever has anything to do.

They sit around until the government store opens, then the drinks begin to arrive. Early in the day they manage to carry their supplies. However as the day progresses, they have to have their stocks replenished by taxi. Some of them take a taxi to their favorite pool hall if the weather is or any was inclement.

There are countless cases of new clothing being sold for cash to purchase liquor. This information is not the result of investigation, simply the result of witnessing it every day.

Ask any taxi driver from outside the cities and towns, what percentage of his business is welfare. Ask about the special purchase orders issued for lay-over time for taxis. All this while the working person must travel by bus.

What about those husband and wife teams who pretend to live apart in order for her to collect welfare?

What really happens is that they only establish a second address and continue to associate in the usual manner.

In one small area recently, a young woman while awaiting a divorce, moved out of her home into an apartment paid for by welfare, purchased a whole new line of furniture which she admits was paid for by welfare. She subsequently received the divorce along with the home which she returned together with the new furniture which permitted her to sell or disgard the older family furniture.

Still in the same area, a young lady went through a form of marriage with an older man while both of them were on welfare. After a few weeks, they are separated and have applied for divorce. By their own admission, she is still on welfare but manages to eat and dress well, admits to two packs of cigarettes per day and much of her travel is by taxi.

These are just cases that encounter without looking. What if one was to investigate?

A senior citizen cannot get a strong young man to shovel a driveway for $3.00 per hour. It certainly appears that we are trying to destroy the older people in order to encourage these lazy bums to live in sloth.

These people should be organized into work forces that would pay them the minimum wage for as many days each month as provided to produce the same amount they presently receive. Then they could have the balance of the month off to relax as they now do.

There is plenty of work to be done. In winter there are driveways to be cleaned for older people or those who are ill. There is house work to be done for the same people.

In summer, there are lawns to be cared for, fences to be repaired and painted. There are countless small jobs that could be done rather than pay people to loaf.

Number two priority would have to be immediate control over farm land. The amount of choice land that is now going into housing development can only lead to very severe shortage of our food supply.

Everyone is aware that farming as we once knew it no longer attracts young people or perhaps we should say that jobs in industry are more attractive, especially when the back-up income from unemployment is available.

But what we should be seeking is some means of getting people "back to the land". Perhaps we should develop a plan which would bring people on a selective basis from a land hungry country such as Holland. Let them have an opportunity to see what the land will do for them. Perhaps some of their work habits might rub off on our people.

Number three priority would be to determine the real reason for price variation between some parts of our province in the purchase of gasoline for our cars and trucks.

We cannot accept the stories told by the oil companies that where it is brought in by sea it is always cheaper. In Moncton and Fredericton there are no seaports to accommodate ocean going tankers. Yet this is where the price is lowest.

The same investigators could determine why a pound of salt cod produced in N.B. sells for $1.89 per pound in Bathurst but the same fish in the same food chain in Ontario sells for $1.29 per lb.

N.B. and P.E.I. potatoes often listed lower in Toronto than in Bathurst. Still further and in another line, why are Hartt shoes made in Fredericton selling in the Ontario market place at a lower price than in this province?

Number five priority would be to back away from any plan that involves a no-fault insurance for automobiles. It is not too difficult to see that any such plan merely shifts the cost of insurance from the reckless driver upon the moderate driver.

There are many other suggestions that one could make but then there should be others that will speak out, we hope.

Better Treatment Of Pets Is Urged

Bathurst, N.B.
February 19, 1977

Many items in you paper refer to kindness to animals or pets. I am sure the Animal Shelter does not receive as many pets as are disposed of or "dumped off", literally, on roadsides, at farmhouses, in town, etc. We see quite a number of kittens roaming the areas around dumps, and others dead on the side of the roads in Robertville and other areas. These by the way have not even been buried.

Not many people out in rural areas who have no cars or who don't know where the Animal Shelter is or who have no money to pay for disposal of a litter of pups or kittens are going to bother or worry about the welfare of these pets.

Yet, the rule is- No advertising on Swap Shop for any pets. At least many of these pets got homes that way and were not left out in the cold to die of exposure or starvation.

This I believe is contrary to the slogan "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals". You can train animals better than you can train some people. So as far as I can see you might as well allow people the privilege of advertising the pets on radio or whatever and stop all this cruelty of dumping pets off as so many are doing lately.

Unions Clarify Their Intentions

Bathurst, N.B.
February 21, 1977

For some time now there has been some confusion as to the reason why the Bathurst Labor Unions Association is buying the old Save-Easy building in South Bathurst.

First and foremost, the building will be used as a meeting place for the unions which belong to the association. It will be used for regular meetings, executive meetings, or any special meetings they may have.

We are definitely not purchasing it for a club or tavern. True, there will be a part of the building that will be used as a club, but it will be open to members only, these being affiliated at present with the association.

We hope this will clarify the situation. The Bathurst Labor Unions Assn. is not buying a building for a club but so that the trade unionist in the city will have a meeting place they can call their own.

Airport Commission, Is It Necessary?

Bathurst, N.B.,
February 22, 1977

In June, 1976, there was incorporated through the offices of City Council, a new body called The Bathurst Airport Commission, Inc., for the specific purpose of dealing with all matters pertaining to the maintenance and operation of the Bathurst Municipal Airport.

On January 18, 1977, Bathurst City Council heard a proposal by Air Bathurst Ltd. to provide an air service between Bathurst and Fredericton with certain guarantees provided by the City. City Council properly referred this proposal to the Airport Commission for study and recommendations.

The Airport Commission met on the evening of January 25, to consider the proposal, and had representatives of Air Bathurst Ltd. on hand to provide information and to answer questions prior to discussions. The directors of the Commission subsequently passed a motion to the effect that City Council should utilize funds from the airport snow removal budget up to a limit of $10,000. to support the proposed air service for a period of six months.

A City Council committee of the whole discussed this motion at a meeting early in February, raising a number of questions for the Airport Commission, and forwarded to them a copy of the new 1977 budget which had a considerably reduced snow removal budget, stressing the fact that funds were not available for this sort of venture.

Upon receipt of this new information, a special meeting of the Airport Commission was called February 14, 1977, during which the subject was discussed at length, including the fact that the new airport budget had no surplus available for monetary support of an air service. As a result, the motion which had been made on January 25 was withdrawn, as it was financially impossible to support the Air Bathurst Ltd. proposal.

At the regular City Council meeting on Monday evening, February 21, 1977, it is understood that the same proposal was again presented by representatives of Air Bathurst Ltd. and City Council took it directly upon themselves to unanimously pass a motion supporting the proposal to the amount of $5,000. with no further reference to the Airport Commission.

If this is the way City Council is going to operate, it would appear that the Bathurst Airport Commission is entirely superfluous and a waste of time for those who serve on the board of directors.

Home And School Holds Public-Speaking Contest

A public-speaking contest was the highlight February 16 at the regular meeting of the Bathurst High and J. Gordon Chalmers Home and School Association. Twelve contestants, six each from the junior high grades at Chalmers and Bathurst High's Grade 11, gave a one to three-minute speech for parents and interested persons in attendance.

All talks were well-prepared and presented, and, in some instances, quite witty. Topics ranged from "How To Enjoy Winter Carnivals" to "Two Canadas".

Timothy Lethbridge, a Grade 8 Chalmers student, was the winner of the Hume and School Association Trophy and a $10 cheque. Tim spoke on Britain and drew comparisons between that country and Canada.

Nicky Duivenvoorden, a Grade 11 student at Bathurst High School, was the winner of the Rotary Club Trophy and a trip to Ottawa May 9 - 11 to attend a seminar on "Adventures in Canadian Citizenship". Nicky's speech wondered how Shakespeare, and especially "MacBeth", could help him in his chosen career, farming.

Other contestants participating from BHS were Steven Boyle, Diane Farine, Lori Miller, Wendy Walls and Celina McKendy.

J. Gordon Chalmers' contestants were Cathy Skanes, Nancy Cooper, Martha Gammon, Shelly Nicholson and Gail O'Connell.

Two $125 cheques were presented by Association President Mrs. Joy Winton to Cathy Skanes for J. Gordon Chalmers' Student Council and Principal Emery Goguen on behalf of BHS.

Other topics discussed at the meeting included a Poster Contest for Grades 1 - 12. Mr. Goguen informed the group that students from the Art class would be entering the contest.

The new Ways and Means Committee indicated a Bake Sale will be held April 27 at Lounsburys to help raise money for school necessities.

Rheese Dickie, principal of J. Gordon Chalmers, requested that the executive and a few interested parents meet and discuss any changes they feel necessary in the "report card system" for Grades 7, 8 and 9.

A request was also made that a letter be forwarded to City Council asking for a three-way traffic light to be installed at the corner of Munroe and King Avenue. This corner is considered a hazard for school children.

The association's next meeting will be held March 16.

New Courses At Shippegan

The Academic Senate of the University of Moncton has authorized College Jesus-Marie of Shippegan to offer new courses comprising six credits beginning September, 1977.

This will allow the college to teach the first two years of the program leading to a bachelor of administrative science degree.

Students will then be able to complete the final half of the four-year course on the Moncton campus.

Wood Producers To Meet Here

A meeting aimed at establishing a new negotiating format for private woodlot owners will be held Feb. 25 in Bathurst.

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau will meet behind closed doors with representatives of the New Brunswick Federation of Wood Producers.

Hugh Williams of Debec, manager of the federation, said it is hoped an agreement can be reached at the meeting to satisfy wood producer demands for stronger bargaining powers in negotiating supply contracts with sawmills and pulp and paper companies.

The matter remains unresolved following meetings of a special committee appointed by Mr. Boudreau to look into federation demands made at a meeting with the minister and Agriculture Minister Malcolm MacLeod Nov. 23.

The committee, which included government, industry and producer representatives, has drawn up recommendations to be submitted to Mr. Boudreau, but the federation has rejected the proposed settlement.

The federation is asking that the government not grant Crown and cutting rights to companies until they have completed wood supply negotiations with private producers.

It also wants a time limit set on negotiations between wood producer groups and companies that would provide for conciliation if no settlement is reached.

Mr. Williams said although Mr. Boudreau had agreed in principle with these demands, the special committee did not deal directly with them.

However, he said he is confident the matter can be settled in talks directly with the minister.

Mr. Boudreau is now on holidays and was unavailable for comment. However, his office confirmed that he would be meeting with the federation on Feb. 25.

Bathurst District Scouts, Guides Active During National Week

Sliding party enjoyed by all Saturday afternoon.

Eucharistic offerings delivered to Fr. Boudreau by Brownie Julie Legacy, Scout Steven Lavigne, and Beavers Andrew Cullen and Christopher Burns.

"Sliding, Supper, Church Parade

Scouts, Cubs, Beavers, Guides and Brownies marked the beginning of Scout-Guide week with a sliding party and supper Feb. 19 and a church parade on Sunday.

Saturday's outdoor action was from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and a chicken bouillon was served in the parish hall of St. Theresa Church, at 5:30 p.m.

Head table guests introduced by the master of ceremonies Stephen White, chairman of the South Bathurst Scout Group Committee included: Jack Howell, District Scout Committee Chairman; Melvin DeGrechie, Assistant District Commissioner (Cubs), Bathurst District, as well as South Bathurst Cub Pack leader; Rev. Yvon Boudreau, parish priest; Mrs. Pat Meahan, Gloucester Division Commissioner of the Girl Guides; Mrs. Archie Jamieson and Gerald Doucet of the Northern Light editorial department.

Over 200 persons were present at the dinner. They included many parents who had been invited to both the sliding party and meal as well as the group leaders and four members of St. John Ambulance who were on hand in case of emergency during outdoor activities.

Members of Little Flower Council C.W.L. prepared the bouillon and served it along with small cakes which were provided by the Brownies and Guides.

Representatives of all five Scout and Guide Movements in South Bathurst took part in Sunday's church parade and service, held at 11 a.m.

Present among members of the Local Association, Scout Committee, leaders and Guiders was the new Pabineau District Commissioner, Mrs. Jessica Ryan.

Eager Beaver devours chicken bouillon.

Lise Goguie of the Brownies delivers opening remarks at Church Parade.

Holy Family To Hold Display

The Holy Family Boy Scout and Girl Guide movements are making a big fuss over Scout-Guide Week — as usual.

Cub Pack "A" will be defending champs in this year's hockey tournament involving all Cubs in the district. The RCMP Trophy will be up for grabs in the contest, to be held Feb. 26-27 at the Holy Rosary rink.

All segments of the Holy Family movement will be working on a display which will be open to the public on Sunday, Feb. 27 from 12 noon to 6 p.m. During the display, the Cubs will be operating mini-fair games for the children attending.

The complete assembly of Holy Family Scouts and Guides will meet in the church hall from where they will march as a body to the 9 a.m. Mass on Sunday, Feb. 27.

Mount Carmel Plans Quiet

Mount Carmel Scout and Guide community in East Bathurst is observing the week in a respectful but quiet way.

Because of a weekend winter camping excursion by the Scouts, the Mount Carmel group celebrated their Mass on Saturday evening, Feb. 19 when members of the Guides, Brownies and Scouts took part in reading excerpts of the Mass.

On Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 22, the Brownies had the outdoor skating rink all to themselves for a few hours and on Sunday, Feb. 20, they visited Holy Family Church Hall to celebrate the birthday of Baden-Powell.

ANOTHER CANADIAN HOCKEY CROWN FOR BATHURST

Bathurst Goaltimers defeated Enoch, Alta., 6 - 3 Monday night to capture B Division honors in the Canadian Oldtimers' Hockey Tournament played in Saint John over the weekend. It marked the second Canadian championship for four members of the Goaltimers. Joe Hachey, Howard Doucet, Marcel Coulombe and Bob DeGrace were members of the Bathurst Papermakers when they won the Canadian Intermediate A Championship in 1971. Front row, from left: Marcel Coulombe, Dave Ratchford, Buddy Byers, Jeannot David, Boy Melanson and Bob DeGrace. Back row: Rheal Hachey, Joe Hachey, Junior Bourque, Jean-Guy Morais, Gordie Stever and Bonnie Doucet. Missing are Howard Doucet, Maurice LeBlanc, Phil DeGrace and Coach Roger Cinch.

Bathurst Wins Oldtimers Title

Shades of 1971! Another Bathurst hockey team has brought home a Canadian hockey championship.

Bathurst Alpine Papermakers did the trick in 1971 winning the Canadian Intermediate A hockey crown and Bathurst Goaltimers captured the Canadian Oldtimers Division B Championship Monday night in Saint John.

The Goaltimers defeated Enoch, Alberta, 6 - 3 in Monday's championship game after wrapping up first place in their division with a 5 - 3 decision over Enoch and a 2-2 draw with Charlottetown Sunday. The Bathurst team was unbeaten in the tournament with a record of four wins and two ties.

Howard Doucet gave the Goaltimers a 1 - 0 lead midway through the opening period on a play with Jean-Guy Morais and Jeannot David. Fred Wisener tied it up for Enoch early in the second period before Junior Bourque converted Joe Hachey's pass at the 4:46 mark. Joe then made it 3 - 1 when he rifled home brother Rheal Hachey's pass at 5:38.

After Alberta's Bert Fissell cut the deficit with an unassisted marker, Marcel Coulombe triggered his first of the night on passes from Gord Stever and Bourque. Fissell cut the margin again, this time on a powerplay at 17:19 and the Goaltimers took a 4 - 3 lead into the final period.

Big Bob DeGrace give the Goaltimers breathing room when he took Howard Doucet's pass, rushed up centre and beat Gerry McGinn in the Enoch cage with a rising shot. Marcel Coulombe wrapped up the championship with his second of the contest as he snapped home a 10-footer after taking a pass from Jean-Guy Morais with little more than 3 minutes to play.

Bathurst coach Roger Cinch attributed his team's success to "a 110 per cent effort from everybody on the team. We were down a little after the second period when three of our players were injured, but the veterans picked us up in the third," he added. The three injured players were Howard Doucet with a groin pull, Jeannot David with leg cramps and Junior Bourque with muscle spasms.

"Two out of six titles for New Brunswick teams is pretty good", commented Bob DeGrace in the winner's dressing room following the game. He was referring to the win by Moncton Bandrunners in the D division championship.

The Goaltimers were loud in their praise for their goaltender Buddy Byers, who played outstanding hockey throughout the tournament. The Dalhousie veteran was cut above the ear for ten stitches in the game against Twin Cities, N.S. Saturday morning, but returned to action after repairs. He limited Grand Falls to a single goal later in the day and was a leading figure in Bathurst's two games on Sunday.

Finish First

The Goaltimers started their run at Division B honors last Friday morning with a 5 - 2 win over Fredericton RCAF in their opening game. Joe Hachey figured in all five goals, scoring once and assisting on a pair by Marcel Coulombe plus singles by Junior Bourque and Gordie Stever.

Saturday morning, Bathurst was held to a 3 - 3 draw by Twin Cities, N.S. after holding a 3 - 1 lead midway through the final period. Jeannot David, Gord Stever and Marcel Coulombe scored for the Goaltimers. Later on Saturday the Goaltimers trounced Grand Falls, N.B. 6-1 for their second win. Joe Hachey, Rheal Hachey, and Gord Stever gave the winners a 3 - 1 lead after two periods while Junior Bourque, Jean-Guy Morais and Bonnie Doucet wrapped it up with third period goals.

Bathurst won its third game with a 5 - 3 decision over the tough Enoch, Alta., team Sunday morning. Howard Doucet, Jeannot David, Junior Bourque, Marcel Coulombe and Jean-Guy Morais scored for the Goaltimers. Later in the day the Goaltimers clinched first place in their division with a 2-2 draw against Charlottetown. Marcel Coulombe's short-handed goal late in the period gave Bathurst a 1 - 0 lead after 29 minutes. Rheal Hachey made it 2 - 0 early in the second before Alan Gillis got Charlottetown on the board around the midway mark. Vance Harris netted the equalizer at 15:05 of the final, but the draw put Bathurst into Monday's championship final.

Enoch downed Grand Falls 5 - 1 later Sunday to finish second and earn the other berth in the final.

Oil Kings Host Bruins In Cage Action Tonight At 8

Landry's Esso Oil Kings of the Miramichi Valley Basketball League will host Restigouche High School Bruins in an exhibition Basketball game tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the J. G. Chalmers School gym. Restigouche is the top rated "AA" High School team in New Brunswick.

The MVBL schedule was completed last week with the Oil Kings finishing first with a perfect 15 - 0 record. The Bathurst club will now face Chatham Recreational Centre Whoopers in a quarter-final playoff series to start later this week.

Last Tuesday, the Oil Kings travelled to Newcastle for a game against the Rejects. John Farine and Danny Kelly combined for 77 points as the Kings bombed the Rejects 107 - 60. Farine hooped 34 points and playing-coach Kelly added 33 to spark the Kings. Bob Sullivan played a strong supporting role with 16 points and 14 rebounds. Other king scorers were Dave Ross and Stephen Ellis with 10 each while Jim Nicol added four. Alex Dingwall dropped in 26 points for the losers.

First Loss

Bathurst was handed its first loss of the season here last Saturday by the Fredericton Hermits. The final score was 81 - 62 as the experienced Hermits got a balanced scoring attack from fine outside shooting and a strong inside game. The Kings' main downfall was the failure of their outside shooting which had been so strong all year. John Farine led the Oil Kings with 17 points while Bob Sullivan, Jim Cormier and Dave Ross each added 8. John Nicholson and Stephen Ellis each counted 6 followed by Mike Calnan with 5. Stephen Kelly and Buzz Grebenc 2 each. Top man for Fredericton was Rossire LeBlanc with 16 points.

The Oil Kings would like to take this opportunity to thank all the fans for their support at Saturday's contest.

Alpines Nip Ironmen 5-4

Mike Brophy's second goal of the game at 14.12 of the final period broke a 4 - 4 deadlock to give Bathurst Alpines a 5 - 4 decision over Chatham Ironmen here last night.

The win gives the Alpines a 1 - 0 lead in the North Shore Hockey League best-of-seven semi-final series. Second game of the series is set for Chatham tomorrow night with the third game back here this Sunday.

In the other series, Campbellton Tigers topped Dalhousie 7 - 5 in overtime.

Don Roy also scored twice for the Alpines with Paul Ouellette netting the other.

Findlay scored twice within 30 seconds starting at 2:03 of the opening period to give Ironmen an early lead, but Donnie Roy, Paul Ouellette and Mike Brophy counted in the second half of the period to put Bathurst up 3-2 entering the second. Don Roy's second of the night at the 3:31 mark of the middle period increased the lead to two before Findlay notched this third of the game midway through the frame.

Findlay's fourth goal evened it up early in the final period setting the stage for Mike Brophy's winner.

Bathurst defenceman Denis Langlais played a strong two-way game for the winners assisting on three of the Alpine goals including the winner. Bathurst held a slight 32-31 margin in shots on goal with Bathurst's Glen Seperich and Chatham's Bobby Chamberlain each coming up with 27 saves.

Referee Gerald Allard tagged Chatham's Peter Nevin with a match penalty midway through the final period claiming that Nevin charged at him following a fight with Bathurst's John Lunn.

At Campbellton, Jean Marie Bouchard scored at 4:24 of a 10-minute overtime period and Dave Wisener added another in the final minute to give the Tigers their overtime 7 - 5 win.

The Bathurst Figure Skating Club invites the citizens of Bathurst to support their annual Ice Show on Sunday, February 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bathurst Arena. Approximately 200 children will be participating. Many hours of work and preparation have gone into the show and the Club executive would like to thank all those who offered their services to make "Happy Days '77" a reality.

The seven skaters from Bathurst who travelled to Dartmouth to participate in the 4th Dartmouth Invitational Competition enjoyed a very warm welcome from the citizens of Halifax-Dartmouth. Approximately 400 skaters from N.B., P.E.I., Nfld., and N.S. took part, and it proved to be a most valuable experience for the participants. Our skaters did not bring home any trophies or medals, but all skated very well and were certainly a credit to the Bathurst Figure Skating Club.

A special treat to the skaters was a demonstration by Canadian Junior Dance Champions, Bobby MacCall and Marie McNeill, who skated their free dance program which won them the Canadian Championship and placed them third in the World Junior Dance Championships held in France this year.

Figure Skating has provided an excellent source of recreation for many Bathurst children. This requires participation of parents and long-tiring hours of organization by the Club executive. The Club Professionals, also are to be commended for sharing their knowledge and talents of figure skating with our skaters. Therefore, we encourage the public of Bathurst to support the annual Ice Show by coming to the Bathurst Arena on Sunday, February 27 at 7:30 p.m. and enjoy "HAPPY DAYS '77".

LIBRARY CORNER

THE WORLD OF BOOKS is the most remarkable creation of man; nothing else that we builds ever lasts ... Monuments fall, nations perish, civilizations grow old and die out. After an era of darkness new races build others; but in the world of books are volumes that live on still as young and fresh as the day they were written still telling men's hearts of the hearts of men centuries dead...

The Youngest Outlaws, Runaways in America
The phenomenon of young people running away from home is less likely to be a healthy striving for adulthood then an anguished cry for help from a child who may have nowhere to turn. Curling Club News

The Bathurst Curling Club Membership Committee announces, effective March 1, 1977, curling dues for the remainder of the season will be reduced to $25 for anyone who has never been a member of the Bathurst Curling Club and who is currently not a social member of the club. This $25 will be applied to next year's full curling dues

Also, effective March 1, 1977, social members who have never been curling members of the Bathurst Curling Club may, for a fee of $10, transfer to curling status for the remainder of the current season. This $10 will also be applied against next year's full curling dues.

Observe French Fishing Effort

French speaking Canadian fishery officers from Gloucester County have been placed on three French fishing vessels to monitor their operations in accordance with the present Canada - France bilateral agreement.

One of the stipulations in the agreement is that French vessels licenced to fish in the Gulf are required to carry on board Canadian observers who will make such observations as may be considered necessary to improve the scientific basis for management of the Gulf of St Lawrence fish stocks.

With reports that there were some sixteen French vessels fishing in the gulf, late in January Canadian observers were placed on board two vessels from metropolitan France and one on board a vessel from St. Pierre. These observers report on the amount of catches, species, fishing effort and other pertinent data.

Recently the severe ice conditions have forced the vessels from the Gulf. However, the observers have remained with the French fleet, two travelling to the Hamilton Banks area and the other remaining with the St. Pierre fleet fishing in the approaches to the Gulf.

It is felt that the information gained by these observers, in addition to observers on Canadian vessels will assist greatly in determining future managerial policies for the fisheries in the Gulf.

The French speaking Canadian fishery officers aboard the French vessels are G. Jospeh Landry, J. Clifford Stewart and Conrad A. Legere, all from the Caraquet-Shippegan area.

Brownies and Guides break up after campfire

Guiding Observances Include Rally, Presentations, Campfire

A rally of Guides and Brownies from the Pabineau, Teteagouche and Nepisiguit Districts of Gloucester Division of the Girl Guides of Canada was held from 2 - 4:00 p.m. in Holy Family Parish Hall on Feb. 20.

A welcome was extended by Mrs. Anne Marie Gammon, Teteagouche District Commissioner.

"Tokens of Appreciation" were presented by Gloucester Division Commissioner Mrs. Pat Meahan to 14 local persons who were special guests at the rally and were introduced by Mrs. Margaret Fekeshazy, Nepisiguit District Commissioner.

The awards were presented for "Services given to the Guide Movement" to: Mrs. Arlene Murphy, 1st Bathurst Brownie Pack leader; Mrs. June Coldwell, international commissioner for New Brunswick and deputy provincial commissioner; Mrs. Rod Boudreau (Jackie), Mrs. Mary Ellen Pelletier, Mrs. Harold Stever, Mrs. Grace Lavigne, James DeWolfe of Bathurst Lions Club, Rev. J. Emile Fournier of Sacred Heart Cathedral, Rev. Gregory Sampson of Holy Family Church Parish, Mrs. James J. Boyle, Mrs. Loretta Gallagher, Mrs. Jack O'Neill; and Gerald Doucet, of The Northern Light; as well as to the St. John Ambulance in Bathurst, which presentation was accepted on behalf of the organization by Mrs. Donald Rutledge.

Mrs. Coldwell brought greetings from both provincial and national levels and extended wishes for a happy and successful Baden Powell Week.

Mrs. Jessica Ryan, Pabineau District Commissioner, broke briefly on World Friendship and the international friendship fund.

Mrs. Meahan presented Mrs. Gammon, Mrs. Ryan and Mrs. Fekeshazy with their official warrants as commissioners in the respective districts, after which she initiated the candlelight ceremony by passing the "light of friendship" to Mrs. Coldwell. The latter continued the lighting of the candles held by the guests who, in turn, pass the light to all Guides and Brownies, after which the girls sang Happy Birthday.

The program concluded with a campfire with the Sharvane Rangers directing the music and entertainment from the centre of the circle.

Then there was the elephant hunter who had to retire. His decoys were getting too heavy.

Bridge Playoff At Newcastle

Mrs. Douglas Shirley and Robert Baker were high scorers at the Feb. 14 session of the Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club.

Paul Hachey and H. MacLean, Newcastle placed second followed by K. Warren and J. Boublee in third spot.

Above average scorers were Mr. and Mrs J. E. Picot and Mrs. J. A. Dube and Ray Poirier.

The first games for the North Shore area leading to the Canadian Bridge championships will be held at Newcastle, Feb. 27, a two-session event set for 1 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Any team-of-four (or-five) players may enter, whether A.C.B. League members or not.

Winners of this tournament will proceed to the New Brunswick provincial-area playoffs, the time and date to be announced, and hopefully, continue in the Canada - wide play where provincial winners will compete for Canadian championship honors.

For further information concerning these events, please contact local club president, Mrs. J. A. Dube.

Week Honours Baden-Powells

The City of Bathurst joins communities across Canada this week in observing Scout-Guide Week.

Scout-Guide Week is held each year from the Sunday before February 22 to the following Sunday. Dates this year are Feb. 20 - 27.

Why February 22? The answer is simple. Both Lord and Lady Baden-Powell were born on that day. The date is a memorial to the late Chief Scout of the World and a day on which to honour the Chief Guide of the World - two people whose work has affected the lives of millions of people throughout the world.

By observing this week in a worthwhile way, the public can help Scouts and Guides to better understand the principles which 25 million (active) members throughout the world share in common.

This in itself is sufficient reason to hold Scout-Guide Week. But, there is another very important reason - public relations. During the winter, early darkness and the resulting indoor meetings cause people in the community to be less aware of Scouting and Guiding. Scout-Guide Week is a chance for the movements to show people that Guiding and Scouting are alive and flourishing twelve months a year.

CHANGES IN MANAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

PHILLIP FERRIS

ROBT. ARSENEAU

Manager of the K mart cafeteria department in Bathurst since September, 1972, Phillip A. Ferris has been promoted and transferred to Ontario. His new post is that of district manager for the Toronto area.

Mr. Ferris, who is originally from Saint John, is being replaced here by a local man, Robert Arseneau, his assistant since 1973.

Mr. Arseneau is a son of Mrs. Ermilda Arseneau, St. Anne St., and the late Mr. Arseneau.

Both appointments are effective immediately.

Cities Told To Conserve Energy

A change in lifestyle in order to prepare for diminished supplies of energy in Canada was recommended over the weekend by Hugh Drummond, head of engineering for the Research and Productivity Council in Fredericton.

Speaking to a meeting in Edmundston Saturday of the Cities of New Brunswick Association, Mr. Drummond said the use of electricity for heating homes should be discouraged because New Brunswick was relying increasingly on oil-fired generating systems and it would be more efficient to use the oil directly to heat homes.

"If the electrical energy is coming from renewable sources such as water -either river or tidal - so much the better but to use petroleum products to generate electricity and then to use electricity for heating is a wasteful system."

He said electric heat was about 30 percent fuel efficient while oil was usually 70 - 75 per cent efficient.

Mr. Drummond stated automobiles accounted for 23 per cent of New Brunswick's petroleum consumption of more than 1.1 billion gallons in 1973.

Cities should emphasize to senior governments that public transportation systems are more energy efficient than private cars, he said.

He also recommended that cities use smaller cars for police work.

Garbage should be burned, he said, and the heat from incinerators should be used by an adjacent industry.

He suggested that reductions of the power and spacing of street-lighting be considered and that 30 per cent of the streetlights be turnout out after 1 a.m.

He also said insulation standards should be improved.

The Research and productivity Council is a group of 65 persons which provides consulting services in a wide range of technical areas. It obtains equipment through federal grants, and receives aid from the N. B. government.

New Telephone Books Issued

A total of 13 tons of paper and 350 pounds of ink were used to print new telephone directories being delivered in the Bathurst area this week.

Bev Groves, area manager for The New Brunswick Telephone Company, Limited, said deliveries should be completed by next week.

This year's phone book features a cover illustration entitled "The Cove in Winter" by Saint John artist Jim Stackhouse. Reproductions of this painting, the first in a series by New Brunswick artists, are available free of charge at NBTel's business office at 270 King Avenue, Bathurst.

The new book has two fewer white pages than last year for a total of 110. These pages have been re-designed to accommodate more listings in an effort to cut paper and printing costs. However, the number of yellow pages has increased by five, for a total of 108.

"The new directories contain almost 30,000 listings," said Mr. Groves. "Of these, more than 200 numbers were changed in '783' exchange to allow for new switching equipment in Petit Rocher."

Mr. Groves also said the directories include updated calling directions for residents of Allardville and Paquetville who will be receiving Direct Distance Dialing next month. Until then, these subscribers should continue to dial "0" to reach NBTel's directory assistance and repair service.

CHARTERED ACCOUNTANTS

Nurses, Gov't Sign Contract

Close to a year of negotiations between the provincial Treasury Board and New Brunswick's public hospital nurses came to an end Friday, Feb. 18 with the signing of a new two-year collective agreement.

The contract calls for salary increases of 23.4 per cent for the first year, retroactive to April 1, 1976, and six per cent effective April 1 of this year at the start of the second year.

The basic wage for the 2,300 registered nurses, members of the union, jumps from $721 per month to $890 effective April 1 of last year and to $943 a month this coming April.

Mrs. Rita Dube, provincial bargaining council president, said the union wasn't advised when retroactive money will be paid members, but added the N.B. Industrial Labor Relations Act stipulates "within 90 days" of the signing. It will range from about $700.

Earl A. Evans, director of labor relations for the Treasury Board, agreed with Mrs. Dube's comment that the parties concerned were pleased with the atmosphere at the signing. "I think everybody is satisfied", he stated.

The nurses, added Mrs. Dube, are hopeful the Anti-Inflation Board in Ottawa won't order any rollback in the negotiated increase with Treasury Board.

Another area the nurses were concerned with deals with the salary margin between registered nurses and registered nurses aides, commenting the difference between the two groups had been at an all time low prior to signing the agreement.

If the AIB slashes the negotiated wage increase considerably, RNAs could end up making as much as RNs, noted Mrs. Dube.

The RNA contract with the province expired in December and talks on a new contract are underway.

No Inquest Into Deaths

There will be no inquests into two separate incidents which claimed the lives of two Bathurst residents recently.

Gloucester County Sheriff and Coroner Roland Levesque said Feb. 17 there would be no inquest into the death Jan. 31 of 15-year-old Gilles Poirier. The youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Poirier, was killed in a snowmobile mishap.

Mr. Levesque also ruled out an inquiry into the death last week of 22-year-old Wayne Wheeler whose body was found in his truck on the East Bathurst wharf.

Church Council Plans Are Made

Dr. R. C. Chalmers attended the annual meeting of the Atlantic Ecumenical Council held at the Anglican Diocesan Centre, Halifax, on Friday, February 18.

Details of the plans for the Biennial Conference was one of the chief matters dealt with at the council meeting.

The 1977 Conference will be held at St. Francis Xavier University September 6 - 8. The main speaker will be the noted Anglican theologian Dr. John MacQuarrie of Oxford University.

The Atlantic Ecumenical Council came into existance in 1960, Dr. Chalmers being one of its founders. Its purpose is to foster and promote ecumenical relations between the churches in the four Atlantic Provinces.

The Council has representatives from the following churches: Anglican, Baptist, Disciples of Christ, Presbyterian, Christian Reformed, Society of Friends (Quakers), Salvation Army, Lutheran, Roman Catholic and the United Church of Canada.

Present officers of the Council are President Rev. Dr. R. S. Dunn, Baptist Church, Amherst N.S.; Professor M.R.B. Lovesey, Acadia Divinity College, Wolfville, secretary; Rev. P. A. MacDonald, St. Andrew's Presbyterial Church, Dartmouth, assistant to secretary; Rev. D. A. Metzler, Brunswick St. United Church, Truro, treasurer; and Father Gregory Mackinnon, St. Francis University, Antigonish, past president.

Rifle Range To Be In Use

The Tracadie air to ground range will be in use from February 28 to March 11 inclusive by 433 Squadron from CFB Bagotville, P.Q. Capt. G. E. Sprigg, information officer, Canadian Forces Base Chatham advises. Only authorized persons will be allowed access to the range.

The gates on the entry roads will be locked at 9 o'clock the night of February 27th and will be opened after firing ceases on March 11th.

The public is reminded that even during non-firing periods, the range at Tracadie is hazardous, due to the possibility of undetonated shells and other explosive devices.

Persons entering there do so at their own risk.

No unauthorized persons shall enter this area, and trespassing on this land is strictly prohibited.

Students' Initiative Demonstrated

South Bathurst School held its first Science Fair Feb. 15 and 16. The fair was open to junior high students and projects were exhibited in many branches of science.

The fair was open for viewing to students of the school during school hours and to the general public on Tuesday evening, Feb. 15.

Robert Losier, Science Department Head, Bathurst High School, was the judge for the exhibits.

Five projects were selected from each grade and these will be entered in the District No. 4 Science Fair to be held at J. Gordon Chalmers School March 1 and 2.

Participants and projects chosen for the fair are: Grade Seven, Daniel Aube and Alan Hachey (electric motor); Mark Kenny and Stephen Sherrard (water purification plant); Chris Stone and Lawrence Cameron (batteries); Michael Lavigne and Kirk Branch (radar); and David Kerr and David Doucette (wind tunnel).

Grade Eight, Stephen Melanson (spruce budworm); Brenda Christie (elevator); Ricky Moore (the balance); Nicholas Kovats and Todd Arseneau (stream table); and Paula Chiasson and Jeannie Carrier (light).

Home-School To Conduct Poll On New School Year

The February meeting of the Superior Home and School Association was held in the school library Feb. 8 at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting was called to order by Hugh Campbell, president, and the home and school prayer was recited.

The minutes of the January meeting were read and adopted, and the treasurer's report was given. It was moved and seconded that outstanding bills be paid.

Membership of the association remains at 60. Memberships are taken at every meeting for those wishing to join, and parents of children attending Superior School are reminded that they should belong to the association.

Library committee chairman, Mrs. Kathy Brown, announced that Mrs. K. A. Comish has joined her in work in the library. She also mentioned more books would be welcome.

Present at the meeting was Mrs. Doug Baker, School Board Trustee, who was introduced to members by Mr. Campbell.

A trophy was purchased by the association to be given to the class that has the most parents in attendance at each month's home and school meeting. Mrs. C. Sweet's Grade 1 class was the first winner of the trophy.

Mr. Campbell read the recommendations of the task force on the new school year and members then gave their opinions on the recommendations. It was decided to poll parents of the students and, after consideration, to make the association's views known to the government.

The questionnaire will deal with the start and finish dates, Christmas holidays and Easter holidays.

The organization has made application for a Canada Works grant, to be used in improving conditions at Superior School. No word was received on the application to date.

Albert Lavigne, school principal, reported on the Poster Contest now going on in the school. The theme is "How To Keep Your School Clean". Mr. Lavigne said the response has been very good and prizes will be awarded for the best poster.

Tom Lagace of the Student Council asked for volunteers to chaperone the upcoming school dance. Five people offered their services.

During the question period, Mrs. Comish asked if a reply had been received about the use of the gym at Bathurst College by schools that now use Superior's gym. Mr. Campbell replied no answer had been received as yet.

Mrs. Alma Lagace, program chairman, introduced the evening's guest, Greg Bonner, of the New Brunswick Heart Association. The topic of the evening was heart attack and prevention. Mr. Bonner mentioned that 62 per cent of all deaths in Canada are from cardio-vascular-related diseases, and he noted mothers have a very important role in the correct feeding of their families. It was pointed out that 35 per cent of all heart attacks can be prevented.

A film entitled "Our Way Of Life" was very thought - provoking and gave members much "food" for thought.

Following the film, Mr. Campbell thanked Mr. Bonner for his time and said the program had been a very worthwhile and important one.

The meeting adjourned and coffee was served.

Board Approves Research Grants

Dr. William J. Mollroya, chairman of the Medical Advisory Board for the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada has approved eight research grants and five fellowships and studentships totalling $297,360.

The new grants, fellowships and studentships which will be supported during 1977, 1978 and 1979 plus grants and fellowships already approved bring the Society's commitment to medical research into multiple sclerosis to $715,736 in 1977, $218,254 in 1978 and $87,180 in 1979.

The new grants were recommended for approval at the December meeting of the Medical Advisory Board of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada. The grants were approved for funding by the executive council of the society.

Two grants for medical research, approved by the board earlier in the year, were allocated to Dr. H. W. Cook of Dalhousie University, Halifax, for studies of unsaturated fatty acid biosynthesis in the brain and to Dr. D. M. Regan, also at Dalhousie University, for diagnosis and study of M.S. by the use of novel sensory test. The total allocation of these grants was $53,500.

Multiple sclerosis is a disease of the central nervous system which may be characterized by disturbances of vision, muscle control, balance and speech. MS usually affects young adults between the ages of 20 and 40. As yet, there is no known cause or cure.

New Citizenship Act Proclaimed

Canada's new nationality act has been proclaimed and became law Feb. 15, Secretary of State John Roberts has announced.

The new act has been described as a liberal, logical and equitable piece of legislation which has removed the inequalities and inconsistencies of the Citizenship Act of 1947.

Mr. Roberts underlined that the law is "new and unique, not just a revision of the old Act, and one that will make Canada a leader in the field of nationality law."

Under the new legislation, applicants for citizenship will be treated alike, regardless of sex or country of origin. All applicants for citizenship will follow the same procedures: fulfillment of the residency and other requirements, examination by a Citizenship Judge and pledging the Oath of Citizenship. The residency requirement has been reduced from five years to three.

A principal feature of the Act is that citizenship now becomes a right upon satisfaction of certain conditions and cannot be arbitrarily withheld.

Other features include the provision that either parent may now apply for citizenship on behalf of a minor child. This includes adoptive parents. Under the former Act, in most cases, only the father could apply.

For the next two years, a parent may apply for citizenship for children born abroad before today to a Canadian mother. Such children are not now Canadian citizens unless their father was a Canadian at the time of their birth.

The rights of children born abroad, in or out of wedlock, are now protected. The right to citizenship will be automatic in the first generation and will be afforded to the second generation provided that by 28 years of age, the person has either resided in Canada for one year or has established "a substantial connection with Canada."

Women who did not acquire Canadian citizenship under the 1947 Act because of marriage to foreign nationals may automatically acquire it upon notifying the Minister. Previously, these women had to complete the full citizenship application procedure.

The age of application for citizenship has been reduced from 21 to 18 years of age to correspond with the voting age.

The new Act also provides for the Cabinet to reward people for special services to Canada or to relieve cases of particular hardship.

TEACHERS PARTICIPATE IN TWO-DAY WORKSHOP

February 17 and 18 marked professional development days for teachers of District No. 4. These NBTA teachers took on the role of students for two days when instructors from Holland College in Charlottetown were in Bathurst. Sessions were divided into three main groups: Top photo: Human Relations, to help teachers better understand students, parents and themselves. Middle photo: Communications, to help teachers realize the different methods possible in expressing ideas. Two members participating with this group are Margaret Anne Daigle, Belledune; and Ron Jagoe, Salmon Beach. Bottom photo: Instructional Methods, preparing programs, using group dynamics, leading discussion groups, training aids etc. In all three groups, teachers were involved in lively discussions, as well as listening to tapes and reviewing films.

How Red Riding Hood's Wolf Became A Martyr

(From Paul Harvey News)

Police Chief Greg Coboon of Moncton tells the story of Little Red Riding Hood in a modern version.

Speaking at Newcastle Chamber of Commerce, the chief got the story from Paul Harvey News, which in turn had picked it up on the teletype from the Pecos, Texas police department.

Once upon a time there lived a little girl called Red Riding Hood. One day her mother asked her to take a basket of fruit to her grandmother who had been ill and who lived in a cottage in the forest.

It happened that day that a wolf was lurking in nearby bushes, overheard the conversation, and decided to take a short cut to grandmother's house and intercept the basketfull of goodies for himself.

The wolf arrived first, killed the grandmother, and ate her.

The wolf then dressed himself in grandmother's nightgown and jumped into bed to await the arrival of Little Red Riding Hood.

When she arrived, the wolf made overtures to the girl, tried to grab her. The terrified child ran, screaming, from the cottage.

A woodcutter working nearby heard the cries, rushed to the rescue, killed the wolf with his axe.

Red Riding Hood was saved. Townspeople, when they learned of the rescue, converged on the scene and proclaimed the woodcutter a hero.

Now THE REST OF THE STORY

At the inquest, certain facts emerged.

1. The wolf, prior to his execution, had not been advised of his rights.

2. The woodcutter had made no warning swings before striking the fatal blow.

3. At the inquest, self-invited

Duplessis Biography Cluttered By Detail

By NORMAN DePOE

One character in a now-forgotten novel of the 1920s described another as "like a badly cooked pudding - full of good stuff, and the result beastly." Perhaps "beastly" isn't quite the word, but that could almost apply to Duplessis, by Conrad Black (McClelland and Stewart 748 pages, $16.95).

The biography is meticulously and massively researched; the author is one of only two people who have been granted unrestricted access to the papers and correspondence of Maurice LeNoblet Duplessis, once the controversial premier of Quebec.

He has obviously ransacked newspaper and magazine files in both French and English. And he has talked at length with associates and adversaries of the Chief, perhaps most profitably with his long-time secretary, Antoni Cloutier.

The result is dull, over-long, cluttered with tedious and unnecessary detail.

The author revels, especially in dealing with the formation of the Union Nationale, in impeding his narrative with lists of names of the men who attended caucus, committee meetings, conventions, or who just sat on the same platform.

Black even lists the evanescent names of the scrutineers at the convention that chose Duplessis as leader, when a brief note that all the scrutineers were hand-picked would have sufficed.

But this is scholarship, by Gully, and you'd better not forget it.

CHURCH AND STATE

The author is fond of quoting correspondence - justifiably at length on such matters as federal-provincial tax-sharing and the British North America Act, but again overdoing it when he sets out to show, for example, on one hand Duplessis's old-world courtesy, and on the other hand his polemical or vindictive side.

The section on Monseigneur Cardinal villeneuve, his public role and private relationship with the Chief, as well as other dissertations on the parts played by the Rev. Georges-Henri Levesque, Cardinal Leger, and the Roman Catholic Church in general are essential. But they could have been shorter and sharper, and thus more telling.

The same technique is applied to election campaigns: Meeting after meeting is reported tiresomely, with places, dates, size of crowd (Where, by the way, did Mr. Black get his figures? Any political reporter knows that the party holding a rally exaggerates attendance, while the opposition scales it down), names of other speakers and quotations from Duplessis.

What we need to know is how the campaign progressed, how the issues shifted and developed. It's there, all right, but the reader has to winnow it out.

SPECIAL INTEREST

Mind you, once the winnowing process is completed, you have a comprehensive biography of Duplessis 1890 - 1959, plus a largely political but also social and economic history of Quebec from about 1920 through 1959, with glances backward and forward, including some analysis.

The question is whether it's worthwhile for anyone but a specialist to plough through all the verbiage.

The author pulls no punches in describing some of Duplessis's faults: His arrogant, dictatorial attitude in the Legislature where, as premier, he often told the Speaker how to rule on points of order, corrected his colleagues in mid-speech, or flouted the rules himself; his dispensation of money to favorites and friends; his heavy drinking, sometimes with unfortunate consequences (Duplessis "went dry" in 1943, and drank nothing stronger than orange juice until his death); his ruthlessness, often in anger, but also in cold blood.

Mostly, though, this took is lost in admiration of the Chef's shrewdness, wit, charm, generosity, and undoubted deep understanding of his fellow quebecers.

SPECTATOR'S ROLE

Conrad Black is very much of the Establishment. He is fair enough to apply a few pejorative adjectives to outright dishonesties of both the Taschereau and Duplessis regimes, but emerges as a complacent spectator of kickbacks, shady deals, and cronyism.

He notes that the Chef, for example, kept a close eye on road cost-per-mile figures in other provinces, and insisted that Quebec contractors match them. Thus, he concludes, contributions to the Union Nationale war chest came out of legitimate profits, not inflated prices.

He naively fails to realize that profits can be expanded by slipping a few dollars to an inspector to overlook shoddy materials or skimping on specifications. And that happened often.

Establishment views also emerge on the Padlock Law and the Roncarelli case: Jehovah's Witnesses were a "public nuisance." The Asbestos strike of 1949 was a "rather tawdry affair", and the idea than the conflict was a turning point in labor relations in Quebec is "mythology".

Most students of the period wouldn't agree; even if it is mythology, the myth caught hold, and things have never been the same since.

PAST AND FUTURE

There's a strong prejudice against LeDevoir, the only newspaper that emerged to fight Duplessis's paternalism, authoritarianism and peculiar finances. True, some of the attacks were excessive, but desperate men use desperate measures.

And the book dismisses as lightweight, dangerous radicals the likes of Trudeau, Marchand, Pelletier, Laurendeau, Levesque, ignoring the fact that, in the long run, they were the future, while Duplessis was the past.

Finally, the writing itself, despite occasional felicitous phrases and shafts of wit, is generally turgid or incomprehensible.

Many words are spelt the same in both English and French - but do not mean the same thing. Conrad Black, supposedly writing in English, constantly uses such words in the French sense (64 examples in 50 pages, 445 - 495), rendering sentences or whole paragraphs incomprehensible to anyone who isn't thoroughly bilingual.

In short, a really good biography of Duplessis remains to be written.

Love In Action--Theme Of World Day Of Prayer

"Love In Action" is the theme for 1977 World Day of Prayer on Friday, March 4.

This year, the services come from Christian women behind the Iron curtain in the German Democratic Republic.

Approximately 3,000 communities from across Canada, and 170 countries around the world will be sharing this interdenominational day of prayer and fellowship.

In Bathurst, services will be held at St. Theresa Church, South Bathurst on Friday, March 4, both at 3:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Men, women and children of all faiths are welcome.

The World Day of Prayer is sponsored in Canada by the women's Inter-Church Council of Canada which is located at 77 Charles St. West, Toronto, Ont. M5S 1K5.

The council is made up of representatives from eleven Christian denominations, the Y.W.C.A., the Canadian Council of Churches, and the Ecumenical Forum of Canada.

Offerings from the World Day of Prayer are used to support ecumenical programs that meet human need both in Canada and other countries.

The German Democratic Republic became a member of the United Nations in September 1973 and has affirmed the "General Declaration of Human Rights" of 1948, and the "Agreement of Economic, Social and Cultural Rights" and the "Agreement against Discrimination in Education."

In the 1968 Constitution of the GDR, all citizens are afforded freedom of conscience and faith. Every citizen of the German Democratic Republic has the same rights and obligations regardless of his nationality, race, world-view of religious faith, origin or position in society. Freedom of conscience and faith are guaranteed. All citizens are equal before the law.

The churches and other religious fellowships conduct their own affairs and carry out their activities in accord with the Constitution and the legal regulations of the German Democratic Republic.

Approximately 10.2 million citizens, about 60 per cent of the population, belong to Christian churches and other religious fellowships.

Of these, approximately 8.07 million are members of a Protestant regional church ("Landeskirche"), 1.3 million belong to the Roman Catholic Church, and 0.15 million to the free churches and other religious fellowships.

MAIN TASKS

Christians in the GDR are confronted with new questions in regard to witness and service because of their socialist environment. They strive for responsible commitment in society. It is thus one of the main tasks of the congregations in the churches to aid their members in witnessing to their faith through word and deed, and in living as Christians within a socialist society.

In this regard, Christians trust in the strength of the Gospel which frees them from fear of the future of the world, and for the future of the church. Confidence in the liberating activity of God makes it possible for them to concern themselves completely with the people among whom they live, and to whom they owe the witness of the love of God.

The German women who wrote the 1977 service included a physician who is a director of a large hospital for handicapped children, three psychologists, three theologians, three church workers, all in responsible positions of leadership. Two are mothers of handicapped children.

Other professional women helped in editing the service. They wrote out of the daily life in their surroundings and invite those who receive the service to adapt and develop the outline in light of the actual situation in each particular place.

Those who prepared the service indicated that they understand the theme, "Love in Action" as a theme of "diakonia", which means above all our relationship with the sick, the weak, and with handicapped persons. This raised for them the whole concern of the relationships between the "weak" and the "strong".

BIBLE DIGEST: "If a man vow a vow unto the Lord or swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond, he shall not break his word, he shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth." Numbers 30:2

So many of us have said things that we didn't mean, and yet have meant a lot of things we said but never followed through. The Lord will surely keep His promises to us and we should not take lightly the commitments we make to Him.

To Investigate Shooting Death

Coroner Dr. J. D. Gauthier of Shippegan has called an inquest into the death February 8 of Achilles Boudreau, 35, of Lameque.

RCMP Inspector H. Robichaud of Shippegan said last week that the inquiry would be held in early March and no police action would be taken until after it is held.

Mr. Boudreau died instantly from a shot in the chest by a high-powered hunting rifle. His wife, 32-year-old Adeline Boudreau, was treated and released from hospital in Lameque suffering from what was believed to be a knife wound to the side.

The investigation is being handled by the Shippegan RCMP and the CIS branch in Bathurst.

Some cost reflections just to show how brilliant they are.

MLA PITCHES IN AT WINTER CARNIVAL

MLA for Nepisiguit - Chaleur Frank Branch, drew the winning ticket for a brown leather electric-vibrating lazy - boy chair, raffled off during the St. Anne Winter Carnival which opened February 17. It was held by Connie LeBlanc, 471 Varrily St. Mr. Branch was assisted by Bonhomme Carnaval who is comfortably settled in the chair. Winners in the various Queen Pageant categories, Queen, 1st and 2nd Princesses and Dutchess were selected on the basis of the greatest number of tickets sold by individual candidates.

representatives of the Civil Liberties Union stressed the point that, although the act of killing and eating grandma may have been in bad taste, actually the wolf was merely "doing his thing" and thus did not deserve the death penalty.

Further, the ACLU lawyers contended that killing the grandmother could be construed as self-defense, in as much as the wolf's intent was to "make love, not war" and it can be reasonably assumed that the grandmother resisted overtly and might, given the opportunity, have killed him.

Based on these considerations the coroner concluded that there was no valid legal basis for charges against the wolf, and that, in fact, the woodcutter was guilty of unaggravated assault with a deadly weapon. And the woodcutter was so indicted, arrested, arraigned, convicted, and sentenced to 20 years.

The Wednesday night following the sentencing, the woodcutter's cottage was burned to the ground.

One year from the date of the "incident at Grandma's", her cottage was dedicated as a shrine for the wolf who had bled and died there.

Village officials spoke at the dedication. Red Riding Hood herself gave the most touching tribute. She explained that while she was grateful for the woodcutter's intervention, in retrospect she realized that he had over-reacted. As she knelt and placed a wreath in memory of the brave wolf, there was not a dry eye in the whole forest.

More Safety For Players

Most parents of young hockey players are by now aware of the importance of helmets, and ensure that approved equipment is purchased for the benefit of the child. (For those just starting out on a hockey parent career, look for CSA Approved labels.)

That approval only applies to the helmet itself, though, and many leagues insist on having the players wear additional face protectors - eye, teeth and mouth, or full wire cages. None of these items have any set standards of quality or performance at the moment. By the time next season rolls around this should have changed.

The safety of Canadian children is a major concern of the Canada Safety Council. For this reason, the Council is pleased to learn that the Canadian Standards Association should be publishing a new standard about the same time as this publication appears, entitled "eye and teeth protection for hockey forwards and defencemen."

Once the standard is published, the CSA can begin testing masks and equipment, and certify those that comply. Consequently, by the start of the next hockey season, parents can look out for CSA certified face protectors to ensure their youngsters have the best available equipment.

The CSA committee is now turning its attention to the requirements of goal tenders in the area of head and face protection.

SAVE ENERGY
When cooking vegetables, don't drown them; about ½ cup of water is usually plenty and cook only until tender. You'll save vitamins and the food will taste and look better. If you use too much water, then you'll be using unnecessary energy in bringing the water to a boil.

Spend Weekends In Useful Pursuit

The Chaleur Area Firefighters participated in an instructor's course hosted by the Dalhousie Fire Department. Twenty-two firefighters attended classes for six days, consisting of three weekends; January 15, 16, 22 and 23 and February 5 and 6.

Chief instructor was Charlie MacDonald, supervisor of Firemen's Training, for the Province of N.B. Mr. MacDonald was assisted by Wendell Savoy, training officer for the Dalhousie Fire Department. There were ten Fire Depts. represented from the Chaleur area.

On Sunday, February 6, the Dalhousie Fire Dept. Ladies' Auxiliary helped with the closing, putting on a beautiful buffet for all in attendance.

Host, Chief A. W. Brown of Dalhousie welcomed Sandy MacLean, Deputy Mayor of Dalhousie, Hector Fournier, Provincial Fire Marshall and all firefighters who attended the course. He thanked Mr. MacDonald and the firefighters for the effort that was put forth.

Chief Brown stated it was his dream that Dalhousie would become the training center for all firefighters in Northern N.B. He stated also that there would be a firefighter workshop held in Dalhousie around the first of June. He welcomed all Depts. to return.

Determination Built This Skater's Career

By Malcolm J. Scully
(In The Belleville Intelligencer)

While most 17-year-old girls are still considering what they want to do in life, Gail Ellis is already involved in her life's work as a figure skating professional at the Quinte Figure Skating Club.

"Right now", she stressed, "skating is it and I would only think about doing anything else if I couldn't teach or skate, and then I'd have to sit down and think very hard."

In her first year of teaching as a professional, Miss Ellis has come a long way since her parents, Mr and Mrs Arthur Ellis (nee Eileen Chalmers), formerly of Belledune, enrolled her in the club when she was four years old to learn to skate. She has skated six hours a day, six days a week during the winter, attended a nine-week summer school in Oshawa for five years in a row and achieved the sixth figure - two short of the highest level possible.

She has also seen a career as a competitive skater disappear because of tendinitis which forced her to have her leg in a cast for two years.

Miss Ellis said even when she had her leg in a cast she still taught a judged figure skating and she was on the ice the same day as the plaster was removed.

"Figure skating, that's all I want to do", she said.

Becoming a professional has put demands on her time and brought out a determination which allows nothing to interfere with her chosen course.

"I always put skating first and school second", Miss Ellis said, "I didn't find any interests in school and I couldn't get involved in other activities like being a cheerleader or gymnastics."

"Around high school I missed out in a lot of activities including boys but you have to decide what you want - you can't have both", she said.

She said figure skating has cost her a lot of friends who after a while get frustrated when she will only go out with them about once a month.

"My mother calls me a loner."

Being a figure skater is her choice, she said. "I loved carnivals and have the spotlight on me which was very important at junior level."

Her dedication with figure skating when she was younger was mocked by other youngsters who she added would stand on their tip toes and twirl around.

"I was into something different and they didn't know about it. I missed a lot but I've made up for it because I learned a lot they didn't."

Miss Ellis listed those things she learned. How to compete, how to associate with other people and how to express her feelings other than just by talking.

"I was very shy and backward", she said. "I shied away from other people and skating helped me express myself to music. My pro made me think and talk."

But again determination and competitiveness comes through as an important accomplishment of skating.

"The most difficult thing was after falling for a whole night and being able to go out and do the same jump over and over and not get frustrated. I had to work hard to get what I did."

The hours of work and sacrifice have also given Miss Ellis a career where she earns $12 an hour and she works six nights a week in Belleville and Frankford.

She admits she is young to be a professional instructor and she has had to prove her knowledge and responsibility. She added some people were afraid she wouldn't be responsible enough to be at the arena every night.

She has also had to work hard to earn the respect of her students, some of whom are her age or just a few years younger.

"You can't talk about social things with them, you have to stay one step above them to respect you. If I was older they would respect me automatically."

Miss Ellis added she has also had to learn how to deal with adults. There are some parents, she admits, who push their child and don't ask what the child is interested in.

"In every sport there's that certain parent who wants more."

She recalls how it was up to her to convince her parents to allow her to continue in figure skating.

Before working on grace and poise, a figure skater must build strength and develop abilities first.

She emphasized that it is a sport and while ballet is almost all grace, a figure skater making a jump must land before worrying about the hands and position of the head.

"You can't depend on anyone when you're out there alone and there is nobody to hold your hand. It's not team work. It's up to you."

Careers With A Challenge

Decision making time? Naturally you want to invest that hard-earned education in something that will offer you some challenge... some excitement... some security in return.

But where do you come upon a job like that without some experience behind you? And how do you get the experience? How do you go about getting paid to learn a trade that interests you? Or getting an employer to back you if you have the right qualifications to complete your studies?

Who is it that is going to put an opportunity in front of you? Give you the chance to exercise your mental and physical capabilities to the fullest, and show what you can really do? Whose door should you knock on now?

Have you ever thought about joining the Canadian Forces? Sixty-five trades for the "other Ranks" personnel and more than thirty classifications for officers are available.

The trades have been set up in three categories - Branch, Trades and Specialized Trades within each Branch. It is within this structure that personnel are recruited, trained, promoted and paid in the Canadian Forces.

The selection for training in any of these Branches and Trades depends upon the candidate's aptitude as established in tests by Canadian Forces Selection specialists and our current requirements.

Trades in the Canadian Forces are constantly under review and more and more are becoming open to women.

For more information please contact the Recruiting Centre, Telephone 546-4145 or just drop in for a visit at 196 Main Street, Bathurst, during normal working hours, or contact your local Canada Manpower Center.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT WARREN ROSS

Former City Woman Weds In Montreal

Montreal West United Church was the scene of a candlelight wedding of local interest recently when Diane Ruby Lutes, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eric Lutes, Bathurst, was married to Mr. Robert Warren Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ross, of St. Andrews, N.B.

Rev. Stanley Gibson officiated at the double-ring ceremony and the organist was Mr. Sidney Adams.

The bride, given to marriage by her older brother Ian, of Chicago, wore a gown of white peau-de soie, trimmed with Belgian lace, with matching headpiece and cathedral veil. She carried a cascade of pink and white roses, with baby's breath and ivy.

Miss Joyce Wilkins, Fredericton, was the maid of honour. Miss Cindy Chalmers, a cousin of the bride from Raleigh, N.C., Miss Joanne Cameron and Mrs. Donna St. Martin, both of Montreal, were the bridesmaids. They wore identical floor-length gowns of silver-blue jersey and carried bouquets of shades of pink carnations.

The mother of the groom wore a blue jersey gown, trimmed with malibu at the neck and cuffs and her corsage was a pale-pink orchid.

Mr. Bill Ross, of St. Catharines, Ont., brother of the groom, acted as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Ralph Lutes, brother of the bride, of Kingston, Ont., Gordon Gilman, Fredericton and Lionel St. Martin, Montreal.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a dinner-dance reception was held at the Ritz Carlton Hotel. Mr. Bill Ross acted as master of ceremonies and the toast to the bride was proposed by the bride's uncle, Mr. Mel Glenn, to which the groom fittingly responded.

During the course of the reception, Mr. Jay Chalmers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Chalmers, Raleigh, N.C. and a cousin of the bride, sang a medley of songs dedicated to the bride and groom.

The bride chose a three piece, moss-green wool suit, cream silk blouse and rust accessories as her going-away ensemble. Her corsage was a cream - coloured orchid.

Following a two-week honeymoon in Los angeles and Hawaii, the couple returned to Montreal where the bride, a graduate of UNB, is employed as an administrative assistant and the groom, a graduate of Mount Allison University, is a chartered accountant with a Montreal firm.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were from Chicago, Releigh, N.C., Vancouver, B.C., St. Catharines, Ottawa, and London, Bathurst, Fredericton and St. Andrews, N.B. and Halifax, N.S.

MR. AND MRS. WILBROD MELANSON

Functions Held At Hospital

Two special gatherings took place at Chaleur General Hospital for Mrs. Wilbrod Melanson of Petit Rocher in recent months. The first was when she and her husband marked their 50th wedding anniversary on October 31, and the other function on Jan. 18 on her 75th birthday.

A patient in the hospital here for some time, Mrs. Melanson underwent surgery there on Sept. 11.

Members of the family came from various points including the Province of Quebec to join in the golden jubilee celebrations at the hospital where a special anniversary mass was conducted by Rev. Edmond Richard, parish priest of St. Polycarpe Church in Petit Rocher where Mr. and Mrs. Melanson are members of the parish.

Recorded music for the mass was under the direction of Sister Estelle Frenette of Petit Rocher. The eucharistic offerings were made by two grandchildren, Lisa and Tony Vienneau. Readings were by Marc Melanson, a grandson, and Mrs. Rheal Doucet, a sister-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Frenette were presented with a purse of money on behalf of the family and other relatives and friends, and an appropriately decorated anniversary cake by Mrs. Leon Frenette, a close family friend.

For the occasion, Mrs. Melanson was wearing a pretty pink bed jacket and a corsage of pink and white roses presented by her sister Antoinette (Mrs. Edgar Blanchard of Allardville). Mrs. Blanchard had earlier arranged her sister's hairdo. Mr. Melanson wore a carnation boutonniere.

Following the service and presentations at the hospital, friends and relatives gathered at the home, in Bathurst of their only son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Melanson, 2475 Rough Waters Drive, where a buffet lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Melanson have eight children. They include Mrs. Adrien Doucet (Dora), Petit Rocher, Mrs. Raymond Pichette (Claudette) of Montreal, Mrs. Hartley Brown (Juliette) of Dalhousie, Mrs. Reginal Guitard (Blanche) and Mrs. Ronaldo Vienneau (Doris) both of Petit Rocher, Gilberte of Montreal, Jeannine, at home, and Clovis, Bathurst.

There are 13 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren as well.

Mr. Melanson, a retired farmer, and the former Corinne DeGrace were married in Petit Rocher by the late Rev. Nazaire Savoie. Their attendants were a sister-in-law, Mrs. Yvonne Comeau, now of Chatham, and Wilfred Frenette, Petit Rocher.

For the birthday party in January, present besides Mrs. Melanson's husband were her sister, Mrs. Blanchard, and daughters, Jeannine and Dora (Mrs. Adrien Doucet), and her daughter-in-law Jeanne Melanson, who were visiting Mrs. Melanson for the afternoon.

Mrs. Blanchard had also assisted her sister with her toilette and presented her with a beautiful corsage. The nursing staff at the hospital had arranged for an especially decorated birthday cake to be served which three other patients also enjoyed, and participated in the gathering.

Members of the nursing staff were also on hand to join in both festive occasions and extend their congratulations.

Mrs. Melanson received many cards as well as a number of gifts and flowers.

Red Cross Annual Meeting Indicates Successful Year

Officers for 1977 of the Bathurst Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society were elected at the annual meeting held in the Red Cross rooms Jan. 31 at 8 p.m.

The slate includes Mrs. Wilmot Hatheway, president; Mrs. Marie Scott, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Arthur Ray, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Anthony Arsenault, secretary; and the treasurer, David Brown.

Conveners appointed are: Mrs. Lorenzo Boudreau, loan cupboard; Miss Dorothy Anderson knitting; Mrs Walvalin Noble, sewing and emergency services.

Following opening procedures, conveners gave their reports. Mrs. M. Noble reported a total of 327 articles had been forwarded to provincial headquarters. Shipments contained baby gowns, receiving blankets, diapers, women's blouses and dresses, girls' tunics and pantie dresses and men's shirts.

Mrs. Noble also reported 196 pieces of bedding had been distributed to families who lost their possessions by fire.

Knitting convener, Miss Anderson said 138 knitted articles were completed during the year. These were crocheted and knitted afghans, sweaters, caps, socks, mitts and baby layettes.

The loan cupboard convener, Mrs. Boudreau reported that 43 articles were loaned during 1976 and that these were mostly wheelchairs, walkers or crutches.

The Bathurst Branch of the Red Cross can boast of another successful year, made possible entirely through the generosity of volunteer workers engaged in the humanitarian work of service to those in need, it was noted.

It would be impossible to function without the aid of these devoted persons who give hours of their time in knitting or sewing without any expectation of reward, the branch officers said.

ANN LANDERS

Is Concerned Re Allegation

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A group of friends, all fairly well-informed and intelligent, were discussing the state of the union last evening. Someone expressed the notion that while some people were concerned about the effect of a Fundamentalist Baptist in the White House, the Jews and Catholics were quietly taking over Congress.

As usual, the individual who made this allegation had no facts or figures to support his theory. Is there any truth in it? Will you please give us the real story? — Interested in Sarasota

DEAR IN: Although the new United States Congress (House and Senate) has more Roman Catholics and Jews than the preceding lineup, there is no chance of a "takeover." Here is the present count: 371 Protestants in the present Congress — down 9. 129 Roman Catholics — up 6. 27 Jews — up 3.

Although the Jewish and Roman Catholic totals are record highs for both groups, Protestants hold about 70 per cent of the seats in both Houses, which is their share of the population. Roman Catholics hold about 25 per cent and Jews about 3 per cent — which represents their approximate proportion of the general population in this country.

I was not the least bit "concerned" when a Catholic was elected President, although some said there would surely be a hotline from the White House to the Vatican. I am equally unconcerned about President Carter's Baptist Fundamentalism.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I be the 10,000th reader to Challenge the statement of the Ph.D in clinical psychology? He said, "I have yet to run into a male juvenile delinquent who wasn't hit with a fist, board, belt or a piece of rope."

I would be happy to provide a dossier that will knock his theory into a cocked hat. I can present 10 years' documentation of the incorrigible delinquency of our well-loved and tenderly-cared only son, who never had a hand laid on him except in a loving gesture and who now, at 21, towers over both of us and makes our lives hell with his bullying, threats and brutish behavior.

In a n effort to educate that naive psychologist, I would be willing to show him, with school, court and psychiatric records, what our son has done to us these last ten years. The principal victim, of course, is himself. Nevertheless, we, his parents, are still engaged in the never-ending search for "the answer". Just sign us, — Seething (And Suffering) In the Suburbs.

DEAR FRIENDS IN THE SUBURBS: Here is your letter — and although you weren't the "10,000th," hundreds of others did write to express the same point of view.

There is no single explanation for delinquent children. But perhaps YOUR misfortune had something to do with the fact that you never "laid a hand on him". While I'm violently opposed to belts, ropes, boards, etc., very young children sometimes learn a great deal about the family "pecking order" when a well-placed hand is applied to the seat of the problem.

Permissiveness has ruined a whole generation of young people. I'm happy to report that today's young parents are relying more on their instincts and less on the "experts."

CONFIDENTIAL to Damned If I Do And Damned If I Don't: If this is your choice, DON'T —and be damned. You'll have less to feel guilty about later.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious—lonley? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1490, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

DONATION FOR GUIDING MOVEMENT

Mrs. Elmer Lavigne, left, president of the Pabineau District Local Association of Girl Guides, presents a cheque for $400 to Gloucester Division Commissioner Mrs. Pat Meahan. The money will be used for camp equipment within the division's Guiding Movement. The funds were raised by parents and friends of Girl Guides and Brownies in the South and East Bathurst area which comprises Pabineau District, for their use in camping efforts. Standing at the right is Mrs. Mabel Thibeault, a member of the Local Association and the captain of 1st East Bathurst Guide Company. The presentation took place during a meeting of the Guides held in the East Bathurst Parish Hall and the program ended with a Valentine party.

Appreciation Expressed To Canobie WI Branch

Fifteen members and one guest were present for the regular monthly meeting of the Canobie Women's Institute Branch held in the Community Centre Feb. 1.

The meeting opened with the singing of O Canada, followed by Mary Stewart Collect, salutation of the flag and God Save the Queen. Roll call was answered with a bring-and buy sale.

On motion of Mrs. Gordon Glendenning, seconded by Mrs. Ivan Ellis, the financial report was adopted, following reading of the minutes.

Correspondence included a Christmas card from Joseph and Clarisse Cormier, a thank-you note from the students of the school for impaired hearing at Amherst, N.S. for mittens they had received, thank-you notes from Mrs. Louise Morrison on behalf of her mother, Mrs. Arnold Sealy for Christmas treats given the latter, also notes of appreciation from Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Jagoe and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jagoe.

Mrs. Gordon Glendenning voiced verbal thanks on behalf of Mrs. Raymond Glendenning for her Christmas treat. Mrs. Donald Sealy thanked members for the flower she received while in hospital.

Members were reminded of the canning and freezing demonstration in the Community Centre Feb. 8.

Mrs. Sterne Glendenning noted a workshop on the duties of Women's Institute officers was being held in Bathurst Feb. 22. She also inquired if members would rather attend a drug or a macrame demonstration. Members voted for macrame.

Mrs. Leigh Jagoe requested permission for the L.O.B.A. to use the Community Centre on Feb. 14 for a meeting, and on Feb. 18 for a social evening. The request was granted.

The birthday can was opened and more cookbooks were distributed as requested.

It was decided that $5 be paid to the Trinity Memorial fund in memory of Ira Ellis, following motion of Mrs. G. Glendenning, seconded by Mrs. Terry Melanson.

Two conveners' reported were submitted.

Mrs. Sterne Glendenning read an article concerning the dangers of mixing household cleaners and Mrs. Leigh Jagoe read an item regarding door-to-door salesmen and the possibility of unwary buyers being swindled by such persons.

Mrs. Eldon Sealy noted that one quilt had been quilted and only needed to be bound. It was decided to sell tickets and to send the proceeds to the provincial W. I. office.

Mrs. S. Glendenning reported the second quilt was in the frames and she would be bringing it to the Community Centre where members agreed they would work on it when they had spare time. With this, the business of the meeting concluded.

Mrs. Douglas Silver won the mystery box donated by Mrs. Mervin Smith.

Two contests followed. The one conducted by Mrs. Ira Jagoe resulted in three winners: Mrs. S. Glendenning, Mrs. Hazen Jagoe and Mrs. Eldon Sealy. Mrs. D. Silver's contest was won by Mrs. M. Smith.

Following motion by Mrs. Silver, the meeting was adjourned with members repeating the Institute Ode after which lunch was served by the hostesses for the evening.

Cabinet Ministers sign guest book during Monday's visit to City Hall. From the left: Mr. Houlihan, Mayor Duffy, Mrs. Robertson, Messrs. Simard and Garvie.

Volley Of Requests For Touring Cabinet

A joint brief presented by Wilfred G. Battah on behalf of the New Brunswick Co-Ordinating Council for the Hearing Handicapped and l'Association de Parents d'Enfants Sourds du Comte de Gloucester was among 18 submissions presented Monday night to four Cabinet ministers at the Bathurst Community College.

A capacity crowd was on hand for the hearings, the last in a series in Northeastern New Brunswick. Cabinet members in attendance included Health Minister Brenda Robertson, Finance Minister Lawrence Garvie, Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau and Treasury Board Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard. The three-hour session was chaired by Mayor John A. Duffy.

The submission by Mr. Battah, who is president of both associatons involved, dealt with the various problems encountered by the deaf in a world designed for the hearing. It asked for the help of the province in obtaining for the deaf adequate education, fair employment, legal safeguards and the many social and economic advantages so easily attainable by others.

The associations indicated their intention to petition the premier to proclaim May "Hearing Awareness Month" in New Brunswick to petition all mayors to do likewise in their municipalities.

Other recommendations of the brief included:

-That screening audiometers be made available to all public nurses.

-That all children be given a screening test prior to their admission into kindergarten or public school.

-that public health nurses be required to ask a prepared series of questions related to a child's hearing at all child health clinics.

-that proper follow-up be maintained for all cases suspected of hearing impairment.

Above all, the presentation emphasized the need for early detection.

A lengthy brief touching on the definition of a basic education, the economic status of the province and current negotiations between the province's 8,000 teachers and Treasury Board was read by Conrad Coughlan, principal of Sacred Heart School.

Speaking on behalf of the English division of the N.B. Teachers' Association, Branch 4E. Mr. Coughlan voiced concern for the drastic cuts in personnel services, the depletion of supply teachers, the reduction of services to pupils by the elimination of music teachers, physical education personnel, remedial teachers and a host of other pupil-oriented professional services which drastically affect quality in education.

"We are concerned because 164,000 students and their parents will be affected."

-As for the general economic situation, the association requested proof that the government understands that the duality of services for French and English students in the province is going to be costly. "We are unique in that we have duality of systems but we persist in believing it can be operated in much the same fashion and as economically as does Nova Scotia", the brief stated.

The submission also noted the teachers' concern over the state of contract negotiations now underway in the province, and listed several areas which are fostering hurt, disappointment and anger among the ranks.

Donald Gauvin presented a brief from the French-speaking teachers Branch No. 4 echoing many of the points contained in the English presentation.

"Since the government of N.B. has the responsibility of seeing to it that children receive the best possible education", the submission stated, "how can you hope to realize this objective when you refuse to provide the school boards with adequate funds?

"The long term results of present cuts in education will be to compromise the pupil's future."

The brief asked who decided upon educational priorities in the province - the Education Department or the Treasury Board. This was in reference to the proposed modification of all articles in the present collective agreement.

Finally, the brief supported the proposal for a French-speaking school district in the Bathurst area because it was felt "decisions made by such a school board would be better adapted to our situation."

Appearing on behalf of the Northeastern New Brunswick Tourist Association was executive-secretary Gilles Chamberland.

The organization's brief made a variety of requests, including the incorporation of a hostelry school into the Northeastern Institute of Technology, the establishment of a crafts school in the vicinity of the Acadian Village, the construction of a tourist information centre in Bathurst, and the promotion of tourist attraction projects in the region.

A submission prepared by the Parkwood Heights Homeowners Assn. and presented by Mrs. Charlotte Coombes concerned the establishment of a bilingual elementary school on property owned by District 4 in the subdivision.

A poll conducted by the association showed a total of about 1,000 children from infancy to Grade 9 in the zone, and gave projected school population figures for Grade One up to the year 1981.

The group asked special consideration for the request.

On behalf of the administration of the Bathurst Animal Shelter, Mrs. Barbara Baird asked what could be done for the control of dogs in rural areas of Gloucester County.

"Most people are the victims of impulse buying," which very often results in a pup or kitten being treated badly or abandoned when they become fully grown", the brief said. "The shelter is a non-profit organization which, although it receives no subsidy from Fredericton, does not escape property taxation. We respond to all calls in the county, at considerable time and expense."

The shelter felt a change in public attitude was needed, but also recommended that the province enforce a stricter licencing policy in the county as well as an education program in regard to ownership and breeding.

MLA for Nepisiguit-Chaleur Frank Branch asked in a verbal presentation what the impact of the public hearing would be as both the Throne Speech and the budget speech for the Legislature sitting underway Tuesday were already written.

Also presenting briefs at the hearing were Laurent Paulin for millwrights who are losing work to contractors from other provinces; Hector Hachey, who as both a parent and teacher expressed concern over present cutbacks; Harold Imough, opposing changes in the private campsite structure in the upriver area; Alban Aube, who foresaw a dim future for New Brunswick's working class; Betty Bouma, who favoured the retention of a technical director for figure skating by the recreation and youth department.

Leopold Arpin, who emphasized the importance of natural resources to the northeast; Marcel Lajoie, who explained the plight of harvesters and truckers as a result of the initial failure of Brunswick Mills; Grand Anse Mayor Edmond Landry who spoke on tourism and school problems; Phil Fraser, on land claims and education scholarships for Metis and non-status Indians; and Michel Blanchard, on co-operative housing and cultural development.

A written brief was also submitted by Local 512, United Assn. of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe-Fitting Industry regarding the hiring of unqualified persons and workers from outside of the province to do work in New Brunswick.

City Council Presentation Well-Received By Ministers

A 16-page brief dealing with such topics as stimulation grants, the municipal airport, tourism and the report of unincorporated areas was presented to four New Brunswick Cabinet ministers by Bathurst City Council Monday morning.

The brief, prepared by Councillors Jean Paul Lavoie, committee chairman, James MacLaggan and Terry Lenihan, was presented to the Fredericton delegation on the last leg of its Northeastern N.B. tour. Ministers included Treasury Board Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard, Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau, Health Minister Brenda Robertson and Finance Minister Lawrence Garvie.

On the topic of unincorporated areas, the city brief pointed out the reduction and eventual removal of the provincial tax rate is encouraging migration to unincorporated areas, as is evident in the 1976 census population figures.

"The development of residences along Route 430 to Brunswick Mines is a prime example of this phenomenon", the brief stated, "as the highway has now become a local road and a safety hazard to through traffic. Soon it will be necessary to build new highways, as can be realized from the recent request by Brunswick Mines and Consolidated-Bathurst to build a new road from the city to the No. 12 mineshe."

Council urged the establishment of an adequate method of taxation for services provided in unincorporated areas, and a stronger commitment to planning by the provincial government to check uncontrolled growth in these areas.

Moving to air transportation, the council presentation indicated the city's uniqueness in being at the centre of the northeast without a regional link with other provincial centres. It stated indecision by government has resulted in the cancellation of service provided by Atlantic Central Airlines which had previously handled an average of 39 passengers daily at the local airport.

It was pointed out that the airport is under the jurisdiction of the provincial government within the Belledune Planning District which lacks a regional plan.

Council recommended the enactment of a zoning ordinance to control the development of lands in the immediate area of the airport or the purchase of the lands requiring control to eliminate the very real threat or urban sprawl.

In the field of recreation, the city strongly urged an immediate commitment by the government to use New Brunswick's portion of Atlantic Loto proceeds for construction of recreation and leisure facilities. It was noted that no central community centre exists in the city, and the recommendation was seen as "a painless way" to satisfy a need in Bathurst and in other communities as well.

The council requested a stimulation grant of $1,490,940 for 1977, rather than the usual $100,000, to develop and provide water and sanitary sewer services in the city.

The promotion and growth of tourism in the City of Bathurst was also seen as a major concern. The ministers were told of the necessity to terminate existing Tourist Bureau operations due to the relocation of Harbourview Boulevard to accommodate the new federal office complex.

"The Tourism Department currently owns property on the north side of Vanier Boulevard, adjacent to the bypass, and the province should designate a portion of the property to accommodate the set up and operation of an accessible and much-needed tourist information centre."

The government was also urged to provide necessary funds to provide water for fire-fighting purposes in the Bathurst Industrial Park. The city noted the development in the park has been disappointing to date because of the lack of water.

The extension of the Residential Rehabilitation Assistance Program (R.R.A.P.) to areas not benefitting from the Neighbourhood Improvement Program was also supported in the city brief. Council pointed out that no new NIP areas were designated in 1976, "and prospects for a federal-provincial agreement in 1977 are dim."

Sections in East Bathurst, West Bathurst and central areas are greatly in need of improvement, the presentation stated, but the R.R.A.P. program discriminates against urban dwellers in non-NIP areas.

The final area of concern dealt with improvements to provincial highways and structures. While council acknowledged the work done on Murrimichi, Vanier, Bridge, Murray and St. Peter Avenue, the major concern was said to be the relocation of Nepisiguit River Crossing (East Bathurst Bridge), "which has been promised for many years."

In conclusion, the brief extended an invitation for "specific discussion to find solutions to the mutual problems that exist between the City of Bathurst and the provincial government of New Brunswick."

The presentation was described as "a very good brief" by Mr. Simard who assurred councillors that attention would be given to all of the requests. Asked when council could expect some specific answers, the Treasury Board chairman stated the government was aware of the long delays, particularly in getting the NIP program off the ground, and that solutions might be forthcoming in either the budget speech or the Throne Speech.

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau congratulated council for recognizing its status as "the resource centre of New Brunswick."

"It is time that people become aware that a large part of the tax money in this province comes from industries such as forestry, mining and fishing."

Speaking on the airport aspect of the brief, Mr. Garvie, a former minister of transportation, said he could see the need for air service in the Bathurst area. "The service is necessary to both the population and industrial growth, and it should not matter that there are two other airports within a radius of 30 miles. The need is here". He added the newest proposal for an air operation to Fredericton would be studied and discussed with the proper officials upon the ministers' return to the capital.

PABINEAU PEOPLE PROJECT INTRODUCED

Openhouse was held at the Pabineau Mines Road, Big River Fire Hall Sunday in Pabineau. A large turn-out viewed the premises and were served coffee and donuts. The 25' x 51' x 14' high structure contains a hot-air heating system and will house the main office and a tanker donated by the Department of Natural Resources. The Brigade also has its own welding apparatus, portable water pump and 600' of hose. The building which is not government controlled was completely built by Pabineau area residents through the help of an LIP grant. The PBM Volunteer Fire Brigade is still in need of donations in order to clear a $6,475 deficit. Monthly 50-50 draws are held by the Brigade which helps to defray some of the expenses. The official opening is scheduled for the near future. Persons responsible for this important venture are: Norman Paul, president; Lee Nicol Jr., vice-president; Ernest Lavigne, secretary; Theodore David, treasurer; Sydney Scully, Omer David, Donald Branch, Ken Gray and Kevin McKendy, directors.

Postal And Customs Services On The Move

Commencing on Monday, March 7, the wicket and lock box operations at the local post office will be located temporarily in the Wye Electric building across from the federal building on King Ave.

In making the announcement earlier this week, Postmaster Martial Comeau noted that lock box service will be discontinued and general delivery service will be provided instead at the temporary quarters. In this connection the following hours will be observed: Mondays to Fridays 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Saturdays: 12:00 noon to 4:00 p.m.

The unexpired advance rental fee for lock boxes will be credited to holders once regular post office services are resumed, providing they wish to retain this type of service. Should they wish to discontinue, however, refunds will be made proportionate to the unexpired period.

The present slots for posting of mail at the regular post office will be plugged until further notice and a receptacle for this purpose, along with a stamp-vending machine will be available outside the Wye Electric building, Mr. Comeau explained. Letters may also be deposited inside during business hours.

The big move of post office facilities across the street by staff members and others has been planned for this weekend. After that time Canada Manpower will be the only tenant in the federal building until this government service is transferred, also on a temporary basis, to the Continental Store on Main St.

Moving simultaneously with the post office over the weekend is the Department of the Collector of Customs, headed by Patrick E. McLaughlin. He and the other personnel, Rene Doucet and Raymond Theriault until further notice will be occupying premises on the second floor of the K mart, also as of Monday, March 7.

Immediately the federal building's main floor is vacated, Connolly Construction, contractors for the $½-million project, will move in to get the renovations and alterations underway.

Pre-Retirement Seminar Planned

The N.B. Department of Labour and Manpower is presenting a Pre-Retirement Planning Seminar to assist residents of the Bathurst area in planning for their retirement. This is one of a series of seminars being offered to the public throughout the Province. This program was presented successfully in Bathurst in 1976.

The seminar is being held for two Friday evenings and two Saturdays, March 18, 19, 25 and 26 at the Royal Canadian Legion, St. Peter Avenue.

Along with discussions, films and written material, guest speakers provide information on Old Age Security, Canada Pension Plan, Unemployment Insurance, Legal Planning, Health, Housing, Financial Planning, Consumerism, Activities and Adjustment.

People who are thinking about retirement in the near future or in five or ten years can benefit greatly from these seminars. Following the seminar, a newsletter updating information is sent to all participating four times per year.

Registration for the seminar is limited. Further information and brochures can be obtained through the Dept. of Labour and Manpower Regional Office, St. John Street, Bathurst or the Pre-Retirement Planning Program, Department of Labour and Manpower, P. O. Box 6000, Fredericton.

Beresford Gets Pollution Grant

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau Tuesday announced Cabinet approval on an annual grant of $364,517 to the village of Beresford for the construction of municipal pollution control facilities.

Mr. Boudreau, who made the announcement on behalf of Environment Minister Fernand G. Dube, said that the annual grant will continue for a period of fifteen years. The assistance is part of the support program provided by Environment New Brunswick for trunk collector and sewage treatment plants at the municipal level throughout the Province.

The Beresford pollution control project is being developed in conjunction with a water supply and distribution system as well as a sewage collection system for the entire community.

The long-term objective of the Environment New Brunswick program is to encourage the development of secondary sewage treatment facilities in all provincial municipalities in order to combat the problems of water pollution. The cost of this year's municipal grant program operated by the department will total more than $2 million.

LOSS NEGLIGIBLE

The City Fire Department answered a call at 9:22 p.m. Tuesday when a blaze erupted in an unused storage shed owned by Daniel Noel of 1220 King Avenue.

The building was completely destroyed in a matter of moments and it seemed as if an explosion occurred.

According to a spokesman there is a suspicion of arson, no insurance was carried and the loss is negligible.

THE BAD NEWS

Who needs to beware the ides of March? Now it's the first days of that month that people have to watch out for and the arrival of municipal tax bills. Increases in the prices of gas and oil don't help either.

As we said here before, you never know the good or bad news of the amount of taxes you're going to have to pay each year until the mailman arrives with the figures. Assessment increases had been forecast as 20 to 40 per cent. Judging from the number of phone calls to The Northern Light Tuesday, it's more like 50 to 100 percent.

However, that's the way the cookie crumbles. Only recourse the public has, it seems, is to keep clobbering the government at all levels over wasteful and unnecessary spending. Even to the point of being labelled nit-pickers, we're going to do just that.

The people we feel sorriest for are those who have reached senior citizen status after working hard all their lives and doing without certain amenities in order to keep their properties up.

Now to be hit with increased taxes on top of all other rising costs? That creates a real hardship and in some cases an impossibility. Yet you keep hearing about Equal Opportunity! And to have to sit back and watch "ineligible" individuals

Queen Ann Reigns Over Carnival

A capacity crowd of about 650 persons were on hand Wednesday evening, Feb. 23 to see 17-year-old Ann Maher crowned queen of the 1977 Bathurst High School winter carnival.

Miss Maher, a Grade 12 student who chose the theme "Friendship" as her topic for a short taped address by each girl played during the pageant, expressed surprise and delight over the outcome of the opening carnival event.

Ann, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maher of 675 Elm Court, was crowned by last year's monarch, Alexandra Rimowska.

First princess was Wendy Wells, a Grade 11 student, while Bev Matthews, Grade 12, was named second princess. Peggy McLean was chosen by the other seven contestants as Miss Friendship 1977.

Timmy Kyle, a member of the BHS Lancers and son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Kyle, was chosen King Hustler for 1977, the title being handed over by the 1976 winner, David Spencer. About $300 was raised by this event which involved voting by pennies for the male student "with the best legs."

Master of ceremonies for the pageant was Roger Clinch, who capably introduced various entertainers and chatted with the girls about future plans.

Each of the eight participants modelled street and evening wear and each was called upon to display a talent during the course of the evening.

Merchants Hold Annual Meeting

City Manager Pierre Marquis was guest speaker Tuesday night at the annual meeting of the Downtown Merchants Association, held at the Gloucester Motel.

Mr. Marquis brought merchants up to date on the progress of the proposed federal Unemployment Insurance Commission complex. The city manager said all indications point to Harbourview Boulevard as the site of construction, between Continental Store and St. Peter Avenue.

Bathurst Festival Commission President Michel Bourque was also present at the meeting and spoke on downtown Hospitality Days activities. As most merchants were opposed to the Main Street-King Avenue mall again this summer, both sides agreed to look for an alternate location. Harbourview Boulevard and some private parking lots were suggested, but no definite decision was made.

Re-elected president for the coming year was Dennis Daley. Other members of the association executive include Kevin Mann, vice-president; Jean Paul Hachey, secretary; and Sal Bruno, treasurer.

STUDENTS ENJOY NEW EQUIPMENT

Students of Mrs. Maude Smyth's special education class at Sacred Heart School are now enjoying the use of a new balance beam (walking rail). This equipment, a gift of Chi Chapter Beta Sigma Phi, helps promote good body alignment and reflex functioning in these special education children.

Chi Chapter has "adopted" Mrs. Smyth's class as a special project and this year, on each child's birthday, a cake is baked by one of the chapter members and taken to the school where it is enjoyed by one and all.

4-H LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE, FRIENDLY AFFAIR

Above are three of the delegates who represented their provinces at the 4-H Leadership Development program held at Tatamagouche, N.S., last weekend. Left to right are, Mrs. Opal Melanson, Bathurst; the New Brunswick representative; Mrs. Alice Drak, Placentia Bay, Nfld., and Mrs. Mabel Carmichael, Albany, P.E.I. The three ladies joined 36 provincial personnel and 4-H leaders from Nova Scotia in this farming community, located on Northumberland Strait, 35 miles from Truro. The day's program, beginning at 8 a.m. and continuing until 10 30 pm was a busy one and comprised panel discussions, debates, skits, role-playing and illustrated talks. In reporting on the event, Mrs. Melanson said "after registration, there was a get-acquainted period during which each person was given a sheet of paper with a name on it, and we had to locate this person within the group and obtain pertinent information such as home community, hobbies, clubs, etc. When these facts were read, we were asked to stand. We were asked several questions regarding our respective areas. One young gentleman, Weldon Smith, a 4-H worker from Lawrencetown, N.S. asked if I knew where South Tetegouche was I replied that I was born there. He said he had visited the Fred Walsh home there and had attended Nova Scotia Agricultural College with their son Leslie Walsh. Ellen O'Reilly of Bridgewater, N.S., a home economist with the Department of Agriculture, inquired about the Mersereau and Connolly families, mentioning she had attended St. F.X. University with some of the children. Sister Beatrice Chiasson, a 4-H leader from Richmond, N.S., asked about Rev. O. Parker. She had worked in Belledune when he was parish priest in that community."

Alpines Win 6-4; Lead Series 3-1

Bathurst Alpines took command of their NSHL semi-final series against the Ironmen with a 6 - 4 decision in Chatham last night.

The win gives Bathurst a 3 - 1 lead in the best-of-seven set and they could wrap it up with a victory in the fifth game scheduled here tomorrow night starting at 8:30 p.m.

Six Alpines shared the scoring with Don Roy's goal at 12:06 of the second period proving the winner. Ghislain Tardiff, Lou Ouellette, Mike Brophy, Mike Morton and Brian Chamberlain were the other Alpine marksmen.

Glen Seperich played a strong game in goal for the Alpines who built a 5 - 2 lead after 40 minutes. Kenny Martin triggered a pair for the Ironmen with Don MacGregor and Ray O'Donnell netting the others.

The teams traded four goals in the opening period with Ghislain Tardiff and Lou Ouellette hitting for Bathurst while Ken Martin and Don MacGregor counted for the Ironmen. Mike Brophy, Mike Morton and Don Roy gave Bathurst its 5 - 2 lead in the second and Brian Chamberlain made it 6 - 2 early in the third before the Ironmen came back on goals by Martin and O'Donnell.

Chatham's Don MacGregor and John Luns of the Alpines received game misconducts at the close of the second period for joining a fight which erupted between Bathurst's Jackie Roy and Paul Findlay of the Ironmen. Roy and Findlay were handed majors.

Perfect Golf Ball Sought

Goosefeathers, honey, Scotch whisky and suspenders: unlikely raw materials from which to make a golf ball, you'd think. Over the centuries, however, they've all been tried, reports Susan Van Tijn in an article in The Financial Post Magazine.

Goosefeathers were on the scene in the 14th century: a top-hatful of them was boiled and stuffed into a leather cover to make a ball known as a featherie.

Suspenders entered the picture in 1898 when a certain Coburn Haskell was inspired by a visit to a suspender factory to try wrapping some of the long elastic filaments around a core to produce more bounce.

Back in the days of the featherie, ball-making was a local Scottish craft whose practitioners could turn out at most four top-grade balls a day.

Now it's a $156-million-a-year industry in North America and one which produced no less than 159 million balls in 1976.

Nor is the search for the perfect product over; indeed, one researcher believes that, with the help of a computer and measuring machines, he'd have no trouble designing a ball to fit any individual golfer's specific strengths and shortcomings.

Rambling

on the welfare and UIC payrolls wallowing in idleness, etc. Why, that's sheer torture!

The provincial government keeps harping on the fact that an election promise not to increase taxes has been honored. Well, there are other ways of skinning a cat.

There will be little sympathy for the folks at the assessing office, whose ears and telephone lines must be burning these days even though, as the saying goes, they only go by the book.

MINE MATTERS

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau announced Feb. 28 that Nigadoo River Mines will be closing down next July or August, thus confirming a recent rumor. (Since then there are similar reports concerning Heath Steele.)

Mr. Boudreau also noted that approaches have been made to other mining firms with a view to placing the 180 men who will be consequently unemployed. There are also possibilities, he added, for the initiation of another mining operation in the local camp.

PASSING PARADE

Fools rush in where angels fear to tread-like, Finesmaster Bill Davidson assessed the four visiting provincial cabinet ministers who were guests at Monday's Rotary Club luncheon meeting a dollar each. This was to cover any and all past misdemeanors they may have committed. The penalties were paid in good spirit, however, and the organization's coffers accordingly enriched... Jimmy Fournier, perennial personality at the Gloucester Motor Hotel, also observed Boy Scout Week. He performed at least one good turn beyond the call of duty by shovelling the walk so that 94-year-old Stewart Ellis, who lives in the same neighbourhood, could get to church, shopping and, as usual, eat out for his main meal.

While advertising has always been our own bread and butter, the commercial-crowded television screen is something else. There are so many messages so frequently presented and some of them, like promotions for deodorants often unappetizingly crowding those for food, that you often lose the continuity of the program you've been following. Among the most appealing TV ads, though, are the ones for funeral homes. That beautiful background music, soft words, etc. almost convince the viewer that he should cross his heart and hope to die.

TIPS AND TAKES

Bathurst district winners of $1000 or more in Atlantic Lottery earlier draws besides those already published include the following: $5000 - La Caisse Populaire de Shippegan in trust, $1000.: Ronald Boucher, Guy Couture and Robert Volontaire, all of Bathurst; Roger Lanteigne, Shippegan; Her outstanding sales record in a Canada wide 1976 promotion by Gem Hardware Products (a division of Avon) has paid off for Mrs. Roe Boucher a second time around. She has won a 10-day trip for two to London, England. Last year it was a vacation in the Bahamas.

Ligouri F. (Lug) Doucet named president, Mrs. Betty Cripps vice-president, and Mrs. Theresa Dunn re-elected secretary of Sacred Heart Cathedral Parish Committee for the coming year. Committee chairpersons were chosen as follows: finance, Terry Lenihan, social, Mr. Doucet; catechetics, Sister Geraldine Kelly; maintenance, Gerard Landry; liturgy, Mrs. Cripps. . . At a recent weekend meeting in Ottawa, Dominion Command officers and provincial presidents and secretaries rededicated themselves to the principles of a united Canada. They also reaffirmed that the Legion will continue to work towards that end in every province and territory of Canada. . . Former resident Winston Knowles, now of Campbellton, presented with a gold watch and pin to mark his 25 years with Lounsbury's at the annual shareholders' meeting in Moncton recently. He and Mrs. Knowles left later for Hawaii, a trip he earned as a top salesman with the firm and sponsored by the manufacturer of one of the products distributed in the province by Lounsbury's. Recent appointments at Chaleur General Hospital include Dr. Robert D. Hennessy as chief of medical staff, replacing Dr. W. B. Orser, and Mrs. Sandra Riordon as head nurse, Nursery. Public buildings, according to govt. regulations, warrant elevators only if they are more than two storeys high, notes one local observer. Accordingly she considers the installation of such a lift at the local post office as an added and unnecessary expense. Why not a dumb-waiter type of apparatus to carry mail between first and second floors, she asks?. FITTING CLIMAX TO SCOUT-GUIDE WEEK

Members of the Boy Scout Troop and Wolf Cub Pack in that parish proceed up the center aisle at Sacred Heart Cathedral to seats in the sanctuary for a special 4:00 p.m. service Sunday. The mass was concelebrated by Revs. J.E. Fournier, rector, and Gregory Culligan, curate and chaplain, as part of the Scout-Guide Week program. Supper was afterwards served in the parish hall by the Group Committee to several hundred patrons. The entire home-made menu consisted of five large caldrons of baked beans, brown bread and small cakes, along with the usual popular beverages, all of which disappeared in short order. Next project to be undertaken by the boys is the sale of chocolate bars to raise funds for sending representatives to next summer's Canadian Jamboree in PEI.

Bathurst CAMR Applies For Canada Works Grant

The Bathurst Branch of the Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded met recently in the Flowers of Hope School.

It was announced that the executive of the association had met with the principals of the Bass River Adult Workshop and the Flowers of Hope School to apply for a Canada Works grant. If approved, the grant will be used to run the Adult Workshop, providing three teachers, a bus driver and janitor.

The treasurer's report was read, and members thanked the following organizations and individuals for their generous donations: Paul Somer, Kentucky Fried Chicken Hockey Tournament, $20; A.O.T.S. Men's Club annual donation $582; Bathurst Festival Commission, $67.52; and U.C.T.'s donation to the Adult Workshop, $200.

Nicole Pitre, education committee chairperson, informed members she had visited the two workshops, Flowers of Hope and Adult Workshop at Bass River, and was very impressed with the work done at both. Ms. Pitre found the atmosphere very friendly at the Adult Workshop and felt there were many beneficial activities being conducted there.

At the Flowers of Hope School, Ms. Pitre noted, more programs have to be set up and she hoped materials for these programs would be acquired shortly.

Fred Wesenburg of Fred's Fuels generously donated $200 towards the gas and oil costs for the new C.A.M.R. van arriving shortly for the use of the two workshops. Donated by the Bathurst Rotary Club, the van will be leased from Bayside Chrysler Dodge. Students and principals of the schools are looking forward to the arrival of this much-needed form of transportation.

A student at the Adult Workshop recently travelled to Fredericton for the North-South All-Star game. Gerald Ritz met Premier Richard Hatfield and other government officials during his visit. The association would like to thank Rodney Daley for providing transportation for Gerald to and from the game and for accompanying him.

Ann-Marie Gammon, principal of the Flowers of Hope School, expressed her concern for those pre-school and school age children not attending the school. Children are accepted into the school at the age of three, Mrs. Gammon pointed out, and pre-schoolers can make a lot of progress. All parents interested in having their child attend are asked to call 548-3629.

The membership committee reported 50 paid members in the local branch. Fees are $2 per person, $5 per couple or family. Anyone interested in joining this organization may telephone Geraldine Harris at 548-2077 or 546-3674. Interested persons are invited to attend the group's next meeting on March 8 at 7:30 p.m. at the Flowers of Hope School.

Sabbaticals For Area Teachers

Education Minister Charles Gallagher has released the names of 39 New Brunswick public school teachers who have been granted a sabbatical leave for the 1977-78 school year.

Under the collective agreement between Treasury Board and the provincial teachers' federation, a maximum of 60 teachers a year may be granted a sabbatical leave. They are paid two thirds of their regular salary provided by the schedule in the collective agreement but must have been teachers in New Brunswick for five years, at least three of them with the same school board.

Sabbatical leaves are designed to allow teachers to improve their professional standing by a year of study or of study and travel.

Mr. Gallagher noted that the emphasis on granting sabbaticals for the coming year was on teachers who plan to take specialist training programs offered in provincial schools. He cited as examples of such programs special education, learning disabilities, guidance counselling, and academic and vocational subject specialities.

Those who received a sabbatical leave for 1977-78 include:
District 4: Sr. Ida Nardini, Marguerite Landry and John G. Sweeney; District 5: Germain Blanchard and Sr. Geraldine Lang; District 6: Florence Hache and District 7: Anne-Marie Losier and Robert Losier.

Bathurst, New Brunswick, Wednesday, March 2—Page 4

Capital Ideas

There is some merit in the suggestion by Natural Resources' Minister Roland Boudreau that more individuals invest money and take risks to promote jobs so that industrial development will flourish in the province.

Apparently too few New Brunswickers are prepared to take chances or accept the gambles involved and many of those who do fritter away paltry sums and achieve nothing.

What New Brunswick needs is more dedicated involvement in finance and industry. This province lags behind the rest of the nation in native industries. There is a dependence on government to lure both large and small operators from foreign nations so that jobs can be created.

Many of the outside industries that come here do not understand the region or its composition. They are not aware of markets, production rates or transportation problems. As a consequence, many fall and put an added burden on the tax system. Some have even made us the laughing stock of the world.

In support of what Mr. Boudreau had to say, Treasury Board Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard emphasized the province's need to provide more money and financial incentive to local manufacturing and industrial entities which are prepared to meet the demands of both export and domestic markets.

In this reasoning Mr. Simard does talk some common sense. On the other hand, and pardon us for being so naive, if you will, but may we ask these questions?

What has happened to those long established firms which have always stood on their own two feet and flourished and whose owners are independently wealthy?

Must they also share so generously in the handouts at the public expense? Or is it a matter of not being able to beat the establishment, they prefer to join it?

Insult To Injury

Federal government people continue to preach about the necessity of confining costs in order to combat a monster known as inflation. Yet they are among the greatest offenders in this regard.

The latest pronouncement effecting everyone and effective yesterday, March 1, was an increase in rates "to help the increased costs of postal service."

What service? This should be the first question asked.

The public is constantly being told the post office is giving better service and that the whole system is functioning well. But those who use the mails can see no improvement. In fact, if anything, service is worse than it was even 50 years ago.

Some first-class mail takes ten days to two weeks to travel from Toronto to Bathurst while, in other cases, it requires only two days.

Local mail from one Bathurst point to another sometimes takes several days to be delivered. Yet postal people just shrug their shoulders in place of an explanation. Newspapers intermittently or often never reach their subscribers.

It would appear that civil service red tape has effectively messed up the whole postal system. It has become the greatest pass-the-buck game of our time. Nobody will take responsibility. Nobody will even suggest ways to make mail delivery more efficient.

It is an affront to the people of this country to increase letter and parcel rates. There is no way in which they can be justified. For a better system and honest concern for the mail, most Canadians would not mind an increase. But present circumstances certainly do not warrant implementation of increased postal rates. And perish the thought if any is contemplated, of any further increments.

The present confusion and delay over the renovations, and the Bathurst post office building, creating inconvenience for both staff and public, is another sad story in itself and perhaps best left for another time.

Sobering Thoughts

Jimmy Carter, the president of the United States, gives one the impression that he is an honest, good living, God fearing man. We hope with all our heart that he isn't bluffing and just putting on a show.

This world of ours is in desperate need of good honest people who will stand up for what is right no matter what the cost. If we have those people among our leaders, then we will have a chance to build a better world for ourselves and for our children. We can't stand much more dishonesty in the leaders of our governments. We have had too much already.

Last week, we heard rumours of things that were being done in our Province of New Brunswick which are not right or honest or what we consider proper behavior for government leaders. We hope that these rumours will prove to be false and that somehow and in some way it will be shown that nothing dishonest has taken place.

These are difficult times in which to live when all around us changes are occurring which shake our faith and crumble the foundations on which we have built.

We cling desperately to honesty in such places as the churches, the schools, the police and the government.

We feel that as long as there is honesty in these places we will be able to cope with what may come.

EDITOR'S MAIL

Commentary From Shippegan

Shippegan, N.B.
February 21, 1977

The mayor of Shippegan and the 40 other assistants to the Quebec Winter Carnival all well-pleased and satisfied with their friendly reception by the mayor and organizations of the old City of Quebec. Many of them will, as last summer, be visitors at the Fisheries Festival of 1977 in Shippegan.

Valere Robichaud of Lower Neguac, N.B. was badly slandered by articles published in the French daily of Moncton because he had written in the Moncton Times a letter in which he proclaimed himself a French Canadian and not an Acadian. Mr. Robichaud did recognize that he is a French Canadian being born in Canada and not in Acadia.

Too many francophone citizens are under the false impression that every French-speaking person in New Brunswick is an Acadian and there is a big mistake because thousands of French-speaking citizens in New Brunswick by their origin are not Acadians. The origin comes from the country where our ancestors were born, regardless of the language spoken.

It is well known that La Societe Nationale des Acadiens did and are still doing good to have the right of the minority well respected by the English majority. But, to our mind, if such an organization would be called "La Societe des Francophones des Maritimes", many thousands of French-speaking persons in the province such as Valere Robichaud of Neguac would no doubt be members of such an association.

Why are people of Montreal in the Province of Quebec employed at the Jiffy plant just one month or so after their arrival in Shippegan while a waiting list of applicants from Shippegan still exists? Why also can a young school professor of Caraquet interfere with any project going on in Shippegan such as the only presently underway at Shippegan Arena?

People from the town who are idle cannot obtain employment and strangers just arriving in town are taking their places. Our mayor and the members of the municipality must not forget that May 9 next will be election day.

Explains Reasons For "No Pet" Rule

Bathurst, N.B.
February 27, 1977

This letter is in reply to one signed "Concerned For Animals" which appeared in the Feb. 23 edition of The Northern Light.

The Animal Shelter gets many, many stray, unwanted and sick animals, and only those who work at the Shelter know of the many that find homes. If the animal is sick or diseased, it is put to sleep, which is very humane.

You mentioned the Robertville area. Well, our Shelter is city incorporated and is helped financially by a grant. Robertville is a county area. However, our S.P.C.A. (Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) knows no boundaries and Animal Shelter attendants are very often in the Robertville area, checking on even more animals than are seen on the road or at the dump. However, anyone who witnesses these sights is asked to call the Shelter at 548-4557.

Yes, our rule is no animals on Swap Shop. Our kind radio friends realize that you should not swap God's creatures. Animal Shelter attendants were called upon to pick up nearly every animal that was advertised on Swap Shop a few months after it grew to be a large dog.

No, there will be no free advertising of any pets as we are in the business of preventing cruelty and not of selling pets that some careless person allowed to come into the world to endure misery.

If you are concerned about animals, join the Animal Shelter as a member and help prevent cruelty.

What is your name?

—— Marguerite Morrison
President, Bathurst Animal Shelter

FLASHBACK-- IN THE TOONERVILLE TRADITION

This picture of the trolley which plied between Gloucester Junction and the old Bathurst Iron Mines' site at Grand Falls will recall memories for many older area residents. Many years after mining operations ceased, the small rail line was continued in operation by Bathurst Power and Paper Co. Ltd. and was the only transportation link to the company's power plant in the same locality, spanning a distance of approximately 25 miles. This same route is at present one of the main trails and access road to the Bathurst Fish and Game Association lodge property. Taken in 1927, the photo is now somewhat faded but close scrutiny will identify the late Gilbert LeBreton, engineer, conductor, etc., who operated the jitney, and his passenger list. Abroad were a group of glamor girls of the era: Rebecca (Becky) Kane, RN, now of Dorchester, Mass.; her sister, Mrs. Bernardine Hogan, better known as Bud, at present residing in Reading, Mass.; and their first-cousin, Mrs. Margaret (Grant) Hachey, of Bathurst. The fair trio were on teh first lap of a hunting trip upriver, which a notation on the back of the snapshot describes as a "fiasco", whatever that means.

LEAVES FLORIDA FOR HOLY LAND AND AFRICA

When the Sarasota, Florida, Civitan Club observed "Clergymen's Day" at its luncheon meeting held at Martine's Restaurant recently, a former Bathurst man was among the guests. He was Rev. Gordon H. Fournier, of Incarnation Catholic Church, Sarasota, who is pictured fourth from the left. Others in the photo are Rev. George Cooley, pastor of the Bee Ridge Presbyterian Church; Rev. James A. Carosella of St. Martha Catholic Church; Rabbi Ahron Opher of Temple Emanu-El; and Nicholas Kovarce, club president.

Father Fournier has since left for Jerusalem for a 30-day retreat, preceded by seven weeks of Scripture study in the Holy Land.

Then, on May 18, Father Fournier departs for Africa. He will visit Kenya, Tanzania, Zaire (Congo) and Dakar (West Africa) on a fact-finding tour. He is scheduled to return to Sarasota June 23 but as a result of his sojourn abroad Father Fournier will not be spending his usual summer holiday in Bathurst.

N.B. Health Care Seen As Truly Mutual Affair

The withdrawal of the federal government from cost-sharing in the areas of medicare and hospitalization is of major concern, says Health Minister Brenda Robertson.

Speaking Monday at a Bathurst Rotary Club luncheon at Danny's Motel, the minister said that the possibility of federally-imposed changes in extended health care programs, such as nursing homes, cannot be ignored.

"These changes are important and far reaching. Just as the federal government is reassessing its role in the Canadian federal state, so must we reassess our role in the context of New Brunswick. However, I promise you that any changes that are required will not be made in the high-handed and arbitrary fashion of our federal counterparts. I believe in co-operation and consultation, and I believe in partnership. The people of this province should expect no less," said Mrs. Robertson.

"Change is in the air and it is inescapable. Our duty is to anticipate the change rather than allow ourselves to be caught unprepared," she added.

"Just as we have seen that the present centralist conception of Canadian federalism is inappropriate for our time, so too must we consider the role of our provincial governments. Intelligent decentralization or, in other words, bringing government closer to the people, is the spirit of the times in which we live. If these changes are needed, then we should not resist but seek to preserve order while promoting them," the health minister said.

"In the area of health care, governments, hospital boards, doctors, nurses, and individuals must understand that they are vital elements in the health of the entire society. The physical health of our society is not a matter to be confined to a doctor's office or a hospital. Health is also a private matter. Too many of us forget this, or choose to ignore it," said the minister.

Preventive medicine stresses in part the individual's responsibility for his own health, she said. "It should be clearly stated that if there is a social right to decent health care, there is also a corresponding duty on the part of each citizen to care for his personal health," said Mrs. Robertson, who added that the mind-boggling escalation in health costs could be significantly reduced if everyone had the will to take better care of his personal health.

Bringing services closer to people is one of the expectations of government, she said. Less costly forms of health care will involve more partnerships between the public and private sectors: "that is, government sharing responsibilities and duties with private service groups in each community."

"As well, hospital boards may acquire increased authority and increased accountability to accompany that authority."

Mrs. Robertson said that sound management of the public's resources is especially important at a time when most people are forced to manage their private resources with greater effectiveness. "The household of the province or municipality must be managed with the same care and attention that any responsible individual exercises with his own finances," the minister said.

In closing, the mininter said she believes that the best opportunities for human advancement are usually present during difficult times. "While governments have limits, human ingenuity does not. More importantly, human ingenuity thrives on adversity," she said.

Many Arrested In Drug Raids

In its never-ending drive against drug trafficking, the RCMP conducted a wholesale series of raids in the northeast section of the province last week.

A total of 74 persons is said to have been arrested in early morning roundups February 24, 20 per cent of them from the Bathurst area. Warrants are outstanding against four others, it is understood.

About 32 charges have since been laid in the local court, Judge Frederic Arsenault presiding. Gladys Young has been retained as Crown prosecutor.

Ages of those arrested range from 17 to 32. Five of the suspects are women.

Although the majority of the charges involve marijuana, hashish, speed (methamphetamine), LSD (lysurgic acid) and PCP (phenecuclidine) are also concerned.

All of the alleged offenders have entered not guilty pleas and their cases have been set over. The majority have elected trial by magistrate, some by jury and others by judge along. Trials and-or preliminary hearings will be held between mid-March and mid-June.

Brother Dies At Tracadie

Sympathy is being extended to Marc Mallet following the death of his brother, Medard Mallet, which occurred at the Hotel-Dieu, Tracadie, following a long illness. He was 53.

Born at Tracadie, he was a son of the late Maximin and Marianne (Sonier) Mallet.

Mr. Mallet was an operator for la Voyageur bus line in the Province of Quebec and had resided in various centres including St. Donat, Montreal, Riviere du Loup and Rimouski in conjunction with his work. He moved from Rimouski to his native Tracadie after retiring due to ill health over a year ago.

Mr. Mallet was a veteran of the Second World War and was a member of the Legion Branch at Tracadie.

Surviving are his wife, the former Leontine Duguay; one daughter, Roberte, at home; three sons, Donald of Beau Port, Que., and Daniel and Alain, both at home.

One brother, Marc Mallet of Bathurst; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Hache (Bertha) of Windsor, Ont. and Mrs. Douglas Losier (Laura) of Tracadie and one grandchild also survive.

Mr. Mallet rested at Robichaud's Funeral Home, Tracadie.

Rev. Benoit Rioux and Rev. S. A Dionne officiated at the funeral at St. John the Baptist Church, Tracadie, Friday at 4 p.m.

The epistle was read by a cousin, Alphee Mallet. Singing for the service was rendered by Chorale La France.

The pallbearers were all veterans, members of the Tracadie Legion Branch.

Entombment was in the parish receiving vault to await spring burial in the adjoining cemetery.

Those attending from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mallet, Beau Port, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Parent, Jean-Marie Mallet, Mrs. Ross Maskell, Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Regnard, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Orphir Duguay, Pierrefonds, Que.; Mrs. Patrick Blanchard, Basil Losier, Fredericton; Mr. and Mrs. Marc Mallet, Alfred Mallet, Arden Mallet and Karen Mallet, Bathurst; Mr. and Mrs. Alyre Duguay, Mr. and Mrs. Theophile Leger, Mrs. Medard Parise, and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Duguay, Caraquet.

WORTHY PRESENTATION MADE TO RED CROSS

The loan cupboard of the Bathurst Branch of the Red Cross was enriched by a donation from the Herman J. Good VC. Branch No. 18, Royal Canadian Legion February 28. Charles Knowles, chairman of the donation committee presented Edythe Hatheway (centre), president of the Red Cross, and Mrs. L. Boudreau, chairman of the loan cupboard, a wheelchair.

Problem Drinker Speaker's Topic

The regular meeting of the Bathurst Lions Club was held on Feb. 16 at Danny's Motel. Guest speaker for the occasion was J. Earl Shaw of Edmundston, N.B.

Mr. Shaw is now retired after 43 years service with the C.N.R. He spent the last three years with C.N. as a social counselor working with problem people, mainly handling drinking problems.

He spoke on the cost in dollars a company loses yearly by keeping employees with a drinking problem. He explained his technique in dealing with such individuals and how they can be rehabilitated so their full potential is realized. Therefore, it saves the company money and, in many cases can even save the individual's job.

Upon retirement Mr. Shaw decided he should pass to others the knowledge he gained with C.N.R. as a counselor. He formed a new company called Industrial Personnel Recovery agency (I.P.R.A.) and is now available for counseling. He can be contacted at 739-9129 in Edmundston, N.B.

LOCAL CURLERS CAPTURE SECTION B

A Bathurst rink skipped by Edythe Hatheway captured Section B of the Senior Ladies Bonspiel held recently at the Riverside Curling Club in Saint John. Also faring well in the 33-team competition was the Marje Wallace rink who were runners-up in Section A. The Hatheway rink includes, from left, Lydwine Chiasson, lead; Helen Gammon; mate; Mrs. Hatheway and Evelyn Rioux, second. In preliminary playoffs, New Brunswick's provincial championship rink of Doreen Blair suffered its one and only defeat when Hatheway posted a 6-5 first-round victory over the CWC foursome of Fredericton on Monday.

Direct Sellers Act Protects Consumers

What consumers can do about dishonest or high pressure selling at their homes was outlined recently to persons participating in the agriculture development course being conducted at Central United Church Hall in Clifton.

"There are many kinds of direct sellers", the group was told by Michael R. Crowther of Fredericton, supervisor of the New Brunswick Consumer Bureau.

"Some will never cause any problems. However, due to the great amount of products to be sold today on the market and the easy method of purchasing goods or services on credit plans, certain abuses were born.

"It was only a matter of time before such legislation as the Direct Sellers Act was brought into being", said Mr. Crowther in reference to the aspect of consumer protection enacted in 1968.

The bureau supervisor was in the area in connection with a charge laid against the operator of a Bathurst firm which had not adhered to the Direct Sellers Act.

He told the group that earlier in the day in Provincial Court in Bathurst, Denis Bouchard of Renovations and Decor Ltd. had been ordered to pay $225 in fines for direct selling without a license and without having a surety bond.

Mr. Crowther said complaints had been lodged with the bureau, not about the quality work, but about the firm's non-compliance with the law that protects the consumer.

In explaining the act, Mr. Crowther noted a direct seller is a person who goes to a home or farm to sell goods or services. He said the act provides a five day "cooling off" period in which a direct sale may be cancelled by the purchaser.

He said a copy of the act and the regulations could be obtained from the N. B. Consumer Bureau.

A person may, within five days of the sale, cancel the deal by sending a registered letter of cancellation to the vendor. The deal may also be cancelled if the salesman is not licensed or if the goods or services are not supplied within 120 days, it was explained to the course participants.

"When a deal is cancelled", added Mr. Crowther, "you are entitled to the refund of your money within ten days."

Nominated to St. FX Sports Hall Of Fame

A leading athlete during his college career, a Bathurst man, Lorne Whalen, is among several named as 1977 inductees in the St. Francis Xavier University Sports Hall of Fame. Ceremonies are slated for Antigonish, N.S. March 19.

Originally from Newcastle, N.B., Mr. Whalen, who took post-graduate studies at Springfield College (Mass.), has been a city resident for the past 22 years. He is the present coordinator of physical education for District No. 4 and the singular honor he is to be awarded is reflected upon the community and school system in which he lives and works.

Although outstanding in all sports, Mr. Whalen shone particularly in basketball, football (then known as English rugby), and track and field. He was captain of both the varsity basketball and football teams for several years and it was during that time (1949) that St. FX won the Canadian Intermediate Basketball Championship.

During the last two summers of his university course, Mr. Whalen played semi-pro baseball for Sydney in the Cape Breton Colliery League. He also participated in the Highland Games, registering the highest individual aggregate in track and field.

LORNE WHALEN

Among Mr. Whalen's most cherished possessions is the Lyelton Trophy which is awarded to the St. FX student who best combines the qualities of athletic ability, sportsmanship, leadership, character and scholarship.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Whalen (the former Pierre Venettie, of Grand Falls, N.B.) are graduates of St. FX and their family of eight is well on the way to following this tradition.

Leigh and Keith claim the same alma mater. The former, who also holds an industrial engineering degree from Nova Scotia Tech., is associated with the Izaak Killam Children's Hospital in Halifax. The latter, a graduate of business administration, is working with Thorne, Riddell and Co. in Bathurst.

Currently at St. FX are Carla, in 3rd year business administration, and Craig in first year arts.

The other members of the family are Lorna, who held a secretarial position with the Eddy organization here; Lance, in Grade 10 at DHS; Holly and Brent in the elementary grades at the local schools.

Ironmen Nip Alpines 8-7 IN Overtime To Tighten Series

Paul Findlay triggered his second goal of the game at 4:51 of the second and sudden-death overtime period to give Chatham Ironmen an 8 - 7 triumph over Bathurst Alpines here Saturday night in the third game of the best-of-seven NSHL semi-final series. The win was a key triumph for the Ironmen who now trail the Alpines 2 - 1 in games with the fourth game back in Chatham.

The winning goal was rather a fluke as an errant Bathurst pass deflected in off the skate of an Alpine defenceman. Findlay was the last Chatham player to touch the puck and was credited with the goal.

The loss was a tough one for the Alpines who fought back from a 7 - 4 deficit as late as 7:45 of the final period to score three goals and force overtime.

Kenny Martin also scored twice for the winners with the others coming from Greg Bowes, Danny Gills, Ray O'Donnell and Ed Russell.

DON ROY

Jackie's marker at 15:43 of the final period capped the Alpines third-period comeback to force the teams into overtime. The first 10-minute overtime period was scoreless.

The teams traded six goals in the opening period with Bowes, Gill and Findlay hitting for Chatham. Donny Roy with his pair and Mike Brophy replied for the Alpines.

John Lunn gave Bathurst a 4 - 3 lead at 3:30 of the second but goals by O'Donnell, Russell and Martin earned Chatham a 6 - 4 lead entering the final 20 minutes. Martin added his second at 7:45 of the third period before the Alpines stormed back on goals by Lou Ouellette, Bob Chomick and Jack Roy.

Win Thursday

Bathurst took a 2 - 0 series lead in the semi-finals with a 5 - 3 win over the Ironmen last Thursday in Chatham. Donnie Roy led the Alpine attack with a pair of goals, including the winner, as Bathurst broke open a tight game with four goals in the final period. Brian Chamberlain, Mike Brophy and Mike Morton were the other Alpine snipers while Ken Martin, with two, and Paul Findlay replied for the Ironmen.

After a scoreless first period,

A grave yard safely sleeping,
Close beside a country road
Lies the Dad we loved so dearly

Sheltered in the Rock of Ages
Anchored in that golden shore
In the loving arms of Jesus
Best dear Dad ever more

Sadly missed by son Roger, daughters Betty and Lorna Joan.

BLAZE LEVELS SOUTH TETEAGOUCHE COMMUNITY HALL

A two-storey wood frame structure located at the junction of South Teteagouche and Rose Hill was burned to the ground Wednesday morning, Feb. 23, leaving the South Teteagouche area without a hall for community activities.

The blaze, the second in four months in the rural community, was first noticed at about 9:45 a.m. by a passing motorist who notified two workmen in the downstairs area. Vincent Pitre and his son were able to save an electric stove and refrigerator from the second storey and an electric pump from the basement.

The building, consisting of a 22 x 36 foot main portion built in 1914 and a 22 x 20 foot addition constructed this winter, was levelled in less than an hour, the flames being fanned by a stiff wind.

Loss was estimated at about $40,000 and was not covered by insurance.

The building had been under going major renovations in recent years with the help of LIP grants. These included the installation of a concrete foundation, new wiring and electric heating, the digging of a well, new sills and flooring.

The building had been maintained by the South Teteagouche Women's Institute until recently, when a newly-formed community group took over.

(The photo, courtesy of Alton Smith of South Teteagouche was taken on the occasion of the church picnic, May 24, 1916.)

Veterans Want Local Hospital Treatment

The Northeastern New Brunswick Veterans Assn. has decided to notify the federal veterans affairs department of the "Urgent need" for hospitalization and treatment of veterans at Chaleur General Hospital in Bathurst.

At a recent meeting of the organization held in Bertrand, veterans voiced their dismay at having to travel to Saint John for hospital accommodation. They asked that arrangements be made at Chaleur General so that they may stay "within reasonable distance" from their homes. It was noted arrangements to this effect had been made at the Dr. Everett Chalmers Hospital in Fredericton, and were being made at Victoria Public Hospital as well.

A hospital official had already been contacted, it was pointed out, and space is available in the north wing of the local institution.

In other business, the meeting requested that the assn. executive continue pressuring the federal department to ensure that the waiting period for a decision by the Canadian Pension Commission does not exceed six months from the date of application.

Members reiterated the association's request that pensions of less than 48 per cent should not be buried with the veteran but should continue to be paid to the widow.

Because War Veterans Allowance is "such a minimal means of support" compared to the cost of living, the Bertrand meeting asked that medical prescriptions for the veteran's spouse be included in the Maritime Blue Cross arrangement with the department of veterans affairs.

They also requested the home building assistance plan be restructured in order to benefit those veterans who really need it. Its forerunner, the Veterans Land Act, was described as being more flexible and not limited.

More information will be requested regarding the automatic increase for pensioners reaching age 55 who were wounded in the field of action. It was noted these pensioners must apply for this increase.

A Canada Works project which would employ six persons was approved by the meeting. It is hoped the association's applications will be favourably received.

The meeting was informed that the association office in Bathurst now has two telephone numbers - 548-8035 and 548-2455.

Attending the meeting were veterans from the areas of Paquetville, Notre Dame des Erables, Caraquet, Maisonette and Bertrand.

Alcide Godin, director for the region, made arrangements for the meeting which was presided over by assn. president Leo Hachey of Bathurst. Also in attendance were Romeo Theriault of Bathurst, executive-director; Edgar Landry of Lower Settlement and Raduel Arseneau of the Shippegan region, both directors.

Small Business Gets Attention

Commerce and Development Minister Gerald Merrithew has announced the formation of a small business section within his department.

"This will create a focus within the department to encourage the expansion of a strong small business sector in New Brunswick," he said.

The minister made the announcement during a luncheon speech to representatives of the province's 10 regional industrial development commissions.

The aim of the small business section is also to reinforce the industrial development efforts of the commissions, stated Mr. Merrithew. "I want this section to become one of the most important parts of our total industrial effort."

The minister said he hoped that the federal-provincial Small Business Assistance Program, which will be extended to cover eight New Brunswick counties on April 1, will soon apply to the entire province.

He pointed out the small business sector is important to the New Brunswick economy. Of some 1,000 manufacturing firms in the province, almost 700 have less than 20 employees, and total employment is about 4,000.

Mr. Merrithew noted that industrial development is not only the business of the federal and provincial governments, and cannot function without the full commitment of the local communities.

"The real basis of our industrial development efforts must be a strong local economy and this means a vibrant small business sector servicing a local market with local resources," he added.

This is why the government has set up regional industrial commissions throughout the province, added Mr. Merrithew.

He pointed out the following important functions of the regional commissions: to understand the problems of the small businessman and help him take advantage of government programs designed to assist small business; to be thoroughly knowledgeable about the specific needs and resources in the region; to help create a climate for encouraging local investments in local enterprises; to administer serviced industrial land, and to assist in the industrial promotion efforts of the province.

Mr. Merrithew's address was part of a day-long meeting between the commission representatives and staff of his department.

The department hosted the meeting, which included an information session on its role and functions, and a discussion on how the regional commissions and the department can combine efforts in working towards economic development.

Author's Newest Book A Special Biography

By DOUG FETHERLING

The title of Ronald Hambleton's book How I Earned $250,000 as a Free Lance Writer ...Even If It Did Take 30 Years!, could easily be misunderstood. The book (Bartholomew Green, 192 pages, $8.95) is neither a how-to guide for amateur writers nor a piece of humor but, rather, a special kind of autobiography.

Hambleton, now 60 and semi-retired, is the author of several works of fiction and collections of verse. He is also the biographer of Mazo de la Roche, who wrote the Jalna series of novels.

Despite that, he is not primarily an imaginative writer but a journalist and broadcaster.

He is, in fact, one of a small group of Canadian generalists who can (and do) write just about anything and who, by their facility, keep the magazine presses rolling and the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. on the air.

Memoirs by such people have been more common in the United States and Great Britain than in Canada. Yet Hambleton's book is part of a trend in Canadian literary autobiography.

It resembles Hugh Garner's One Damn Thing After Another and, more recently, Thomas Raddall's In My Time in that it is miscellaneous and anecdotal in approach.

More important, it shares with those books an obsession with money and a desire to repay in print some of the people who have helped or hindered the author in his career.

MULTI-MEDIA

In his life as a professional writer, Hambleton has written everything from advertising jingles to the libretto for a Canadian opera.

It is somehow fitting that he made his first appearance in print (with a poem in a newspaper in Vancouver, where he was raised) in 1936, the same year the CBC was established. It is fitting because, though he has worked for many magazines and even published one himself, Hambleton was most prolific and varied in his work for the CBC, first on the West Coast and later in Toronto.

The picture he paints of broadcasting is crowded with men whose voices were known from coast to coast and who are still remembered by those who grew up in the 1940s and 1950s. Andrew Allan, Tommy Tweed, John Drainie, Bernard Braden and James Bannerman all make appearances.

Most of them were involved with the production of radio plays, which gave CBC Radio an enviable reputation and which were practically the only Canadian drama of whatever sort.

There is always a cynical note, however, in Hambleton's recollections:

"These were not the Golden Days of Radio," he cautions. The Golden Days, he claims, "were not invented until the 1960s when the past was made to seem brighter than it actually was. A tendency to put a gloss on past experience is not one from which Hambleton himself suffers in this book.

KNIFE TWISTS

He excels, in fact, at twists-of-the-knife-intended to bring his better known contemporaries down to size. Of Morley Callaghan, he writes:

"The only piece of music I ever heard him refer to, and which he would quote at any opportunity, was I'm Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines -- I Feed My Horse on Pork and Beans."

The late Nathan Cohen, the most important dramatic critic the country has ever known, is presented as a poseur and an eccentric.

The most frequent target is Pierre Berton, for whom Hambleton worked in the 1950s on Maclean's Magazine. He dwells on the way Berton created his own mother lode by writing and rewriting, in a stream of books and articles, the story of the Klondike Gold Rush.

Also, he caricatures Berton's editorial role at Maclean's by recalling how Berton reacted to an article suggestion from Hambleton. Berton declined the idea but allowed as how "There's a good article in that title."

SWEET AND SOUR

Hambleton's tone is mellow when he discusses his early days. He is nostalgic when describing himself when young -an apprentice post who briefly returned to his native England with nothing in his knapsack but two favorite books and a Beethoven recording.

The tone is much different, however, when he writes of peers and competitors.

Sarcasm, in fact, is what gives the book its appeal and its place in what is becoming a Canadian autobiographical tradition.

The two tastes--sweet and sour--are blended together by a concern for money matters, stemming from the financial insecurity such general writers usually endure.

That preoccupation, too, ties How I Earned $250,000...to similar books. It also, of course, makes the book's title less deceptive that it might at first appear.

Doug Fetherling is an Ontario-based critic and author.

PETER LEBLANC

Quarter-Century At Loansbury's

Among the newest members of Lounsbury's 25-Year Club is Peter LeBlanc of the Bathurst store, who received his watch and pin during the company's annual shareholders' meeting in Moncton recently.

Mr. LeBlanc who is manager of the Appliance Department here, came to Bathurst in that capacity from Moncton in 1968. He first joined the organization in the hub city as a radio technician in 1952, transferring to sales in 1961.

A native of Grand-Digue, N. B., Mr. LeBlanc is married to the former Louise Girouard of Irishtown. They have seven sons, John, Louis, Paul, Marc, Roland, Ronald and Guy.

YOUNG TOTS RECEIVE FOOT WEAR

Gloucester Gets Share Of Government Spending

The Federal Finance Department will continue to be the government's big spender in New Brunswick during fiscal 1977-78.

The department has included more than $227-million in statuary payments to the province in the federal governments $45.1-billion spending program beginning April 1.

Estimates tabled recently in the House of Commons show Finance Minister Donald Macdonald has allotted New Brunswick a total of $275.6-million in equalization payments; $1,774,000 under the subsidies program.

The subsidy payment remains the same as that made during the present fiscal year which ends March 31, but the equalization grant is up considerably from $221,152,000 Ottawa committed a year ago.

In Gloucester region, the Environment Department will be the heaviest spender with $1.4-million year marked for improvements to three harbours.

The first payment of $100,000 will be made on a $2.1-million program to improve Caraquet Harbour and another $900,000 will be paid out on Lameque.

The government expects that $275,000 will have already been spent at Lameque by the time the present fiscal year ends, leaving a balance of $1,325,000 of the original estimate to be paid off in future years.

At Shippegan, where estimates for the harbour dredging program have been cut by $500,000 to $2.2-million, the department intends to spend $400,000 next year. Environment Minister Romeo LeBlanc expects that $1,650,000 will have been spent on the dredging project by March 31, leaving a balance of only $150,000.

Another $300,000 will be spent at Shippegan by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. That will cover most of the work the force is having done on a detachment building. Only $5,000 has been spent on the project so far, and the expenditure next year will leave $20,000 still owing.

Surviving are his second wife, the former Palmire (Guerette) St. Laurent; four sons, Gerard, John and Roe, all of Bathurst and Claude Boucher, Fredericton; three daughters, Mrs. Alex Langlois (Gilberte) and Mrs. Andre Dore (Yvette), both of St. Foy, Que. and Mrs. Henry Van-Heuverswin (Marie) of Downsview, Ont.

School Board Hears Appraisal Of Task Force Recommendations

The reaction of the administration staff of the local School Board to 12 recommendations made by the provincial Task Force on the School Year was heard Thursday, Feb. 24 at the regular monthly meeting of District 4 trustees.

The staff was asked for its feelings on task force findings as District 4 Superintendent R.A. Ouellette had presented a brief to the Bathurst sitting of the task force in late October.

Mr. Ouellette noted the administration is not in favour of a three-week Christmas break among other proposed changes. Preferred is a two-week break since three weeks is thought to be too long a period. Also suggested was that schools close a week earlier than the June 15 date recommended by the task force.

The administration's appraisal, which received the full support of the board, also felt the scheduling of 13 days for professional development of teachers should be left to the board in order to cause as little disruption in the school year as possible.

The board's views on the recommendations will be forwarded to the ministry of education by the Feb. 28 deadline, it was noted.

Three presentations were made to the board early in the meeting. Frank Miller of the New Bandon Home and School Association recognized the repair work done at the Salmon Beach School and said the group was anxious to have a new elementary school built rather than more repairs under taken.

He scored the lack of physical education facilities and inadequate second language instruction. He said the elementary pupils were attending a "second rate school and the people were being treated as second class citizens."

Later in the meeting, Mr. Ouellette gave results of a project school population survey covering the next six years. It was decided to proceed with the preparation of educational specifications for a new elementary school in the New Bandon area.

Trustee Ralph White, who represents that area on the board, was named to act on the committee.

Allan White of 575 Thornton Avenue asked the board to consider selling him a 30 x 150 foot portion of the Superior School property at market price so that he could improve his property. The matter was referred to the construction committee for recommendation at the next meeting. A similar request was turned down in 1974.

The third presentation, by Rev. Zoel Saulnier of Robertville, requested that the board consider the restructuring of District 4 to create two unilingual districts with their own administrations and boards of trustees. Rev. Saulnier, chairman of an action committee which is aiming for the creation of two districts, was accompanied by Raymond Robichaud of the N.B. Society of Acadian, a body which is encouraging similar setups across the province.

The presentation claimed that 80 per cent of the population between Belledune and St. Sauveur was French-speaking and 60 per cent of the City of Bathurst population was of French origin. The school population figures used were 6,269 in the French program and 3,756 in the English.

All but four schools in District 4 were unilingual and the four were now in the process of becoming so, the presentation said.

The committee maintained it was hard for the French-speaking population to have its rightful representation on the board of school trustees both through election and appointment.

The matter was referred by the board to a committee-of-the-whole meeting scheduled for March 17.

OPENING IN APRIL

Education Minister Charles Gallagher and Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau will be present Sunday, April 3 for the official opening of the new junior high school in Beresford.

Trustees Ian Oliver and Mrs. Joyce Mann were named to represent the board at the civic dinner for provincial cabinet ministers held Feb. 28.

The construction committee reported that $103,633 had been spent on major repairs in the district and the remaining $31,336 should be used to improve the heating system at Mary Gosnell School and Assumption Academy. Heating repairs have been completed at Sacred Heart School. The recommendation was approved.

The board also approved additional facilities for the proposed Bathurst High School cafeteria to accommodate pupils attending Chalmers School.

The board was told that work on the new junior high school at Petit Rocher was temporarily halted until March or April but the September 30 completion date had not changed.

A request from Petit Rocher Home and School Association to have pupils bussed from within a mile of the school was turned down in accordance with present policy.

As granted by the provincial education department, adjustments and transfers within the district budget in the amount of $77,732 were ratified by the board.

The first review of the proposed 1977-78 budget will take place with provincial officials on March 3 at the district office. Trustees on the budget and finance committee will attend.

It was announced that Mrs. Ida Nardini, Mrs. Marguerite Landry and John Sweeney had been granted sabbatical leaves for the 1977-78 school year.

Rheal Roussel, a guidance counsellor in the district, was given two day's leave of absence to accompany 20 Negauget High School students to Paris and London during the March break.

The board will be sending its full complement of three trustees to the annual Canadian School Trustees Association meeting to be held June 13-14 in St. John's Newfoundland.

Atlantic MS President Due

Twenty-two members attended the February meeting of the Bathurst Chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society held recently at the Medical Clinic, Sanatorium Drive.

John Sawler asked the invocation, and Dr. W.B. Orser, chairman, reporting for the ways and means committee, announced it was decided to have a lottery on a tent trailer. The drawing will be held during next summer's Hospitality Days.

In a review of the annual meeting of the Atlantic Division of MS, Gene LeBlanc noted that Rev. Angus MacDonald, of Moncton, was elected president and Jean White, of Bathurst, vice-president of the new board for New Brunswick.

Jean White, local president, read a letter from Clair Smith, executive director of Atlantic Division, stating that he and Father MacDonald would be in Bathurst March 7 to meet with the general membership.

Consequently, it was decided to have a dinner meeting at Danny's that evening in lieu of the regular meeting on March 16.

All patients and members are kindly asked to attend the dinner meeting at 7:00 p.m. to meet the new Atlantic Division president.

Father MacDonald, incidentally, is well-known in the Bathurst area, being an alumnus of the former Sacred Heart College. He is the present pastor of St. Augustine's Church in Moncton.

JEAN WHITE VP FOR NB

Jessica Ryan, guest speaker at the February MS meeting, gave a most interesting presentation on crafts. Joyce Anderson brought a doll's table and four chairs which she fashioned from clothespins. This will be sent to the display booth at the MS Atlantic Conference slated for Saint John May 20. The local MS group's April and May meetings will be devoted to making crafts for the same purpose.

The evening ended with a lunch served by Jean Ferguson and her committee.

Victim Dies Of Exposure

A 19-year-old Gloucester County man died of exposure and exhaustion over the weekend as he attempted to cross the Bay of Chaleur between St. Simon and Shippegan.

The frozen body of Marcel Lanteigne of St. Simon was discovered by Francis Maillet, also of St. Simon, at about 10:30 a.m. Sunday in the woods near the Bay.

Caraquet RCMP said they received a missing persons report on the young man on Friday. It was suggested that Mr Lanteigne had become lost and disoriented and was a victim of the elements.

Coroner Dr. J.D. Gauthier of Shippegan ruled an autopsy and inquest unnecessary.

PHYSICAL ASSETS GONE, BUT SPIRIT UNDAUNTED

The year's busiest weekend for the Bathurst Snowmobile Club was curtailed due to a fire which completely destroyed the Fish and Game Lodge. The club had a tremendous turnout of competitors, spectators, supper guests, and dance enthusiasts on Saturday, Feb. 12.

The day started out with a 25 mile snowmobile rally which attracted approximately 75 people of which 16 entered the rally to form five groups.

First place winners were the Ronnie--Cormier group who picked up three trophies donated by Smith Saw Service.

Second place winners were the Ken Smith entry who picked up two trophies donated by Burns Equipment.

Third place winners were the George Boudreau group who picked up four trophies donated by Stothart Motoski and Fournier Sno-Jet.

This was our first event of thie type and everything worked very smoothly. After the trophy presentation, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Roy served a fantastic supper consisting of a chicken bouillon, rabbit bouillon, and combination rabbit and chicken bouillon.

The club would like to apologize for not having enough to serve everyone present. There was a bigger turnout than expected.

The dance which took place between 9 p.m. and 1 a.m. is considered the best we've ever held. The music by the Travellers was superb and everyone can't wait for the next dance which will be held at the Legion.

The Travellers again will provide the music and all members and their guests are more than welcome. The lodge, may have been lost but the friendship and fellowship remain.

A work party was organized for Sunday, to cut fire wood for the lodge, but was also cancelled due to the fire.

Due to partial insurance coverage on the lodge, the club is relying very much on the revised Canada Works Program to assist in providing labor and minor extra materials to reconstruct the lodge. The membership is quite confident that the government will support this project as it will provide a considerable amount of employment and help re-establish the lodge.

The lodge has been a great asset to the population of Bathurst, and the newly formed snowmobile division of the Fish and Game Association.

The executive is presently looking for temporary headquarters to hold social activities and now more than ever, is asking for the support of all interested people to join the fast growing membership.

For any information, call 548-3708.

Eye Seminar Set For April

Two major leaders in care of the eyes in the Atlantic Region are joining skills to sponsor a symposium on prevention of blindness. Working on the plans since last October, the Canadian Ophthalmological Society and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind are setting up a seminar for April 27 to cover 12 topics closely related to blindness. Co-chairmen for the day-long workshop are Dr. G. A. Sapp of COS and Mrs. M. Baxter, eye service department supervisor, CNIB.

The seminar is one of seven taking place on the same day in different cities from coast to coast. They will all deal with the same 12 topics but as they relate to the seven different regions where they take place - Vancouver, Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax.

This combined national and local flavour make the seminars unique in Canada", said Mrs. Baxter, spokesman for the event. "More than that, they all have the same purpose - a practical plan for an active prevention of blindness program in this community and region."

The workshop will have other plusses as well. Delegates representing many community organizations with an interest in eye health will work and learn together. In the afternoon, the 180 guests expected to attend will break into small groups to discuss the topics and to develop recommendations designed to move the program from the idea stage to the action stage.

"Canada's health standards are far too high to permit the present rate of blindness to go unchallenged", the spokesman said. CNIB records show that over six Canadians lose their sight every day of the year. Costs in terms of rehabilitation and welfare soar into the millions. In terms of dignity and the effects of the handicap, cost are inestimable. The symposium will start a program to reduce this needless loss.

An employee was being reprimanded by his boss. "I understand you've been going over my head," said the boss.

Replied the meek clerk: "Well, sir, I have been praying for a raise."

SCHOOL THANKFUL FOR GENEROUS CONTRIBUTION

A very generous donation by a teacher at Nepisiguit High School has added about 500 new titles to the library at the school. The English and French novels, the majority of which are science fiction, were presented to the school by Albert Arseneau. In the photo, from left, are Lionel Bruneau, principal, Mr. Arseneau and Pierrette Savoie, librarian. According to Mr. Bruneau, the books are very much appreciated especially this year when budget restraints all but eliminated the purchase of novels.

Annual Ability Fund Drive Now Underway

The ability Fund Campaign, an annual financial appeal on behalf of Canada's physically handicapped adults and organized in New New Brunswick by the Canadian Rehabilitation Council for the disabled, is now underway in the province.

Held in co-operation with the Canadian Paraplegic Association and the Canadian Wheelchair Sports Association, the campaign is expected to raise $50,000 this year to cover such services and programs as:

TRANSPORTATION

-In province, to hospitals, rehabilitation centres and clinics for assessment and treatment.

-Out of province, to hospitals or treatment centres for special treatment when such treatment is not provided within the province.

-In-city, for the physically disabled of the area. Transportation for both children and adults to school, work and recreation.

EQUIPMENT

-Provision of orthopedic appliances and other equipment to both disabled adults and children on a basis of individuals needs.

-Provision of orthopedic shoes for children.

-The provision of electronic control devices for severely disabled adults.

CAMPING AND RECREATION

-Operating of a resident summer camp. This camp provides recreational opportunities for disabled children and adults, mentally retarded young adults and children.

-In conjunction with local and provincial groups, assists in the organization of local recreation activities for the disabled.

EDUCATION AND INFORMATION

-Provision of information to schools regarding career opportunities in the field of rehabilitation.

-Information to parents and individuals regarding services and facilities available to meet their needs.

EMPLOYMENT

-Work closely with rehabilitation workshops and associations to ensure adequate opportunity for employment to the disabled.

These programs and services are available free of charge to all of New Brunswick's disabled, although those who are able to pay their own way are expected to do so.

Programs for the handicapped have vastly improved since the first national conference on rehabilitation for the disabled was called 25 years ago. There are, however, still gaps that must be filled. There are still needs that are unmet, and there is still a place for personal concern and help.

To fill these gaps, meeet these needs, provide that concern, is the job of the Ability Fund. Canada's disabled citizens are doing more than their share. The Ability Fund will provide the little extra help they require.

Sign in an antique shop: "Come in and buy what your grandmother threw away."

Aims Of Recreation Council Are Outlined

The aims and objectives of the newly-formed New Brunswick Council on Recreation for the Disabled were listed recently at the second organizational meeting held at the Bathurst Trade School.

According to John Bullen, president of the association, the group will strive to:

- Ensure that disabled citizens of New Brunswick are given the opportunity to participate in recreation programs within their community or within their specific organization and be made aware that such an opportunity exists.

- Act as a consultative and co-ordinating body for all organizations and communities in the field of recreation for the disabled and to provide leadership and encouragement in the establishment of recreation programs.

Represented at the Feb. 10 meeting were local branches of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the Canadian Council of the Blind, the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society as well as the Gloucester County Hearing Handicapped, the Chaleur Handicapped Sports and Recreation Club, the Bathurst Mental Health Clinic, the Flowers of Hope School and other schools and groups for the mentally retarded in the region.

Elected officers in addition to Mr. Bullen are Mrs. A. A. (Geraldine) Boudreau, vice-president and Clarence Bastarache, interim secretary - treasurer.

The most important topic discussed by the 20 persons in attendance concerned facilities required by each group in order to meet programs and needs.

The various groups were asked to identify their needs and to outline what programs and facilities they have towards fulfilling these needs.

Roy Brideau of Fredericton, and formerly of Bathurst, executive director for the N.B. Council on Recreation for the disabled, offered to correlate this information for presentation at the first annual meeting of the provincial body to be held Feb. 25 - 26 in Moncton.

The annual session will trace the development of the provincial council to date, outline the function and structure of the council, review and ratify the constitution and give direction to the council's work for the coming year.

Rev. G. Hallam, provincial executive director of the Canadian Paraplegic Assn. and president of the provincial recreation council along with Richard Priestman, treasurer of the council, will be among the speakers at the Moncton meeting. Mr. Priestman is also executive director of the Canadian Mental Health Assn., N.B. Division.

Mr. Brideau said $20 would be provided towards transportation to Moncton provided there was a minimum of two people per car.

The provincial council is funded by Recreation Canada, the federal department of health and welfare and the provincial department of youth, recreation and cultural resources.

Among the problems to be tackled by regional councils in Bathurst, Saint John, Fredericton, Edmundston and Moncton are those of facilities, transportation, difficult accessibility to buildings due to architectural barriers, straight sidewalk curbs rather than slanted ones and the need to have recreation for the physically handicapped integrated into the regular recreation programs of communities.

Attending the Bathurst meeting in conjunction with their work were Emmett Theriault of the department of youth, recreation and cultural resources; Delphis Saulnier, a rehabilitation counsellor with the department of social services and Florent Hachey of the Bathurst Mental Health Clinic.

MILITIAMAN PROMOTED TO CORPORAL

Major W. D. Turbide (left), presented Lance-corporal B. C. Arseneau with corporal's stripes February 8. The promotion ceremony was held at the local armouries. Cpl. Arseneau joined the militia forces in June 1975. He completed his basic training in Bathurst and other North Shore points with "B" Coy. He then took summer training in Aldershot, N.S. where he completed his junior non-commissioned officers course. This qualified him for master corporal once he has completed his required waiting period. Cpl. Arseneau is the son of Albanie Arseneau and the late Mrs. Arseneau of Nigadoo. He is a Grade 11 student at Nepisiguit High School. "B" Coy is still in recruitment and seeking men sixteen-and-a-half years old or over. Meetings are held every Tuesday and Thursday evenings and interested persons may drop in on the night more suited to them.

Takeover Of Arena An Interesting Story

(From The Miramichi Press)

The Town of Chatham has taken over the operation of the Lord Beaverbrook Rink in order to assure the continued operation of the facility for the young people of the town, Mayor Edward Maher has announced.

The arena, opened in the winter of 1954-55 was originally the property of St. Thomas University, was built with the assistance of a $100,000 donation from the Beaverbrook Foundation.

The arena will now be managed by the Chatham Rink Corporation with the town as a major shareholder and the Bishop of the Diocese of Saint John and St. Michael's Parish as minor shareholders.

At the first meeting of the corporation Mayor Maher was named chairman; Frank O'Donnell, former chairman of St. Michael's Parish Council as vice-chairman; Rev. Lynn McFadden, is the bishop's appointee; James Cook, a representative, of the town, secretary and Murray Landers, also a town representative, was elected treasurer.

Mayor Maher said it was a question of either taking the operation of the rink over on a long-term lease, or it would close.

The mayor explained that the church had found that operating the rink was not economically viable. In addition to a $41,000 tax bill owing on the property, Mayor Maher said the present ice plant in the arena will need to be replaced at an estimated cost of $400,000. "The church is in no position to put a plant in it," the mayor added.

LONG-TERM LEASE

The town has entered into a long-term lease with the bishop of Saint John "so that we can borrow the necessary money for equipment and other facilities," the mayor said.

"We have taken over a shell," he added, "it is like buying a car without a motor."

The mayor explained that all property that belongs to the Roman Catholic Church, belongs to the bishop.

"We (the bishop and the town) have come to an agreement" the mayor said, "and the change-over will be finalized when the incorporation papers are returned to us from government offices in Fredericton. By incorporation, the town will be the majority shareholder on a long-term lease."

The Mayor said the town was advised about a year ago the church had found that the rink was "definitely not a paying proposition" and felt it could no longer operate the arena.

The town council decided the community could not afford to lose the rink and since the church could no longer assume majority control of it, the council must.

Negotiations for the town assuming majority control began a year ago between the town and the church, through the bishop's office.

"We have come to an agreement," said Mayor Maher, "and the changeover will be finalized when the incorporation papers are returned to us from government offices in Fredericton.

The mayor said the new arena commission will explore ways and means of paying the outstanding taxes, upgrading the arena's equipment and consider the possibility of a year-round operation.

UPGRADING

In reference to the upgrading of the equipment, Mayor Maher said, "the ice-making machines have pretty well had it, after 23 years of operation. In the past few years, various parts on them have been replaced, but now the whole unit has to be replaced."

The arena's ice-making machines comprise two 25-ton machines. Besides the fact that these machines are rapidly deteriorating, they have never been able to run the arena in warm weather, before November or after March. As a result the rink has never been able to have a summer hockey or figure skating program.

Arena Manager Harold Fleiger says that he would like the new ice plant to be a 75-ton machine as this "would enable us to have a longer season, and perhaps enable us to have a more financially viable as well as recreational useful facility.

SUMMER Recreation

Mayor Maher said the new commission will also investigate the possibility of turning the rink into a summer recreation centre for such activities as roller-skating, music shows and other entertainment.

"These entertainments could help to relieve some of the current financial burden on the arena. It has never been a profit-making venture, and only such things as an annual grant from the town have helped it to stay relatively close to the profit-loss line."

The town's annual grants to the arena in the past ranged "anywhere from $10,000 to $30,000 directly and indirectly for the upkeep of the rink," the mayor said.

In return the arena provided free ice time for minor hockey.

Mayor Maher said no figure had been arrived at regarding what the annual operation of the rink will cost the town. However, he added "the arena will need $400,000 worth of repairs and on top of that there is the $41,000 tax bill owing the province."

He noted that young people from the area travel to Moncton and Fredericton to hear some of their favorite bands. "There is no reason why we couldn't bring bands here, have dances and possible even bingos if we have to go that far. We have to keep the rink open and in operation for the young people."

$50,000 Loan Is Guaranteed

The province will guarantee a $50,000 loan to Maritime Artistic Products Ltd. of Tracadie, Commerce and Development Minister Gerald Merrithew announced February 23.

The company manufactures polyurethane moldings for the giftware market and decorative door panels. It employs four people at present, with a projected employment of 10 to 14.

It started production in 1975. Through its market development and product research efforts, the company has found a good market for its door moldings in Quebec.

The financial assistance will provide the company with additional working capital, enabling it to expand its sales.

YOUR BUSINESS

Why Stop At One Retirement Plan?

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Investing in a Registered Retirement Savings Plan has become a regular winter habit for thousands of Canadians.

If you are one of them, it's worth remembering that you have the choice of investing in one plan or in several.

Some prefer to put each year's contribution into the same RRSP. That's a convenient way to do it, saving the time it takes to set up additional plans, and the trouble it may take to keep your records straight.

On the other hand, it could be to your advantage to launch a new RRSP each year.

The most obvious advantage in having a number of different plans is this: If you have to get some money out of your RRSP before you retire, you can deregister one plan with little trouble and leave the others intact.

(You would, of course, have to pay income tax on the full amount of the deregistered plan in the year in which you liquidate it.)

It's also possible to achieve the same result by liquidating a large plan, taking the cash you need, and turning the rest of your retirement savings over into a new RRSP. But that requires some fancy financial footwork to avoid the risk that the entire amount will be deregistered and become taxable.

DIVERSIFICATION

One other advantage, in having a multiplicity of plans, is diversification of your investment.

Over a number of years, for example, it's possible to build up a balance range of RRSP investments. Some could be in funds that invest in bonds, others could be invested in an underlying portfolio of mortgages, still others in common stocks (although that's a bit risky for your retirement savings) and so on.

You might also feel inclined to achieve a diversification of financial intermediaries, by setting up each year's new RRSP with a different trust company, bank, insurer or mutual fund. There are wide variations in investment performance among the institutions that handle RRSP investments as trustees.

Normally, you wouldn't take the proceeds of your RRSP investment upon retirement, use them to buy a life-insurance company's annuity, and then pay the income tax that you have deferred from your working years.

ANOTHER TECHNIQUE

But another approach—if you have several such plans going—is to deregister one each year, take the proceeds into income, and pay the tax accordingly.

There are a couple of difficulties with that technique, however. Given that it wouldn't work after your 71st birthday, since you must get out of any RRSP you hold at that date, and either buy an annuity or pay tax on the whole amount.

Another difficulty is that the money returned to you upon deregistration off your RRSP would not be eligible for the tax-free treatment that you may claim on the first $1,000 of investment income. (Annuity payments, including those from a RRSP, are eligible for the tax exemption.)

In the final analysis, the choice between deregistration and buying an annuity must be governed by personal needs at the time, and consideration of your individual tax situation.

Deadline for investing in a RRSP, to achieve a tax exemption applicable to 1976 income, is March 1.

Maximum investment is 20 per cent of earned income, with a ceiling of $2,500 for the self-employed, and $2,500 — less the amount of any contribution you may have made in 1976 to a Registered Pension Plan — for the employed.

Job Creation Costs Highest

New Brunswick has reported the highest cost of all provinces in creating jobs under the federally-sponsored Regional Development Incentives Act.

Since 1969 when the Department of Regional Economic Expansion first began offering cash to industries to expand the number of jobs in economically-depressed regions, the cost per job created in New Brunswick has averaged $6,533.

The information was provided to David MacDonald (PC-Egmont) in response to a question he had placed on the Commons order paper. The cost per job for each province was averaged over the six-year period from 1969 to Dec. 31, 1975.

The lowest average cost per each job created under the act was reported by Quebec with a figure of $2,218. The second highest figure, $6,905, was reported by Nova Scotia.

Church Scores Labor Strikes

The strike is a wasteful and outmoded way of settling labour disputes, The United Church Observer says editorially in its current issue.

Canada has the worst strike record of the industrial world, according to the International Labour Office, and while most nations are improving Canada gets worse, The Observer says.

"We don't blame all this on organized labour or an organized industry," The Observer says. "We do blame part of it on the adversary relationship, the willingness of labour leaders to threaten or call a strike at the drop of an agreement, the readiness of industry to fight it out, and the predictable support for the strike weapon by NDP politicians.

"The people who get hurt are usually the strikers and their families, and increasingly the general public. In 1977 there should be a much better way."

Minister Says Private Investment Necessary

Natural Rsources Minister Roland Boudreau told a meeting of area officials and members of the New Brunswick Cabinet in Caraquet Feb. 23 that more private capital must be ventured in the province.

More people must be prepared to take some risk to provide jobs in industrial development is to flourish he said.

"People, land, capital and time are all factors in the development of the economy," he said following a luncheon at the Acadian Village.

"The people come first and there is a rich stock of human resources in New Brunswick. But we must make sure that they are equipped to participate effectively in the labor forces fo the 1970s and 80s. That is one reason why I am very pleased to see work begin on the development of the Northeast Institute of Technology, giving access to technical and technological training for francophones in industries that are significant in the francophone areas.

"The land and the sea come second", he said, "and these provide the natural resources that are so important to us."

He said the production of base metal ores and concentrates in mining has grown substantially during the 1970s and that there is further potential for growth.

"We do have proven ore reserves capable of expanding zinc concentrate production from 350,000 to 600,000 tons per year", he said. It is very important that a zinc smelter be pursued in the Northeast, he said.

Still on the subject of mining, Mr. Boudreau stated there are large reserves of minerals which could be presently developed, but he hoped that they will remain where they are until the time is right.

"Not until metal concentrating and refining techniques have progressed to the point where high levels of mineral recovery from the basic stores is guaranteed should these ores be mined", he explained.

As far as capital investment is concerned, the minister told the audience that the most important source of capital for development is not found by looking to governments, but to individuals and companies in account big and small.

The last but not least requirement for development, he said, is time. "This government is committed to a generation of change, growing a new forest takes from 40 to 60 years. If you want to rebuild fish stocks, we are talking of five to ten years. All of these developments take time. We can help them go faster but we cannot put things right tomorrow."

Mr. Boudreau added that one of the new areas for development is peat moss.

POLITICAL SCENE

Senators Touchy About Attendance

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

What I've never been able to understand about the Senate is why its members are so sensitive about their attendance records.

You know, I doubt whether the average Canadian sits at home brooding over whether a particular senator happens to be in his seat. Yet, let one reporter suggest that a senator had better things to do on any sitting day and there is invariably a thundering objection at the next opportunity.

On the whole, senators spend an inordinate amount of time criticizing the press. This, along with tributes to those honorable senators who have been called to that higher chamber in the sky, seem to preoccupy the Upper House more than your average legislative body.

And assuming that criticism of the press is a continuing responsibility of senators, Prime Minister Trudeau certainly appears to have strengthened the Upper House with the appointment of John Ewasew, who, by coincidence, is a former executive member of Mr. Trudeau's riding association.

His first major contribution was a ringing denunciation of the media, one of those outraged offerings that would send tingles down the spines of other outraged senators.

Senator Ewasew is going to be a good one.

Naturally, the issue involved attendance. In a story about Senator Eric Cook (L Newfoundland) and his constructive suggestions last week for a parliamentary dialogue on Confederation. The Canadian Press pointed out that only 31 of the 90 senators were in their seats

TUT-TUT

And the CP reporter also mentioned that among the absent were Mr. Trudeau's most recent appointments - Senator Ewasew, Senator Jean Marchand and Senator Pietro Rizzuto. The story merely said that "the three were in the Senate chamber at the opening of the day's 90 - minute sitting but left before Senator Cook rose to speak."

There was no editorializing, just an accurate observation

Now compare this with Globe and Mail columnist Geoffrey Stevens who not only named the three absent senators, but also threw in the view that the Senate is a "moribund chamber of superannuated ward healers and party hacks appointed to their $29,200 a year rewards by the Great Reformer, Pierre Trudeau."

Oddly, none of the senators took exception to that. The Quebec senators who raised the roof were more concerned with the attendance bit, and they were particularly concerned with the CP story which, again by coincidence, happens to reach more people in Montreal.

My, my senator Ewasew was annoyed when the Senate next met.

"... There is nothing in that damned article -- excuse my expression - that would indicate that a senator does anything else but sit on his south end right here, with his north end you know where, regardless of the fact that he has devoted as I have done several weekends attending multicultural events in the interest of a united Canada."

Without being harsh on the new senator I am not sure what his weekends have to do with a Wednesday speech by Senator Cook.

LOOK OUT:

Amyway, to a "hear-hear" reception, Senator Ewasew let it be known that the story "arouses my Ukrainian Canadian animosity right down to the pit of my guts, say to them the media very frankly, "look out in the future to make sure you report not just part of the picture, but the complete picture without exception."

This new generation of senators seems to be much more militant than the traditional variety.

But Senator Ewasew indicated he is quick to pick up some of the traditional protective phrases that accompany attacks on the media. "I am so proud to say that I am a member of the Senate," is one he used. Another was "I had no idea how much work goes on behind the scenes..."

Many senators become experts on these behind-the-scenes activities merely by spending a good deal of time there.

Senator Ray Perrault, government leader in the Senate, came into the debate - but I am not sure whose side he was on - by appearing to be proud of the fact one-third of the senators were actually in the chamber for the speech. He referred to it as "a tribute to the quality of Senator Cook's speech."

And you'll never guess what else he said. "There is an immense amount of work which goes on behind the scenes."

But the other senators are going to have to do something with Senator Allister Grosart PC - Ontario. After 15 years in the Senate, he still doesn't seem to become suitably annoyed at attendance stories.

"I think we should be a little realistic," he told the chamber on this occasion "...whether there are committees meeting or not, on almost any day this Senate clears out about an hour after the sitting commences. This is a fact."

What's that, Senator Ewasew?

Badminton Is Her Game

Jacinthe Cormier of Caraquet, a first-year student in business technology at College Saint-Louis-Maillet in Edmundston, has been named a member of the badminton team representing the Province of New Brunswick at the Canadian Junior Closed Championship to be held in Edmonton, Alberta from March 8 through the 12th. She will participate in the women's singles competition, the women's doubles and the mixed doubles.

Her coach Jean-Guy Poitras, head of the physical education department at College Saint-Louis-Maillet, has announced that Jacinthe won the women's doubles with Mary McCann of Saint John, at the Maritimes Junior Championship held in Truro, Nova Scotia February 19 and 20.

Jacinthe, who is 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanislas Cormier of Caraquet. In February 1976, she made the finals of the New Brunswick Junior Championships held in Fredericton. In November 1976, she won the women's singles and the mixed doubles of the inter-collegiate tournament of Eastern Quebec held in Gaspe.

Last January, at the inter-provincial tournament of Eastern Canada held in Edmundston, Jacinthe beat the 1976 Maritimes champion, Anne-Marie Beaulieu.

New Hospital For Tracadie?

Hope was expressed in Tracadie February 22 that 1977 will be the year the community receives help from the provincial government for a much-needed hospital facility.

Health Minister Brenda Robertson, who joined Cabinet ministers on a fact-finding tour of northeastern N.B. last week, was given a tour of the Tracadie Hotel Dieu and later addressed the medical and administrative staff at a dinner.

She told the group she sympathized with the medical staff and realized they had to have patience and perseverance in order to work under certain difficulties.

Mrs. Robertson added she was impressed with the way in which the hospital is administered and she complimented the staff on a job well done.

"We are in a period of challenge", the minister said. "The health and other social needs of our citizens are well-defined, while our financial resources are limited by inflation and modest economic growth."

"I feel confident that the department of health will be able to respond favorably to your needs in the very near future," she concluded.

ANN LANDERS

Feels Effective Again As Parent

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A year ago I walked into the living room to see what my children were watching on TV. It was a play about a sex deviate, complete with explicit scenes and a great deal of violence.

I turned off the set and told my children that from now on I would monitor their TV viewing and from 9:00 p.m. until bedtime they would do their homework or read.

For several months there was stubborn opposition. Even my husband refused to support me. The boy (grade-school age) did everything imaginable to break me down. They said they were ashamed to admit they had missed "Starsky and Hutch" or "Baa Baa Black Sheep", claimed I was treating them like babies and threatened to run away from home. But the more adamant they became the more convinced I was the rule must be enforced. Finally I won.

I feel like an effective parent again. The children's grades have climbed since they read more and their homework is done.

I hope you will print this letter to encourage other parents who feel overwhelmed by TV. Maybe those magic words, "Because I said so, that's why," will be heard again in the land. – Ohio

DEAR OHIO: American children are among the world's most polished debaters. Too few parents have the courage to stand up against such formidable opposition. They give it and rationalize – telling themselves, "well – we tried."

I hope your letter will give confidence to the millions of parents who are fighting this battle. In the meantime, there is something more you can do.

Write to the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting for a complete analysis of the most (and least) violent TV programs listed for fall and winter viewing. The report ranks primetime network programs according to the amount and types of violent incidents. It also identifies the advertisers who pay for those programs.

This index will be sent free to anyone who requests it. The address is: NCCB at 1028 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20036.

DEAR ANN: A professor whom I idolized once told our class that people who are slaves to superstition are weak-minded. I do not feel that the description fits me, yet I find myself avoiding black cats and ladders, and I become quite upset when I break a mirror. Also, I refused to get married on Friday the 13th – insisted the date be changed to the 20th.

Tell me, do you think I'm a little nuts? Intellectually I know if I step on a crack it will NOT break my mother's back, yet I find myself avoiding cracks because if something should happen to my mother I don't want the guilt. Please respond. – Crossed Fingers

DEAR C.F.: Many intelligent people are superstitious. These "protections" against bad luck are emotional not rational. Such behavior is the result of early training and once the patterns are established they are virtually impossible to break.

So long as they don't interfere with your daily routine, go ahead and enjoy the comfort you derive from doing little things to ward off "bad luck." NOBODY is 100 per cent sane.

Duplicate Charity Game

A gratifying number of players attended the annual "charity" game of the Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club on Feb. 21.

In the above average scoring bracket were Mrs. P. Wedge and Dr. K. S. Roszek; E. Lanteigne and A. Peters, Newcastle; Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Chiasson; Mrs. E. Davidson and A. Arseneault, Newcastle; and Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Picot.

At the Feb. 7 session during which the Howell Movement was played, Mrs. I. Stairs and R. Baker placed first.

Mrs. Allen Ferguson and Mrs. Douglas Shirley were second and Dr. and Mrs. K. S. Roszek, third.

Above average scorers were Mrs. Wilfred Bertin and Mr. P. Theriault, Mrs. A. Dube and R. Poirier; Mrs. R. Anderson and B. Wood, Newcastle.

Winners At Card Party

Mrs. Edmond Duguay won first prize for ladies and Harold Decoste was winner of the men's prize at the Feb. 24 card party of the Maple Leaf Club.

There were 14 tables in play at the weekly event held in the recreation room at the Denis S. Fournier Complex.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Ida Lavigne, Mrs. Alfred Campbell and Mrs. Linda Cripps. Mrs. Leo W. Aube donated towards the prizes.

The Maple Leaf Club will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, March 8.

OVERWEIGHT IN CHILDHOOD — CAUSE FOR CONCERN?

Parents usually worry when they notice a child's lagging appetite. However, few people become alarmed when little Sue or Peter puts on too much weight. It's often considered a phase in development that the child will grow out of. Sometimes this is true.

It pays to watch children's weight as they grow and encourage exercise and lower calorie food choices if a weight problem is developing. Overweight children often become overweight adults. The following guide will give you some low calorie ideas for meal planning.

Milk and Milk Products

Children up to eleven years require 2 - 3 servings from this food group each day. Because they are growing, they need the extra calcium, vitamin D, riboflavin and protein from milk foods. Serve skim milk or 2 per cent to children over 2 years of age, plain yogurt, butter milk, and skim milk cheeses.

Meat and Alternates

Be sure your child and the rest of the family, receives two servings (2 - 3 ounces each) of meat, fish or poultry each day. You may use eggs, and low fat cheese, too. Before cooking meat reduce calories by trimming away all visible fat and then broil, roast or boil meat. Frying, breading and batter add unnecessary calories. Gravy is also high in calories but fat free gravy can be used occasionally. Simply skim fat from cooled meat drippings beforehand.

Vegetables and Fruits

Four to five servings are needed from this food group for good health. As well these can be offered as low-calorie appetite stoppers. Choose fruit in its lowest calorie form: a fresh apple rather than apple pie, unsweetened canned fruit and juices. Instead of butter and rich sauces, experiment with various seasonings on vegetables to see what your child and the rest of the family enjoy.

Bread and Cereals

Weight watchers should limit their intake to 3 servings and also be careful of what they spread on bread. Only 1 tablespoon of butter has more calories than the bread!

Contrary to popular belief, this food group is an essential - even for calorie watchers. It contains B vitamins and iron and provides energy. Vary the menus with rice, spaghetti, noodles and various types of whole grain bread and cereals.

A weight problem can help the whole family. It makes everyone more conscious of the unnecessary extras they eat as well as the amount of activity in which they participate. When everyone eats the same nourishing diet, the child who is overweight doesn't feel left out or different.

Social and Personal

Dr. and Mrs. J. Ernest Picot recently returned from a month's vacation at Redington Shores, Fla. During their five-and-one-half weeks away, they also visited in Fredericton with their son and wife, Dr. and Mrs. Jules Picot and family and then with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cochrane and family at Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McLaren (the former Lillian Gallant), Montreal, are receiving congratulations on the arrival, Feb. 1st, of their first child, a son, Christopher Michael. The maternal grandmother is Mrs. Amatus Gallant, St. Anne.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Seymour, Fredericton, were recent weekend guests of their daughter, Miss Judy Seymour.

Mrs. Leslie Barr recently returned to Bahrain in the Middle East after spending two months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Drysdale and other members of the family. Mrs. Barr was joined by Mr. Barr who spent a two-week vacation with the family before returning to his duties in Bahrain.

A surprise festive gathering was held at the St. Anne's Community Centre where Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Henry of South Teteagouche were honored on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary.

Correspondence read by Mrs Sanford Smyth included several thank-you cards and a notice concerning the renewing of The Internationalist magazine.

Money was turned in from the sale of cookbooks and "in memoriams".

Mrs. William Oliver, cookbook convener, submitted her yearly report which was adopted.

Supply and welfare convener, Mrs. Gordon Vance, reported taking different articles to the Flowers of Hope Training Centre and Mrs. I Oliver reported sending out used postage stamps, as well as taking used Christmas cards to the Flowers of Hope school.

It was decided that all bills be paid.

Stewardship convener, Mrs W. Oliver read interesting material concerning Lent and also explained a magazine entitled Christians Doing Financial Planning, which is to be left in the church, she said.

It was decided that members will fill Lenten coin cards. It was also agreed to conduct the Sunday worship service on April 17 during the absence of the minister.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Gordon MacIntosh at which time Mrs W. Oliver and Mrs. Gordon Vance will provide lunch.

After closing with repeating the creed, lunch was served by the appointed ladies.

Delegates Appointed

Sue Burns was hostess Feb. 23 at a meeting of Kappa Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi and 11 members were present.

Correspondence included a thank-you note from Mrs. E. J. Leger, the chapter's social sponsor, for flowers sent to her on Valentine Day.

It was reported pledge training for the new members now is completed and the ritual of jewels for Sue Burns, Susan McTavish and Ann Kendell will be held at the next meeting.

A report on the Valentine dance held at Danny's Colonial House showed it had been successful. Decorations were in keeping with the occasion. Door prizes at the dance were won by Mrs. Louise Doucet, Mrs. Loretta Ratchford and Mrs. Barbara Walsh. The prizes were donated by each of the three chapters.

The Bath, Maine convention to be held in June will be represented by Sue Burns, Peggy Nadeau and Pat Mongeau, the deadline entry for delegates being May 1st.

Lunch was served after adjournment by Sue Burns and Ann Crozier.

President Lexie Martin welcomed the evening's guest, Marion Henkes, at an earlier meeting of the chapter held at the home of Joyce Preston. A donation of $20 was agreed upon in conjunction with a letter received from the International Endowment Fund. It was also decided to donate $50 to the Bathurst Music Festival Committee.

Mrs. Preston was winner of the surprise box.

The cultural program on "Government" was presented by Joyce Preston who introduced Bathurst MLA Eugene McGinley as the guest speaker on her topic.

Mr. McGinley gave an interesting and informative talk on provincial government, though the information was not of a political nature. Mr. McGinley then answered questions posed by the members and his informed replies were greatly appreciated.

Following an enjoyable evening, Mrs. Preston presented Mr. McGinley with a gift of appreciation after which lunch was served by the hostess and Peggy Nadeau.

Senior Citizens Mark Mardi Gras

When it comes to old-time tradition, the senior citizens have it, as was noted at the Denis S. Fournier Senior Residents home, 145 Demeresque Street.

On Feb. 23, the 30 residents at the complex, together with a number of friends and relatives, gathered in the recreation room to celebrate Mardi Gras.

Down-to-earth old-fashioned music was provided by Bernard Arseneau, violinist, and Mrs. Sylvia Lavigne, guitarist, both of whom live nearby on the same street.

An added attraction was musical selections by Alderic Comeau who capably played his accordion and harmonica in fine style, much to the delight of all present.

Rev. J. Emile Fournier who regularly celebrates mass at the complex, honored the group with his presence during the evening.

Midway during the function, an appropriate farewell speech was made by Mrs. Linda Cripps, Maple Leaf Club president, in recognition of the departure of Herman Arseneau who will be leaving the complex shortly to take up residence at Chaleur Villa.

Mrs. Cripps thanked Mr. Arseneau, a past officer of the club, for his efforts, co-operation and kindness while a resident. A gift was presented to Mr. Arseneau on behalf of those in attendance and Mrs. Cripps extended best wishes to him for a long and happy sojourn in his new abode.

The evening concluded with the serving of refreshments by Mrs. Cripps and her committee.

Jaycettes Discuss Plans

A general meeting of the Bathurst Jaycette Club was held at the home of Mrs. Diane Doucet on Feb. 24 when six members were present.

Topics under disucssion include a drawing on a microwave oven on which tickets are being sold, to take place at Easter, group vests, charter night, a sliding party and Bathurst Summer Hospitality Days.

Treasurer Judy Brown gave her monthly report after the minutes were read and adopted.

The Jaycette's planned publication was also discussed.

The next gathering of the club will be a dinner meeting at Danny's on March 16 at 7:30 p.m.

Asked what gave him the idea for his second book, the novelist said it came to him while he was watching the movie version of his first book.

Week Of Prayer Services On Mar. 4

This year, World Day of Prayer services for residents of the Bathurst area will be held at St. Theresa Church.

The two services are set for 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

In preparing the 1977 World Day of Prayer service on this year's theme, "Love in Action" The Christian women behind the Iron curtain in the German Democratic Republic expressed the hope that this worship service will make us reflect on what we can do as children of God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, and in the strength of the Holy Spirit, to risk love, life and involvement in our "togetherness" ".

The German women who wrote the 1977 service included a physician, three psychologists, three theologians, and three church workers, all in responsible positions of leadership. Two are mothers of handicapped children.

Other professional women helped in editing the service.

As representatives of approximately 10.2 million citizens belonging to Christian churches and other religious fellowships in the German Democratic Republic, the women who prepared this service want to reflect their hopes in the following three steps:

1) God has shown us what our "togetherness" should be like. With the Hope and confidence given by God our Father, we are able to look at ourselves and can bear this knowledge of ourselves.

2) Jesus Christ has shown us how our "togetherness" can be realized. He gives the right standards of judging our human situation, especially the relationships between the "weak" and the "strong". He helps us to become partners in life, recognizing our handicaps and our solidarity.

3) In the strength of the Holy Spirit, we pray for all persons and groups with whom we share our common life. Through the power of the Holy Spirit, we are enabled to translate love into Action and to risk life together.

Psychiatrist: "Why doesn't he speak for himself?"

Wife: "What, with all those dimes in his mouth?"

Program Topic Is Macrame

Members of Xi Delta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Gwen Mackenzie Feb. 9.

An invitation received for a district convention of Beta Sigma Phi to be held at Lebasco Estate, Bath, Maine, was read. Guest speakers and group discussions will highlight the program presentations.

Escalation of publicity for Theatre New Brunswick's March presentation received full approval by the chapter.

Judy Losier presented the evening's program on practical arts, her topic being macrame, a current popular hobby.

Mrs. Losier brought for an exhibit, a beautiful lampshade which encouraged members to give the art a try.

The program ended with a note of achievement for those who were new to macrame, and the old pros took advantage of many tips given by Mrs. Losier.

The evening ended with lunch being served by Edna Roussel and the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Margo Greenough on Feb. 23.

In The Bathurst District

BIBLE DIGEST: "Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you" Matthew 5:11,12

The good word of man may not be the best thing that could be said about you. "Beware when all men speak well of you."

Weekly Prayer Meeting Report

The regular Monday prayer meeting at the House of Prayer, on Feb. 28 mass was concelebrated by Rev. Gregory Culligan and Rev. Gregory Sampson, with a large attendance which included two new members.

Topic of the teaching was Christian Faith and Father Culligan gave the teaching and explanation.

In his talk, Father Culligan said: "God's word comes to us in many ways and most important, through Scripture which, if we want to grow in faith, we need to read regularly.

The truth that builds "faith" most quickly and for the most part, the most basic "truths" God is love. He created us out of love. He became Man and died on the cross for us. The Lord is with us in all situations. Christ is in us through the power of the "Spirit", we can count on Him to act through us, to give us faith. We should pray for "faith" knowing this, is a prayer that God always answers, and we should persevere in prayer until it happens knowing that the Lord wants us to have faith and that He will give it to us.

There are many things in us that work against faith: fears, doubts, hesitancies, confusion, anxieties, etc. continued Father Culligan.

He said, "We must recall the truth found in Scriptures and act in faith, even when we are opposed by feelings of fear and doubt and, last, but not least, we should go by any means where we can make contact with men or women of faith.

"If we want to grow in faith, it only makes sense to go where our faith will be helped. It is so very difficult to grow in faith by ourselves."

Bible quotations:

John 11:40 Have I not told you that if you believe, you will see the glory of God.

Co. 2:6,7 You must live your whole life according to the Christ you have received – Jesus the Lord; you must be rooted in Him and built on Him and held firm by the "FAITH" you have been TAUGHT, AND FULL OF THANKSGIVING.

Heb. 11:1 Only Faith can guarantee the blessings that we hope for, or prove the existence of the realities that at present remain unseen. It is for Faith that our ancesters were commended.

Music ministry selections at the meeting were in keeping with the Theme of Faith.

Languages Act Will Signify Recognition

Treasury Board Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard told an audience at Town Hall in Tracadie Feb. 22 that when the remaining sections of the Official Languages Act come into effect on July 1, it "will signify the well-deserved recognition of the cultural rights of Francophones in our province."

Mr. Simard headed a group of cabinet ministers on a four-day tour of communities in northeastern New Brunswick aimed at explaining and discussing government policies with the general public. His keynote address in Tracadie centred on the province's Official Languages Act.

Proclaimed in 1969 following the unanimous consent of the Legislative Assembly, the Official Languages Act "was the result of the desire and the need to guarantee Francophones the services to which they had a right in their own language," Mr. Simard said.

Mr. Simard noted that, contrary to popular opinion, New Brunswick has been in the forefront in the recognition of language rights in Canada. It was the first province to recognize English and French as official languages, even before the federal government, and it remains Canada's only officially bilingual province.

Answering those who criticize the delay in implementing all sections of the act, Mr. Simard said, "Because an act which cannot be applied is not worth very much to anyone", the government only proclaimed sections when it was in a position to enforce them.

The Official Languages Act guarantees minorities the right to receive their education in their mother tongue, a guarantee already provided for in the Schools Act, noted Mr. Simard.

He said that trade schools for Francophones, long the subject of representations to the government, will henceforth offer courses in both languages. He did note, however, that if in the opinion of the minister of education, the number of pupils makes the application of the provisions of this section impracticable, "he (the minister) may take other measures to comply with the spirit of this act."

"The Northeast Institute of Technology will be of capital importance for Francophones, since it will provide them with the technical training necessary to enable them to try for remunerative positions in industry," the minister said. He also noted the usefulness to Francophones of the courses on the St.-Louis-Maillet campus.

In a reference to the application of the Official Languages Act by municipalities, Mr. Simard noted that it will be their decision whether one of the languages or both will be official for whatever comes under their jurisdiction.

He said the government will help municipalities to provide bilingual services if requested but emphasized that Section 2 of the act delegates the responsibility of choice to municipal councils.

Three sections of the act - four, eight and nine - have a direct application to the provincial legislature. Under them, all reports of the Legislative Assembly and its committees must be published in both languages, including the Royal Gazette and government notices and decrees.

Mr. Simard acknowledged that "The greatest repercussions of this act will occur in the area of services to the public", and said it is "perfectly legitimate for the people to deal with the government in the language of their choice."

He said considerable effort has been made to implement the spirit and the letter of Section 10 of the act which provides that an official, upon request, must offer the available services in the client's official language.

Mr. Simard cited as examples of such progress the establishment of a translation bureau in 1967, a simultaneous translation service, the translation and revision of the statutes and acts of the province and the beginning of translation of statutory regulations.

Further evidence of the government's intention to implement Section 10, said Mr. Simard, is the province's language training program that offers civil servants a chance to familiarize themselves with the second language.

He also pointed to the creation of the Official Languages Branch within the Cabinet Secretariat which has responsibility for seeing that all sections of the act are applied as stipulated.

He reiterated remarks made last December by Premier Richard Hatfield that New Brunswick's program "does not call for quotas, nor does it call for designated positions, and it grants no bonus for bilingualism."

The premier had continued: "Nobody will lose a job because the act has been enforced, and there will be no changes in the nature of an employee's job or salary rating as a result of this act."

In a reference to the current study of the language profile of the civil service being conducted by the Official Languages Branch, Mr. Simard said, "the government is convinced of the necessity to recruit Francophones for senior positions."

He acknowledged that the list of French-speaking senior civil servants "is not as long as one would wish" but suggested that those who do now hold high positions have an influence "that goes far beyond the percentage (14 per cent) recently quoted by l'Evangeline."

Citing ten government departments or agencies which currently employ French-speaking senior officials, Mr. Simard said he believed "that Francophones more and more are receiving the best representation in the decision-making process."

The minister acknowledged that a large number of "English-speaking civil servants from all parts of the province understand the language and the aspirations of Francophones, and sincerely desire a better lifestyle for all our citizens."

As part of the government's efforts to recruit more bilingual and Francophone personnel, Mr. Simard noted that visits are planned to university campuses in Moncton and Fredericton to recruit the best candidates for government positions.

Acknowledging that "it has not always been very attractive for Francophones to live in Fredericton", Mr. Simard suggested that the situation has changed over the years "and the future looks even more promising."

Two of the past obstacles to attracting Francophones to Fredericton, the absence of French courses in the schools and "of a French atmosphere", are being overcome, Mr. Simard said.

He noted that the Hatfield government has acknowledged the gaps and "at the risk of incurring criticism, it has proceeded with the realization of a French school and community complex in Fredericton."

The community complex, to be ready this fall at a cost of more than $5 million, will become the envy of the best organized regions and will offer Francophones the opportunity to get together, enjoy themselves and become educated in their own language and in a cultural atmosphere that is French", Mr. Simard added.

CARAQUET SHIP JOINS EL SALVADOR'S FLEET

(By Jim Hornby of the New Brunswick Information Bureau)

Down where coffee and cotton are king, some New Brunswick technology and expertise are being used by a small Central American country to make better use of its ocean resources.

The country is El Salvador, the smallest in Central America. With a land mass of just 8,260 square miles, it is considerably less than a third the size of this province. But with almost four and a half million inhabitants, it is very crowded by our standards. Its industrialization is relatively heavy, and many of the country's people work in factories or as farm labourers.

Volcanic eruptions over the years had beneficial effects (although just down the coast at Managua, Nicaragua, there are many reminders of nature's destructive potential). Lava and ashes provide a soil ideal for growing coffee in El Salvador's hot, humid climate, and the tiny country is a leading producer of the caffeine beverage.

Izalco, a 7,749 foot volcano, once spouted so frequently that it was used as a beacon for mariners. Fortunately, the country's new fisheries training vessel, "Escuela Del Mar" (School of the Sea), is well equipped with modern technology and won't have to rely on that as a navigational aid.

The boat was built at L'Industrie Marine de Caraquet and was recently donated to El Salvador by CIDA, the Canadian International Development Agency, as part of its continuing program of responding to requests from developing countries.

Mario Nunez, charge d'affaires for the embassy of El Salvador in Ottawa, says that he has been in contact with those using the vessel and reports that they are "more than pleased with it. It is doing a lot to improve our standard of living and helps our fishermen improve their lives. It was something we needed very much and I have received excellent reports of it."

Mr. Nunez says that lobsters and shrimps are the main species caught by El Salvador's fishermen.

L'Industrie Marine, one of six builders on the million dollar contract, opened in Lower Caraquet in 1969 and presently employs 45 people. While in truth "Escuela del Mar" is Spanish for "School of the Sea," it might well be translated as the firm's "star of the sea", for it represented a very big contract for the firm, and has helped to prove its industrial potential. As a result, a naval architect and a technician in naval architecture have been added to the staff and have thereby allowed L'Industrie Marine to expand its operation.

Designed by Evans, Yeatman and Endal of Halifax, Escuela del Mar is classified as a fisheries training vessel. It is constructed of steel, just under 65 feet in length, with a displacement of 103 tons before outfitting. It has a top speed of 10 knots and carries 20 crew and trainees. Its fishhold space was reduced in order to accommodate five or six more people than are usually carried by a fisheries vessel of this size.

Yard Manager Paul White said the contract for the ship was indeed a challenge to all who worked on it. "We hadn't previously built a ship this complicated," he says. "But we had a deadline in which to complete it and had to be on the ball all the way. We did it well and everything was accounted for."

The shipyard is proud of the fact that the usual 18 month production schedule for this type of vessel was bettered by several weeks, and took 1,000 fewer man-hours than the contract called for. This was made possible by the efforts of many people besides the production crew that actually built the vessel.

The federal Department of Supply and Services handled the contractural details from Ottawa. The provincial Fishermen's Loan Board owns the yard, which is rented from them by L'Industrie Marine de Caraquet. The provincial Department of Economic Growth (now known as Commerce and Development) was prominently involved in helping with the bid and later, through a contract of indemnity, guaranteeing its completion. Former Economic Growth Minister Lawrence Garvie was on hand for the ceremonial keel-laying on July 18, 1976. The vessel was delivered to CIDA four days later.

Fisheries Minister Omer Leger visited the boat for a shakedown cruise and was reported to very impressed with its quality and efficiency. He is said to be considering obtaining a similar vessel for use at the provincial fisheries training school.

"We postess a very large fishing fleet," said the fisheries minister, "and for that reason we require large numbers of qualified fishermen, which necessitates a greater degree of competence in the handling of large vessels."

Meanwhile, down in El Salvador, those who train on the Escuela del Mar, and many who see her as she visits Port Acajutla, will appreciate the vessel as a success story for their country. In this part of the world it is seen as a success story for Northeastern New Brunswick, and especially for L'Industrie Marine de Caraquet.

Dutiful Losers Keep On Buying

You clutch your $5 lottery ticket and wait for the draw on the television. Your blood pressure mounts as the camera pans from the happy, always clapping audience (lotteries are fun!) to the assistants conscientiously placing balls in selection machines (lotteries are fair!) - to the announcer, who actually wishes you "happy, happy news of the free goodies... tonight!".

Amid excruciating tension, he reads out the winning number... Too bad! But your chances at the big prize were minuscule anyway. The big winners in Canada's mushrooming $2-billion lottery industry are the government agencies that run it.

Ticket sales in Ontario have increased from about two million every two weeks in May, 1975, to about six million tickets every two weeks this year. Sales in the Maritimes will increase 70 per cent in 1977. Canadians will spend $20 - $25 per capita on lottery tickets this year.

More startling than ticket sales is the percentage of revenue retained as profit, writes Ian Brown in The Financial Post. Roulette returns about 95 per cent of the bettors's money; blackjack, 94 percent; horse percent - 87 per cent; horse racing, 82 percent. Lotteries return only 30 percent to 40 percent. Such a return allows government lottery corporations an average profit of about 40percent of revenues. And it's free of taxes and guidelines.

C. Rosengren Dies Suddenly

ARCHIBALD — The death of Claude Rosengren occurred Feb. 20 at St. Joseph's Hospital, Dalhousie, after being suddenly stricken at his residence in Archibald earlier in the evening. He was 64.

Born at Archibald, he was a son of Mrs. Laura Rosengren (nee McAulay) and the late William Rosengren.

Mr. Rosengren had been employed at Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd., Smelting Division at Belledune until a year ago, for a number of years.

His wife, the former Theresa Guitard died two years ago.

Surviving besides his mother of Archibald are four children, Helen, 14, Hazel, 12, Claudette, 11 and John, 3, all at home; one brother, George of Archibald; three sisters, Mrs. Kenneth Maclntosh (Myrna) of Archibald, Mrs. John Smearer (Jean) of Nash Creek and Mrs. Percy Smith (Rhoda), Salmon Beach; and a number of nieces and nephews.

A brother, John, died in action in World War II.

Mr. Rosengren rested at MacMillan's Funeral Home, Black Point.

Rev. G. B. Simms officiated at the funeral held at Zion United Church, New Mills, Feb. 23 at 2 p.m. Rev. F. Parent assisted.

The hymns sung by the choir and congregation were Jesus Loves Me, Amazing Grace and The Old Rugged Cross.

The pallbearers were John Smearer, Junior Maclntosh, Irvine Archibald, Clarence Rosengren, Kenneth Maclntosh and Percy Smith.

Entombment was in the New Mills receiving vault to await burial in New Mills Cemetery in the spring.

Relatives and friends attending were from Salmon Beach, Moncton, Newcastle, Campbellton and Bathurst.

Retroactive Payments Due

The Unemployment Insurance Commission will be making retroactive payments to claimants affected by changes in the Unemployment Insurance Act which were implemented in January 1976, it has been announced by Manpower and Immigration Minister Bud Cullen.

Under the legislation persons aged 65 and over are no longer eligible for unemployment insurance benefits. The law also provided for the elimination of the dependency rate of benefit which was payable to persons with dependents under certain circumstances.

The intent of the Commission and the Minister in Bill C-69 was that the change would take effect on January 4, 1976, and would apply both to new claimants and to those who had already established a claim. The reason for this change was the availability of enhanced benefits under other income maintenance programs – increased pension benefits under the Canada Pension Plan and the Quebec Pension Plan and higher family allowances. This intention was not adequately reflected in the Bill.

The application of these changes was challenged by some 600 claimants who were already on claim on the date of implementation. An umpire of the Federal Court, Mr. Justice Addy, upheld these appeals while confirming the validity of the law insofar as it affects insured employees after the date of implementation. As a result of this decision, the Unemployment Insurance Commission made arrangements to review these claims to determine the amounts owing to the claimants affected.

Mr. Cullen said the Commission has since considered the situation of those persons who did not appeal, but who were in a similar position to that of the appellants. The Commission has decided, that on the grounds of equity, all persons so affected should be treated in a similar manner. The necessary legal authority for the reconsideration of claims would be contained in Bill C-27, the Employment and Immigration Reorganization Act, which is presently before the House of Commons.

Instructions have now been issued to UIC Regional Pay Offices to review the relevant files and it is intended that persons in the same position as appellants, but who did not appeal, will be eligible to receive benefits after the legal authority has been obtained.

It is expected that some 18,000 claims for persons aged 65 and over, and 170,000 claims for persons with the dependency rate, will be reviewed by the Commission, and the maximum cost of making payments is estimated to be in order of $20 million.

The Minister explained that claimants who are 65 years of age and over will only be able to receive benefits until pensions under the Canada or Quebec Pension Plans become payable.

Mr. Cullen emphasized that the Commission will be taking the initiative in contacting the individuals affected to indicate that their claims are being reviewed. "The Commission will be in touch with each claimant affected in the next few months."

DIABETIC DAY CARE TEACHING CENTRE COMMUNITY ASSET

Jamie Wylie, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wylie, 880 Youghal Dr., and grandson of Mrs. H. C. Ramsey, 255 St. Patrick St., is just one of the 309 registered patients who frequent the Diabetic Day Care Teaching Centre at Chaleur General Hospital. He is shown here under the tutelage of Yolande Losier, diabetic teaching nurse, and Roseline Leger dietitian.

Working in close cooperation with the program is the Bathurst Branch of the Canadian Diabetic Assn., which is now preparing for its annual campaign for funds under the co-chairmanship of Eleanor Purlotte and Doris McArdle.

The Diabetic Day Care Teaching Centre is not a clinic with medical staff directing treatment of individual patients, but a hospital service providing education and assessment of diabetic management. It is staffed by a medical consultant, dietitian and a registered nurse. Most of the patients are referred by their family physicians.

Clinics are held at the Centre twice-weekly - Tuesday for the English-speaking and Thursday for the French - speaking. A typical day begins at 7:30 a.m. when the patient arrives - fasting. A blood sugar test is taken first, followed by other tests which the doctor may have prescribed, and the patient is weighed.

Next on the curriculum is a urine test for the presence of sugar and acetone and medications are administered. Patients are encouraged to give their own injections, but the nurse inspects the injection site. When a new diabetic comes to the Centre, time is taken to give individual instruction and guidance.

Most patients are briefed on the following aspects of their health problem: complications, urine check, foot care, etc. Parents of diabetic children are also encouraged to attend.

The Centre treats an average of nine patients a day. The ideal number, however, would be six to eight, as it has been found that a smaller group patient feels more relaxed and "at home".

City Council Faced With Resignations

A motion made by Ryan Ward Councillor Henry Murphy to accept with regret the resignation of Doug Annand as chairman of the newly-formed Bathurst Airport Commission was defeated Monday by a 5 - 4 vote of City Council.

Mr. Annand's resignation was one of three received from the seven-member commission in connection with a council decision to go along with a proposal for air service by Air Bathurst Ltd. which had been rejected earlier by the airport commission because of a limited budget.

Other resignations came from John McAloon and Bill Comeau.

"Because of City Council's apparent lack of recognition or flagrant disregard of the intent and purpose of the airport commission, I have no alternative at this time but to submit herewith my resignation both as director and chairman of the Bathurst Airport Commission", Mr. Annand's letter stated.

Coun. Val Saulnier disagreed with Coun. Murphy's suggestion that the resignation be accepted. "We may have taken a bad step when we did not leave the matter to the commission, and I cannot accept this resignation until we meet to discuss it. It is not good to ask citizens to serve on such bodies and then to disregard their decisions", he said. "I'd like for them to reconsider."

Deputy Mayor Pat McLaughlin agreed with Coun. Saulnier, saying he was sorry the council had decided to allot $5,000 to the operation. "I must have been asleep when I voted because we acted in complete disregard of the commission." Coun. Bob Hodgins was of the same sentiments but felt council "couldn't undo what it had already done."

Coun. Terry Lenihan, however, had other feelings. "We didn't disregard the commission but gave it something with which to act. They said they didn't have funds; we gave them the necessary security. Now it is their responsibility to administer the operation, regulating flights, etc. This action is being twisted and misinterpreted."

Coun. Joe MacNeil, who was not present at the last meeting when the decision was made, also felt the commission had been wronged. "I'd like to see them stay."

"I wasn't asleep when I voted", said Coun. Lavoie. "I voted for a service we didn't have."

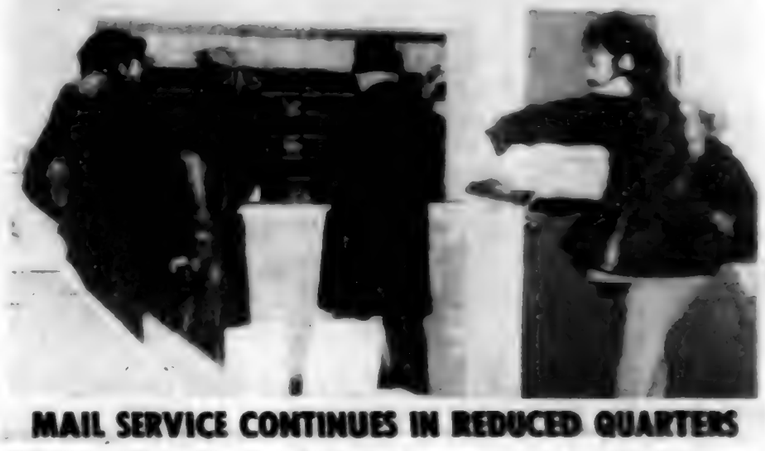
Taken to a vote, the count was 5 - 4 against accepting the resignation.

Deputy Mayor Pat McLaughlin then moved that the $5,000 be held back until the commission is brought to full strength. Voting in favor were Couns. Murphy, Saulnier, MacNeil and McLaughlin. Defeating the move were Couns. Lenihan, MacLaggan, Williamson, Hodgins and Lavoie.

Coun. Saulnier's suggestion that council meet with the commission in an effort to patch the rift passed by an 8 - 1 count, with Coun. Williamson in opposition.

The fourth letter of resignation of the evening came from City Clerk B. J. Arseneau who gave personal reasons for terminating his employment with the City of Bathurst as of March 18.

This resignation was accepted with regret.



MAIL SERVICE CONTINUES IN REDUCED QUARTERS

The makeshift post office in the Wye Electric Bldg on King Ave, which will serve Bathurst customers for the next ten months or so while renovations at the federal building across the street are in progress, opened on schedule at 8:00 a.m. Monday without incident. Moving was carried out Saturday night and Sunday. Although the staff is working in cramped quarters and under other adverse conditions, operations are proceeding in a comparatively smooth manner. There are not the long waiting lines, at least not up to the present, as many people anticipated. Top photo shows Postal Clerks Aurele Theriault (left) and Donald Melanson serving Kevin Mann and Carson Daley at the main counter which substitutes for wickets. At bottom, Mrs. Gerald Bouma and John Hogan, QC, pick up their mail at side counter; Gilles Pratte takes off with bundle of newspapers for Book Village; Maggie Watson waits her turn.

Snow Clearance For Beach Road Approved

A request from the owner of a cottage on Queen Elizabeth Drive for an increase in services in return for rising property taxes was heard favourably by Bathurst City Council Monday.

Appearing on behalf of Claude and Mary Helen Johnson was Bathurst lawyer Thomas Riordon of Byrne, Riordon and Lenihan, who noted his clients were "unpleasantly surprised" to find their 1977 tax bill had doubled from last year.

He stated cottage-owners within city limits must pay the full provincial tax rate of $1.50 because the dwelling is not occupied as a residence, as well as the municipal tax rate of $1.01.

"Yet", Mr. Riordon stated, "services are limited, and are available mainly during summer months. We want more, particularly in the area of snow removal."

He pointed out that city equipment is now plowing some of Queen Elizabeth Drive, and requested that the entire distance to the city limits be cleared. "The police department could then patrol the area during the winter, cutting down on vandalism, and cottage owners could benefit from fire protection as well."

Mr. Riordon indicated that some families also use the cottages during winter months on a part-time basis for snowmobiling, cross-country skiing, etc.

Councillor Joe MacNeil, who was welcomed back to the council table after a stay in hospital and a period of convalescence at home, wondered if council shouldn't consider rezoning the entire beach area as people may soon want to live there year-round.

Coun. Lavoie moved that Queen Elizabeth Drive be immediately placed in a position of lowest priority on the snow-clearance list. An amendment to the motion allowing for snow removal in front of cottages to the right of the Golden Sands was then inserted by Deputy Mayor Pat McLaughlin, and council gave its full approval. Coun. Terry Lenihan abstained from voting.

BETTER DEAL

Greater challenge and better opportunity is the name of the game as far as Bernie Arseneau is concerned. That is the reason he's stepping down as city clerk after eight months.

Mr. Arseneau is returning to Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada and will be based in Moncton.

It was a difficult decision to make, he states. He enjoyed the experience at City Hall and has no complaints about the relationships there. The people there as well as the councillors liked him too.

But the other offer was just too good to turn down.

UNDERSTANDABLE

In the meantime, the resignations of several members of the Airport Commission has created somewhat of an unpleasant situation in civic circles.

C. J. Veniot, M.D.

Distinguished Son, Outstanding Patriot

The death of Dr. Clarence J. Veniot, Monday night in Chaleur General Hospital in his 92nd year, after a long illness, concluded a notable career in professional and public life.

He is resting at Elhatton's pending the funeral at 2:30 p.m. Thursday to Sacred Heart Cathedral.

First and foremost, Dr. Veniot was a prominent pioneer physician and surgeon on New Brunswick's North Shore. His earlier practise was in the days when medical science, research, aids and facilities were wanting. He often performed in true country doctor tradition, travelling long distances in foul weather at great discomfort to save lives and bring succor to the suffering. As it was said, he sometimes performed miracles.

Dr. Veniot's public service embraced the grassroot and top levels of governmental affairs, extending over 30 years. He first gained election as mayor of his hometown of Bathurst.

After serving two terms in that post and also filling the presidency of the Union of N. B. Municipalities, Dr. Veniot moved into the realm of federal affairs in 1936 upon being elected a Member of Parliament for Gloucester County.

C. J. VENIOT, M. D.

In this he succeeded to the vacancy left by the death of his father, Hon. Peter J. Veniot, who had occupied the cabinet post of postmaster general for some years and had previously served as premier of New Brunswick.

In his nine years of service in the House of Commons, Dr. Veniot proved one of its most assiduous, diligent and conscientious members, bringing to his duties marked abilities with which he coupled a particular talent for debate. In this he gained the distinction of being highly accomplished and his efforts in furthering the interests of his constituents were zealously pressed forward by him and through these he achieved a great deal for Gloucester County.

Dr. Veniot's elevation to the Senate in 1945 and in which he served until he stepped down on his own volition in 1966, won widespread approbation across the province. And in that chamber, as in the Commons previously, his contributions to the discharge of the public business reflected a truly valuable service to his province and his country.

In both Houses, when medical and other health matters engaged the attention of and deliberation by the members, Dr. Veniot's knowledgeable advice and counsel were always valued. And he served on several occasions, either as chairman or as a member, on special committees set up by the House and by the Senate to deal with matters pertaining to health and welfare.

Always a champion of Confederation, Dr. Veniot, were he active in political circles today, would have reiterated a statement he made almost 50 years ago, and fought for a cause which currently faces possible

Tree Commission Busy During 1976

The 1976 report from the Bathurst Tree Commission was submitted to City Council Monday night by interim chairwoman Mrs. Florine Rutledge.

Mrs. Rutledge stated seven meetings had been held during the year, and a summary of activities was as follows.

- Twelve maple trees planted during Prime Minister Trudeau's visit in September, two in Coronation and ten in Centennial Park.
- The removal of a dead elm tree on King Avenue.
- Initiation of a collection information on Dutch Elm dis-

Fire Station Study Ordered

A letter from the Parkwood Heights Homeowners Association requesting consideration for land purchase west of the Village Bridge for the erection of a fire sub-station was also read at Monday's meeting of City Council.

"We are concerned about fire protection in view of our distance from the city centre", the letter stated, "and we have been informed by the fire chief that a sub-station would be the most effective protection."

Coun. Jean Paul Lavoie noted he had been pressing for the same thing since 1974, but had been unsuccessful to date. He moved that the administration be directed to bring to council a report on land acquisition for a fire hall in the area, to which Coun. Valmond Saulnier immediately added an amendment calling for a similar study in Hachey Ward.

The proposal gained unanimous approval.

In other business, the Bathurst Lions Club was given the go-ahead to sponsor the D. A. Campbell Amusements Ltd. carnival in the city in July, provided the applicants adhere to the city policy regarding carnivals and to other conditions as stated in the application. Also, council pointed out, the carnival dates must not conflict with Hospitality Days.

Mayor John A. Duffy was authorized to attend a tourism conference in Fredericton March 25-26. Mayor Duffy and Coun. Joe MacNeil will also take part in the annual conference of the Federation of Canadian Municipalities in Toronto May 15-18.

Approval was given for the purchase of a four-cylinder Colt from Bayside Chrysler Dodge Ltd. in the amount of $3,060.32. This was the lowest of six tenders received, the highest being $4,400. Budget provision was $4,000.

The City of Bathurst will once again advertise in Maritime newspapers for a program co-ordinator for the parks and recreation department. The position will require at least two years experience and has an annual salary of $12,000 - $14,000.

From left, Jack Furlotte, resource ranger; Hon. Roland Boudreau; Claire Hodgins, ski club president; Edgar Aube, ministerial assistant; and Ray Burke, club trailmaster.

Ski Trail Officially Opened

New Brunswick's Minister of Natural Resources, Roland Boudreau, was the guest of the Bathurst Cross Country Ski Club at the official opening of the Bathurst Ski Trail during the past weekend. The six-mile trail was built this winter in a co-operative effort between the club and the resources department and features picnic tables, kilometer signs, rest benches, a shelter with barbecue, and a prepared track.

Special grooming equipment is used by resources personnel to maintain the trail and keep it in top condition, and over 300 skiers use the facilities on an average weekend. Skiers are also out in smaller numbers on weekdays and there is also a considerable amount of night skiing. Shorter trails nearby have also been put into service through co-operation between the club and private landowners, and colored maps guide skiers through the network.

Mr. Boudreau said his department is continuing to emphasize the recreational use of forest land, particularly in the Forest Pilot Project established in the Bathurst area after the 1974 forest resources study.

LOCAL LIBERALS ELECT NEW SLATE, HEAR SPEAKERS

Two well known guest speakers were heard at the annual meeting of the Bathurst Liberal Association, and the Bathurst Zone of the Gloucester County Liberal Association, held Monday night in South Bathurst Church Hall.

Herb Breau, MP for Gloucester, refered to the soon-to-be-announced acquisition of land for the new federal building. Work should be underway by early summer, it was indicated.

Ray Frenette, MLA for Moncton City, who is originally from the Bathurst area, stressed the total lack of confidence felt by the Liberal Party towards the present Provincial Government. He also noted that nothing was being done to curtail the rising unemployment situation.

The election of a new executive, which took place during the session, resulted as follows:

President: Gerald Harris, First Vice-President: Lignori Doucet. Treasurer: Lucille Arseneau. Secretary: Clare Desserud.

Vice-President for Bathurst Zone of County: Omer Renaud.

BATHURST CANCER SOCIETY UNIT REPRESENTED

(By Douglas Williamson)

The 31st Annual Provincial Meeting of the Canadian Cancer Society, New Brunswick Division was held at the Lord Beaverbrook Hotel, Fredericton February 11 and 12.

Attending from the Bathurst Unit from the left were: Lillian Beauchamp, Hilda Hocquard, Lillian McKay, Sr. Anita Blier and Gerald Tower. Missing from photo who also attended are Mr. and Mrs. James DeWolfe.

Dr. Alfred F. Lagace of Bathurst is the new director on the Board of Directors for the N.B. Division representing the Northeastern area.

On Friday evening there was a lively panel discussion on the topic "Cancer - Where are We?" On the panel were Doctors G. Douglas Smith, radiotherapist and moderator; A. Bastarache, pathologist; G.R. Clayden, radiologist; M. F. Palmer, surgeon; and D.F. McDade, internist.

Dr. Smith said that "Cancer - Where are We?" was a very apt question for us, for many times the people involved with the fight on cancer wonder where they are going.

On Saturday morning the individual conferences on campaign education and patient services had the delegates in attendance.

The Bathurst Unit delegates found a large amount of valuable information was gained from the oral presentations of the panel and the various displays of printed material.

One important area where the local unit is hoping for results is the establishment of a Pap Smear Clinic and a Mastectomy Unit to serve the many patients from Upper and Lower Gloucester and Bathurst areas who are now going to Moncton and Saint John for these services.

Hopefully in consultation with the Medical Society and the Board of Directors of Chaleur General Hospital, these programs can be a reality.

Gossips are just people who suffer from acute indiscretion.

Thanks and farewell to Miss Carey from Boss Guy Hachey

RETIRES FROM CN AFTER 35 YEARS

The retirement of Miss Rita Carey after 35 years of faithful and dedicated service with Canadian National Railways was recently noted by co-workers in various departments.

On their behalf, Express Manager Guy Hachey presented a silver tea service, suitably engraved, along with a camera. In his accompanying remarks, Mr. Hachey made fitting reference to the high regard in which Miss Carey was held by both management and staff.

She will be keenly missed by them as well as by the public she so courteously and capably served, Mr. Hachey emphasized.

Joseph Corbin, chairman of Local 310, presented Miss Carey with a 35-year pin, an honorary life membership and a cheque, all from the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Transport Workers. Letters of appreciation were also received from CN President R. A. Bandeen, Montreal; and L. A. Wood, regional manager, Moncton.

Miss Carey, who built a splendid record of having only nine days' absence from work due to illness during her entire career, comes from a railway family. Two brothers, Hazen and Sinclair, are also pensioners.

Miss Carey first joined CN on June 23, 1941 and was promoted to clerk and then to clerk-stenographer in 1943. In July, 1958, she became cashier, holding that post until her appointment as administration clerk in December, 1972, in which capacity she served until the present.

A quiet by pleasant type of person, Miss Carey's main interests were in her church - St. George's - and in her home. She has the best wishes of scores of friends and admirers for many happy and healthful leisure years.

Rambling

While there is a deviation of views on this turn of events, most of the sympathy naturally lies with the commissioners. They are a voluntary group who receive no remuneration. They spend time and concentration which might be used for more enjoyable or rewarding pursuits.

Only to have their efforts thwarted, their recommendations ignored or reversed. How silly can you get?

And City Planning is in the same category.

It was in July, 1927 during the celebration of Canada's Diamond Jubilee as a dominion that Dr. Veniot said: "The question has often been asked has Confederation been a success? I do not hesitate to answer in the affirmative."

On the same occasion Dr. Veniot expressed the same philosophy that later became one of John F. Kennedy's famous classic quotations: "To be a true patriot one must assume full responsibility and put forth every endeavor, not in an effort to see what we can get out of our country so much as to see what we can do to make it better."

In addition to his many other pursuits, Dr. Veniot earlier in life had a stint with journalism and the graphic arts. This was when the century was young and the French weekly newspaper Le Courier des Provinces Maritimes was published in Bathurst by his father. A grim reminder of this association to which he often humorously alluded was the loss of a thumb while operating a printing press.

Born in Moncton, Dr. Veniot moved to Bathurst with his parents the following year. After completing his early education in the local schools, he enrolled at the former Sacred Heart College in Caraquet and was the first full-fledged bachelor of arts graduate from that institution.

Studies at Laval University in Montreal led to his degree in medicine and he was the first Acadian to head the student body there. In 1917, Dr. Veniot became secretary of the N. B. Medical Assn. and he later served as president. He was also on the executive of the Canadian Medical Assn.

Dr. Veniot's fraternal affiliations included Bathurst Rotary Club, of which he was charter president and an honorary member and an early promoter of Bathurst Golf Assn. Ltd. He was a "Freeman of the City", active in the Christmas Seal campaign, and co-founder of the present Veniot's Pharmacy. He was a hobbyist cabinetmaker, horticulturist and historian and a keen follower of sports on both the local and national levels. His children and grandchildren were among his main concerns.

In 1967, Dr. Veniot was the recipient of a Centennial Medal and citation and last year received an Apostolic Blessing from Pope Paul VI.

Dr. Veniot is survived by his wife of 66 years, the former Mary Leger, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John P. Leger; three daughters, Mrs. Ian Findlater (Alberta), and Mrs. John Ferris (Irene), Bathurst; and Mrs. Tessier LeBlanc (Corinne) Moncton; two brothers, Dr. J. Leonard Veniot a retired dentist, and Francis P. Veniot, a druggist, both of Bathurst. There are 13 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

An only son, Dr. Maurice Veniot, also a practising physician and surgeon here, died in 1959.

ease, infestation of wild apple trees, shade trees, and information on tree planting, etc.

- Collection of information on the cost of tree cutting and removal.

- A talk on resource materials by guest speakers Leandre Roy and Keith McKell.

- Development of a plan for the city of a service club to purchase a quantity of ornamental trees which homeowners might buy at a nominal fee and plant themselves in May.

- Preparation of a budget to present to City Council.

Recommendations for 1977 included: a proposed Bathurst Tree Day in May and the formation of a comprehensive plan for the city which would involve a survey of existing trees.

It was thought the survey could be carried out by summer students on a Young Canada Works Project.

Chief To Study Traffic Problem

A request from the Bathurst High and J. Gordon Chalmers Home and School Association that a traffic light be installed at the intersection of King Avenue and Munro Street was turned down by City Council Monday night pending receipt of a report of the problem from Police Chief David Camp.

The home and school association pointed out that traffic is very heavy on King Avenue, especially in the morning and at noon, and vehicles moving up the street tend to travel at an excessive speed.

Children attending Chalmers School, the letter stated, are only six and seven years of age, and their lives are endangered by the situation at the corner.

Some councillors felt the lights should be installed immediately, but others pointed out the police department should be consulted.

"The chief should be consulted on this", said Coun. Terry Lenihan. "Do six and seven-year-olds really understand traffic lights enough in the first place? Sometimes more accidents occur with lights than with a commissionaire."

Coun. Bob Hodgins agreed, saying other intersections in the city were "in the same boat. The matter should be looked into."

On a motion from Deputy Mayor Pat McLaughlin that lights be installed, councillors voted 7-2 against. Opposing the motion, which was seconded by Coun. James MacLaggan, were Coun. Henry Murphy, Val Saulnier, Bob Hodgins, Joe MacNeil, Jean Paul Lavoie, Doug Williamson and Terry Lenihan.

A subsequent suggestion that would have Chief Camp prepare a report and present it to the next meeting was approved.

Lasers Win 4-2

Bathurst High School Lasers skated to a 4-2 win over James M. Hill Tommies of Chatham here last night to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-three Northeastern zone New Brunswick Interscholastic Hockey League finals. Second game of the series is set for Chatham tomorrow night.

Gary Doucet fired a pair of goals for the Lasers with Rick Coulombe and Glen Melvin adding the others. Rod Clark and Peter Hart scored for the Tommies.

After a scoreless opening period the Lasers went ahead with the only goal of the second period and then outscored the Tommies 3-2 in the final twenty minutes. Lasers held a 35-33 edge in shots on goal.

The safety bingo program underway at Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. continues to recognize the safe work being carried out by mill employees. Three recent winners are Vincent Noel (right, top photo), mill services, receiving his second-level prize, a machinist's vice, from Herb Dodge, assistant mill manager. In the centre photo, Reg Doucet of the steam plant is awarded his second-level prize of a portable radio, from Art Bond (left), steam plant superintendent. Messrs. Doucet and Noel are both from Group A. Canadian Equality Is Questioned By Speaker

An ardent supporter of Toastmasters International was in the city last week to address the Bathurst Toastmaster Club.

Alfred Arseneau, a retired CN employee from Campbellton now living in Moncton, spoke on liberty and justice in Canada.

Mr. Arseneau, an RCAF veteran, is also available to service clubs, etc. as guest speaker on a professional basis. While in the city, he was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Armany Comeau, Murray Avenue.

Following is the text of Mr. Arseneau's presentation:

It is difficult for us Canadians to feel freedom and justice in the light of what transpires today.

We were reminded when Confederation came into existence there would be "liberty and justice for all." In fact it guaranteed the cornerstone of our existence, the pledge of the Fathers of Confederation and the hope of a new and bright society.

We have exalted freedom, sung about it, incorporated it in our laws. But as far as I can see the effort is small and the results not too impressive.

We see this land embracing the stranger, offering freedom and opportunity to thousands. We see our nation grow, expand, grow strong. We guarantee that men must be free before the law. We educate our youth, send them to embrassors to other peoples.

The effort is commendable, but has it been good enough?

The nation is a hundred years old and our Indians are not yet free. That is the freedom we possess. It is only a little more than sixty years since women were given the right to vote. Even today some of the professions are barred to them. Our record of economic growth has been stupendous, but left in barren reservations are sufferings and poverty. We've abandoned the Canadian Indian. We've built cities that rival the cities of Europe, but we have slums and ghettos that debumanize their inhabitants. We've business empires and trade unions, but now they've become tyrants as once the capitalist were.

The labourer has no more freedom now than he had in the years before the unions.

There is suffering in Canada, there is suffering in our prison institutions. There is suffering in the name of health. In some nursing homes and in our mental hospitals. There is discrimination in the name of welfare in the cities and towns. There is suffering in the name of shelter in our housing projects. There is suffering in our street in the name of law.

This litany could be lengthened, and what does it say? It says that the 20th century Canada faces an array of poverty, abuse and crooked management. Business where justice is a mockery and liberty a licence. The hunger of men is Canada is real.

And here is where Christianity has failed. So many religions and so few religious. Either they fail to influence or is it that men have failed the church? Today morality of right and wrong is discarded. Where one voice of religion swayed the conduct of men, today each one seems to be a theologian of his own.

Where to begin? Who will settle the just claims of the Jew and Arab? Christian and Moslem in the Middle East? Who will end the civil strife in Northern Ireland? Who will bring justice between Blacks and Whites in Southern Africa? How free are our Indians to lead a normal life, to nourish normal human expectations, to raise families, to live equally with White conquerors?

We class the Indians as drunkards and thieves when we are the ones who made thieves out of them and introduced the liquor. The guilt lies with us, not the Red man. The demands of freedom and justice appear to be distant ones until we're men enough to admit our guilt and turn our thoughts to the teaching of Christ who taught freedom and justice in its perspective.

When half the world goes to bed hungry each night, it seems empty to speak of justice. When we worry about diets many others worry about basic nutrition. Human equality is without meaning. Millions live in squatters' villages and millions till and plant lands not their own. Workers labor under inhuman conditions ranging from mercury poisoning to the dust that produces black lung.

Small wonder then that we are asked to pause in prayer. To think freedom and justice to attend to the exploitation of our fellow man, to be silent to these situations will, in the end, bring down on us perhaps war and starvation.

We cannot sit back, mouth pious platitudes and do nothing. The time is urgent; we have the means, thank God for that. What is needed now is action based on justice and the commands of god. Allowed to pass by, the crimes against freedom and starvation may require generations to be righted. The wounds of the world heal slowly and the time may come when the peoples of the Third World will rise up and engulf us.

There is limit to human suffering and as they learn and advance and see our affluence and their poverty, there will be action.

Now is the time, and this can begin in earnest, when the inspirations of our plans and programs come not only from us but from he who holds the world in his hands. He is the fountain from which all power flows.

As it is today, the world is on the brink of a vast rupture. The most awful rupture in the family of man is war - the deliberate use of violence by one nation against another to solve problems existing between peoples. It is a reflection of the sad fact of man's departure from the values of Christ. We are surrounded by violence and unless we reach out a hand to the underprivileged that same hand will some day destroy us.

Social Workers Active On Many Fronts

Two regular meetings of Chapter V of the New Brunswick Association of Social Workers (Gloucester and Northumberland) were held recently.

During the first session, held in January, two invited guests gave conferences on their functions as school social worker and as school psychologist: they were Ginette Theriault and Jacqueline St-Pierre, respectively, both employed by School District 4.

The speakers stated that the goal in education is now definitely the complete development of the child, i.e. besides the emphasis on academic development, the school endeavours to develop the psychological, social and physical potential of the child.

It is evident that only the first steps are now undertaken in this perspective, but it is a beginning. A lot of school districts do not have any of these specialists and those who have, only have a few.

During the second meeting, held in early March, the main topic was the decision by chapter members to host the provincial annual meeting of Social Workers in Bathurst in late May or early June.

Approximately 75 social workers from all over the province will be coming to the North Shore on that 3-day occasion. Varied activities will be planned by Irma Cormier and Bernard Paulin, both of Bathurst, with other social workers in the Peninsula and on the Miramichi expected to have some input.

Some members of the Chapter are presently involved in the preparation of a document which will cover the urgent needs for certain social services in the region, especially the services to children in special circumstances (emotionally disturbed, delinquents, etc.). This document will be presented to concerned authorities in the spring.

The Chapter intends also to pursue steps already undertaken in order to understand better the situation which now prevails at the Provincial Hospital at Campbellton. It is well known that this psychiatric institution has been severely criticized in the past year for not offering adequate services to the population of the northern part of the province.

To this effect, the Chapter will try to organize a meeting with one of more members of the Board or administration of that institution.

Ginette LeGresley, who heads the committee of professional development, and who organized the meeting referred to above (of the school social worker and school psychologist) is presently organizing another conference to be held at the end of March, with guests who will explain another service offered in our region.

Bernard Paulin, who is responsible for a committee on continuing education announced that a conference, sponsored by many organizations of the area will be held at the Bathurst Trade School on March 22 at 1 p.m. The conference will be given by Dr. Nasser Baccouche, professor at the Universite de Moncton, Department of Social Work. The topic of his conference will be announced later.

Two members of the Chapter, Gerard Doucet, Chapter president and Aldeo Losier will be attending a meeting of the Provincial Board of Social Workers to be held at Moncton on March 21. The main topic, or at least one of the most important ones to be discussed at that meeting will be the recent meeting of the Provincial Board with the Minister of Social Services, Hon. Leslie Hull and the deputy minister of the Dept. Raymond Campbell.

This meeting with the authorities of the Social Services Dept. was to establish dialogue between the local group and the Dept. and thereby contribute to the formulation of social policies responding to the needs of the people.

DOWNTOWN MERCHANTS RE-ELECT PRESIDENT

Tenants Get Protection

Tenants whose landlords take action against them because they notified rent review officers of rent increases are to be protected under an act introduced in the legislature last week.

The bill, an act to amend the residential rent review act, will prohibit a landlord or his agent from coercing, harassing, threatening or intimidating a tenant for reporting rent increases or providing any other information to a rent review officer.

The bill will also allow rent increases to be implemented in stages and allow a rent review officer to set a uniform price for similar apartments in one building.

The bill was introduced by Justice Minister Paul Creaghan along with five others.

The extra-provincial custody orders enforcement act is the first piece of new legislation introduced this session.

It will provide for a child custody order made outside New Brunswick to be enforced in this province, unless a court here decides the child for whom the order was made doesn't have "substantial" connections in the province, Mr. Creaghan said.

The other four bills will provide minor amendments to the Private Investigators and Security Guards; the Reciprocal Enforcement of Maintenance Orders, the Parole and the Salvage Dealers Licensing Acts.

House Honours Bathurst Judge

The New Brunswick Legislature paid tribute last week to two former Supreme Court judges who died since the House last met.

The leaders of both sides joined in extending sympathy March 2 to the families of Clovis T. Richard, a former Gloucester MLA and MP and Supreme Court judge, and G.F.C. Bridges, retired chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Judge Richard was first elected to the provincial legislature in 1908 and was re-elected in 1910 and 1916. In 1945 he was elected to the House of commons and in 1952 he was named to the Supreme Court, retiring in 1957.

"Some" Money To Be Recovered

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau was asked March 2 to explain why the government bought the Brunswick Mills sawmill, only to close it and put people out of work.

The government had no intention of closing the operation when it was purchased, the minister said. Plans were to "save or lose revenues" the mill and there is a company interested in buying it.

Mr. Boudreau was asked about the mill during the question period by Frank Branch (L-Nepisiguit-Chaleur).

Mr. Branch said his constituents are eagerly awaiting news on the intentions of the government.

The minister said he didn't think question period was the "proper time" to discuss "such a large project."

Mr. Branch also wanted to know if the government expected to recover the full price it paid for the mill.

The minister said he couldn't give "that type of assurance" but it does expect to recover some of the money.

Four New Brunswick firms and two Quebec companies have expressed interest in buying the operation, he concluded.

More Protection For Salmon Stocks Urged

The "moral and economic obligation" of the New Brunswick government to aid the federal Fisheries Department in the protection and propagation of the Atlantic salmon was the topic of a brief presented to visiting Cabinet ministers in Bathurst Feb. 28.

Presented by the Nepisiguit Salmon Association, a group formed in November of 1976 to promote sports fishing on the Nepisiguit River, the submission pointed out that the province should become more involved in protection services in view of the economic value of the salmon.

"The bulk of the direct revenue derived from the sale of licenses, leases, Crown reserve waters, etc., is in regard to these Atlantic salmon and as such should be re-invested in same. An article by Wilf Taylor in the Moncton times in 1970 quoted this direct revenue for 1969 to be in the order of $800,000. By 1977 this figure will have increased by more than 50 per cent. This revenue should be adequate to provide a reasonable number of rangers solely for the protection of the Atlantic salmon in the province's rivers, working in co-operation with the federal forces."

The brief went on to say that a section of a report entitled "Fish and Wildlife Management in the Bathurst Pilot Project" presented in 1974 by John C. Baird, provincial biologist, called for a total of 17 conservation officers for this area alone (for adequate fish and game protection).

"Yet present forces are far less. Coupled with the minimal federal representation, the Atlantic salmon receives little protection in this area (In 1976 there were two federal wardens, with one supervisor - this to cover nearly half the Bay of Chaleur and all rivers flowing into same)."

"To protect this valuable resource", the brief stated, "it is up to the Province to become more involved in the management of this resources, specifically in terms of protection, biological research, rehabilitation and enhancement of salmon rivers in the province.

"This is especially true of the Nepisiguit River, which is recognized as having the greatest potential of any river in the maritimes, and is now in the midst of a comeback from practical obscurity. In 1970-71, only a handful of fish were seen in the river. By 1976, partially as a result of a federal stocking program, several thousand fish were observed to have ascended the river. Total angler catch was in the order of 600.

"The potential value of sports angling for Atlantic salmon on this river, should the fishway - as proposed by the Fisheries Branch of Environment Canada - be constructed at the Nepisiguit Falls, is in the order of $300,000 annually to the area. Now is when it needs attention, while stocks are rebuilding, and before poaching becomes completely unmanageable."

Executive members of the association are R. W. Baker, president; J. R. Chiasson, vice-president; R. N. Smith, director and A. Fekeshazy, Director.

It's No Joke

The paragraphs which follow after this introductory one are not our own, but the sentiments are. Also since they are so true and so timely, we have taken the liberty of reproducing them here. Only change made is the substitution of the word "Bathurst" for "Fredericton".

Author of the piece, which originally appeared as an editorial feature article in The Fredericton Gleaner, is John Porteus, whose name is fast becoming a household word in New Brunswick journalism. Mr. Porteous freelances for all three facets of the mass media, newspapers, radio and television:

Municipal elections are coming up in New Brunswick's cities and, if history repeats itself, the events will be viewed with only passing concern by the average citizen.

Somehow the glamor that exists in provincial and federal politics has never quite come down to the town and city level, except in places like Toronto, where an exaggerated importance is placed on the mayor and metro chairman's positions.

Mayors and councillors of cities, particularly in the Maritimes, have come to be regarded as a joke by many. Too often these are men who harbor an inflated idea of their local importance, and their presence on municipal councils is taken by the citizenery as a good-humoured eccentricity.

"Good old Harry," they say when the mayor pulls a faux pas, as if the suggest that if Harry amounted to much, he'd hardly bother being mayor.

But this tolerance and encouragement of buffoonery at city hall must stop if citizens are to hope for sanity in their most basic form of government.

Far from being the least important layer of our overgoverned society, municipal politics may well be the keystone of what could be right, but what so often at present is woefully wrong. It's dangerous to forget that the more successful municipal political veterans often turn up as candidates, for provincial on federal office.

Often they're the least worthy candidates, but just as often they're elected because their faces and names manage to ring bells with indifferent voters.

Then too, the degree of power and the amounts of money being entrusted to municipal politicians is growing alarmingly.

In Maritime cities today, men who 20 years ago were handling thousands of dollars are now responsible for hundreds of times that amount. Yet their qualification to deal with major issues is no better than those who held office in the fifties.

Councillors run for office for the most trivial of personal reasons - the hope of influencing a zoning decision affecting property they own, the chance to best a rival whose business is at the whim of council, the opportunity to see and be seen by people the candidate admires.

Bathurst has suffered all these and more in recent years. And while the present council cannot be condemned in its entirety, there are members whose presence on a rural school board would be a travesty.

The same ineptitude can be seen in every New Brunswick city and town council, and press reports from such council meetings would provide excellent comedy material if only the implications weren't so deadly serious.

What all of us must remember is that big cities are rotting through nothing more than improper planning and amateur leadership.

The same can happen to small centres, and in New Brunswick the threat is magnified by the region's shortage of funds.

For Bathurst, inadequate leadership over the next five years could spell disaster in terms of growth planning, fiscal responsibility and the ability to deal effectively with a provincial administration woefully short of cash and determined to pass the responsibility on to the cities and towns.

But to obtain good municipal government, good men must stand and offer. The rewards in municipal politics for good men are few and the responsibilities heavy.

Even a competent mayor or councillor must be prepared to meet head-on with hostility and indifference while in office, while needing the patience of Job to cope with often-petty details.

Yet there must be men among us whose personal financial positions would allow them to consider the job as service to the community.

Men whose integrity has not been compromised in the past and whose optimism would stand a chance of not becoming tarnished by the experience. Whoever and wherever these men are, Bathurst needs them in the most desperate way.

This is a city that could easily be an ideal place in which to live and work, but the need for sane, sensible leadership is great.

There once was a time when running a city like Bathurst was a free and easy exercise that could be carried out by people with minimal ability and dedication.

There may even have been a time when municipal leaders with only partial awareness of what was going on around them were mildly amusing.

But it's a tougher world in the year 1977, and today there's nothing funny about bad government at any level.

Commons Comedy

Getting back to that business of televising House of Commons proceedings, we were wondering what viewers would have thought the other day when Justice Minister Ron Basford rose to speak on a particular bill. He was performing the chore for Transport Minister Otto Lang, away from Ottawa at the time.

It's worth remembering that when TV comes into the Commons, the camera will focus on the member who is recognized by the Speaker. So here we have Mr. Basford's face on television throughout the following exchanges, as officially recorded by Hansard:

The Acting Speaker:
"The minister of Justice."
An Honorable Member:
"Where is Lang?"
An Honorable Member:
"Lang has gone to the Senate."
An Honorable Member:
"Is Otto traveling by train?"

Finally, Mr. Basford gets an opening: "Mr. Speaker, on rising on behalf of my colleague, the minister of transport, to propose second reading of this bill, it is with great pleasure that I inform Honorable Members opposite that the minister of transport is in Vancouver attending a conference on economic transportation."

An Honorable Member:
"How did he get there?"
Some Honorable Members: "Oh, oh."
An Honorable Member:
"Did he get there by train?"
The Acting Speaker:
"Order, Please."

Again, Mr. Basford gets another lick in. "...which led last night to an important statement being made by the minister."

Some Honorable Members:
"Oh, oh."
An Honorable Member:
"Outside the House."

Once more, Mr. Basford grabs an opening. "The minister met in Victoria with his provincial counterpart, Mr. Davis and Premier Bennet on questions of West Coast transportation which I am optimistic will lead to a resolution of the problems that I and my colleague, the Honorable Member for Skeena (Iona Campagnolo) and others have been so actively involved with in the last few weeks."

Some Honorable Members:
"Oh, oh."
An Honorable Member:
"Why is she blushing?"
An Honorable Member:
"She is too busy playing football."
Mrs. Campagnolo:
"I do not blush."

Here, Mr. Basford saw another opening and moved in. "When the major elements of the government's transportation policy were announced in this House by the former minister of transport in June 1975, we stated that the federal government should play a positive and selective role to ensure that the over-all system develops in an effective way to meet national and regional needs...."

An Honorable Member: "Tell us about the election promise in Cornwall."

An Honorable Member: "Tell us about Stewart, B.C."

Mr. Basford: "We are going to come to Stewart in a moment."

An Honorable Member: "We will leave you there, too."

An Honorable Member: "What about the longshoremen in Prince Rupert?"

Mr. Basford: "I have a very long speech."

Some Honorable Member: "Oh, oh."

An Honorable Member: "It had better be a good one."

It was time for a little reprimand from the minister.

"I fear for the opposition. If we are going to have all these interruptions, the long speech may become needlessly long."

Some Honorable Members:
"Oh, oh."

Flora MacDonald (PC-Kingston and The Islands): "It is needless anyway."

We could go on, but we have already decided that when TV comes to Parliament and we have days like this we are going to watch Lawrence Welk.

Your editorial concerning postal service suggests that mention of current renovations and the resultant inconvenience is not worthy of mention at this time. Why?

The time to have spoken out was the moment you learned you would lose your lock-box service.

On March 2nd, upon receiving my notice, I contacted the local Postmaster for more details, then wrote to the Postmaster General. (The local postmaster tells me he receives approximately 200 telephone complaints per day).

The apathy of the losers in Bathurst is not carrying their complaints to fruitation is deplorable. You are so afraid to be involved, to step on someone's toes.

Bathurst's two newspapers are especially chicken-hearted from fear of losing advertisers, yet newspapers SHOULD provide a public service as well as advertising service. Bathurst's newspapers provide little or none of the former.

If I have not been misinformed, Bathurstonians should expect the following "little inconvenience" as a result of ill-planned renovations to the Post Office building:

(1) Several hundred box rentors will lose a valuable and time-saving service for at least one year.

(2) Several hundred box rentors will have to change or destroy thousands of dollars worth of stationery.

(3) Several hundred box rentors will lose further thousands of dollars through loss of advertising and because of lost or delayed orders and receipts.

(4) Several hundred box rentors will be lined up each morning and evening waiting for their mail in order to process their business of the day. One had to wait in long lineups just to buy stamps or mail a parcel before (lines not found in most other post offices across the country). What will it be like now?

(5) Hundreds of motor vehicles will be parked, God knows where, during peak traffic hours and under conditions better left to snow shoes.

Production will be slowed, tempers will flare, accidents will increase, new hazards will be created and yet you don't think it is time to mention the subject? Why not? Who pays? Who are the losers? So you will get a refund!!! So what?

Allowable increase as per AIB guidelines - approximately eight per cent. Postal workers wages increases - approximately 30 per cent or more. Postage rates increases - 50 per cent. Box rent increases - 100 per cent.

And.... NO BOX SERVICE!!!

Bilingual School Definition Given

Bathurst, N.B.
February 28, 1977

(Editor's note: The following letter was addressed to Mrs. Florine Rutledge, president of the Parkwood Heights Homeowners Association, on the subject of the priority of a bilingual school in Parkwood.)

Your letter of December 8, 1976 was read at the regular meeting of the Board held on December 16, 1976.

The construction priority for an elementary school in Zone 3 has not yet been established at this time. The elementary and Junior High School Reorganization Committee is undertaking a thorough study of the organization of classes at the elementary and junior high school levels, and the type of schooling facilities which should be provided to the Zone 3 students will figure in this overall examination.

As to your question regarding the definition of a bilingual school in School District No. 4, it would be accurate to say that a bilingual school is referred to as a school in which both the English and the French programs are being offered. Children whose mother tongue is English are enrolled in the English program while those whose mother tongue is French are enrolled in the French program. In both programs, children are offered second language at the beginning of year three.

In other words, bilingual schools offer to each ethnic group a program identical to that found in unilingual schools, the only difference being that both English and French students are housed under the same roof and share common facilities.

Communication is carried on in both languages. It is, therefore, expected that the administration will communicate in the mother tongue of the teachers, the parents and the students. Such conditions require that the people at the head of the school, principals, vice-principals, secretarial staff and others be fluently bilingual.

Notre-Dame school has admitted a limited number of English students. Up to now, any student who had an acceptable knowledge of French even though not of French origin, has been allowed to attend school at l'Ecole Notre-Dame.

It would be well to remember, however, that where the French program is being offered, such as at l'Ecole Notre-Dame, children must have a considerable mastery of the French language before entering school. In other words, parents have to realize that such school as Ecole Notre-Dame offers a French program for French pupils. In no way should it be misconstrued with a school offering a total or partial French immersion program where it is intended that a child will be of an English background.

The same holds true for French speaking parents who wish to have their child registered in an unilingual English program. These parents have to expect that their child will be taught in the English language and that he should have a good mastery of English in order for him to cope with this new situation.

We thank you for the resume of the student population survey provided to us at the beginning of the meeting of the Board.

Citizen Shocked By 1977 Tax Bill

Bathurst, N.B.
March 7, 1977

My property tax bill arrived in the mail last week. It has left me shocked and dismayed.

It would appear that the government does not try to help senior citizens living on fixed incomes. It would seem as though the government would rather that senior citizens should live on dole: ie, social welfare, handouts, etc.

With a grim jump of $14,920. in assessment on my house which I rent, making a hike from $545.57 to $872.27 in taxes I now am required to pay over $72.00 each month in taxes alone! This does not include other expenses such as oil for heating, water tax and insurance as well as general upkeep and repairs, unexpected or otherwise.

I should like to know just where "Equal Opportunity" fits for a citizen in Bathurst.

There are many people who rent, but I say if they own a car, they are property owners as well; and many tenants are one-car and two-car owners.

I feel a serious mistake was made when taxes were removed on mobile vehicles and it is for cars and trucks that the government must maintain highway upkeep.

One point in particular irks me: The assessors did not enter my house to hike the assessment, therefore there was no legitimate assessment made.

I say the assessors should enter the building and assess it in a proper manner. It is what they are paid to do.

There was not much sense in the government promise not to raise the tax rate when the property assessment has been raised out of all proportion.

In fact, it was noted by Finance Minister J.M. Simard four years ago that "property owners would have their provincial tax bills reduced by up to $75.00 by the tax credit plan"; also it was not stipulated whether this promise concerned rented homes or private homes.

According to Anti-Inflation Board rules, by raising my taxes the allowable 8 per cent, I would have paid $43.64 extra on my tax bill. I could not, nor would not argue with that! But a jump in taxes of $326.74 means a hike of 76 per cent. So, who is breaking the AIB laws?

I would appreciate it if the provincial government would investigate these matters.

I am not able to work, and have to live on a fixed income.

Mrs. Daisy Carson.

Expresses Views On Animal Kingdom

R.R. 2, Bathurst,
March 7, 1977

I wish to add my comments to the letters regarding Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

We heartily commend the Animal Shelter for their good work in all areas, also the animals left in their care anytime are very well taken care of. It is the cleanest place we have seen in all our travels. So I'm sure nobody has any complaints with the Animal Shelter and workers.

However, there is concern among others we know in outlying areas who have at times phoned the Animal Shelter or RCMP to check on stray dogs or cats who are continually in yards and garbage, etc.

Many dogs have no licenses and some are large animals who frighten young children. Some of these are in town also.

The reply to our complaints is: "Sorry, we can't do anything about that."

Nor can anything be done about the many half-starved horses in some of the filthy barns in the country. Any complaints from people go ignored. Where is the SPCA? Nobody known anything about that in Bathurst.

Tourism Discussed At Ministerial Level

The problems and opportunities for Tourism in Atlantic Canada was the subject of discussion at a meeting of the region's Tourism ministers held in Campbellton March 4.

The ministers expressed concern over recently passed U.S. legislation that puts severe tax restrictions on that country's convention traffic to Canada and agreed to continue the region's participation in Quebec Winter Carnival and to extend Atlantic Canada's advertising campaign for the 1977 tourist season across Canada and the northeastern and mid-Atlantic states of the U.S.

In addition, the Atlantic Provinces in cooperation with the major oil companies will institute a program to upgrade service stations' public restroom facilities. They will also be exploring the tourism potential with tour wholesalers in Japan and West Germany.

New Brunswick Tourism minister Fernand Dube, who acted as host and chairman for the conference, described it as "an ongoing meeting by which the Atlantic Canada tourism ministers can confront the area's potential, its problems and solutions on a collective and cooperative basis."

" Under Bill 602, in the United States, foreign travel deductions from income tax for U.S. citizens are limited to an amount equal to regular coach or economy coach fare. U.S. delegates to conventions outside that country, including Canada, will no longer be allowed to deduct the travel allowance unless they devote at least 50 per cent of their time to business related activities while outside the country.

This has a potential major impact on Atlantic Canada's tourist convention business, said Dube.

This year's joint tourism marketing campaign being conducted by the Atlantic provinces will include a regional bilingual color brochure promoting Atlantic Canada.

The four provinces are also expected to continue their participation in trade shows and seminars for the travel trade in both Canada and the U.S. and have plans to send representatives to some 25 such shows this month.

A continuing part of the regional tourism collaboration will be the development of a regional statistic base by which the four provinces can better measure the programs and developments in the region in term of tourist volume and expenditures.

Attending Friday's meeting, in addition to Dube, were Dr. Maurice DeLory of Nova Scotia, Thomas Hickey from Newfoundland and Mrs. Anne Angelini, Prince Edward Island deputy minister who represented Tourism minister Gilbert Clements.

Also present was Gilles Chamberland, executive secretary of Northeast Tourist Association, Bathurst.

The ministers have scheduled their next meeting for June in Prince Edward Island.

Book Covers History Of Active Political Period

By FRASER MacDOUGALL

Better than 50 years ago, a teacher in a southwestern Ontario village school called the special attention of her class to a typically brilliant descriptive sentence in Robert Louis Stevenson's Kidnapped.

It read: "I remember very well the vinegar aspect of the lawyer."

That distant educational episode sprang to mind as I read The Forked Road by Donald Creighton (McClelland and Steward Ltd.; 239 pages, $14.95), a history of Canada from 1939 to 1957.

Not that Dr. Creighton's descriptive writing matches that of the great Scottish storyteller. But the vinegar aspect is there, in full measure, as the Canadian historian discusses the Liberal party and its leading figures during the 18-year period.

His robust criticisms of Mackenzie King and other Liberals, and of the party too, don't affect the book's readability. They help to enhance an account that is gripping and provocative whether you agree with the writer's political bias or not.

Others than political partisans may find things to quibble about, since many people likely to read the book lived through the 18 years. Their perceptions of events and of society itself may very well differ from those advanced in the book. They can have fun disagreeing, I did.

MOMENTOUS ERA

Obviously Dr. Creighton faced an enormous challenge in writing the book, scheduled as the 18th volume in the Canadian Centenary Series, since it deals with one of the most active and momentous periods in Canadian history.

It begins with Canada's entry into the Second World War, takes a look back into the 1930s, and then describes the prosecution of the war, wartime crisis after wartime crisis, the beginnings of the welfare state and its subsequent growth, the Cold War, discovery of the Leduc oil field in Alberta, Newfoundland's entry into Confederation as the tenth province, the Korean War, Canada's growing concern about and involvement in foreign affairs, and the great political battles in Parliament that led to the overthrow of the Liberals in 1957 after almost 22 unbroken years of power.

Dr. Creighton applies his undoubted skills as a historian, fruit of 50 years in the field, to weaving a coherent and organized account of the events, the conflicts, and the personalities of those tumultuous years.

INTO THE FUTURE

He keeps a steady eye on the them reflected in the title, The Forked Road, "by which I mean the forked road to the future."

"It seems to me that in the 18 years from 1939 to 1957, Canada made a number of crucial decisions about its direction. It chose one fork of the road to the future; and the Canada we inhabit today is, for both good and ill, very largely the result of that decisive choice."

To a considerable extent, he writes, the Canada of 1957 had been shaped by the federal government, and by the provincial governments to a lesser degree - not solely by economic and social forces.

After the Liberal government took office in 1935 it was relatively indecisive, Dr. Creighton's theory runs. But 1939 and the declaration of war led to a drastic change.

Succeeding fundamental decisions profoundly affected the country's growth. Canada, the book concludes, chose a new road into the future, a road leading directly into a new system of planning and management, of economic controls and social equalization.

Despite the planning approach, the government paid little attention to a growing problem - Canada's dependence of U.S. capital, taking the attitude that nothing could be done about it.

DO-NOTHING ROLE

Dr. Creighton frequently expresses his distaste for King and his government in pungent terms. Following are three examples:

-King "behaved like a puppet which could be animated only by the President fo the United States."

-In the early war years, government policy created a state of "suspended animation" in arms production, since the cabinet "did nothing but wait for British initiatives and British orders and to complain when they didn't come."

-When the Americans were building defence bases in the Canadian Arctic during the war," no member of King's cabinet thought it was worth while to visit the Canadian north and really find out what was going on there."

Malcolm Macdonald, the British high commissioner, did go north and it was from him that the war cabinet received a report on the "vast and disquieting extent of the American operations."

Dr. Creighton, born in 1902, is professor emeritus of history at the University of Toronto and advisory editor of the Canadian Centenary Series, designed as a comprehensive history of the people of Canada and its land.

Mr. MacDougall was for many years the head of the Ottawa bureau of Canadian Press.

Teachers Elect New Officers

A junior high school teacher from Saint John and a senior high school teacher from Perth-Andover have been elected to the offices of President and Vice-President, respectively, of the New Brunswick Teachers' Association.

Paschal Chisholm, a teacher of English at Barnhill Memorial School in Saint John, was elected for a two-year term to the full-time Presidency of the NBTA in a vote conducted during the last three weeks of February in each of the twenty-seven local branches of the Association.

Results were tabulated by the Nominating Committee on March 4 and announced by the Executive Director, A.H. Kingett. Mr. Chisholm, currently NBTA Vice-President will assume his new duties August 1, 1977.

In a three-way struggle for Vice-President, Dawson Murray, a senior high school history teacher, was the successful candidate. Mr Murray will serve a one-year term, and will be eligible for re-election to a second one-year term. He has been active on the Frederation Committee on Terms and Conditions of Employment for the past several years.

Approximately 89 percent of the membership of nearly 5300 teachers throughout the province cast their ballots.

TOP DRIVERS AT NEW BANDON SNOWMOBILE RACES

Langlais, Brophy Hat Tricks Spark Alpines 15 - 3 Romp

MIKE BROPHY

DENIS LANGLAIS

Bathurst Alpines put it all together before 1340 fans here last Thursday and crushed Chatham Ironmen 15 - 3 to capture the best-of-seven North Shore Hockey League semi-final 4 - 1. They now meet Campbellton Tigers in a best-of-seven series for the NSHL Championship.

Centre Mike Brophy and veteran defenceman Denis Langlais led the Alpine scoring parade each with three goals. Brophy added three assists and Langlais a pair.

Donnie Roy, Bob Chomick and Brian Chamberlain each netted a pair for the winners with the others coming from Jack Roy, George Willett and Ghislain Tardiff. The "Action Line" of Brophy and the Roy brothers piled up a total of 16 points as Jack Roy added four assists and brother Donnie, three. Even goalie Glen Seperich of the Alpines picked up a scoring point as he sent Donnie Roy away in the clear just 23 seconds into the third period Roy counted his first goal.

Greg Bowes tallied twice for the outgunned Ironmen with Danny Lessard netting their first goal in the opening period.

Langlais opened the scoring on a powerplay at 5:44 of the first period but Lessard tied it up at 8:22. Mike Brophy then added a pair and the Alpines carried a 3 - 1 lead into the second period.

Bathurst went ahead 4 - 1 on Langlais' second of the night at the 7:39 mark of the middle period. After Bowes scored his first at 12:38, Alpines pulled away with four in a row. Brian Chamberlain, Ghislain Tardiff, Bob Chomick and Chamberlain again, scored in that order and the Alpines led 8 -2 after two.

Don Roy gave an indication of what to expect in the final 20 minutes when he converted Seperich's pass after just 23 seconds. Bowes came back with his second at 2:36, but the Alpines replied with six more to complete the rout. Don Roy snapped in his second at 5:10 and Langlais completed his hat trick a minute later. Jackie Roy drilled a 20 - footer at 8:29 and Brophy netted his third less than a minute later. Bobby Chomick cashed his second of the contest at 11:27 and George Willett ended the barrage when he caged a 10-footer at 16:02.

In all, the Alpines bombarded Bobby Chamberlain in the Chatham net with 53 shots and the Chatham defence, which more or less held its own in the previous four games, was no match for the high-flying Bathurst attack.

Bathurst Figure Skating Club Extends Thanks

The executive and skaters of the Bathurst Figure Skating Club would like to thank the citizens of Bathurst for supporting their recent ice show.

Congratulations to Bruno Bertin on winning a gold medal at 'Skate Atlantica' in Saint Andrews. The competition took place at the Sir James Dunn Arena, March 4, 5 and 6th. Bruno and eight other skaters competed in the "Men's Juvenile B" event.

Skaters, don't forget the Club Competition on Wednesday and Thursday, March 16 and 17.

The CLub executive encourages all parents to attend the meeting on Thursday, March 10 at 8:30 p.m. in Room 33 at Bathurst High School. It is only with the cooperation and involvement of more parents that our Club can progress and grow.

Nine skaters from the Bathurst Figure Skating Club were soloists in the first Ice Review held in Beresford on Sunday, March 6. Congratulations to all those who organized the show for a job well done.

We have come to our last month of skating and now that the Ice Shows are over, it is back to work on the more serious side of figure skating. Final test days for the '76 - 77 season will be held on March 30 and 31. Good Luck to all!

thank you . . .
On behalf of myself and Cabinet colleagues who participated in the recent "Fredericton Wants To Know More" tour of Northumberland and Gloucester Counties, I wish to thank citizens of these counties for their attendance and participation at public and private meetings.

Bathurst Boxers Win Three Titles

Boxers from Eel River, Bathurst and the host Dalhousie Boxing Club captured the major share of the honors at the New Brunswick Golden Gloves Boxing championships held at the Dalhousie High School complex last Saturday.

Eel River fighters won four bouts while Dalhousie and Bathurst each picked up three titles, including two by default.

Maurice Boudreau, Andre Chamberlain and Robert Duclos of Bathurst captured titles in the Junior and Intermediate divisions. Boudreau won his Junior division title with a decision over Jimmy Tower of Sackville in the 106-pound class. Chamberlain picked up the 132-pound title in the Intermediate division by default, and Duclos captured the Intermediate Welterweight (147 lb) title also by default. Two other Bathurst boxers suffered defeats. Michel Roy dropped a decision to Mike Gallant of Eel River in the 82-pound Junior division while Albert Cormier lost his Intermediate 139-pound bout to Richard Poirier of Eel River when the referee stopped the fight in the third round, after Cormier appeared to have the title in his grasp.

Steve Gallagher of Saint John, fighting in the senior 139-pound division, was selected as the outstanding fighter of the day after posting an exciting three-round decision victory over Alan Diotte of Eel River.

Mark Adams of Sackville, a five-time provincial golden gloves champion, was a winner by default in the 118-lb junior classification.

George Theriault, the reigning Canadian intermediate middleweight champion, won his bout against Eddie Chamberlain of Saint John by a narrow decision.

Beresford Bees Lead Final 2-1

Charlie Vienneau and Roger LeBlanc each fired hat tricks Monday night at the Beresford arena to power the Bees to a 7 - 3 win over the visiting Campbellton North Stars in the third game of the North Shore Junior B Hockey League western division finals.

Jean Marc Fournier scored the other goal for Beresford who now lead the series 2 - 1. Paul Berthelot, Pierre Richard and Francois Boulay scored for the North Stars who overcame period deficits of 1 - 0 and 2 - 1 to take a 3 - 2 lead in the third before the Bees recovered with five in a row.

The North Stars had tied the series at 1 - 1 with a 5 - 4 double overtime win in Campbellton last Friday. Don LeBlanc's second of the night proved the winner at 11:08 of the second overtime period. Joe Depres, Gary O'Neil, Mario Doucet and Renald Hachey were the Beresford marksmen.

The Bees won the series opener 5 - 0 a week ago Monday in Beresford. Fourth game of the final is set for Campbellton Friday night.

After three full weeks of competition in the current men's sectional play bonspiel, Jim Schnarr's foursome leads Section A with a record of four wins and two losses. John Assaff's rink leads Secton B with a perfect record of 6 and 0. This bonspiel will wrap up this week.

The Men's Championship begins next Monday. This competition will have two trophies up for grabs - the McArdle Trophy for team entries and the Hilaire Brideau Trophy for individual entry teams. The entry deadline for this event is March 11.

The winner of the February 50-50 draw was Ken Knowles. Ken also sold himself the winning ticket and consequently picked up both prizes. Until next week, good curling . . .

Alpines Edged 5-4 In Overtime

Sterling Loga's goal at 5:50 of the first 10-minute overtime period gave Campbellton a 5 - 4 win over Bathurst Alpines last night in the opening game of the NSHL finals. Second game of the best-of-seven series is set for the Bathurst Arena tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m.

Noonan Maher, Brian Forester, Robert Allain and George Berube scored the other Tiger goals while Mike Brophy, Brian Chamberlain, Bob Chomick and Jack Roy replied for the Alpines.

Tigers led 2 - 0 midway through the first period before Bathurst came back on goals by Brophy and Chamberlain 61 seconds apart. Bob Chomick gave Alpines a 3 - 2 lead with the only score in the second period and goalie Glen Seperich who was sensational throughout the contest, held the Tigers off until Allain's goal at 3:30 of the third.

Jackie Roy's unassisted marker at 5:29 put Bathurst in front once again but George Berube scored at 9:44 and neither team was able to break the deadlock in the final 10 minutes.

Campbellton outshot the Alpines 46 - 33 and held an edge in the second, third and overtime periods.

IN MEMORIAM

SPENCE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away March 7, 1974.
Three sad and lonely years have passed,
Since our great sorrow fell
The shock that we received that day.
No one can ever tell
God gave us strength to meet it,
And courage to bear the blow.
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know
It's lonely here without you,
We miss you more each day,
For life is not the same to us,
Since you were called away
You bade no one a last farewell,
Nor even said goodbye
You were gone before we knew it
And only God knows why
But I like to think when life is done,
Where ever Heaven may be,
That you'll be standing at the door,
To welcome us
Sadly missed by wife, son and daughter-in-law, Mae and Melvin and family

Villa Suggested Locale Of New Nursing Facility

A request for the establishment of a nursing home facility in the east wing of the Villa Chaleur senior citizens' complex was presented to Health Minister Brenda Robertson Feb. 28 during a visit of Cabinet ministers to the city.

The plea came from the Board of Directors and administration of the apartment complex, who stated they had the support of both the governing board and administration of Chaleur General Hospital in their request.

The brief pointed to the acute shortage of nursing beds for Level III patients in the City of Bathurst and surrounding area, and stated the ground floor of Villa Chaleur would be ideal for 20 - 30 patients.

"This unit is separate from the senior citizens' accommodations, although within the same building. It already contains a nursing station comprising a reception area, office space and a large utility room which could be used as an examining room. Also, with the modern cafeteria located within the complex on the ground floor, we could easily extend this service to the proposed nursing care section to adequately serve the needs of the patients.

"In fact both the medical director and executive director of Chaleur General were very impressed with our facilities when they visited the complex last fall."

From an economic point of view, the brief continued, no capital investment is required because the existing facilities are located within the city limits. Considering the closeness to the regional hospital and the School of Nursing located adjacent to Villa Chaleur, it was felt the administration of the nursing care facility could be directed by Chaleur General Hospital.

The submission also stated the cost of maintaining patients in the nursing home would not amount to even half of the cost of long term patients in the local hospital.

The brief urged top priority be given to the proposal in view of the pressing need for a nursing facility in the area.

The brief was submitted by Rev. Roy A. Frances, chairman of Villa Chaleur Villa Inc.; Miss Helen Thibodeau, secretary of Villa Chaleur And C. J. Prenette, administrator.

Air Cadets To Take Part

Four members of Bathurst 640 Air Cadet Squadron have been chosen to represent the local corps at upcoming courses and programs at both national and international levels.

Flight Sergeant Gilles Levesque, a six-year member in 640 Squadron and a Grade 12 student at Nepisiguit High School, has been selected to attend the International Air Cadet Exchange Visits Program.

The purpose of the program is twofold. It stimulates interest among youth in international affairs and cultures, and rewards those air cadets who have rendered outstanding service to their squadrons over a period of years.

This program is sponsored by the Air Cadet League of Canada and by the Canadian Forces. It is also endorsed by the local sponsoring committee.

Sergeant Allison Doull has been named to take part in the Flying Scholarship program. He placed first in the squadron and fifth in New Brunswick. This program provides ground and air instruction and upon successful completion, the individual earns his private pilot's licence. Training is given at government-approved clubs or schools, and successful graduates are permitted to wear the Air Cadet Flying Badge on their uniforms.

Corporal Denis Boudreau rated sixth highest in New Brunswick and has been chosen to attend a six-week Glider Pilot Course in Greenwood, Nova Scotia along with LAC Mark Willet, who rated tenth highest in the province.

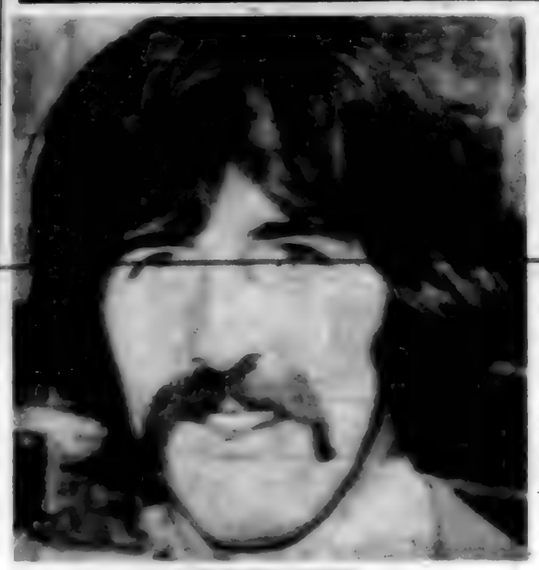
Community Concert Aims For Record-Breaking Goal



MURRAY LANGSTON

POPULARITY GROWING

Murray Langston, a Bathurst contribution to the entertainment field, will be Bruno Gerussi's guest on Celebrity Cooks, Channel 4, at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow, Thursday, March 10. Originally with Sonny and Cher, the comedian has been appearing more recently on the Bobby Vinton Show 7:30 pm sundays (Channel 12). In addition, Murray has just completed taping 10 performances with Wolfman Jack, which has an 11:35 p.m. Tuesday slot on Channel 4.

The board of director of the Bathurst Community Concert Association has announced that March 28 to April 2 has been set as Membership Campaign Week.

Present members will be urged during the month of March to renew their memberships and other music lovers of Bathurst and the surrounding area are invited to join the Association as new members for the 1977 - 1978 season.

Members who have attended concerts of the current season have expressed delight and high praise for the series featuring The World of Gilbert and Sullivan, six artists in a sparkling anthology of these masters' favorites, and Ransom Wilson, the brilliant young American bravura flutist.

Yet to come is Rico Saccani, a virtuoso pianists who has already had considerable recognition as a recitalist and guest soloist with symphony orchestras.

During the more that twenty-year history of the Bathurst Community Concert Association there have been many exciting performances given by great artists whose varied talents have brightened the local concert seasons.

Kumari Sundaram, membership director, has set a record-breaking goal of capacity membership. She has been promised the full support and enthusiastic dedication of a large number of workers who will give generously of their time and effort to make the campaign successful.

Headquarters for the upcoming campaign will again be located at Lounsbury Auto Division on King Avenue and will be open between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. from Monday, March 28 to Saturday, April 2.

A special phone has been ordered so that the campaign director can keep in daily contact with the volunteer workers.

Mrs. Sundaram and her energetic membership committee will be on hand throughout the week, along with Mrs. Gertrude Silver, international field representative for Community Concerts, to coordinate activities, supply information and receive renewals and memberships.

KUMARI SUNDARAM

Memberships in the Association are $5 for students, $10 for adults, and $25 for a family. These entitle members to attend all concerts in the series as well as any other concert being presented by local Community Concert groups in Chatham, Moncton and Fredericton. New members who join before the end of the current series may attend the remaining concerts in the current series.

The Bathurst Community Concert Association is a non-profit volunteer organization of dedicated citizens interested in bringing to the North Shore the best in musical entertainment and in enriching the cultural life of the area.

People of Bathurst and neighboring communities will surely be guaranteed the best music for the whole family by joining Community Concerts.

BUS BEMOANS PLIGHT OF THE TAXPAYER

The sentiments of the majority of taxpayers in Bathurst regarding the increases in property taxes are reflected in this notice.

Former businessman Claude Johnson was moved to this action following the receipt of his 1977 tax bill. The recent reassessment of lands and property has resulted in higher taxes for many city dwellers, some of which have doubled as in this case.

Pete Kelly Pro Temp Director

Peter C. Kelly has been named acting director of the Aitken University centre, University of New Brunswick President John M. Anderson said March 3.

Mr. Kelly replaces D. G. Sedgewick who will return to Africa on assignment with the Canadian International Development Agency. (CIDA).

Associated with UNB since 1947 as director of athletics for 28 years and most recently as director of administrative services for the faculty of physical education and recreation, Mr. Kelly will head Aitken Centre activities until a continuing appointment can be made.

Mr. Kelly was a pro at Gowan Brae Golf and Country Club, Bathurst for a number of seasons in former years.

Speaker Elaborates On Alcoholism In Industry

How much is industry in New Brunswick contributing toward the "Million Dollar Hangover in Industry?"

This was the question posed to members of the Bathurst Lions Club recently when J. Earl Shaw of Edmundston addressed the meeting.

Mr. Shaw went on to show those attending the cost per active alcoholic in a plant, based on five per cent of the number of employees who are practicing alcoholics.

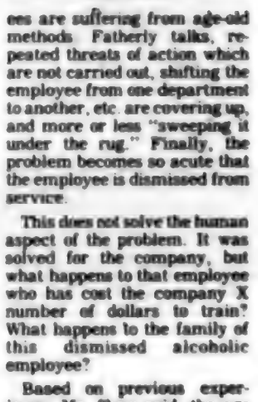
Taking an average salary of $15,000 per employee, Mr. Shaw showed in dollars and cents the basic cost per employee to the company by determining the sales required annually to maintain the alcoholics alone in its employ. This was before sales profits would even begin to cover other costs.

One instance cited by Mr. Shaw was based on a supposition that an industrial company employed 1,000 year-round employees in the plant. Approximately 50 would be on-the-job alcoholics, costing the company $3,750 per year per employee. Based on the premise that the industrial sales staff would have to sell $15 worth of the company to obtain $1 profit, he showed that it would be necessary to sell $2,812,500 worth of the product just to maintain the said alcoholics before any other cost could begin to be covered by sales.

Mr. Shaw stressed the importance of company management and supervisors, even on the lowest level, being made aware of the problem, the importance of supervisors watching job performance, and the use of coercion to assist the problem employee to seek help.

As stated by Mr. Shaw, the alcoholic is aware of the problem. However, it is so necessary that he have alcohol to get through the periods of life that he becomes expert at concealment. it is sometimes impossible to determine why a one-time good employee's work performance is deteriorating to the point where he becomes a burden to the department and the supervisor.

Mr. Shaw stated that most industrial companies that have not yet accepted alcoholism as a disease and which have not taken steps to incorporate an industrial rehabilitation program for problem employees are suffering from age-old methods. Fatherly talks, repeated threats of action which are not carried out, shifting the employee from one department to another, etc. are covering up, and more or less "sweeping it under the rug." Finally, the problem becomes so acute that the employee is dismissed from service.



J. E. SHAW

This does not solve the human aspect of the problem. It was solved for the company, but what happens to that employee who has cost the company X number of dollars to train? What happens to the family of this dismissed alcoholic employee?

Based on previous experience, Mr. Shaw said, the age group of the majority of alcoholics is between 35 and 55. Most have been with the company for 15 or more years, with a good performance record before it became noticeable in the plant through deterioration of performance, which should be detected by a good supervisor.

The speaker also stated that a good number of lost-time injuries and serious accidents are alcohol-related, and with a good rehabilitation program, these too can be minimized.

Mr. Shaw, who represents the Industrial Personnel Recovery Agency, said he is available at any time to discuss the subject free of charge with industry. This is designed to assist people caught up in this serious socio-health problem.

Alcoholics Anonymous, Al-Anon and Al-Ateen groups are also established in almost all communities to assist those afflicted, the only membership requirment being a serious desire to seek help with the problem.

Mr. Shaw has a background of experience in alcoholism and rehabilitation, having worked in this field for the past 27 years. He was also involved in The John Howard Society of New Brunswick for 25 years and assisted in its growth during those years.

The speaker was introduced by Lion Gary Dingee and thanked by Lion Camille Roy of the Bathurst Lions Club.

Atlantic Loto Gets A "New Look" March 23

Atlantic Canadians will soon have a "new look" Atlantic Loto featuring fewer series and more prizes, Atlantic Lottery General Manager Jean-Marc Lafaille announced last week.

Mr. Lafaille said that beginning with the March 23 draw there will be substantial changes in the series concept and major additions to the prize structure "to enhance the popularity of the A-I Lottery".

He said the number of series for each draw will be sharply reduced with the March 23 draw. This will be achieved by issuing tickets in series of 50,000 each, numbered from 10,000 to 99,999 rather than 10,000. Adopting this system will guarantee a better mixture of series in every booklet of five tickets.

At the same time, Mr. Lafaille provided details on a revamped prize structure. The $100,000 and $50,000 grand prizes remain the same but runners-up ticket holders with the correct five digits but in any other series, will receive $5,000 compared to a previous prize of $1,000.

"Having come so close to winning the grand prizes but yet so far, as they say, these ticket holders, we felt, should be more adequately compensated."

Based on a ticket distribution of 2,430,000 or 27 series, there will be 52 winners every two weeks of $5,000 each.

For the third through tenth grand prizes, he said the Atlantic Lottery Corporation will now award prizes of $25,000 each with $1,000 going to all runners-up. In addition, for all 10 grand prizes there will be thousands of consolation prizes of $25 and five free tickets. All prizes remain tax-free. In the United States, lottery winnings are taxable.

Based on the example of 2,430,000 tickets, Mr. Lafaille noted that there will be as many as 24,300 prizes with a value of $981,350.

"This represents a return in prizes of 40 per cent. However, should we sell less than this amount, naturally, then, we would be returning a greater percentage in prize money."

Mr. Lafaille said that because of the lottery's "dramatic growth" officials are constantly checking the A-I game "to ensure that it fulfills the desires of the people participating.

"The people in Atlantic Canada have asked for them (the changes) and I trust that we have adequately obliged".

Since it began last December, Atlantic Loto has had a success unparallelled by any other lottery in North America. It has gone from an initial 540,000 tickets to about 2.2 million tickets for each draw, more than one ticket for every one of Atlantic Canada's 2.1 million residents.

District Science Fair Set

The third annual District No. 4 Science Fair will be held at J. Gordon Chalmers and Bathurst High Schools on Wednesday and Thursday, March 9 and 10.

Schools expected to take part in the event include Superior, Chalmers, Sacred Heart, Belledune, South Bathurst and Mary Gosnell. The junior high exhibits will be on display at J. Gordon Chalmers gym while the senior high fair will be held at BHS gymnasium.

Judging for the event will take place Wednesday evening, and the fair will be open to the public on March 10 from 7 - 9 p.m. During the day, classes from BHS and various junior high schools will be visiting.

As in past years, junior high exhibits will be judged by grade while the senior high projects will be judged on subject area.

The public is urged to attend, since many of the projects from past years were of such calibre as to win provincially, and the same is expected this year.

Sequel To Safe-Cracking Attempt

Contending with a rash of shoplifters during regular business hours and being the victims of break, entry and theft incidents after closing is getting to be a bit monotonous as well as expensive for certain downtown merchants. Pepper's Drug Store has had more than its share as a target and when Pharmacist Kevin Mann opened the shop one morning recently he found his safe had been tampered with by an amateur torch-bearing intruder. The handles, etc. were destroyed and in order to open the receptacle it was necessary to acquire the services of a local welder. It was moved out on the Main St. sidewalk in order to perform the operation, which aroused the curosity of passers-by. While its contents were found intact, the safe itself was a complete write-off to the tune of - at today prices - a lot of dollars. In the meantime, City Police who are investigating, have suspicions but no proof.

Operation Lifestyle

Most cases of poisoning in Canada occur at home. Any non-food substance, including medicine, is a potential poison, especially for children. Keep all drugs, including vitamin pills and headache tablets, in child-resistant containers, preferably under lock and key.

Salmon Angling Applications Now Available

New Brunswick Salmon anglers have until April 1 to apply for Crown reserve angling water, Natural Resources Minister Roland C. Boudreau announced March 2.

Official application cards, printed instructions and the required details are now available at Natural Resources regional offices around the province and at the Fish and Wildlife Branch, P. O. Box 6000, Fredericton.

The Crown reserve system offers resident anglers an opportunity to fish good quality salmon waters on an exclusive basis, and applications will be received until 5:00 p.m. on April 1, said Mr. Boudreau.

Successful applicants will be determined at public drawings. Miramichi reserve applications will be drawn starting at 10:00 a.m. on April 13 at the Newcastle Natural Resources office and for Restigouche drainage reserves, 10:00 a.m. on April 14, 1977 at the Campbellton Natural Resources office.

Transportation Aid For Farmers

Agriculture Minister Malcolm MacLeod has announced the level of assistance that will apply to the transportation of agricultural limestone as provided for under the new Soil and Crop Advanced Management Policy.

The schedule allows for an increase in the assistance that will be paid for truck movement and provides for the total rail freight from the lime plant to the nearest rail siding of the farmer when shipped in cars loaded to a minimum weight of 60 tons.

To qualify for assistance, farmers are required to apply in advance of purchasing to the Plant Industry Branch, New Brunswick Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 6000, Lincoln Road, Fredericton, N.B. E3B 5H1.

Application forms and transportation assistance schedules are available at all offices of the New Brunswick Department of Agriculture, lime manufacturers and custom lime spreaders.

Farmers are advised to apply early in the season to avoid delays in getting approval for assistance.
